Flames Level Alcatraz Landmarks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A fire which burned most of the night on Indian-occupied Alcatraz Island today destroyed the lighthouse, warden's home and infirmary of the former federal penitentiary.

The wooden lighthouse and hospital buildings were burned to the ground, while only two brick walls of the abandoned warden's home remained standing when the fire burned out.

Diesel oil stored near the base of the lighthouse continued to send black clouds above the fog-shrouded island after dawn.

The 150 Indians living on the island refused offers of evacuation and fire-fighting aid from the Coast Guard, but were unable to fight the blaze themselves because of a lack of water.

The federal government, which plans to make Alcatraz into a national recreation area, removed its water barge last week and the occupants have been bringing in water supplies in bottles and jugs.

The blaze apparently was set. John Trudell, a Sioux who lives on the island with his family, said the blaze broke out about 10:30 p.m. Monday — about an hour after the Indians ended a meeting and retired for the night.

He said one of the occupants of the north side of the island heard a motor boat leaving shortly before the blaze was spotted. However, he said no one was seen because of the fog.

The blaze was visible from San Francisco, about a mile from the island across the bay.

None of the burned buildings was occupied by the Indians. The warden's home and infirmary were considered health hazards because of faulty plumbing, while the lighthouse was kept locked by the Coast Guard which used it until last week when electricity to the island was cut off.

Most of the Indians live on the south end of the island in apartments and houses which formerly housed prison guards. They are on a lower level and several hundred feet from the fire and were not endangered by the flames.

Slides Blocking Aid; Fears Of 30,000 Peruvian Quake Deaths

LIMA (UPI)—Landslides and floods blocked rescue efforts to reach devastated cities today in northern Peru, where the government estimated the death toll in Sunday's earthquake at 1,000. More aftershocks jolted Lima.

The government said it was impossible to give a firm count of casualties because many of the hardest hit areas were inaccessible due to destroyed highways and air strips. (See picture, page 21.)

A spokesman for the National Information Office said Monday night the government believed there were about 1,000 dead and 5,000 seriously injured. It was Peru's worst earthquake disaster of the century.

The government discounted reports that as many as 30,000 could have died, calling them "completely false."

Two women Peace Crops volunteers were reported killed in the Andean city of Huaraz and two Catholic nuns from the United States were said to have died in the fishing village of Chimbote.

Huaraz, a city of 80,000 nestled in a semicircle of towering mountains 180 miles northeast of Lima, could not be reached Monday but ham radio reports said 90 per cent of the houses were destroyed.

Chimbote, 260 miles north of Lima, was accessible by water and President Juan Velasco Alvarado went there for a first-hand look aboard a navy boat. He took doctors and nurses and brought back 200 seriously injured persons.

Residents poked through the rubble of thousands of homes in Chimbote looking for their belongings. The quake opened deep cracks in the Pan American Highway near the city.

In the heavily damaged village of Casma, Consuelo Perez de Lopez gave birth to twins Monday in the garden outside the hospital. Travelers stranded because the Pan American Highway was blocked helped her.

Four young tourists from Canada, Switzerland and Chile pitched in to help the people of Casma. "We can't leave Casma," said Michael Cabellero, 20, of Santiago, Chile. "The people here need our help."

Many of Casma's 10,000 inhabitants stood as if dazed in the streets, looking at the demolished homes and buildings.

"As soon as the shaking began we went out and formed groups in the middle of the road," said one resident of Casma. "We were choking with the dust of the falling houses and could not see the sunlight."

A priest operating a radio in Chimbote said Sister Gabriella of Pittsburgh and Sister Edith Mary, no known address, were killed in the quake. Both were from the San Jose order.

Robert Persico, a Peace Corps volunteer from Huaraz, said two volunteers were thought to have died when their house collapsed.

The director of the Peace Corps in Peru, Ed Baca of Lima, identified the two missing volunteers as Marie Clutterbuck, 22, of Cambelisport, Wis., and Gail Gross, 23, of Freemansburg, Pa.

Walton Claims Firing Illegal, Makes Public Board's Charges

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School, yesterday charged that his firing by the Sausalito School District was illegal and, for the first time, made public the board's charges against him.

In a petition filed in Marin Superior Court, Walton said that a "notice of intention to dismiss" served on him on May 15 was the type of notification required for permanent employees. Since he is still on probation, he claimed that he should have been notified no later than March 15 as required by the Education Code.

A hearing has been set for 9 a.m. on June 11 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson on Walton's request for an injunction preventing his dismissal.

Attached to the suit was a list of charges filed against Walton on May 15 by the board of trustees, which accuses the principal of such actions as calling parents names like "white racist bitch" and "liar."

The board said that Walton showed "evident unfitness for service" and that he had persistently violated or refused to obey reasonable directives and regulations prescribed by the board and Dist. Supt. Philip Schneider.

In addition to insulting parents of pupils, the board said Walton also "harrassed and intimidated teachers" by "making insulting personal comments, writing derogatory memos and encouraging adverse comments from students."

Walton, according to the board, also made derogatory remarks about the board of trustees and Schneider in the press and on the radio and made "threats that he would take over the district unless his wishes were followed."

He also organized and/or encouraged pressure groups, the board charged, attempting to influence decisions of the board and he manipulated students to gain support for his position.

Finally, he was accused of organizing teachers and other staff members to stage a "sick-out" and of encouraging students to boycott the school.

Walton, first black principal of King School, was dismissed

Pay Envelopes To Grow A Little Fatter July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pay envelopes grow a little fatter next month when the income tax surcharge, imposed in Lyndon B. Johnson's last year as president to help pay for the Vietnam war, becomes history.

The tax, originally 10 per cent, was cut in half last January and dies altogether July 1, the day the government's new fiscal year begins. It passing will cost $4.5 billion in federal revenue.

But strapped as the Nixon administration is for cash, with budget deficits predicted for the old and the new fiscal years, the surtax's death may help provide something needed even more: Consumer buying to help end the near-recession before the November congressional elections.

As a result primarily of the surtax's political unpopularity, the Nixon administration is sticking currently to its plan to let it fade away.

But Nixon has pledged to ask Congress for new taxes next January if conditions don't improve. He already has requested a new tax on gasoline containing lead.

He is content for now to let a small deficit—estimated by his planners at $1.8 billion for the year beginning in July—stand, mainly because his analysts say it is caused by a drop in corporate income taxes brought on by the business doldrums.

Nixon was pledged to end the surtax when he took office, but the need for money caused him to ask Congress for a full rate extension.

The cutback to 5 per cent was a compromise made possible by new money gained from eliminating a tax credit for businesses buying new production equipment.

End the surtax won't mean much to the average taxpayer —an extra 70 cents a week for four-member families with $5,000 yearly incomes, $1.70 if income is $10,000—but taken together it will be a substantial

U.S. Leaders Set Indochina Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A high level task force of senators, congressmen, governors and White House officials will leave Wednesday for a week-long fact-finding trip to Southeast Asia, it was disclosed today.

The itinerary for the group is not yet firm, but the group is expected to visit Cambodia, South Vietnam and possibly Thailand.

A spokesman in the office of Herbert G. Klein, President Nixon's communications director, described the trip as a fact-finding tour "to determine what's going on."

Magazine Sales Cleanup Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has told a number of magazine publishers there will be court action if magazine salesmen don't quit "deceptive" sales gimmicks.

Fourteen publishers and magazine agencies—including the publishers of such magazines as Life, Look, Time and Sports Illustrated—were named by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Monday as targets of proposed official complaints.

If the companies don't agree within 10 days to negotiate cease and desist terms proposed by the FTC, the cases will go to trial.

Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., who has waged an 18-month campaign against deceptive magazine sales, hailed the FTC action as encompassing "every major area of consumer trickery" he had urged the commission to consider.

The FTC complaints charged that magazine salesmen misled their prospects and often lured them into signing expensive subscription contracts that cost far more than the salesmen claimed. The FTC also accused the companies of harassing subscribers who fall behind in payments or try to cancel subscriptions.

One of those named in the proposed complaint, Time Inc., said it has made "every effort" to get organizations soliciting for its publications to use fair sales practices. Spokesmen for the other publishers named said the action was unjustified.

Hearst Corp. said since the adoption of the industry code it had received only 10 complaints and these were promptly resolved.

The proposed FTC consent order—under which the companies would agree to quit certain practices without actually admitting to them—would require as well various consumer protection devices in the future.

Chief among them would be a "cooling-off period" of three days in which a new subscriber could cancel his magazine contract without penalty. Salesmen would be required to stress this feature.

The FTC action came less than a week after a unique self-policing arrangement in the industry, approved by the government three years ago, expired.

Collegians' Reactions Mixed On Reagan Talk

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has received mixed reviews after an hour-long session with a new crop of campus leaders.

Reagan met for an hour Monday with some 33 campus officers — most of them newly elected — in what one student described as "a get acquainted meeting." Reagan has held similar meetings with student leaders in recent months in an effort to provide a channel of communication between him and the students.

Several of the students said they hoped future meetings would be longer and David Thiermann of UC Santa Cruz criticized Reagan for taking up too much of the time talking.

"Reagan has access to the media," Thiermann complained. "We knew already what he thinks. We came here to tell him how we feel."

Thiermann said Reagan allotted only an hour to the meeting and made introductory remarks that lasted 25 minutes. Thiermann said the session was "disappointing."

But a San Francisco State College representative said Thiermann was speaking only for himself, not for the group.

"I think he was expecting something from Reagan—that's why he was disappointed," he added.

Bill Jones of Fresno State College said he thought details of the session should not be discussed with newsmen so that future meetings with the governor might be more candid and fruitful.

But he agreed with Thiermann's complaint that the meeting had been too short. "I would hope the next time would be a longer meeting," said Jones.

Thiermann said the students asked Reagan specific questions about the Angela Davis case and about increased state aid for underprivileged students.

Miss Davis is an assistant philosophy professor at UCLA who has acknowledged being a Communist Party member.

Thiermann said Reagan "skirted" both issues and left the meeting without giving adequate explanation of his position.

The students also asked Reagam to give stronger backing to Prop. 1, said Thiermann, but were told the governor had already given the ballot measure a strong endorsement.

Journalism enrollment in the nation's colleges increased 19 per cent in 1969, says the Newspaper Fund, Inc.

Composer Recovering

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet composer-conductor Dmitry Shostakovich is recovering in Siberia from an ailment that so desiabled his legs he could barely step to a stage, Tass said today.

The Soviet news agency mentioned the 64-year-old composer's ailment in a report about his comments on the coming Tchaikovsky music competition in Moscow. It said he has improved greatly under the treatment of orthopedist Gavril Ilizarov in the town of Kurgan, western Siberia.

Ex-Beret Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Army Capt. Robert F. Marasco says that if the Green Beret case had gone to trial the U.S. government and the CIA would have been embarrassed and that "incompetency" would have been exposed in the command in Saigon.

Marasco and seven other Green Berets were charged with the murder of Thai Khac Chuyen, a South Vietnamese national reputed to be a triple agent in the case, but the charges were later dropped.

Marasco, who resigned his commission last year, declined to say whether he took part in the killing of Chuyen.

He said in a taped interview to be shown tonight on NBC-TV that the greatest danger posed by Chuyen was his knowledge that Green Beret intelligence operations in a section of Cambodia were run independently by Americans and that the agent might have informed the South Vietnamese of this.

Plea To Kidnapers

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Antonio Cardinal Caggiano, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Buenos Aires, pleaded Monday night for the kidnapers of former President Pedro Aramburu to contact him with terms for the release of the 67-year-old retired general.

The commander in chief of the army, Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, told garrison commanders throughout the country to keep calm and avoid retaliatory action against followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron. He said the army must "set an example" in preserving "the well-being and integrity of the republic."

GI Facing Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — An 18-year-old private is awaiting court-martial for attempted murder in the wake of alleged Ku Klux Klan activities at a U.S. Army post in West Germany, the New York Daily News reported today.

The report followed a demand Monday by Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., for a congressional investigation of an alleged 47-man KKK klavern.

The Army said Monday that it had investigated but found no evidence that a klavern existed at the post, the headquarters of the 14th Armored Cavalry at Fulda, near the East German border.

The News, however, said that Pvt. Carlos R. Hernandez Rodriguez of New York "is awaiting trial in Germany on charges growing out of a knife fight with an alleged KKK member who belonged to his unit."

Ky Sets Official Visit To Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will make an official visit to Cambodia this week at the invitation of the Lon Nol government, his office said today.

A spokesman for the vice president said details of the trip were incomplete, but that he will fly to Phnom Penh "Thursday or Friday and remain for a few days."

Alioto Names Bridges To Port Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has announced the appointment of labor leader Harry Bridges to a four-year term on the Port Authority.

He also announced Monday he is reappointing business executive Cyril Magnin to another term on the five-man group.

Bridges, 68, will replace business executive Dan London. Alioto said London soon would be apointed to another commission, but that the port group needed a maritime labor representative.

Voters in San Francisco last year authorized city control of the board, and the appointment of Bridges was Alioto's first.

Bridges' appointment was further proof that the old hatreds between the city's business community and the one-time fiery labor leader have melted.

The Australian-born Bridges jumped ship in San Francisco in 1920 and quickly rose to prominence as a radical waterfront union spokesman.

He provided labor generalship in the 1934 strike, which paralyzed West Coast shipping.

Starting in 1938, the government began its long but unsuccessful effort to have Bridges deported for alleged Communist leanings.

He finally won his battle when the U.S. Supreme Court in 1945 said although Bridges had welcomed Communist support during strikes, it did not make him a Communist.

Mideast Raids Bring Deaths, Counterclaims

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli military command said one of its army patrols killed two Syrian soldiers early today near Rafid, in the occupied Golan Heights. The Israelis suffered no casualties, a spokesman said.

A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus claimed Syrian soldiers made three forays into the Golan Heights during the night, "killing or wounding 15 Israeli soldiers." The Syrians admitted two of their soldiers were missing.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli jets swept across the Suez Canal for a 90-minute raid today, and a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said all aircraft returned safely.

Israel and Jordan each delivered letters to the U.N. Security Council blaming the other for the attacks Monday which left one schoolchild dead on each side and a number of others wounded. Neither country requested a council meeting, however.

In Cairo, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported the guerrillas' Palestinian National Council agreed Monday night on "a plan for national unity" among guerrilla organizations. The agency said the plan calls for the formation of a central committee to guide guerrilla activities.

There was no immediate word on the attitude of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine General Command, the Marxist splinter group which has claimed responsibility for attacks on Israeli airliners and the May 22 rocket attack on an Israeli schoolbus that killed eight schoolchildren and four adults.

The maverick guerrilla group, attending the council meetings as an observer, said it would make its position known Wednesday.

Woman Senator Compares McCarthyism, Peril Now

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twenty years ago, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith stood up in the Senate to become one of the first of its members to denounce McCarthyism. She spoke again Monday, on the anniversary of that famous speech, to tell the nation it faces a new era of repression.

Dressed in a bright red suit, a rose pinned to her lapel, the Maine Republican said the repression could come in reaction to the "antidemocratic arrogance and nihilism from the political extreme left."

"...An overwhelming majority of Americans believe that trespass is trespass—whether on the campus or off; violence is violence—whether on the campus or off; arson is arson—whether on the campus or off; killing is killing—whether on the campus or off," she said. Extremists, she said, are forcing Americans to make a "narrow choice between anarchy and repression. And make no mistake about it, if that choice has to be made, the American people, even if with reluctance and misgivings, will choose repression."

It was 20 years to the day that Mrs. Smith made her "declaration of conscience" against the tactics of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis. She was one of the first Senate members to decry McCarthy's campaign to purge the government of people he said were Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Twenty years ago she said it was the "anti-intellectuals who were most guilty of know-nothing attitudes."

Monday she said "too many of the militant intellectuals are equally as guilty if 'hear nothing' attitudes or refusing to listen while demanding better communication."

CHP Reveals Truck Theft Ring Details

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Highway Patrol has released information on a transcontinental truck theft ring believed responsible for stealing 50 tractor-trailers valued at more than $1 million.

Federal indictments, the patrol said Monday, allowed release of the information, which implicated three California men, brothers Jerry Leland Weller and Rolland Eugene Weller, both of San Leandro, and the son of one of the men, John Joseph Weller.

CHP officials said nearly a year of investigation went into cracking the ring's operations, which specialized in dismantling late model trucks for sale in other parts of the country. New York and California were the terminals of the operation.

Jerry and Rolland Weller now are under indictment by a federal grand jury in New York. Jerry and John Weller also face charges of receiving stolen property in connection with an Oakland burglary.

CHP spokesmen said the ring specialized in late model, high-value trucks and rigs. A total of 18 trucks was involved in the federal indictment with an average value of $17,000.

Only two trucks were recovered.

Patrol investigators said the probe ranged through half-a-dozen California cities with investigators from San Francisco, Sacramento, Redding and Fresno taking part in the operation.

A total of 11 residents of eastern states was named in the New York indictments, in addition to the California trio.

Materials Stolen From Building Site

Construction materials, valued at $173, were taken Sunday or yesterday morning from the site of a new theater being built at the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael police reported today.

The materials were owned by Mayta and Jensen Construction Co., police said.

Window Is Smashed

A $120 window was smashed and a $20 bill taken from a desk at Francisco Yacht Sales, 557 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, between 6:15 and 7 p.m. Sunday, police reported today.

Magazine Sales Cleanup Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has told a number of magazine publishers there will be court action if magazine salesmen don't quit "deceptive" sales gimmicks.

Fourteen publishers and magazine agencies—including the publishers of such magazines as Life, Look, Time and Sports Illustrated—were named by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Monday as targets of proposed official complaints.

If the companies don't agree within 10 days to negotiate cease and desist terms proposed by the FTC, the cases will go to trial.

Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., who has waged an 18-month campaign against deceptive magazine sales, hailed the FTC action as encompassing "every major area of consumer trickery" he had urged the commission to consider.

The FTC complaints charged that magazine salesmen misled their prospects and often lured them into signing expensive subscription contracts that cost far more than the salesmen claimed. The FTC also accused the companies of harassing subscribers who fall behind in payments or try to cancel subscriptions.

One of those named in the proposed complaint, Time Inc., said it has made "every effort" to get organizations soliciting for its publications to use fair sales practices. Spokesmen for the other publishers named said the action was unjustified.

Hearst Corp. said since the adoption of the industry code it had received only 10 complaints and these were promptly resolved.

The proposed FTC consent order—under which the companies would agree to quit certain practices without actually admitting to them—would require as well various consumer protection devices in the future.

Chief among them would be a "cooling-off period" of three days in which a new subscriber could cancel his magazine contract without penalty. Salesmen would be required to stress this feature.

The FTC action came less than a week after a unique self-policing arrangement in the industry, approved by the government three years ago, expired.

Collegians' Reactions Mixed On Reagan Talk

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has received mixed reviews after an hour-long session with a new crop of campus leaders.

Reagan met for an hour Monday with some 33 campus officers — most of them newly elected — in what one student described as "a get acquainted meeting." Reagan has held similar meetings with student leaders in recent months in an effort to provide a channel of communication between him and the students.

Several of the students said they hoped future meetings would be longer and David Thiermann of UC Santa Cruz criticized Reagan for taking up too much of the time talking.

"Reagan has access to the media," Thiermann complained. "We knew already what he thinks. We came here to tell him how we feel."

Thiermann said Reagan allotted only an hour to the meeting and made introductory remarks that lasted 25 minutes. Thiermann said the session was "disappointing."

But a San Francisco State College representative said Thiermann was speaking only for himself, not for the group.

"I think he was expecting something from Reagan—that's why he was disappointed," he added.

Bill Jones of Fresno State College said he thought details of the session should not be discussed with newsmen so that future meetings with the governor might be more candid and fruitful.

But he agreed with Thiermann's complaint that the meeting had been too short. "I would hope the next time would be a longer meeting," said Jones.

Thiermann said the students asked Reagan specific questions about the Angela Davis case and about increased state aid for underprivileged students.

Miss Davis is an assistant philosophy professor at UCLA who has acknowledged being a Communist Party member.

Thiermann said Reagan "skirted" both issues and left the meeting without giving adequate explanation of his position.

The students also asked Reagam to give stronger backing to Prop. 1, said Thiermann, but were told the governor had already given the ballot measure a strong endorsement.

Tiburon Asks Aid In Bike Trail Suit

Tiburon Mayor Denis T. Rice paid an impromptu call on the Belvedere City Council last night to ask cooperation in a scheme to take over a railroad right-of-way for a bicycle path.

Rice, who had no specific recommendation, said he wanted "to see what, if any, interest, there might be on the part of Belvedere in contributing financially."

The council authorized Councilman Thomas S. Price to meet with Rice and Tiburon staff this month.

Price termed the bike path a "one chance in a lifetime opportunity" that would put Belvedere in a better bargaining position against the State Highway system's encroachment and a possible rapid transit system along the old railroad path.

Mayor Rice said the condemnation trial on the land begins Sept. 14 with a verdict near the end of the year and said it was time to move on planning financing.

He said Belvedere might not have to pay anything or might become co-owners depending on the value of the land determined by the jury.

Belvedere Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel said the problem, like the drainage problem, concerned both cities and should be dealt with jointly.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

ZONING — Tabled for final approval until the July 6 meeting a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance that would cover a duplex area overlooked by the present wording.

GARBAGE HOURS — Directed the city manager to look into the cost differential that might be caused by later morning garbage collection after a complaint by Neil Penry of 563 San Rafael Avenue that garbage trucks rumbled outside his home about 5:15 a.m. twice weekly.

DRAINAGE — Heard a report from Councilman Alan Steinau on the Belvedere-Tiburon Joint Drainage Committee and approved sharing with Tiburon the cost of hiring a stenographer for meetings of that body. Steinau said there will be a public hearing on the final drainage proposal June 18 and that the cost to each city will be about $5,000.

DENIAL — Upheld a planning commission decision denying a variance to J. J. Bacciocco of 48 Peninsula Road to construct a fence three feet onto city property.

TRANSIT — Tabled for the third straight month a request by Marin County Transit Systems Inc. for financial help until Tiburon considers the matter.

ROCK WALLS — Instructed the city engineer, Albert H. Siemer, to report back next meeting on the crumbling rock walls on Bay View Avenue at Beach Road, and asked the city attorney, Robert F. MacKay, to look into the legal ramifications of the walls.

LIGHTS — Approved installation of two street lights in the West Shore Road area at a cost of $500. One would be at the foot of the grade and the other towards the top.

UNDERGROUNDING — Authorized Mayor Drechsel to execute a contract with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph for undergrounding at a cost of $820, or $379 less than expected.

DISCLOSURE — Contributed $200 to Carmel, Monterey County, to help defray legal expenses incurred in its successful challenge of the state Disclosure of Assets Act.

WATER QUALITY — Heard a report by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli on the May 28 meeting of the State Regional Water Quality Control Board on banning sewage discharge into Richardson Bay. Belvedere discharges into the bay.

BUDGET — Tabled until the next meeting discussion of the preliminary budget to give the finance committee a chance to study it.

SURPLUS GEAR — Authorized the sale of surplus items including a tank truck for water spraying and an oil tank truck.

DOGS — Referred back to McKay an ordinance draft regulating the number of dogs permissable at one residence for more study of the numbers involved.

DEBRIS BOX — Continued to the next meeting discussion of an ordinance draft regulating debris boxes to give McKay more time to study the problem.

APPOINTMENTS — Heard Mayor Drechsel appoint Leslie Graham and Cabell Gwathme to the planning commission for four-year terms; Michael Lasky to the parks and recreation commission for two years; John R. Moore as fire commissioner and L. T. Mersereau as fire chief.

POLICE — Commended policeman Duffy Midyett for singlehandedly corraling three burglary suspects.

ASSESSOR — Instructed the city manager to arrange a meeting for the public with county assessor Bert W. Broemmel to discuss an increase in the assessed rate for the city.

Belvedere Ecology Committee To Eye Recycling Of Waste Material

The Belvedere City Council — urged on by Councilman Thomas S. Price — decided last night to form an "ecology Committee" before the July 6 meeting.

While discussing the problem of recycling waste materials, Price said, "I'd like to see Belvedere take the initiative on this thing."

He said cities are looking to the state and federal government to save the environment.

"Let's start at home. Let's do a bang-up job here in Belvedere," Price said.

Price's exhortation was in response to a report by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli on separate collection of some garbage. Mill Valley Refuse Service, the collector, said it has no outlet for material collected and would have to use a different kind of truck, according to Cavalli. The city manager said the garbage collector would not initiate separate collection unless the city requires it.

"It seems to me that recycling is the direction we should go," Councilman Alan Steinau said. He recommended the city set up collection boxes and encourage people to turn in materials for recycling.

Pieter Myers, at the meeting to get a (zoning) variance, piped up, "I have reams of information on the problem (recycling) and facets of it. It's great to hear your concern on this, and, in fact, your initiative."

Initiative was then tempered as Prince recommended continuing the recycling issue until the committee is formed. "I didn't mean to spring this on you cold," Price said.

Resuscitation Course Is Set

Courses in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation will be offered June 16 and 18 from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building in San Rafael by the Marin County Heart Association.

Further information may be obtained from the heart association.

Tiburon Asks Aid In Bike Trail Suit

Tiburon Mayor Denis T. Rice paid an impromptu call on the Belvedere City Council last night to ask cooperation in a scheme to take over a railroad right-of-way for a bicycle path.

Rice, who had no specific recommendation, said he wanted "to see what, if any, interest, there might be on the part of Belvedere in contributing financially."

The council authorized Councilman Thomas S. Price to meet with Rice and Tiburon staff this month.

Price termed the bike path a "one chance in a lifetime opportunity" that would put Belvedere in a better bargaining position against the State Highway system's encroachment and a possible rapid transit system along the old railroad path.

Mayor Rice said the condemnation trial on the land begins Sept. 14 with a verdict near the end of the year and said it was time to move on planning financing.

He said Belvedere might not have to pay anything or might become co-owners depending on the value of the land determined by the jury.

Belvedere Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel said the problem, like the drainage problem, concerned both cities and should be dealt with jointly.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

ZONING — Tabled for final approval until the July 6 meeting a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance that would cover a duplex area overlooked by the present wording.

GARBAGE HOURS — Directed the city manager to look into the cost differential that might be caused by later morning garbage collection after a complaint by Neil Penry of 563 San Rafael Avenue that garbage trucks rumbled outside his home about 5:15 a.m. twice weekly.

DRAINAGE — Heard a report from Councilman Alan Steinau on the Belvedere-Tiburon Joint Drainage Committee and approved sharing with Tiburon the cost of hiring a stenographer for meetings of that body. Steinau said there will be a public hearing on the final drainage proposal June 18 and that the cost to each city will be about $5,000.

DENIAL — Upheld a planning commission decision denying a variance to J. J. Bacciocco of 48 Peninsula Road to construct a fence three feet onto city property.

TRANSIT — Tabled for the third straight month a request by Marin County Transit Systems Inc. for financial help until Tiburon considers the matter.

ROCK WALLS — Instructed the city engineer, Albert H. Siemer, to report back next meeting on the crumbling rock walls on Bay View Avenue at Beach Road, and asked the city attorney, Robert F. MacKay, to look into the legal ramifications of the walls.

LIGHTS — Approved installation of two street lights in the West Shore Road area at a cost of $500. One would be at the foot of the grade and the other towards the top.

UNDERGROUNDING — Authorized Mayor Drechsel to execute a contract with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph for undergrounding at a cost of $820, or $379 less than expected.

DISCLOSURE — Contributed $200 to Carmel, Monterey County, to help defray legal expenses incurred in its successful challenge of the state Disclosure of Assets Act.

WATER QUALITY — Heard a report by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli on the May 28 meeting of the State Regional Water Quality Control Board on banning sewage discharge into Richardson Bay. Belvedere discharges into the bay.

BUDGET — Tabled until the next meeting discussion of the preliminary budget to give the finance committee a chance to study it.

SURPLUS GEAR — Authorized the sale of surplus items including a tank truck for water spraying and an oil tank truck.

DOGS — Referred back to McKay an ordinance draft regulating the number of dogs permissable at one residence for more study of the numbers involved.

DEBRIS BOX — Continued to the next meeting discussion of an ordinance draft regulating debris boxes to give McKay more time to study the problem.

APPOINTMENTS — Heard Mayor Drechsel appoint Leslie Graham and Cabell Gwathme to the planning commission for four-year terms; Michael Lasky to the parks and recreation commission for two years; John R. Moore as fire commissioner and L. T. Mersereau as fire chief.

POLICE — Commended policeman Duffy Midyett for singlehandedly corraling three burglary suspects.

ASSESSOR — Instructed the city manager to arrange a meeting for the public with county assessor Bert W. Broemmel to discuss an increase in the assessed rate for the city.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next meeting July 6 at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Protection For A Wage Earner

Harassment of a debtor may cause him to lose his job and he may go into bankruptcy.

Financial advisers, proraters, or private consultants sometimes help such a debtor to stem his creditor's demands. Even so, any private plan which allows the wage earner to work out his debts can fail if just one of his creditors refuses to accept a plan to delay payment.

But a wage-earner can ask a federal court for a "chapter XIII" proceeding instead of bankruptcy, and gain time to finance his debts. He can keep his job and his creditors cannot attach his wages.

Meantime, the court can work out a plan to allow him up to three years to pay off his debts, sometimes longer

Once the debtor seeks a Chapter XIII proceeding, the court keeps creditors from trying to collect under state or federal law. It stops repossessions of furniture, autos, or items bought on time. It suspends lawsuits in process, and keeps creditors from filing new suits.

The law limits interest payments to 10 per cent on those debts where security is posted. If the debtor borrowed without security, then the court holds up interest completely.

Creditors gain also. They are likely to collect more during the three years than if the debtor went through bankruptcy. The court forbids the debtor to run up certain future debts, for instance, for more than $100 without court approval.

Some debtors fail anyhow, and must go through bankruptcy. The court then dismisses most of his debts, but not debts such as taxes, alimony, child support, or debts incurred through fraud.

Even the bankrupt can still keep a modest family home, tools, a small savings account, his insurance, household furnishings, and a few such things.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

SURTAX

economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher Social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal pay.

The Social Security laws already have provided a minor bonanza for some higher-income taxpayers, and more will be affected as the year wears on.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 per cent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year. People making about $17,800 reach the limit this week, and those making $15,000 pay through July.

Anyone who makes $7,800 or less pays all year.

Luxury Yacht Is Missing From Marin Harbor

A sleek luxury yacht belonging to a San Francisco night club owner has been stolen from a San Rafael Yacht Harbor, Sheriff's officers said today.

Inspector Bowen Bridges said that the boat, a 42-foot cabin cruiser with twin engines, was noticed missing yesterday from its berth at Lowrie's Yacht harbor

A check with the wife of owner Joseph Finocchio showed that no one had been given permission to take out the yacht, valued at $60,000 and named "Lady Eve."

The office manager at the yacht harbor, Ellen Sheehi, told Inspector Bridges that the keys to the boat were in the office.

Officials were searching waterways today as far away as Stockton and Half Moon bay since the boat has a range of 300 nautical miles if the opertaor knows how to use auxiliary gas tanks, Bridges said.

Hitchhiker Held After Pot Found

A 17-year-old boy from Belleveiw, Wash., has been booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale after 45 packages of pot were found in his back pack.

A sheriff's deputy said that he stopped Gary Michael Crandall Saturday when he was hitchhiking on Highway 101 near the Marin City off-ramp.

Since he was unable to reach the boy's parents by telephone the deputy took the youth to Juvenile Hall where the suspected pot was found.

Jury Trial Is Set Next Month

Joseph Raymond (Smokey) Lester, 26, Washington state prison escapee who was captured in San Rafael May 20, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of being a felon who carried a concealed weapon.

A jury trial was set for the week of July 6.

Police said they found Lester and two other men sitting around the kitchen table all armed after they went to the residence of a former Gypsy Joker gang member following a tip. Lester had escaped from an honor farm in Washington on March 15.

Ferry Link On Peninsula Not Favored

At an informal meeting today, Belvedere city councilmen and the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce decided to ask the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District not to make Tiburon a ferry terminal and parking area for commuters.

Dr. George Sugaman, president of the chamber, said the group, which included Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel and Allen Steinau, met for breakfast to formulate the recommendation.

The group suggested using the uninhabited marshland area of Corte Madera for the ferry terminal, Sugarman said.

Also discussed was the coordination of efforts by owners of the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in downtown Tiburon, Sugarman said.

The group asked the four property owners to seek developers or purchasers of the combined land so that it may attract clean, noise-free and ecologically sound enterprises.

economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher Social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal pay.

The Social Security laws already have provided a minor bonanza for some higher-income taxpayers, and more will be affected as the year wears on.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 per cent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year. People making about $17,800 reach the limit this week, and those making $15,000 pay through July.

Anyone who makes $7,800 or less pays all year.

Luxury Yacht Is Missing From Marin Harbor

A sleek luxury yacht belonging to a San Francisco night club owner has been stolen from a San Rafael Yacht Harbor, Sheriff's officers said today.

Inspector Bowen Bridges said that the boat, a 42-foot cabin cruiser with twin engines, was noticed missing yesterday from its berth at Lowrie's Yacht harbor

A check with the wife of owner Joseph Finocchio showed that no one had been given permission to take out the yacht, valued at $60,000 and named "Lady Eve."

The office manager at the yacht harbor, Ellen Sheehi, told Inspector Bridges that the keys to the boat were in the office.

Officials were searching waterways today as far away as Stockton and Half Moon bay since the boat has a range of 300 nautical miles if the opertaor knows how to use auxiliary gas tanks, Bridges said.

Hitchhiker Held After Pot Found

A 17-year-old boy from Belleveiw, Wash., has been booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale after 45 packages of pot were found in his back pack.

A sheriff's deputy said that he stopped Gary Michael Crandall Saturday when he was hitchhiking on Highway 101 near the Marin City off-ramp.

Since he was unable to reach the boy's parents by telephone the deputy took the youth to Juvenile Hall where the suspected pot was found.

Jury Trial Is Set Next Month

Joseph Raymond (Smokey) Lester, 26, Washington state prison escapee who was captured in San Rafael May 20, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of being a felon who carried a concealed weapon.

Police said they found Lester and two other men sitting around the kitchen table all armed after they went to the residence of a former Gypsy Joker gang member following a tip. Lester had escaped from an honor farm in Washington on March 15.

Ferry Link On Peninsula Not Favored

At an informal meeting today, Belvedere city councilmen and the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce decided to ask the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District not to make Tiburon a ferry terminal and parking area for commuters.

Dr. George Sugaman, president of the chamber, said the group, which included Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel and Allen Steinau, met for breakfast to formulate the recommendation.

The group suggested using the uninhabited marshland area of Corte Madera for the ferry terminal, Sugarman said.

Also discussed was the coordination of efforts by owners of the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in downtown Tiburon, Sugarman said.

The group asked the four property owners to seek developers or purchasers of the combined land so that it may attract clean, noise-free and ecologically sound enterprises.

Nude Race In Park Ends Without Charge

No charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against James Winton Gastmann, 26, of San Rafael, who had been arrested in Corte Madera Sunday after he reportedly kicked and bit police officers who stopped him for running nude through the town park.

No Charge Filed

No charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against Gerald Robert De Muth, 22, of San Rafael, who was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana. The case was to be investigated further by the district attorney's office.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Protection For A Wage Earner

Harassment of a debtor may cause him to lose his job and he may go into bankruptcy.

Financial advisers, proraters, or private consultants sometimes help such a debtor to stem his creditor's demands. Even so, any private plan which allows the wage earner to work out his debts can fail if just one of his creditors refuses to accept a plan to delay payment.

But a wage-earner can ask a federal court for a "chapter XIII" proceeding instead of bankruptcy, and gain time to finance his debts. He can keep his job and his creditors cannot attach his wages.

Meantime, the court can work out a plan to allow him up to three years to pay off his debts, sometimes longer

Once the debtor seeks a Chapter XIII proceeding, the court keeps creditors from trying to collect under state or federal law. It stops repossessions of furniture, autos, or items bought on time. It suspends lawsuits in process, and keeps creditors from filing new suits.

The law limits interest payments to 10 per cent on those debts where security is posted. If the debtor borrowed without security, then the court holds up interest completely.

Creditors gain also. They are likely to collect more during the three years than if the debtor went through bankruptcy. The court forbids the debtor to run up certain future debts, for instance, for more than $100 without court approval.

Some debtors fail anyhow, and must go through bankruptcy. The court then dismisses most of his debts, but not debts such as taxes, alimony, child support, or debts incurred through fraud.

Even the bankrupt can still keep a modest family home, tools, a small savings account, his insurance, household furnishings, and a few such things.

Majority Backs Student Forums

Special programs at Tamalpais High School District's three campuses — prompted by President Nixon's decision last monh to send U.S. troops into Cambodia — were attacked by a few and supported by many last night before the district's trustees.

Principals of Redwood, Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools gave trustees a brief rundown on programs at their schools and each said that although they wished they had had more time to prepare the programs they felt the special activities were valid educational experiences for the students.

Each of the principals — Raymond J. Bell of Tamalpais, Donald Krebs of Redwood and Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School — praised the board's policy which allows principals the flexibility to alter regular curriculum when deemed necessary. Each told the board that following the Cambodia invasion student tension made regular classroom study almost impossible.

Several parents had written critical letters concerning Redwood High School's day-long convocation, which saw classes suspended for a day while students were allowed to hear speakers from Bay Area universities speak in the gymnasium. It was these written criticisms which prompted the board to hold last night's hearing.

Krebs told the board that he estimated about all but 600 of the school's 2400 students attended the convocation.

"In all professional honesty, it was a valid education experience," he said. "There are some things I would do differently, but all in all, I feel it was a good program."

"I feel it helped show the students that the system could meet their needs. I don't have any regrets about it," he added.

Two parents last night objected to convocation.

Paul O'Neal told trustees that Krebs had ". . fed the board a lot of sop."

O'Neal charged that the majority of the school's students didn't attend the convocation but just left school instead.

"I think my children got robbed of a day's education," he told the board.

Another parent, Russell Woods, charged that the four college instructors who spoke at the convocation ". . didn't present a balanced program" and were slanted to an antiwar theme.

Following the brief objections to the programs, about 10 other parents and teachers paraded before the board and praised Krebs' handling of the situation as well as the convocation.

One parent, Vaughn Marker, said he was at first disturbed when he heard about the convocation but changed his mind after attending.

"I started off being somewhat antagonistic, but after attending the convocation, I now feel it was a good, sound educational exercise."

Each of the speakers who supported Kreb's program was greeted by loud applause from the majority of about 125 persons in attendance.

Several teachers spoke in favor of the program including Pat Newton who said the school was ". .fortunate to have a principal like Mr. Krebs."

She credit Krebs with keeping student violence at a minimum by responding quickly to their demands for some sort of special program and yet kept it a valid educational experience.

Two board members, David D. Ring and Frank L. Miller, indicated they were concerned that no provision was made for students who wanted to attend classes during the convocation but both indicated they were not critical of Kreb's actions.

Tam High Trustee Resigns

Gloria W. Melbostad, a Tamalpais High School District trustee for the last six years, resigned last night saying that her duties as a College of Marin teacher ". . takes every ounce of energy I have."

The board accepted Mrs. Melbostad's resignation — which is effective July 1 — unanimously.

"I am sorry to leave the district in the midst of such demanding and exciting times as these," she said, "The turbulence and questioning in our society will undoubtedly continue to be reflected in our schools. I am sure, however, that the community will find a new representative from the Tamalpais High School attendance area who will see these problems as new challenges and bring a fresh viewpoint to the board."

Mrs. Melbostad was appointed to the board Nov. 2, 1964 to fill the unexpired term of Dr. J.M. Stubblebine. She was elected to a four-year term in 1966 and reelected in 1969 to another four-year term.

She lives in Mill Valley with her husband, Richard, and three sons.

The board made no indication when it would consider a successor to Mrs. Melbostad.

Students To Have Access To Trustees

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night unanimously granted recognition to a districtwide student advisory committee, marking the first time the board has approved a student committee which will have direct access to the trustees.

The committee, to be composed of students from each of the district's three high schools, will have a permanent spot on the board's agenda and will report directly to the trustees. In the past, student requests of the board have been routed through administrative channals.

Bylaws for the new committee call for four representatives from each school, with the representatives being appointed by the school's student body president.

The committee will begin functioning with the opening of the 1970-71 school year in September.

The committee was formed to make proposals to the board on issues affecting the students of the district and to facilitate student involvement in district affairs.

Ever Have Barnacles In The Water Line?

NEWPORT, Ore. (UPI)— You'll probably never find your water lines jamed shut by barnacles. But that's one of the problems the Marine Science Center here has to contend with.

To fight it, the center uses two separate pipelines to keep water moving freely from nearby Yaquina Bay through the center. Each line is used for a maximum of three weeks, then shut down while the other line is used. By running fresh water through the unused line the barnacle growth is inhibited.

Shoreline Park Joint Planning Effort Voted

Joint planning of a 50-acre park along Corte Madera's shoreline should be undertaken by town and county planners, the Corte Madera Town Council agreed last night.

Council approval of the study followed receipt of a letter from Pierre W. Joske, director of Marin County Parks and Recreation Department, who said the county agency is interested in beginning land acquisition on the shores of Corte Madera Bay.

Joske requested information be presented to the county parks and recreation commission on Corte Madera West Shore Plan which includes a proposal for a 50-acre parksite.

But the suggestion of a joint agreement for park construction with the county brought some dissent from both residents and a council member.

Councilman Byron D. White said he would like to see complete park plans before he agreed to enter into any agreement with the county.

"We have to tie down the location because as it's written now this means the Heerdt property," he said referring to the original plan which includes property the town council would like to see used for a ferry terminal.

Claiming the county and city were speaking of a regional park, Gary G. Grant of Corte Madera said "The question is whether you are going to create another Paradise Park with twice the cars as the number of parking spaces and people coming in from San Francisco and Petaluma."

"I'm in favor of a county-city park," Councilman Robert P. Simmons countered, "as long as we dictate what will go into it and how."

Simmons added that all the county had done was offer the city $100,000 a year for land acquisition and that the city should talk with the county before rejecting its participation in the park.

Council Harold B. Wagstaff said he agreed, adding that he would consider it unfortunate if the property were someday to be used as an industrial site or as another bedroom community.

"But the embyronic idea of a ferry terminal will entail a lot of long-range planning and this must be considered with the park plans," he continued.

Agreeing that the plan should be left flexible, the council approved the town manager's recommendations which included the concept of such a park, joint city-county action requesting the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to lift its Bay Plan park priority from lands to be considered by the county and city planners, and joint studies on financing, acquisition, development, maintenance and operation of the proposed park.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

PARKING — Set July 6 for a hearing on proposed planning commission parking space standards which would leave the length and width of off-street parking spaces to the discretion of the town engineer.

PARK USE — Delayed until June 15 discussion on proposed rules and regulations governing the use of town parks and facilities from the park and recreation commission.

LEGAL FEES — Approved 4 to 1, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff against, paying the town's attorney, John E. Lynch, his fees incurred during the Corte Madera vs. Northern Pacific Railroad suit; total amount paid, $9,540.

BUILDING PERMITS — Denied 4 to 1, Councilman Byron D. White against, a petition from six Mariner Cove Unit No. 5 residents that building permits for multi-story dwelling be frozen until further study into zoning ordinances could be made.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 10 for a budget hearing.

Computer Arson Delays Grading

grades will be mailed to Fresno State College students about a month late this year because the school's computer was destroyed by firebombs.

Computer center manager Woodrow Shumate said Monday a machine exactly like the one destroyed May 19 will be installed June 16.

The new Control Data Corp. 3150 was expected to have grades out to FSC's 13,000 students by July 15.

Prior to the firebombing, the school planned to mail grades June 19.

Driver Is Treated For Cut Forehead

Harold Francis Hale Jr. ,45, of 20 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow, was treated for a cut forehead at Marin General Hospital about 9:40 p.m. Saturday, the hospital reported yesterday.

Fairfax police said Hale drove his car into a parked car in front of 275 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Motorcycle Gang Fatally Beats Youth

GUERNEVILLE (AP) — A young man has died of a brutal beating and bullwhipping he suffered while on a Memorial Day weekend outing with his girl friend.

The victim, Buddy Joel Byrum, 23, of South San Francisco, never regained consciousness, the Sonoma County sheriff's office said, but two witnesses have volunteered information about the group of motorcyclists who attacked him last Saturday.

One witness, the young man's 20-year-old girl friend, said Byrum was beaten after he protested against one of the motorcyclists shooting a pistol toward a group of people at Rolands Beach in the Russian River resort area. Her identity was not disclosed.

Another witness saw the attack and notified the sheriff's office, but when deputies arrived Byrum was kept hidden under a blanket and the girl friend was threatened if she spoke.

It was not until nine hours later that deputies found Byrum — after another complaint had been received about careless shooting.

Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Wilkinson said Byrum "was literally kicked to death" by seven or eight cyclists from a crowd of 15 or 16 men and women bike riders.

Investigators said Byrum was punched, kicked in the head and beaten severely with a bullwhip.

Two members of the group were booked for investigation of possessing dangerous drugs and being under the influence of drugs.

They were identified as William Cabral, 19, Oakland, and Martha Stewart, 20, Alameda.

Church Leader In Unity Plea

DENVER (AP) — With a plea for unity from its president, the big Southern Baptist Convention today began its annual working sessions, facing issues that threatened to explode into conflict.

Under fire were the denomination's social-action agency, and recent publications offering modern critical analysis of some passages of the Bible.

There also was a call for accepting inter-racial marriage, an unusual note in the Southern-based denomination whose 11.5 million members spread throughout the nation make it the largest Protestant body in the United States.

Symposium On Vietnam Is Set

Corte Madera Council Balks At Taking Indochina Stand

Corte Madera Town Council last night added its name to a growing list of Marin governments which have refused to act upon student requests for support of legislation aimed at curtailing American involvement in Indochina.

The council tabled the student requests after a lengthy discussion which saw it agree with some members of the audience who declared the council had been elected to decide local, not national issues.

Brian Gaddy, a College of Marin student and member of the Marin Peace Coalition, told the councilmen they "not only have the right, but the responsibility to speak on national issues" according to Supreme Court opinions.

Gaddy was appealing for support of California's Assembly Bill 1670 that would bar California servicemen from fighting in an undeclared war and U.S. Senate Bill 609 which would limit military expenditures in Southeast Asia to the amount needed to bring American troops home.

But the student's request was drowned in a storm of response from some residents who claimed they "would take a backseat to no one in opposition to the war," but at the same time could not agree with any council action which would presume to "speak for the whole town."

"I don't think any of you were elected on this issue,"

Gary G. Grant of 248 Golden Hind Passage told the council.

"I have no objection to you, personally, sending in a resolution in opposition, but I would object if you did for the town," he continued.

"This war is costing us $2.5 million an hour," Gaddy countered. "Many of the problems you are having within the city is because of lack of funds. Funds the federal government is using on this war."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told other members of the council he had canvassed 62 homes throughout Corte Madera seeking a general consensus on the war issue.

"Everyone wants peace," the mayor said, "but everyone expresses a different means of achieving it."

Colthurst added that he couldn't presume to know how to solve the problem, but added we thought student activity in Washington, D.C. was showing results in the Senate.

Councilman Robert P. Simmons pointed out that AB-1674 was a duplicate of legislation signed into law by Massachusetts.

"I don't see any need for our legislature to supply a test case for the Supreme Court,' 'he continued, since there already was one.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville said he agreed with those in the audience who said they had not elected him to decide national policy.

"I feel very strongly that this type of effort is detrimental to the long range goals of our country," he said.

Councilmen Byron D. White and Harold B. Wagstaff said they agreed with statements of their fellow council members with White adding he could not vote on the issue without first hearing from the people.

The council agreed and tabled the request.

Senior Appraiser Status For Pair

Eugene J. Naber and James Dal Bon, members of the Marin County Assessor's staff, have been designated senior appraisers in the National Society of Governmental Appraisers.

The senior appraiser designation is granted by the society after an appraisal examination, submission of an appraisal report on a single family residence and at least one-year membership in the society.

Van, Pickup Trucks Hit By Burglars

A van and two pickup trucks owned by Tele-View Systems Inc. were burglarized during the weekend at the company's parking lot at 143 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported today.

A battery, radio, full gas can, and a set of pole-climbing spurs, valued at a total of $88 were taken, police said.

Backwoods Boom Peril To Ecology?

GRASS VALLEY (AP) — The building boom in the backwoods is threatening the environment sought by buyers of lots in bucolic subdivisions, says a state Fish and Game Department biologist.

Badly designed roads, inadequate sewage and careless grading are causing erosion that is ravaging deer grazing areas, says Eric Gerstung, assistant fishery biologist at this Mother Lode town 60 miles northeast of Sacramento.

"The very features that attract people to buy lots in a mountain subdivision, such as natural beauty, fresh air, clean water and uncrowded conditions, may be largely destroyed in the subdivision process if higher standards are not required," says Gerstung.

Big business is involved, he says, pointing out that Nevada County Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner reports a total of $50 million in subdivisions has been approved in this one small county alone.

But Gerstung says the problem is general and spreading throughout the mountainous part of California, all through the Sierra foothills, over on the east slope, and even in coastal Humboldt County.

He estimated that 37 per cent of the stream mileage in Nevada County, or 160 miles, already have been damaged by silting, damaging stream banks, or pollution.

Gerstung conducted his survey first by plane, then on the ground as he drove in to take water samples, and check his own observations with local game wardens.

He conducted his study for his own department, with a view to providing information helpful to planning commissions throughout the state.

Board Supports Budget Takeover

The Marin County Board of Education decided by a split vote last night to seek full control of its own budget.

Voting to take over the budget function from the county board of supervisors were school board members Arnold T. Dolcini, Jr., Marilyn Crowell, Patrick W. Pollock, and Glen E. Robinson. Opposed were Lee C. Richardson, Jr. and James A. Carroll. Board member James A. Swenson did not attend the meeting at Audubon Canyon Ranch.

The action culminates nearly two years of effort by the board to win what it calls "Fiscal responsibility." Their resolution is scheduled to be presented to the supervisors today for a first reading. Action by the supervisors is expected next week.

Basically, the measure, if approved by the supervisors, will require that the board of supervisors set a tax rate sufficient to cover any budget presented by the board of education. At present, county schools budgets financed by local taxes are subject to reduction by the supervisors.

"I'm glad that the board has accepted this responsibility," said County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis. "This, again, is a step in the right direction. You're becoming more operational instead of (being) a servicing unit."

This transfer of control from the supervisors to the board of education reportedly was first suggested to Hollis several weeks ago by the county administrator's office.

"We don't look on it as crumbs of responsibility," said Pollock, referring to a statement he made at a previous meeting. "I think it's a very serious responsibility. . . the board accepts the responsibility if the Board of Supervisors wants to give it to us."

The resolution, if adopted by the supervisors, also provides that county employees assigned to the office of the school superintendent shall be classified as county school employees July 1, 1970, and be paid by the county schools office.

Hollis said he expected a slight rise in the present tax rate, which he put at 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation, to meet these new salaries.

In other school board action, administrative services director Robert E. Spain reported that the teachers' salary committee had proposed a 7 per cent salary schedule increase for the coming school year. He suggested that the board discuss the matter in closed session and then instruct him in future negotiations with the teachers' salary committee.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FACILITIES FOR DEAF — Heard a proposal by Ed Brennan, director of special services, to consider leasing four classrooms from the Reed Union School District at $7,200 per year for hearing handicapped classes instead of building a separate school for the deaf at an estimated cost of $200,000.

TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES — Approved seven applications for temporary certificates.

LIFE DIPLOMAS — Approved 31 applications for life diplomas.

GIFTS — Accepted portable television set and miniature playhouse home.

INSTURCTIONAL MATERIALS — Approved films and other instructional materials.

LIBRARY PROJECT — Approved resolution to prepare listing of library materials for special education and private schools to receive federal funds.

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION — Approved a contract to provide vocational rehabilitation services to mentally retarded and physically handicapped students in Marin County until June 1973.

BASIC COURSE — Approved use of "Basic Course of Study," a booklet which sets up minimal curriculum requirements for the county's schools.

SPECIAL DIPLOMAS — Approved approximately 115 special education diplomas to be awarded this year.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. July 6, in the administration building at San Quentin.

Turbine Trouble In Jumbo Jets

SEATTLE (AP) — A Boeing spokesman says a flaw has developed in some of the new engines being supplied for the company's 747 jumbo jet airliners.

The Pratt & Whitney JT9D engines recently installed in a dozen or so of the 44 jumbo jets the firm has delivered to airlines are subject to turbine blade failure, the spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said "A loosening of lockbolts holding a side plate on the turbine section of the engine" caused the problem.

The loose bolts cause vibration "which can result in turbine blade failure," the spokesman explained.

Use Permit For Nursery Denied

Mary Moppet's child care nursery for 65 children should not be allowed at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue in northwest Novato, the deputy zoning administrator decided yesterday.

Ralph D. Cairns denied the use permit, holding it would be detrimental to the neighborhood because of resulting noise and traffic congestion. The Novato Planning Commission also recommended denial of the use permit.

The 20,000 square foot property is owned by Adolph Schwindt of 1758 Indian Valley Road.

New Theory: Pair Slain At Home

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco couple, whose bodies were found Saturday night in the Devil's Slide area of San Mateo County, were killed at the dead man's home, San Francisco police said yesterday.

The bodies of Edelmiro Huertas, 63, and Carmen Acenzio, 36, were found at the brink of the 600-foot cliff 25 miles south of San Francisco.

Police said the bodies were identified by Jaime Sandoval, 40, who said he shared the couple's San Francisco home.

Sandoval was convicted in 1957 in Marin of a morals offense with a 15-year-old boy, and served two months in jail. He was a Hamilton Air Force Base airman and a San Rafael hospital orderly at the time.

Sandoval had lived in Huertas's home since being released from San Quentin years ago. He said that Miss Acenzio had moved into the house recently, police reported.

A .22-caliber bullet was found in a bedroom door jamb of the house, police said yesterday.

"We are satisfied the man and woman were killed at Huertas's house, and that Huertas's car was used to carry the bodies to Devil's Slide," said Inspector William Armstrong.

He said bloodstains were found in the garage and on Huertas's car.

Discussion Set On 'Due Process'

A proposed revision of "due process" procedure for students charged with violating College of Marin rules will be considered when the Marin Junior College District board meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in Room 96 of Olney Hall.

The revisions followed drawn-out discipline hearings for students who disrupted a board meeting last fall.

The board also will consider a five-year plan for vocational education and proposed additional security and night lighting for the campus.

Special Meeting

The Tiburon City Council will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall to discuss informally with the public new goals and objectives of the council.

$115,000 Is Agreed For Kappas Tidelots

The Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District has agreed to pay $115,000 to George Kappas for two tidelots in Richardson Bay and leasehold interest in three other tidelots.

An agreement for purchase of 6.25 acres and leasehold interest in 10.3 acres was to come before the Marin County Board of Supervisors this afternoon for approval.

Funds for the acquisition will come from money accumulated by the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone.

The underwater lots are located at the end of Kappas' pier at Waldo Point and stretch along the east side of Railroad Avenue.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said the property is needed for dredging of Saucelito Canal.

More than 7,000 varieties of apples have been grown and named including hundreds in the United States alone.

Restaurant's New Design Approved

A Burger Chef restaurant may be built on the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue, the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee decided last night.

Chairman Dartmond Cherk said the restaurant was redesigned after the committee turned down an earlier plan on April 20. The committee at the time stated that the corner in question was particularly important since it is the entrance to Mill Valley.

The committee also approved with modifications a sign for a Hertz car rental agency at a shell service station at 480 Miller Avenue, Cherk said.

Shoreline Park Joint Planning Effort Voted

Joint planning of a 50-acre park along Corte Madera's shoreline should be undertaken by town and county planners, the Corte Madera Town Council agreed last night.

Council approval of the study followed receipt of a letter from Pierre W. Joske, director of Marin County Parks and Recreation Department, who said the county agency is interested in beginning land acquisition on the shores of Corte Madera Bay.

Joske requested information be presented to the county parks and recreation commission on Corte Madera West Shore Plan which includes a proposal for a 50-acre parksite.

But the suggestion of a joint agreement for park construction with the county brought some dissent from both residents and a council member.

Councilman Byron D. White said he would like to see complete park plans before he agreed to enter into any agreement with the county.

"We have to tie down the location because as it's written now this means the Heerdt property," he said referring to the original plan which includes property the town council would like to see used for a ferry terminal.

Claiming the county and city were speaking of a regional park, Gary G. Grant of Corte Madera said "The question is whether you are going to create another Paradise Park with twice the cars as the number of parking spaces and people coming in from San Francisco and Petaluma."

"I'm in favor of a county-city park," Councilman Robert P. Simmons countered, "as long as we dictate what will go into it and how."

Simmons added that all the county had done was offer the city $100,000 a year for land acquisition and that the city should talk with the county before rejecting its participation in the park.

Council Harold B. Wagstaff said he agreed, adding that he would consider it unfortunate if the property were someday to be used as an industrial site or as another bedroom community.

"But the embyronic idea of a ferry terminal will entail a lot of long-range planning and this must be considered with the park plans," he continued.

Agreeing that the plan should be left flexible, the council approved the town manager's recommendations which included the concept of such a park, joint city-county action requesting the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to lift its Bay Plan park priority from lands to be considered by the county and city planners, and joint studies on financing, acquisition, development, maintenance and operation of the proposed park.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

PARKING — Set July 6 for a hearing on proposed planning commission parking space standards which would leave the length and width of off-street parking spaces to the discretion of the town engineer.

LEGAL FEES — Approved 4 to 1, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff against, paying the town's attorney, John E. Lynch, his fees incurred during the Corte Madera vs. Northern Pacific Railroad suit; total amount paid, $9,540.

BUILDING PERMITS — Denied 4 to 1, Councilman Byron D. White against, a petition from six Mariner Cove Unit No. 5 residents that building permits for multi-story dwelling be frozen until further study into zoning ordinances could be made.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 10 for a budget hearing.

Computer Arson Delays Grading

grades will be mailed to Fresno State College students about a month late this year because the school's computer was destroyed by firebombs.

Computer center manager Woodrow Shumate said Monday a machine exactly like the one destroyed May 19 will be installed June 16.

The new Control Data Corp. 3150 was expected to have grades out to FSC's 13,000 students by July 15.

Prior to the firebombing, the school planned to mail grades June 19.

Driver Is Treated For Cut Forehead

Harold Francis Hale Jr. ,45, of 20 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow, was treated for a cut forehead at Marin General Hospital about 9:40 p.m. Saturday, the hospital reported yesterday.

Fairfax police said Hale drove his car into a parked car in front of 275 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Motorcycle Gang Fatally Beats Youth

GUERNEVILLE (AP) — A young man has died of a brutal beating and bullwhipping he suffered while on a Memorial Day weekend outing with his girl friend.

The victim, Buddy Joel Byrum, 23, of South San Francisco, never regained consciousness, the Sonoma County sheriff's office said, but two witnesses have volunteered information about the group of motorcyclists who attacked him last Saturday.

One witness, the young man's 20-year-old girl friend, said Byrum was beaten after he protested against one of the motorcyclists shooting a pistol toward a group of people at Rolands Beach in the Russian River resort area. Her identity was not disclosed.

Another witness saw the attack and notified the sheriff's office, but when deputies arrived Byrum was kept hidden under a blanket and the girl friend was threatened if she spoke.

It was not until nine hours later that deputies found Byrum — after another complaint had been received about careless shooting.

Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Wilkinson said Byrum "was literally kicked to death" by seven or eight cyclists from a crowd of 15 or 16 men and women bike riders.

Investigators said Byrum was punched, kicked in the head and beaten severely with a bullwhip.

Two members of the group were booked for investigation of possessing dangerous drugs and being under the influence of drugs.

They were identified as William Cabral, 19, Oakland, and Martha Stewart, 20, Alameda.

Church Leader In Unity Plea

DENVER (AP) — With a plea for unity from its president, the big Southern Baptist Convention today began its annual working sessions, facing issues that threatened to explode into conflict.

Under fire were the denomination's social-action agency, and recent publications offering modern critical analysis of some passages of the Bible.

There also was a call for accepting inter-racial marriage, an unusual note in the Southern-based denomination whose 11.5 million members spread throughout the nation make it the largest Protestant body in the United States.

Corte Madera Council Balks At Taking Indochina Stand

Corte Madera Town Council last night added its name to a growing list of Marin governments which have refused to act upon student requests for support of legislation aimed at curtailing American involvement in Indochina.

The council tabled the student requests after a lengthy discussion which saw it agree with some members of the audience who declared the council had been elected to decide local, not national issues.

Brian Gaddy, a College of Marin student and member of the Marin Peace Coalition, told the councilmen they "not only have the right, but the responsibility to speak on national issues" according to Supreme Court opinions.

Gaddy was appealing for support of California's Assembly Bill 1670 that would bar California servicemen from fighting in an undeclared war and U.S. Senate Bill 609 which would limit military expenditures in Southeast Asia to the amount needed to bring American troops home.

But the student's request was drowned in a storm of response from some residents who claimed they "would take a backseat to no one in opposition to the war," but at the same time could not agree with any council action which would presume to "speak for the whole town."

"I don't think any of you were elected on this issue," Gary G. Grant of 248 Golden Hind Passage told the council.

"I have no objection to you, personally, sending in a resolution in opposition, but I would object if you did for the town," he continued.

"This war is costing us $2.5 million an hour," Gaddy countered. "Many of the problems you are having within the city is because of lack of funds. Funds the federal government is using on this war."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told other members of the council he had canvassed 62 homes throughout Corte Madera seeking a general consensus on the war issue.

"Everyone wants peace," the mayor said, "but everyone expresses a different means of achieving it."

Colthurst added that he couldn't presume to know how to solve the problem, but added we thought student activity in Washington, D.C. was showing results in the Senate.

Councilman Robert P. Simmons pointed out that AB-1674 was a duplicate of legislation signed into law by Massachusetts.

"I don't see any need for our legislature to supply a test case for the Supreme Court,' 'he continued, since there already was one.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville said he agreed with those in the audience who said they had not elected him to decide national policy.

"I feel very strongly that this type of effort is detrimental to the long range goals of our country," he said.

Councilmen Byron D. White and Harold B. Wagstaff said they agreed with statements of their fellow council members with White adding he could not vote on the issue without first hearing from the people.

The council agreed and tabled the request.

Senior Appraiser Status For Pair

Eugene J. Naber and James Dal Bon, members of the Marin County Assessor's staff, have been designated senior appraisers in the National Society of Governmental Appraisers.

The senior appraiser designation is granted by the society after an appraisal examination, submission of an appraisal report on a single family residence and at least one-year membership in the society.

Van, Pickup Trucks Hit By Burglars

A van and two pickup trucks owned by Tele-View Systems Inc. were burglarized during the weekend at the company's parking lot at 143 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported today.

A battery, radio, full gas can, and a set of pole-climbing spurs, valued at a total of $88 were taken, police said.

Backwoods Boom Peril To Ecology?

GRASS VALLEY (AP) — The building boom in the backwoods is threatening the environment sought by buyers of lots in bucolic subdivisions, says a state Fish and Game Department biologist.

Badly designed roads, inadequate sewage and careless grading are causing erosion that is ravaging deer grazing areas, says Eric Gerstung, assistant fishery biologist at this Mother Lode town 60 miles northeast of Sacramento.

"The very features that attract people to buy lots in a mountain subdivision, such as natural beauty, fresh air, clean water and uncrowded conditions, may be largely destroyed in the subdivision process if higher standards are not required," says Gerstung.

Big business is involved, he says, pointing out that Nevada County Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner reports a total of $50 million in subdivisions has been approved in this one small county alone.

But Gerstung says the problem is general and spreading throughout the mountainous part of California, all through the Sierra foothills, over on the east slope, and even in coastal Humboldt County.

He estimated that 37 per cent of the stream mileage in Nevada County, or 160 miles, already have been damaged by silting, damaging stream banks, or pollution.

Gerstung conducted his survey first by plane, then on the ground as he drove in to take water samples, and check his own observations with local game wardens.

He conducted his study for his own department, with a view to providing information helpful to planning commissions throughout the state.

SUSPECTED ENEMY POSITIONS — Two U.S. troopers fire their M-60 machine guns into the thick undergrowth at suspected enemy positions just inside the Cambodian border, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Elite Units Of Saigon Are Trapped

SAIGON (UPI)—Charging behind mortar barrages, North Vietnamese infantrymen broke into a newly-established camp of South Vietnam's best infantry division in the jungle highlands today and inflicted the heaviest government losses in South Vietnam for six months.

Two American and one Australian adviser were also wounded in the attacks which military sources said killed 40 South Vietnamese troops, wounded 67 and left 17 missiog.

The North Vietnamese force, estimated at battalion strength, left 81 of their dead in and around the camp, military sources said.

An estimated 700 men of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, which is taking over the defenses of the north from departing U. S. Marines, were spending their first night in an artillery base three miles from the border of Laos and 24 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating North and South Vietnam.

The Communist troops broke through the camp perimeter in a first assault shortly before 5 a. m. The defenders beat them off with the help of air strikes and artillery salvos, but the Communists again attacked the base three hours after daylight.

South Vietnamese reinforcements were rushed to the region.

Reports this morning from Phnom Penh, capital of neighboring Cambodia, said Pathet Lao troops from Laos have joined the North Vietnamese in Cambodia in attempting to consolidate a supply line between Laos and base camps north of Phnom Penh. The guerrillas captured a town 65 miles north of the capital Monday.

Laycock, principal at Hamilton, was moved to Loma Verde School and Joseph T. Mouille, principal at Loma Verde, was transferred to Marion.

Fence Permit Wins Support

A Kentfield resident got a legal leg up yesterday on his request to build fences on his property line to the edge of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project to keep passersby from peering into his patio.

The Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board visited the project to hear the complaint of Allan Larkins Sr., of 19 Stadium Way, that people walking and riding along the flood channel access path destroyed his privacy.

The board told the staff to prepare an encroachment permit which would let Larkins string fences to halt the traffic, reported county flood control engineer Charles E. Murphy. The permit will go to the county board of supervisors for action. The fence would have gates to let flood district employees pass.

26 Will Receive Their Diplomas

Twenty-six eighth grade girls will receive diplomas from San Domenico lower school tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Alumnae Hall at the Sleepy Hollow campus.

Rev. Martin McCormick of the Dominican Fathers of Kentfield will award diplomas and give a speech.

The seventh and eighth grade choir and the eighth grade handbell choir will perform "California" and Psalm 150.

Multiethnic Program Is Being Urged

A full-time multiethnic coordinator should be hired and a program for instruction of multiethnics established in all schools in the Novato Unified School District.

These were the main points of a report last night by the district board's multiethnic studies committee, given by chairman Raleigh Floyd.

The district should have a multiethnic resource person at each school and the district should build up a library of materials on the subject, Floyd reported.

The committee, which has studied the programs of other districts since it was formed last October, recommended materials compiled by the Hayward and Millbrae Schools.

The committee suggested a two-week workshop this summer to acquaint teachers and librarians with the material.

No mention was made of a salary for a full-time multiethnic studies coordinator, but the report suggested $1,500 for inservice training; $2,500 for books and materals, and $2,850 for the workshop.

The board accepted the report and promised to take action on the program when the district could afford it.

$315 In Boating Equipment Stolen

Boating euipment worth $315 was taken between May 5 and 26 from a 23-foot sailboat belonging to Grace C. Beals, 343 Jean Street, Mill Valley, according to Sausalito police.

Police said an outboard motor, stern light, life jackets, binoculars and AM/FM radio were stolen from the craft while it was parked in the Marinship Yacht Harbor.

Luncheon Program Is Hit By Panel

After eight months of study, the North Marin Food Service Study Committee had some harsh things to say about the school lunch program in the Novato Unified School District, even suggesting its discontinuance.

A report, presented last night by Mrs. Richard Price, chairman of the committee, said that the district should serve only hot luncheons and that the menus be improved.

If the district can afford such a hot-lunch program, food should be eliminated entirely in elementary schools, but in junior and senior high schools, vending machines might be permitted to provide snacks.

LAST OCTOBER

The Committee was named last October by the North Marin Parent-Teacher Association council.

It visited all schools in the district, plus other unified school districts with lunch programs.

The citizens committee criticized the menu, citing too much carbohydrate and a lack of green vegetables and fresh fruit. It urged use of subsidy food available through the federal government.

The committee urged not only "improvement in quality but . . .increased quantity."

DISTRICT POLICY

In event the district should discontinue the elementary lunch program, the vending machine contract for junior and senior high schools should be put out to bid and managed by the district.

The committee recommended that movable equipment in the kitchens be taken to the district warehouse for storage in case the district returned to a school lunch program. Current food supplies should be inventoried and sold.

The committee recommended that some provision be made for needy children in the district who required lunches, but did not make any specific recommendation on how this could be done.

The district has a $12,000 deficit in the school lunch program.

The board accepted the report, but took no action.

Board Supports Budget Takeover

The Marin County Board of Education decided by a split vote last night to seek full control of its own budget.

Voting to take over the budget function from the county board of supervisors were school board members Arnold T. Dolcini, Jr., Marilyn Crowell, Patrick W. Pollock, and Glen E. Robinson. Opposed were Lee C. Richardson, Jr. and James A. Carroll. Board member James A. Swenson did not attend the meeting at Audubon Canyon Ranch.

The action culminates nearly two years of effort by the board to win what it calls "Fiscal responsibility." Their resolution is scheduled to be presented to the supervisors today for a first reading. Action by the supervisors is expected next week.

Basically, the measure, if approved by the supervisors, will require that the board of supervisors set a tax rate sufficient to cover any budget presented by the board of education. At present, county schools budgets financed by local taxes are subject to reduction by the supervisors.

"I'm glad that the board has accepted this responsibility," said County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis. "This, again, is a step in the right direction. You're becoming more operational instead of (being) a servicing unit."

This transfer of control from the supervisors to the board of education reportedly was first suggested to Hollis several weeks ago by the county administrator's office.

"We don't look on it as crumbs of responsibility," said Pollock, referring to a statement he made at a previous meeting. "I think it's a very serious responsibility. . . the board accepts the responsibility if the Board of Supervisors wants to give it to us."

The resolution, if adopted by the supervisors, also provides that county employees assigned to the office of the school superintendent shall be classified as county school employees July 1, 1970, and be paid by the county schools office.

Hollis said he expected a slight rise in the present tax rate, which he put at 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation, to meet these new salaries.

In other school board action, administrative services director Robert E. Spain reported that the teachers' salary committee had proposed a 7 per cent salary schedule increase for the coming school year. He suggested that the board discuss the matter in closed session and then instruct him in future negotiations with the teachers' salary committee.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FACILITIES FOR DEAF — Heard a proposal by Ed Brennan, director of special services, to consider leasing four classrooms from the Reed Union School District at $7,200 per year for hearing handicapped classes instead of building a separate school for the deaf at an estimated cost of $200,000.

Turbine Trouble In Jumbo Jets

SEATTLE (AP) — A Boeing spokesman says a flaw has developed in some of the new engines being supplied for the company's 747 jumbo jet airliners.

The Pratt & Whitney JT9D engines recently installed in a dozen or so of the 44 jumbo jets the firm has delivered to airlines are subject to turbine blade failure, the spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said "A loosening of lockbolts holding a side plate on the turbine section of the engine" caused the problem.

The loose bolts cause vibration "which can result in turbine blade failure," the spokesman explained.

Use Permit For Nursery Denied

Mary Moppet's child care nursery for 65 children should not be allowed at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue in northwest Novato, the deputy zoning administrator decided yesterday.

Ralph D. Cairns denied the use permit, holding it would be detrimental to the neighborhood because of resulting noise and traffic congestion. The Novato Planning Commission also recommended denial of the use permit.

The 20,000 square foot property is owned by Adolph Schwindt of 1758 Indian Valley Road.

New Theory: Pair Slain At Home

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco couple, whose bodies were found Saturday night in the Devil's Slide area of San Mateo County, were killed at the dead man's home, San Francisco police said yesterday.

The bodies of Edelmiro Huertas, 63, and Carmen Acenzio, 36, were found at the brink of the 600-foot cliff 25 miles south of San Francisco.

Police said the bodies were identified by Jaime Sandoval, 40, who said he shared the couple's San Francisco home.

Sandoval was convicted in 1957 in Marin of a morals offense with a 15-year-old boy, and served two months in jail. He was a Hamilton Air Force Base airman and a San Rafael hospital orderly at the time.

Sandoval had lived in Huertas's home since being released from San Quentin years ago. He said that Miss Acenzio had moved into the house recently, police reported.

A .22-caliber bullet was found in a bedroom door jamb of the house, police said yesterday.

"We are satisfied the man and woman were killed at Huertas's house, and that Huertas's car was used to carry the bodies to Devil's Slide," said Inspector William Armstrong.

He said bloodstains were found in the garage and on Huertas's car.

Discussion Set On 'Due Process'

A proposed revision of "due process" procedure for students charged with violating College of Marin rules will be considered when the Marin Junior College District board meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in Room 96 of Olney Hall.

The revisions followed drawn-out discipline hearings for students who disrupted a board meeting last fall.

The board also will consider a five-year plan for vocational education and proposed additional security and night lighting for the campus.

Special Meeting

The Tiburon City Council will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall to discuss informally with the public new goals and objectives of the council.

$115,000 Is Agreed For Kappas Tidelots

The Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District has agreed to pay $115,000 to George Kappas for two tidelots in Richardson Bay and leasehold interest in three other tidelots.

An agreement for purchase of 6.25 acres and leasehold interest in 10.3 acres was to come before the Marin County Board of Supervisors this afternoon for approval.

Funds for the acquisition will come from money accumulated by the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone.

The underwater lots are located at the end of Kappas' pier at Waldo Point and stretch along the east side of Railroad Avenue.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said the property is needed for dredging of Saucelito Canal.

More than 7,000 varieties of apples have been grown and named including hundreds in the United States alone.

Restaurant's New Design Approved

A Burger Chef restaurant may be built on the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue, the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee decided last night.

Chairman Dartmond Cherk said the restaurant was redesigned after the committee turned down an earlier plan on April 20. The committee at the time stated that the corner in question was particularly important since it is the entrance to Mill Valley.

The committee also approved with modifications a sign for a Hertz car rental agency at a shell service station at 480 Miller Avenue, Cherk said.

Bids Rejected For Modular Classrooms

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday rejected all bids for modular classroom buildings at the Penngrove School, and called for new bids.

Meeting in special session, the board heard that two of the three bids were acceptable, but that payment plans did not conform with the district budget.

Low bids had been received from Compass Structures, $198,718 and Speedspace Corp. at $222,150. The district had allotted $45,000 per year as payment for the buildings to replace the older section on the Penngrove School which was abandoned as unsafe.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said bids would be received again on June 16 and that the five classrooms and administration center should still be completed by Sept. 1.

He said a special baord meeting may be called on June 17 to award the contract.

Scrap Copper, Brass Taken From Shop

Scrap copper and brass weighing more than 300 pounds — including $350 in copper fittings — and $80 in tools were taken Friday from Lido Plumbing in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

San Rafael police said the burglars kicked in a back door and apparently removed the plunder in a truck.

A $100 movie camera belonging to James A. Egide, 4 Mount Tenaya Court, was reported stolen Friday from a car at the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant.

The Colonial Motel manager complained to police that a portable television valued at $150 left with the occupants of a room Thursday.

Other thefts reported yesterday included a guitar and case valued at $120, a flute and a stereo tape deck removed from the music room at San Rafael High School between Friday and Sunday; liquor, jewelry and a piggy bank taken from the 39 Wallace Way home of John Adams Thursday or Friday; and a $150 guitar belonging to Hope A. Willis of San Francisco taken from Forest Meadows on Saturday.

Barney R. P. Saunders, a student at San Rafael Military Academy told police his combination record-tape player worth $275 was taken from his room on Saturday.

Time Given On School Burglary

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday sent Paul Brent Caldwell, 22, of Novato, to jail for nine months for burglarizing the Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley on Nov. 27.

He also placed Caldwell on probation for nine months and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs after hearing from a probation officer that Caldwell had gone on a spree of shooting methedrine recently.

Caldwell and another Novato man, Dennis Leslie Yates, 23, had earlier admitted burgling the school. Police said they found both men in school when they answered an alarm. Yates was sentenced to a year in jail earlier.

Two Cases Of Vandalism Probed

Two cases of vandalism during the weekend were reported yesterday by San Rafael police.

Stephen C. Chen of 10 Pine Hill Court told police someone shot a B-B pellet through a window at his home.

A plate glass window was stoned and a lemon tree picked clean at the home of Gordon C. Jones, 23 Dellwood Court, police said. Damage was estimated at $75.

Corte Madera Police Start 'Ride' Program

All persons 14 or older can ride along with Corte Madera police in a new "ride along" program started by the department to acquaint people with field operations of police.

Tours for young people will be from 7 to 11 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays and noon to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Adults can ride with officers in patrol cars from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays.

Chief David L. McIntosh said that citizens who see field activities will have a better understanding of law enforcement duties and responsibilities. Sgt. Rodney J. Sheran will direct the program.

The observers will not be taken on dangerous assignments. If a dangerous assignment is received, police will drop off the observer before proceeding, and call police headquarters to arrange transportation back to the station.

Young people and adults must sign forms relieving the department of responsibility before riding on patrol. They also will tour the police station for a briefing on department procedures.

New Association Selects Officers

The officers are: Richard F. Sadler of 28 Dominican Drive, president; Jay C. Crotty of 13 Dominican Drive and Walter Smith of 327 Mountain View Avenue, vice presidents; and Bettie B. Cooper of 27 Brandcliff Court, secretary-treasurer.

Curious Man Arrested Over Concealed Weapon

A 27-year-old San Rafael man arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing a concealed weapon and possessing a loaded firearm in a car in a public place was freed on $625 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

The San Rafael police said yesterday that John Elving of 1510 Lincoln Avenue was arrested at 12:30 a.m. after an officer responding to a complaint of a shotgun blast at Elving's home noted a gun protruding from Elving's pocket.

Elving was sitting in a car and drew attention to himself by asking the policeman what was happening, police said.

Elving told the officer he carried the gun because of a running feud between the Gypsy Jokers and Hell's Angels motorcycle gangs during which his life allegedly had been threatened.

A companion, Donald Lawson, 22, of San Francisco, was arrested on a San Francisco traffic warrant and made $41 bail at Marin County Jail.

Police did not link the two to the shotgun blast.

Auto Stolen

A 1960 Triumph TR3 roadster, California license No. LOP726, was reported stolen last Wednesday or Thursday from the home of owner Nan S. Ingalls, 109 West Street, Sausalito, police reported yesterday.

SUSPECTED ENEMY POSITIONS — Two U.S. troopers fire their M-60 machine guns into the thick undergrowth at suspected enemy positions just inside the Cambodian border, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Elite Units Of Saigon Are Trapped

SAIGON (UPI)—Charging behind mortar barrages, North Vietnamese infantrymen broke into a newly-established camp of South Vietnam's best infantry division in the jungle highlands today and inflicted the heaviest government losses in South Vietnam for six months.

Two American and one Australian adviser were also wounded in the attacks which military sources said killed 40 South Vietnamese troops, wounded 67 and left 17 missiog.

The North Vietnamese force, estimated at battalion strength, left 81 of their dead in and around the camp, military sources said.

An estimated 700 men of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, which is taking over the defenses of the north from departing U. S. Marines, were spending their first night in an artillery base three miles from the border of Laos and 24 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating North and South Vietnam.

The Communist troops broke through the camp perimeter in a first assault shortly before 5 a. m. The defenders beat them off with the help of air strikes and artillery salvos, but the Communists again attacked the base three hours after daylight.

South Vietnamese reinforcements were rushed to the region.

Reports this morning from Phnom Penh, capital of neighboring Cambodia, said Pathet Lao troops from Laos have joined the North Vietnamese in Cambodia in attempting to consolidate a supply line between Laos and base camps north of Phnom Penh. The guerrillas captured a town 65 miles north of the capital Monday.

Laycock, principal at Hamilton, was moved to Loma Verde School and Joseph T. Mouille, principal at Loma Verde, was transferred to Marion.

Fence Permit Wins Support

A Kentfield resident got a legal leg up yesterday on his request to build fences on his property line to the edge of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project to keep passersby from peering into his patio.

The Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board visited the project to hear the complaint of Allan Larkins Sr., of 19 Stadium Way, that people walking and riding along the flood channel access path destroyed his privacy.

The board told the staff to prepare an encroachment permit which would let Larkins string fences to halt the traffic, reported county flood control engineer Charles E. Murphy. The permit will go to the county board of supervisors for action. The fence would have gates to let flood district employees pass.

26 Will Receive Their Diplomas

Twenty-six eighth grade girls will receive diplomas from San Domenico lower school tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Alumnae Hall at the Sleepy Hollow campus.

Rev. Martin McCormick of the Dominican Fathers of Kentfield will award diplomas and give a speech.

The seventh and eighth grade choir and the eighth grade handbell choir will perform "California" and Psalm 150.

Multiethnic Program Is Being Urged

A full-time multiethnic coordinator should be hired and a program for instruction of multiethnics established in all schools in the Novato Unified School District.

These were the main points of a report last night by the district board's multiethnic studies committee, given by chairman Raleigh Floyd.

The district should have a multiethnic resource person at each school and the district should build up a library of materials on the subject, Floyd reported.

The committee, which has studied the programs of other districts since it was formed last October, recommended materials compiled by the Hayward and Millbrae Schools.

The committee suggested a two-week workshop this summer to acquaint teachers and librarians with the material.

No mention was made of a salary for a full-time multiethnic studies coordinator, but the report suggested $1,500 for inservice training; $2,500 for books and materais, and $2,850 for the workshop.

The board accepted the report and promised to take action on the program when the district could afford it.

$315 In Boating Equipment Stolen

Boating euipment worth $315 was taken between May 5 and 26 from a 23-foot sailboat belonging to Grace C. Beals, 343 Jean Street, Mill Valley, according to Sausalito police.

Police said an outboard motor, stern light, life jackets, binoculars and AM/FM radio were stolen from the craft while it was parked in the Marinship Yacht Harbor.

Luncheon Program Is Hit By Panel

After eight months of study, the North Marin Food Service Study Committee had some harsh things to say about the school lunch program in the Novato Unified School District, even suggesting its discontinuance.

A report, presented last night by Mrs. Richard Price, chairman of the committee, said that the district should serve only hot luncheons and that the menus be improved.

If the district can afford such a hot-lunch program, food should be eliminated entirely in elementary schools, but in junior and senior high schools, vending machines might be permitted to provide snacks.

LAST OCTOBER

The Committee was named last October by the North Marin Parent-Teacher Association council.

It visited all schools in the district, plus other unified school districts with lunch programs.

The citizens committee criticized the menu, citing too much carbohydrate and a lack of green vegetables and fresh fruit. It urged use of subsidy food available through the federal government.

The committee urged not only "improvement in quality but . . .increased quantity."

DISTRICT POLICY

In event the district should discontinue the elementary lunch program, the vending machine contract for junior and senior high schools should be put out to bid and managed by the district.

The committee recommended that movable equipment in the kitchens be taken to the district warehouse for storage in case the district returned to a school lunch program. Current food supplies should be inventoried and sold.

The committee recommended that some provision be made for needy children in the district who required lunches, but did not make any specific recommendation on how this could be done.

The district has a $12,000 deficit in the school lunch program.

The board accepted the report, but took no action.

Bus Strike Tieing Up East Bay

OAKLAND (AP) — A walkout by more than 1,000 bus drivers is forcing more than 200,000 East Bay bus patrons to find alternative transportation.

The walkout followed the expiration at 12:00 a.m. Monday morning of the contract between the AC Transit Co., and the Amalgamated Transit Union, division 192. It caused clogged streets in downtown Oakland, low attendance in some schools and monumental traffic problems on the Oakland-San Francisco Bay Bridge to more than 20,000 morning transbay commuters.

San Francisco's Traffic Director I. Thomas Zaragoza estimated between 5,000 and 8,000 additional cars moved into the city from across the bay because of the strike.

The resulting traffic flow was slow but relatively smooth, Zaragoza said.

Later in the day, however, the highway patrol said evening traffic was "a little heavier than usual but moving very well."

AC buses average 200,000 passengers each day, half of the East Bay commuter load in the 11 cities they serve.

Oakland school officials reported higher than usual absenteeism at Skyline High School, half of whose students ride AC Transit buses on contract with the school district.

About 27,000 school children use the bus system daily.

At issue in the strike is a wage increase demand by the union's 1,400 drivers, mechanics and clerks.

An AC spokesman said that no formal negotiations had been scheduled as of Monday evening.

The union is demanding the drivers, now paid $4.14 an hour plus $3.87 in benefits, get 51 cents an hour more immediately plus new benefits. It sought similar raises for the 300 mechanics and clerks.

AC's last offer called for wage increases and other benefits totaling 76 cents an hour in a two-year package. It included a 26-cent wage increase immediately and 26 cents more next year, plus up to 10 cents in cost-of-living adjustments, 8 cents for health and welfare and 6 cents in other fringe benefits.

Resets Session

The Marin County Aviation Commission has postponed tonight's regular meeting to 8 p.m. June 9 at the Civic Center, because of today's primary election.

Nixon Writes To Hero's Brother

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has assured 10-year-old Gordon Danesie of Essex, Md., that his half-brother went to heaven after being killed in Vietnam.

The brother, S. Sgt. Richard J. Hill, was killed Dec. 9, 1969, at the age of 24. He had won 13 medals for heroism.

"You asked me if Rick is in heaven. I'm sure he is," the President wrote in reply to a letter from Danesie, forwarded to him by Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md.

"He is also in another important place—in your heart and spirit. Don't ever forget what he died for."

"Perhaps more important, Rick, in spirit, is with you and with all of us who love freedom as long as we are willing to take the risks and perhaps even make the sacrifices he made. His is the kind of heroism that never dies."

No Plans For Reviewing Of Hunt Leases

The Marin Municipal Water District, presently reviewing its lease of 162 acres of district land to the Meadow Club, has no plans for reviewing hunting leases on nearly 6,000 acres to two other private groups, William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said yesterday.

One of the candidates seeking a seat on the water district board urged last week that the leases with the Redwood Gun Club and a group called Big Trees Camp be cancelled.

The gun club leases 850 acres below Alpine Lake for $250 a year, and Big Trees leases two parcels totaling 5,000 acres in Lagunitas Canyon for $625 a year.

RENEGOTIATING

The district is renegotiating the Meadow Club lease by which the club pays $480 a year for the land it uses for its golf course. The 44-year-old lease came up for review in January.

The Big Trees lease runs until 1973 and the gun club's until February 1971 and these are strictly legal lease," Seeger said.

Both leases predate district ownership of the land, Paul Neese, district surveyor and property supervisor, said yesterday.

He also said that part of the rationale for the leases is the fire danger in the district's watershead area. Both leases require the clubs to provide fire patrol. The Redwood club keeps a man on its property during the hunting season, and Big Tree keeps a man the year round.

A FIRE TRUCK

Big Tree also keeps a truck on the property equipped with fire-fighting equipment, Seeger said.

Neese said Big Trees leased both pieces of property, and more, for $125 a year before the district took over the land in 1946.

The gun club subleased its land from Big Trees.

Bids on the properties were called for in 1948, Neese said, and the gun club got its land for $250 a year, and Big Trees Camp its land for the present $625.

In 1954, bids were again called for on the Redwood land, and the club's lease rose to $350.

Both leases also limit the membership of the groups as well as the number of people allowed on the land at any one time. Big Trees membership is limited to 12. The members and no more than two guests can be on the land at any one time. Redwood's membership is limited to eight, but only four and two guests can be on the land at any one time.

FOR DEER HUNTING

Seeger said the groups, both of which have several small buildings on the leased land, use the property for deer hunting.

In addition to the three property leases, the district also leases the old Tamalpais Railroad depot to a hikers group, called the West Point Club, for $500 a year.

The club, which took over the building in 1943 when the district was going to demolish it as a fire hazard, provides a caretaker at the building. Originally, the hikers' club paid no rent, but the $500 figure was added in 1967, Neese said.

Publisher A. L. Glasmann Dies

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Abraham Lincoln (Abe) Glasmann, a giant in Utah's communications industry and a prominent civic leader, died here Monday night. He was 77.

Glasmann, whose newspaper career reached into virtually every phase of the business, served as publisher of the Ogden Standard Examiner and its forerunner, the Ogden Standard, for nearly half a century.

His business interests ranged over a wide front and included radio, television, real estate and theater as well as the newspaper business.

Man Reports Theft Of '70 Motorcycle

A red and gold 1970 Triumph 650 Bonneville motorcycle has been stolen from Norman W. Holck of 2130 Redwood Highway, Larkspur police reported yesterday.

Holck told police he left the machine parked at Alexander Halcomb Avenues at 12:30 a.m. yesterday to visit a friend, and found it gone when he returned at 12:55. The machine had temporary license 0061379.

Bids Rejected For Modular Classrooms

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday rejected all bids for modular classroom buildings at the Penngrove School, and called for new bids.

Meeting in special session, the board heard that two of the three bids were acceptable, but that payment plans did not conform with the district budget.

Low bids had been received from Compass Structures, $198,718 and Speedspace Corp. at $222,150. The district had allotted $45,000 per year as payment for the buildings to replace the older section on the Penngrove School which was abandoned as unsafe.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said bids would be received again on June 16 and that the five classrooms and administration center should still be completed by Sept. 1.

He said a special baord meeting may be called on June 17 to award the contract.

Scrap Copper, Brass Taken From Shop

Scrap copper and brass weighing more than 300 pounds — including $350 in copper fittings — and $80 in tools were taken Friday from Lido Plumbing in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

San Rafael police said the burglars kicked in a back door and apparently removed the plunder in a truck.

A $100 movie camera belonging to James A. Egide, 4 Mount Tenaya Court, was reported stolen Friday from a car at the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant.

The Colonial Motel manager complained to police that a portable television valued at $150 left with the occupants of a room Thursday.

Other thefts reported yesterday included a guitar and case valued at $120, a flute and a stereo tape deck removed from the music room at San Rafael High School between Friday and Sunday; liquor, jewelry and a piggy bank taken from the 39 Wallace Way home of John Adams Thursday or Friday; and a $150 guitar belonging to Hope A. Willis of San Francisco taken from Forest Meadows on Saturday.

Barney R. P. Saunders, a student at San Rafael Military Academy told police his combination record-tape player worth $275 was taken from his room on Saturday.

Time Given On School Burglary

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday sent Paul Brent Caldwell, 22, of Novato, to jail for nine months for burglarizing the Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley on Nov. 27.

He also placed Caldwell on probation for nine months and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs after hearing from a probation officer that Caldwell had gone on a spree of shooting methedrine recently.

Caldwell and another Novato man, Dennis Leslie Yates, 23, had earlier admitted burgling the school. Police said they found both men in school when they answered an alarm. Yates was sentenced to a year in jail earlier.

Arts Division Deadline Near

Entries for the arts and crafts division of the Sonoma-Marin Fair close Thursday at 5 p.m.

Entry forms and information can be received at the fairgrounds office in Petaluma. The division, one of the few that is open to adults, includes painting, sculpture and photography.

Only persons from Marin and Sonoma counties may exhibit at the fair, June 25-28.

Two Cases Of Vandalism Probed

Two cases of vandalism during the weekend were reported yesterday by San Rafael police.

Stephen C. Chen of 10 Pine Hill Court told police someone shot a B-B pellet through a window at his home.

A plate glass window was stoned and a lemon tree picked clean at the home of Gordon C. Jones, 23 Dellwood Court, police said. Damage was estimated at $75.

Corte Madera Police Start 'Ride' Program

All persons 14 or older can ride along with Corte Madera police in a new "ride along" program started by the department to acquaint people with field operations of police.

Tours for young people will be from 7 to 11 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays and noon to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Adults can ride with officers in patrol cars from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays.

Chief David L. McIntosh said that citizens who see field activities will have a better understanding of law enforcement duties and responsibilities. Sgt. Rodney J. Sheran will direct the program.

The observers will not be taken on dangerous assignments. If a dangerous assignment is received, police will drop off the observer before proceeding, and call police headquarters to arrange transportation back to the station.

Young people and adults must sign forms relieving the department of responsibility before riding on patrol. They also will tour the police station for a briefing on department procedures.

New Association Selects Officers

The newly-formed Black Canyon Neighborhood Association, which encompasses Mountain View venue and its off streets and Grand Avenue to Linden Lane in San Rafael, has elected officers.

The officers are: Richard F. Sadler of 28 Dominican Drive, president; Jay C. Crotty of 13 Dominican Drive and Walter Smith of 327 Mountain View Avenue, vice presidents; and Bettie B. Cooper of 27 Brandcliff Court, secretary-treasurer.

Curious Man Arrested Over Concealed Weapon

A 27-year-old San Rafael man arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing a concealed weapon and possessing a loaded firearm in a car in a public place was freed on $625 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

The San Rafael police said yesterday that John Elving of 1510 Lincoln Avenue was arrested at 12:30 a.m. after an officer responding to a complaint of a shotgun blast at Elving's home noted a gun protruding from Elving's pocket.

Elving was sitting in a car and drew attention to himself by asking the policeman what was happening, police said.

Elving told the officer he carried the gun because of a running feud between the Gypsy Jokers and Hell's Angels motorcycle gangs during which his life allegedly had been threatened.

A companion, Donald Lawson, 22, of San Francisco, was arrested on a San Francisco traffic warrant and made $41 bail at Marin County Jail.

Police did not link the two to the shotgun blast.

Auto Stolen

A 1960 Triumph TR3 roadster, California license No. LOP726, was reported stolen last Wednesday or Thursday from the home of owner Nan S. Ingalls, 109 West Street, Sausalito, police reported yesterday.

Council Seeks Policy On Annexation Moves

The San Rafael City Council last night called for a long-range policy on annexation of partly developed lands.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said more areas are likely to "want to come into the city," and there should be a policy established.

"There's more and more talk about Santa Venetia and it's development," he commented.

The annexation talk was spurred by proposed annexation of 1.43 acres owned by Allan Judson along Los Ranchitos Road, between the Catholic Social Services property and the Golden Hinde Senior Housing Project.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner reported the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission had authorized the annexation, but the city planning commission recommended against it until the property was brought up to city standards.

The proposed Judson annexation was referred to the public works department for study, and the long-range study to City Mgr. James H. McCown.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ANIMAL KEEPING — Adopted an ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in the city and setting procedures for keeping certain animals including horses in the city, and gave first approval to an ordinance which would permit the planning director to issue animal permits.

POLICE CHIEF — Approved a job description for police chief, which would be used if voters today approve having a chief appointed instead of elected. It requires 10 years of municipal law enforcement experience including at least three years in a supervisory capacity. Education at a recognized college or university with a major in police science could be substituted for up to four years of the required nonsupervisory experience.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL — Awarded Steiny and Co. of San Francisco, lowest of four bidders, a contract to construct a traffic signal system at Fourth and H Streets at a cost of $16,125, with Mayfair Markets to contribute $7,500 toward the project.

APARTMENT SIDING — Agreed that the siding at Picnic Valley Apartments, 237 Picnic Avenue, constructed in all wood in violation of plans, should be stucco on the lower portion and redwood on the upper portion. Councilman Fred E. Jensen absented himself during the discussion and vote because a partner in the development, Edmund T. Ghirardo, aided him during a past illness.

ACTUARIAL STUDY — Authorized a contract with the State Employees Retirement System for an actuarial study at a cost estimated at $300 to $350.

DEED TO LANE — Accepted from San Rafael City Schools title to Happy Lane, adjacent to Sun Valley School.

DEBRIS WALL — Approved plans for repair of a storm drain wall along Scenic Avenue near Fifth Avenue, under state emergency relief funds, 40 per cent, and called for bids to be opened July 6.

BCDC REGULATIONS — Authorized Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner to make recommendations to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission on its proposed procedures for regulating shoreline development. The regulations will be before the commission Thursday and cities will have an additional week to make comments, Hotchner explained.

CITY REPRESENTATIVE — At the request of Barry H. Bovee, 48 Lagoon Road, authorized the San Rafael International Billfish Team to represent the city in the 1970 Hawaiian International Billfish Tournament.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

Columbus Ship's Remains Found?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ocean explorer Fred Dickson Jr. says he believes he has found remains of Christopher Columbus' flagship Santa Maria on a reef off northern Haiti.

He said Monday a three-man team will begin excavation June 15 at a spot where he found some ship debris in 1967.

Dickson, of Palm Beach, Fla., found two iron rudder clamps, pottery shards, wood, a copper rod and washer, a silver nail and a brass nail.

Experts say all but the rod and washer could have been made in Columbus time. Sponsors of Dickson's project explain more than one wreck could be at the site.

Historians say the Santa Maria ran aground in the vicinity of Cape Haitian on Christmas Eve, 1492. Some say Columbus' men dismantled the ship for the wood.

Resignation Withdrawal Is Suggested

San Rafael City Council which received a verbal resignation from Councilman John A. Miskimen May 4 has asked him to reconsider and serve out his term ending April 1971.

Miskimen resigned effective yesterday, but Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the council hasn't received a written resignation and has asked Miskimen to reconsider.

Miskimen, away on a business trip, was absent last night, but the mayor reported Miskimen was considering the council's request.

Miskimen said in May he had reached the point where he couldn't devote the "time to the position."

Correct Time

The Larkspur City Council will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall, not tonight as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal. The council will consider appointments to the planning and park and recreation commission, and discuss plans for the Independence Day fireworks display.

Mobile Home Rules To Be Prepared

San Rafael City Council last night authorized preparation of an ordinance to permit mobile home parks in residential areas under stringent requirements.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said, with strict limits, mobile homes parks, as now built, "can become good residential neighborhoods."

Councilmen felt that mobile home parks could meet the housing needs of city residents, and requirements could be tight.

"If of high quality, they could be quite appropriate to the housing needs we have today," said Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini commented: "Housing is very difficult in our community and we must take care of the segment of the population that needs this kind of house. We should shoot for the top and make sufficient requirements to make them attractive."

At present, mobile homes and trailers are restricted to an area near B Street and Woodland Avenue.

Hotchner showed a series of color slides showing mobile home parks, good and bad, pointing out the desirable and undesirable features of each.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier asked about the tax return to a city from such parks, and Hotchner estimated it would be equal to the return from apartment units.

Mobile home parks have fewer children, private streets, private lighting and private recreation facilities, and generally create fewer demands for police services, Hotchner said.

Two Errors In Meeting Report

The Independent-Journal erred twice in its account of the last Larkspur Planning Commission meeting, secretary Barbara Bruton said yesterday.

A fence variance sought by Axel R. Meyer of 97 Madrone Avenue was continued to the June 9 meeting, not approved; and one reason given for denying a proposed outdoor sale by Disco Wonderworld was incorrect, she said.

The commission objected that the proposed sale followed the last one too closely, not that the proposed 5-day sale was too long.

Bus Strike Tieing Up East Bay

OAKLAND (AP) — A walkout by more than 1,000 bus drivers is forcing more than 200,000 East Bay bus patrons to find alternative transportation.

The walkout followed the expiration at 12:00 a.m. Monday morning of the contract between the AC Transit Co., and the Amalgamated Transit Union, division 192. It caused clogged streets in downtown Oakland, low attendance in some schools and monumental traffic problems on the Oakland-San Francisco Bay Bridge to more than 20,000 morning transbay commuters.

San Francisco's Traffic Director I. Thomas Zaragoza estimated between 5,000 and 8,000 additional cars moved into the city from across the bay because of the strike.

The resulting traffic flow was slow but relatively smooth, Zaragoza said.

Later in the day, however, the highway patrol said evening traffic was "a little heavier than usual but moving very well."

AC buses average 200,000 passengers each day, half of the East Bay commuter load in the 11 cities they serve.

Oakland school officials reported higher than usual absenteeism at Skyline High School, half of whose students ride AC Transit buses on contract with the school district.

About 27,000 school children use the bus system daily.

At issue in the strike is a wage increase demand by the union's 1,400 drivers, mechanics and clerks.

An AC spokesman said that no formal negotiations had been scheduled as of Monday evening.

The union is demanding the drivers, now paid $4.14 an hour plus $3.87 in benefits, get 51 cents an hour more immediately plus new benefits. It sought similar raises for the 300 mechanics and clerks.

AC's last offer called for wage increases and other benefits totaling 76 cents an hour in a two-year package. It included a 26-cent wage increase immediately and 26 cents more next year, plus up to 10 cents in cost-of-living adjustments, 8 cents for health and welfare and 6 cents in other fringe benefits.

Resets Session

The Marin County Aviation Commission has postponed tonight's regular meeting to 8 p.m. June 9 at the Civic Center, because of today's primary election.

Nixon Writes To Hero's Brother

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has assured 10-year-old Gordon Danesie of Essex, Md., that his half-brother went to heaven after being killed in Vietnam.

The brother, S. Sgt. Richard J. Hill, was killed Dec. 9, 1969, at the age of 24. He had won 13 medals for heroism.

"You asked me if Rick is in heaven. I'm sure he is," the President wrote in reply to a letter from Danesie, forwarded to him by Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md.

"He is also in another important place—in your heart and spirit. Don't ever forget what he died for."

"Perhaps more important, Rick, in spirit, is with you and with all of us who love freedom as long as we are willing to take the risks and perhaps even make the sacrifices he made. His is the kind of heroism that never dies."

No Plans For Reviewing Of Hunt Leases

The Marin Municipal Water District, presently reviewing its lease of 162 acres of district land to the Meadow Club, has no plans for reviewing hunting leases on nearly 6,000 acres to two other private groups, William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said yesterday.

One of the candidates seeking a seat on the water district board urged last week that the leases with the Redwood Gun Club and a group called Big Trees Camp be cancelled.

The gun club leases 850 acres below Alpine Lake for $250 a year, and Big Trees leases two parcels totaling 5,000 acres in Lagunitas Canyon for $625 a year.

RENEGOTIATING

The district is renegotiating the Meadow Club lease by which the club pays $480 a year for the land it uses for its golf course. The 44-year-old lease came up for review in January.

The Big Trees lease runs until 1973 and the gun club's until February 1971 and these are strictly legal lease," Seeger said.

Both leases predate district ownership of the land, Paul Neese, district surveyor and property supervisor, said yesterday.

He also said that part of the rationale for the leases is the fire danger in the district's watershead area. Both leases require the clubs to provide fire patrol. The Redwood club keeps a man on its property during the hunting season, and Big Tree keeps a man the year round.

A FIRE TRUCK

Big Tree also keeps a truck on the property equipped with fire-fighting equipment, Seeger said.

Neese said Big Trees leased both pieces of property, and more, for $125 a year before the district took over the land in 1946.

The gun club subleased its land from Big Trees.

Bids on the properties were called for in 1948, Neese said, and the gun club got its land for $250 a year, and Big Trees Camp its land for the present $625.

In 1954, bids were again called for on the Redwood land, and the club's lease rose to $350.

Both leases also limit the membership of the groups as well as the number of people allowed on the land at any one time. Big Trees membership is limited to 12. The members and no more than two guests can be on the land at any one time. Redwood's membership is limited to eight, but only four and two guests can be on the land at any one time.

FOR DEER HUNTING

Seeger said the groups, both of which have several small buildings on the leased land, use the property for deer hunting.

In addition to the three property leases, the district also leases the old Tamalpais Railroad depot to a hikers group, called the West Point Club, for $500 a year.

The club, which took over the building in 1943 when the district was going to demolish it as a fire hazard, provides a caretaker at the building. Originally, the hikers' club paid no rent, but the $500 figure was added in 1967, Neese said.

Publisher A. L. Glasmann Dies

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Abraham Lincoln (Abe) Glasmann, a giant in Utah's communications industry and a prominent civic leader, died here Monday night. He was 77.

Glasmann, whose newspaper career reached into virtually every phase of the business, served as publisher of the Ogden Standard Examiner and its forerunner, the Ogden Standard, for nearly half a century.

His business interests ranged over a wide front and included radio, television, real estate and theater as well as the newspaper business.

Man Reports Theft Of '70 Motorcycle

A red and gold 1970 Triumph 650 Bonneville motorcycle has been stolen from Norman W. Holck of 2130 Redwood Highway, Larkspur police reported yesterday.

Holck told police he left the machine parked at Alexander Halcomb Avenues at 12:30 a.m. yesterday to visit a friend, and found it gone when he returned at 12:55. The machine had temporary license 0061379.

Finding Freshest Foods On Grocery Shelf Takes Sleuth

By ESTELLE JACKSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ever wonder how fresh the food you buy really is? Ever suspect that the food you're eating may have been standing overly long on the grocery shelf?

The answer is probably marked right on your grocery packages.

Most perishable food products found in supermarkets are marked with a date — either the date of packaging or the date the item is to be withdrawn or "pulled" from the store counter or shelf.

The problem is that most of the dates are in code — and most of the codes are secret.

WHAT IS the significance of the numbers marked in purple or black on the undersides of boxes and cans?

In an effort to find the answer, I visited stores of several local supermarket chains. I found some help and encountered some resistance. But I did manage to crack quite a few codes.

A carton of potato salad, one of my first targets, was coded in a fairly common, but baffling, manner. The numbers on the underside of the container read 2081. The manager of the store told me to add the first and last numerals together to learn the month — the third month, March, The "08" represented the day of the month, he said.

Trouble was the date was March 11, an oversight the manager promptly corrected.

Meat codes I found difficult to decipher because they vary from chain to chain, from store to store within the same chain and even within the same store. For example, in one store, fresh meats were marked "23". The 2 stood for the man who wrapped the meat and the 3 represented the day of the week — Wednesday — the meat was wrapped.

FINDING THE codes on a milk carton can be a strain on the eyes, as they are usually embossed colorlessly on the lip of the wax container. Most milk is coded by pull date — "31" would indicate the carton will be withdrawn on the 31st. One brand codes by the bottling date. A letter represents the week and a number indicates the day. "B4" means the fourth day of the second full week of the month, for example.

Codes can contain more than dates. Some code also contain symbols representing cities, packing plants, vat number and even shift numbers. Processors say this must be done to identify specific batches for checking the validity of consumer complaints, as in cases where food products must be recalled.

Letter codes can really be perplexing. One technique is to employ a six-letter word, like NEWARK, in which no letters are repeated. Using NEWARK, an N could represent Monday, E Tuesday and so forth. Some manufacturers prefer a 10-letter code, using a word combination like NOURISH EAT. When they they reach the end of the 10-day cycle with a T, they can simply start all over again with an N. Easily understood codes, in which the packaging or expiration dates are written in plain English, fall into the category of "opening coding."

AND OPEN coding is what various consumer organizations want. It would be mandatory if a bill now before Congress is passed.

Rep. Leonard Farbstein (D-N.Y.) is the author of the bill, an amendment to the Fair Labeling and Packaging Act. The bill, which has 47 sponsors in Congress, includes provisions for open dating by uniformly using the product's "pull" or expiration date.

Preliminary results of surveys made for Farbstein's office by women investigators in the Washington area were disclosed by Ellis Levin, the congressman's legislative assistant.

"Everything sold is not stale, but a significant amount of food is older than the codes say it should be," said Levin. "We're finding this especially in milk, bread and meat. The greatest abuse is in low income areas. However, middle income area housewives are concerned, too, about paying a lot of money for stale food"

FOOD INDUSTRY spokesmen maintain that open coding would add to the cost of food and contend it is not necessary because the purpose of coding is to help stores rotate products. They say the codes are not the customers' business.

S. Frank Straus, executive vice president of the Virginia Food Dealers Association, says that coding would "create more problems than it solves.

"Housewives would buy things with the newest and freshest dates," he said. "The last merchandise in would be the first out. This would create a vast problem in that much merchandise would have to be destroyed and credited. Imagine what that would do to the price of food."

Proponents of open coding counter industry arguments by saying that open dating would not be an extra cost, since the industry is already coding food. They argue that open dating has existed for years in some European countries.

Cholesterol Classes Set For June

Diet management classes for individuals with elevated cholesterol levels have been announced for June by the Marin County Heart Association.

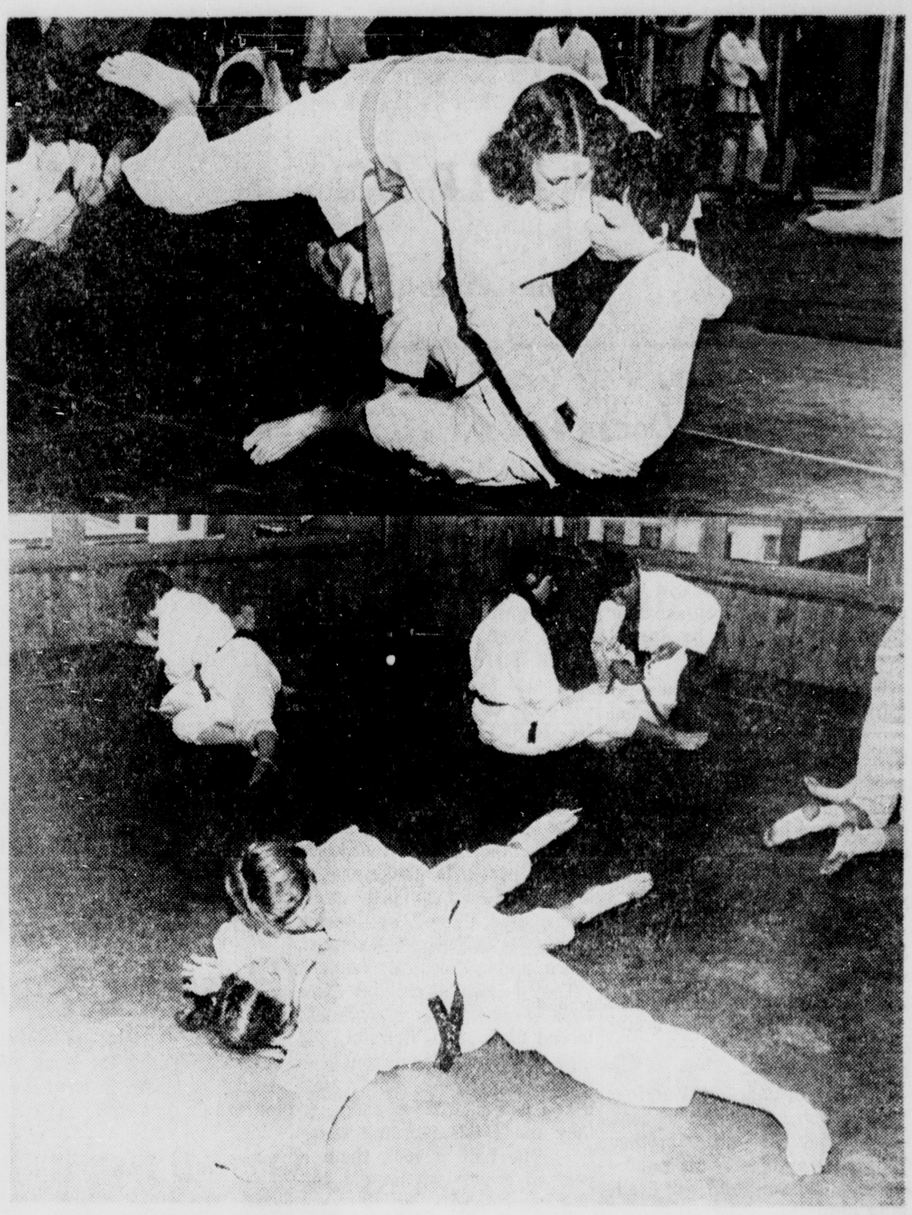
Classes planned are a result of the follow-up of the Heart Association's blood pressure and cholesterol testing program in which 797 Marinites participated recently. Results indicated that 228 individuals had blood pressure in excess of 140/90, or had a blood cholesterol in excess of 275 mmgs.

The diet management class will consist of two 1½ hour sessions to be held at the Heart Association office to help plan and prepare fat-controlled low cholesterol meals and afford specific diet consultation.

Classes will be limited to approximately 10 persons and will meet at various times during the week.

Free of charge, the following class schedule has been announced: Class I on Tuesdays, June 2 and 9 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.; Class II on Wednesdays, June 3 and 10 from 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Class III on Thursdays, June 4 and 11 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and Class IV on Saturdays, June 5 and June 13 from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Enrollment can be made by calling the Marin County Heart Association in San Rafael.



WEST GERMANY'S first judo match for women was held recently in Hamburg, defying the "manly" traditions of the country's judo league. Above, two of the competitors shift from the standing position to the prone position. Below, the match gets down to serious business.

German Women Break Tradition Of 'Male Only' Judo Competitions

HAMBURG, GERMANY (GF) — West Germany's first female judo match took place recently in Hamburg, thus defying the "manly" traditions of the country's Judo League.

The German Judo League's rules permit women to practice the art of judo only in a standing position, for esthetic reasons, and excludes them from all competitions.

Mrs. Wiebke Miebach, who watches over the league's 1,500 female members, didn't think much of this and has decided to change things, and organized the all-girl contest in Hamburg.

The North German Womens' Championship Matches are not yet officially approved by the league's male members. But Mrs. Miebach doesn't really care. She believes her all-girl judo bouts will eventually convince those non-plussed male on-lookers in the background that women have the stuff it takes.

Why shouldn't she be right? She herself holds the Dan level of proficiency, conferred only twice to date in West Germany.

Her femare followers think she is and they are doing their best to prove it.

Council Seeks Policy On Annexation Moves

The San Rafael City Council last night called for a long-range policy on annexation of partly developed lands.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said more areas are likely to "want to come into the city," and there should be a policy established.

"There's more and more talk about Santa Venetia and it's development," he commented.

The annexation talk was spurred by proposed annexation of 1.43 acres owned by Allan Judson along Los Ranchitos Road, between the Catholic Social Services property and the Golden Hinde Senior Housing Project.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner reported the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission had authorized the annexation, but the city planning commission recommended against it until the property was brought up to city standards.

The proposed Judson annexation was referred to the public works department for study, and the long-range study to City Mgr. James H. McCown.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ANIMAL KEEPING — Adopted an ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in the city and setting procedures for keeping certain animals including horses in the city, and gave first approval to an ordinance which would permit the planning director to issue animal permits.

POLICE CHIEF — Approved a job description for police chief, which would be used if voters today approve having a chief appointed instead of elected. It requires 10 years of municipal law enforcement experience including at least three years in a supervisory capacity. Education at a recognized college or university with a major in police science could be substituted for up to four years of the required nonsupervisory experience.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL — Awarded Steiny and Co. of San Francisco, lowest of four bidders, a contract to construct a traffic signal system at Fourth and H Streets at a cost of $16,125, with Mayfair Markets to contribute $7,500 toward the project.

APARTMENT SIDING — Agreed that the siding at Picnic Valley Apartments, 237 Picnic Avenue, constructed in all wood in violation of plans, should be stucco on the lower portion and redwood on the upper portion. Councilman Fred E. Jensen absented himself during the discussion and vote because a partner in the development, Edmund T. Ghirardo, aided him during a past illness.

ACTUARIAL STUDY — Authorized a contract with the State Employees Retirement System for an actuarial study at a cost estimated at $300 to $350.

DEED TO LANE — Accepted from San Rafael City Schools title to Happy Lane, adjacent to Sun Valley School.

DEBRIS WALL — Approved plans for repair of a storm drain wall along Scenic Avenue near Fifth Avenue, under state emergency relief funds, 40 per cent, and called for bids to be opened July 6.

BCDC REGULATIONS — Authorized Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner to make recommendations to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission on its proposed procedures for regulating shoreline development. The regulations will be before the commission Thursday and cities will have an additional week to make comments, Hotchner explained.

CITY REPRESENTATIVE — At the request of Barry H. Bovee, 48 Lagoon Road, authorized the San Rafael International Billfish Team to represent the city in the 1970 Hawaiian International Billfish Tournament.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

Columbus Ship's Remains Found?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ocean explorer Fred Dickson Jr. says he believes he has found remains of Christopher Columbus' flagship Santa Maria on a reef off northern Haiti.

He said Monday a three-man team will begin excavation June 15 at a spot where he found some ship debris in 1967.

Dickson, of Palm Beach, Fla., found two iron rudder clamps, pottery shards, wood, a copper rod and washer, a silver nail and a brass nail.

Experts say all but the rod and washer could have been made in Columbus time. Sponsors of Dickson's project explain more than one wreck could be at the site.

Historians say the Santa Maria ran aground in the vicinity of Cape Haitian on Christmas Eve, 1492. Some say Columbus' men dismantled the ship for the wood.

Resignation Withdrawal Is Suggested

San Rafael City Council which received a verbal resignation from Councilman John A. Miskimen May 4 has asked him to reconsider and serve out his term ending April 1971.

Miskimen resigned effective yesterday, but Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the council hasn't received a written resignation and has asked Miskimen to reconsider.

Miskimen, away on a business trip, was absent last night, but the mayor reported Miskimen was considering the council's request.

Miskimen said in May he had reached the point where he couldn't devote the "time to the position."

Correct Time

The Larkspur City Council will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall, not tonight as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal. The council will consider appointments to the planning and park and recreation commission, and discuss plans for the Independence Day fireworks display.

Mobile Home Rules To Be Prepared

San Rafael City Council last night authorized preparation of an ordinance to permit mobile home parks in residential areas under stringent requirements.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said, with strict limits, mobile homes parks, as now built, "can become good residential neighborhoods."

Councilmen felt that mobile home parks could meet the housing needs of city residents, and requirements could be tight.

"If of high quality, they could be quite appropriate to the housing needs we have today," said Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini commented: "Housing is very difficult in our community and we must take care of the segment of the population that needs this kind of house. We should shoot for the top and make sufficient requirements to make them attractive."

At present, mobile homes and trailers are restricted to an area near B Street and Woodland Avenue.

Hotchner showed a series of color slides showing mobile home parks, good and bad, pointing out the desirable and undesirable features of each.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier asked about the tax return to a city from such parks, and Hotchner estimated it would be equal to the return from apartment units.

Mobile home parks have fewer children, private streets, private lighting and private recreation facilities, and generally create fewer demands for police services, Hotchner said.

Two Errors In Meeting Report

The Independent-Journal erred twice in its account of the last Larkspur Planning Commission meeting, secretary Barbara Bruton said yesterday.

A fence variance sought by Axel R. Meyer of 97 Madrone Avenue was continued to the June 9 meeting, not approved; and one reason given for denying a proposed outdoor sale by Disco Wonderworld was incorrect, she said.

The commission objected that the proposed sale followed the last one too closely, not that the proposed 5-day sale was too long.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Do You Tell Small Boy That His Father Doesn't Want Him?

DEAR HELEN:

Our mother and father are legally separated, and Dad doesn't come to visit. He blames our mother, but it is not all her fault. He has a girl friend and her children are near our ages, so maybe he doesn't need his own.

Well, we two girls are of teen-age, and can get along, but our little brother really needs a father. He doesn't have an uncle or grandfather, or any male to cheer him on at games or Scouts, and he has about given up.

Our boy friends try to help, but that isn't the same.

Helen, how do you explain to a little boy that his dad doesn't want him? It's been almost two years now since he's seen him. And how can we help our brother? — E. M.

DEAR E.:

Call Big Brothers of America. They're listed in your telephone book. When your little brother finds a substitute for his father, the hurt of losing him will gradually diminish.

Meanwhile, try not to show your bitterness. Try not to even feel bitter. It brings lasting scars.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16, have a slender build, not voluptuous, but not Twiggish, either. I wear stylish clothes, but never micro-mini.

Walking home from school, I encounter the most unbelievably immature men. Not boys, but middle-aged guys who leer, stare, whistle, snicker, and generally make fools of themselves as I pass by.

I appreciate attention from boys near my own age. They treat me as a person and a friend. But 40-year-olds attempting to demonstrate their masculine prowess — well, I pity them, and their wives.

Please pass the word on to these elderly lechers. We high school girls think they're juvenile. — NOT AMUSED

DEAR NOT:

Elderly lechers of the world: Grow up. Okay? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Talk about irony. Because he wanted to be identified with the peace movement, my boyfriend grew long hair and a big beard, like the other college men working for peace. It was a snaggy bunch on campus last week. Then, they showed up looking like junior executives — shaved, shorn, and in shoes, not sandals.

They'd been circulating petitions in favor of the amendment to end the war in Vietnam, and they discovered that you can talk to the Establishment better if you look like one of them. So they made the supreme sacrifice. The hair it took them a year to grow went on the cutting room floor.

Now I'm supposed to feel as badly about this loss as he does, but frankly I like him better trimmed. How do we girls work it so they don't grow back their hair and beards? —LOVE AND PEACE

DEAR L AND P:

Finding Freshest Foods On Grocery Shelf Takes Sleuth

By ESTELLE JACKSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ever wonder how fresh the food you buy really is? Ever suspect that the food you're eating may have been standing overly long on the grocery shelf?

The answer is probably marked right on your grocery packages.

Most perishable food products found in supermarkets are marked with a date — either the date of packaging or the date the item is to be withdrawn or "pulled" from the store counter or shelf.

The problem is that most of the dates are in code — and most of the codes are secret.

WHAT IS the significance of the numbers marked in purple or black on the undersides of boxes and cans?

In an effort to find the answer, I visited stores of several local supermarket chains. I found some help and encountered some resistance. But I did manage to crack quite a few codes.

A carton of potato salad, one of my first targets, was coded in a fairly common, but baffling, manner. The numbers on the underside of the container read 2081. The manager of the store told me to add the first and last numerals together to learn the month — the third month, March, The "08" represented the day of the month, he said.

Trouble was the date was March 11, an oversight the manager promptly corrected.

Meat codes I found difficult to decipher because they vary from chain to chain, from store to store within the same chain and even within the same store. For example, in one store, fresh meats were marked "23". The 2 stood for the man who wrapped the meat and the 3 represented the day of the week — Wednesday — the meat was wrapped.

FINDING THE codes on a milk carton can be a strain on the eyes, as they are usually embossed colorlessly on the lip of the wax container. Most milk is coded by pull date — "31" would indicate the carton will be withdrawn on the 31st. One brand codes by the bottling date. A letter represents the week and a number indicates the day. "B4" means the fourth day of the second full week of the month, for example.

Codes can contain more than dates. Some code also contain symbols representing cities, packing plants, vat number and even shift numbers. Processors say this must be done to identify specific batches for checking the validity of consumer complaints, as in cases where food products must be recalled.

Letter codes can really be perplexing. One technique is to employ a six-letter word, like NEWARK, in which no letters are repeated. Using NEWARK, an N could represent Monday, E Tuesday and so forth. Some manufacturers prefer a 10-letter code, using a word combination like NOURISH EAT. When they they reach the end of the 10-day cycle with a T, they can simply start all over again with an N. Easily understood codes, in which the packaging or expiration dates are written in plain English, fall into the category of "opening coding."

AND OPEN coding is what various consumer organizations want. It would be mandatory if a bill now before Congress is passed.

Rep. Leonard Farbstein (D-N.Y.) is the author of the bill, an amendment to the Fair Labeling and Packaging Act. The bill, which has 47 sponsors in Congress, includes provisions for open dating by uniformly using the product's "pull" or expiration date.

Preliminary results of surveys made for Farbstein's office by women investigators in the Washington area were disclosed by Ellis Levin, the congressman's legislative assistant.

"Everything sold is not stale, but a significant amount of food is older than the codes say it should be," said Levin. "We're finding this especially in milk, bread and meat. The greatest abuse is in low income areas. However, middle income area housewives are concerned, too, about paying a lot of money for stale food"

FOOD INDUSTRY spokesmen maintain that open coding would add to the cost of food and contend it is not necessary because the purpose of coding is to help stores rotate products. They say the codes are not the customers' business.

S. Frank Straus, executive vice president of the Virginia Food Dealers Association, says that coding would "create more problems than it solves.

"Housewives would buy things with the newest and freshest dates," he said. "The last merchandise in would be the first out. This would create a vast problem in that much merchandise would have to be destroyed and credited. Imagine what that would do to the price of food."

Proponents of open coding counter industry arguments by saying that open dating would not be an extra cost, since the industry is already coding food. They argue that open dating has existed for years in some European countries.

German Women Break Tradition Of 'Male Only' Judo Competitions

HAMBURG, GERMANY (GF) — West Germany's first female judo match took place recently in Hamburg, thus defying the "manly" traditions of the country's Judo League.

The German Judo League's rules permit women to practice the art of judo only in a standing position, for esthetic reasons, and excludes them from all competitions.

Mrs. Wiebke Miebach, who watches over the league's 1,500 female members, didn't think much of this and has decided to change things, and organized the all-girl contest in Hamburg.

The North German Womens' Championship Matches are not yet officially approved by the league's male members. But Mrs. Miebach doesn't really care. She believes her all-girl judo bouts will eventually convince those non-plussed male on-lookers in the background that women have the stuff it takes.

Why shouldn't she be right? She herself holds the Dan level of proficiency, conferred only twice to date in West Germany.

Her femare followers think she is and they are doing their best to prove it.

Cholesterol Classes Set For June

The chemise is every designer's darling this spring. It's everywhere—in more variations than anyone can count. Suggested for wearing with same: a filigreed tassel, plus a flippy multi-strand rope. Also: flirty drop earrings and a wristful of bright bangles. The ensemble of jewelry, suggested by Monet's fashion coordinators, gives that lively, multiple look that's in fashion now.

Good Cherries Are Glossy

With fresh cherries appearing in our markets now here are some important buying and storing tips to remember from the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Good cherries have glossy, plump-looking surfaces and fresh-looking stems.

Look for a very dark color your most important indication of good flavor and maturity in sweet cherries. Bing, Black Tartarian, Chapman, Early Burlat, Parkhill and Republican varieties should range from deep maroon or mahogany red to black for the richest flavor. Lambert cherries should be dark red and Royal Anns should be amber to yellow with a red blush.

Avoid overmature cherries indicated by shrivelling, dried stems and a generally dull appearance. Decay is fairly common at times with sweet cherries, but because of the normal dark color, decayed areas are often inconspicuous. Soft leaking flesh, brown discoloration, and mold growth are indications of decay.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Do You Tell Small Boy That His Father Doesn't Want Him?

DEAR HELEN:

Our mother and father are legally separated, and Dad doesn't come to visit. He blames our mother, but it is not all her fault. He has a girl friend and her children are near our ages, so maybe he doesn't need his own.

Well, we two girls are of teen-age, and can get along, but our little brother really needs a father. He doesn't have an uncle or grandfather, or any male to cheer him on at games or Scouts, and he has about given up.

Our boy friends try to help, but that isn't the same.

Helen, how do you explain to a little boy that his dad doesn't want him? It's been almost two years now since he's seen him. And how can we help our brother? — E. M.

DEAR E.:

Call Big Brothers of America. They're listed in your telephone book. When your little brother finds a substitute for his father, the hurt of losing him will gradually diminish.

Meanwhile, try not to show your bitterness. Try not to even feel bitter. It brings lasting scars.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16, have a slender build, not voluptuous, but not Twiggish, either. I wear stylish clothes, but never micro-mini.

Walking home from school, I encounter the most unbelievably immature men. Not boys, but middle-aged guys who leer, stare, whistle, snicker, and generally make fools of themselves as I pass by.

I appreciate attention from boys near my own age. They treat me as a person and a friend. But 40-year-olds attempting to demonstrate their masculine prowess — well, I pity them, and their wives.

Please pass the word on to these elderly lechers. We high school girls think they're juvenile. — NOT AMUSED

DEAR NOT:

Elderly lechers of the world: Grow up. Okay? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Talk about irony. Because he wanted to be identified with the peace movement, my boyfriend grew long hair and a big beard, like the other college men working for peace. It was a snaggy bunch on campus last week. Then, they showed up looking like junior executives — shaved, shorn, and in shoes, not sandals.

They'd been circulating petitions in favor of the amendment to end the war in Vietnam, and they discovered that you can talk to the Establishment better if you look like one of them. So they made the supreme sacrifice. The hair it took them a year to grow went on the cutting room floor.

Now I'm supposed to feel as badly about this loss as he does, but frankly I like him better trimmed. How do we girls work it so they don't grow back their hair and beards? —LOVE AND PEACE

DEAR L AND P:

Could be the new push for peace (through political efforts) will end more than one hairy problem. Your men may rediscover they're more comfortable sheared and shaved. — H.

Density Plays Key Role In Housing Developments

Developers of housing projects batted .500 last night as the Mill Valley City Council approved one development and sent another back to the drawing board.

Approved was a plan for 120 garden cottages to be built in the Upper Alto Bowl by Cal-Fong Realty Co.

Postponed for 90 days, to allow William E. Cullen time to resubmit his plans, was a proposal for 128 units of housing on the city's Warner Ridge.

The main topic of discussion during the public hearing which totaled three hours was the same in both cases — density.

Norman T. Gilroy, architect for the Alto Bowl project, argued that even though he was asking an increase in density from three to 4.3 dwelling units per acre, this would not necessarily mean that more people would live in the project.

"It's only through a technicality that we have to apply for a density increase," he said. "Density is the number of dwelling units on the land, but this is like saying that a motel, which houses people, is the same as a beach cottage, which also houses people."

Gilroy said less people would live in his 120 cottages than would live in the 83 houses which could be built on the property under an already approved subdivision map.

But Mrs. Rodman, of 189 Oakdale Avenue, said that the increased density meant more flooding problems in areas downstream from the proposed project.

Her fear of flooding was echoed by Ronald G. Christison, of 82 Meadow Road. "This area already is overdeveloped. I'm afraid the council will approve this new development without giving residents adequate flood control," he said.

But Gilroy said that Cal-Fong had agreed not to build on the site until planned blood control improvements have been started in the area.

Seeking assurance that his house won't be flooded by runoff from the development, Jon K. Nicholas, of 37 Meadow Drive, asked the council to require Cal-Fong to post a performance bond to protect homeowners.

This proposal was called "unrealistic" by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala. "We might have rain for 40 days and 40 nights, he said. "That wouldn't be the developer's fault, but it would cause flooding."

Also discussed was the problem that would arise from traffic generated by the project.

"It would be extremely shortsighted of the council to send 450 additional cars a day through the intersection of Tower Drive and East Blithedale Avenue," said Sarah Ruffner, of 25 Lomita Drive. "They would run the risk of getting clobbered each time."

Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker agreed. "If we send them down Tower we send them down suicide alley," he said.

An alternate route, Gilroy suggested, would be to channel the traffic down Ashford Avenue to East Blithedale.

Returning to the question of density, Councilman Robert H. Andresen said he would like to see "changes toward a lighter density. But I think cluster development is inevitable."

Councilman Jerope C. Hauke then moved to instruct City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare a resolution approving the density increase. Mayor George E. Wickham seconded.

It carried, 4 to 1, with Andresen dissenting. "I think we're going in a dangerous direction on the density. This type of development is incompatible with Mill Valley."

The density question also figured prominently in the council's decision to continue for 90 days Cullen's request for an increase from a density of 1.5 to four.

Cullen said his goals in proposing the 128 units of clustered housing on the southeastern tip of Warner Ridge were to "preserve the character of Mill Valley and provide middle income housing."

He said that property surrounding his 32-acre site was zoned for greater densities than that which he proposed.

But Kent Selms, a property owner in Mill Valley, said that "adjacent areas with higher densities have no bearing. If it was a mistake to approve these densities, then why repeat them?"

Apparently agreeing, Boessenecker moved to deny the density increase. Sensing, as he called it, "the impending doom of my project," Cullen asked that the council continue the hearing to allow him time to resubmit his plans.

Hauke moved to continue, Andresen seconded and it passed unanimously.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

BOTHIN — Continued to July 6 consideration of a development at Camino Alto and Miller Avenue proposed by Bothin Real Estate Co.

CUTOFF — Announced its intention to vacate the Blithedale cutoff, which runs from East Blithedale to Camino Alto.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to June 15 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Bail Sought For Huey P. Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bail has been asked for imprisoned Black Panther co-founder Huey P. Newton, whose manslaughter conviction has been overturned.

Newton, 28, has been in custody since Oakland policeman John Frey was shot to death with his own service revolver after he stopped a car Newton was driving on Oct. 28, 1967.

The California Court of Appeal overturned Newton's voluntary manslaughter conviction on Friday, holding that the jury was not instructed properly on Newton's claim that he was unconscious from a bullet wound in the abdomen at the time Frey was shot and a fellow officer was wounded.

Charles Garry, chief defense council for the Black Panther party, filed the application for bail Monday.

Tool Box Stolen

Petaluma police reported yesterday that a tool box containing $294 in tools was taken Sunday from a truck parked at the home of Corwin W. Swadley, 1440 Lauren Drive.

Cherry Valley Residents Seek Street Improvements

Complaining they have streets like "cowpaths," residents of the Cherry Valley section of Petaluma last night asked the city council to establish an assessment district for road improvements.

Byron Fauss, president of the Cherry Valley School Parent-Teachers Association, told the council that children walking to school have no sidewalks in most areas and that a dangerous situation exists.

"The street condition there is absolutely terrible," Fauss said, pointing to a map of the Cherry Valley area. He said his committee in the school association had attempted to contact every property owner in the district and had received 190 responses.

He said that only six of those were against an assessment district, but said not all had reached an opinion.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said that $14,000 for an engineering study of the area has tentatively been included in the 1970-71 preliminary budget.

The council questioned whether the study should be undertaken since 60 per cent of the property owners must agree before an assessment district can be formed.

The council asked City Eng. David A. Young to report on the necessary study and to make a recommendation at the June 15 meeting.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

PLAN — Approved modifications to the general plan that include realignment of Stony Point Road and extension of Industrial Avenue.

RIVER — Heard that a council committee will meet June 11 at 7:30 p.m. with residents of the Linda Del Mar subdivision, whose homes are being threatened by the Petaluma River.

PLANNING — Approved a resolution enlarging the planning commission from five to eight members so that a three man board of zoning adjustments can be formed. The board will meet the first and third Tuesdays of every month at 3 p.m. in the city hall.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 51 acres off South McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to single family residential.

MAP — Approved the final map for the Meadowlark Meadow subdivision off South McDowell Boulevard at Crinella Drive. It includes 90 lots on 17 acres.

ANNEX — Listed no objections to annexation of 28 acres on North McDowell Boulevard that will be considered by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday at 3 p.m.

CONTRIBUTION — Agreed to send $50 to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea for legal expenses in challenging Assembly Bill 325 on the disclosure of assets by public officials.

APPOINTMENT — Reappointed Robert Koenitzer to the planning commission.

Prime Minister Is Egg Target

LONDON (AP) — A heckler got Prime Minister Harold Wilson right between the eyes with an egg at a political rally.

The egg was thrown during a Monday night meeting in suburban Harrow, where Wilson was appealing for votes for his Labor party in the June 18 national election.

Wilson calmly brushed the egg drippings away and walked off to a nearby party headquarters.

Hill School Sets Graduation

Graduation for 272 students from Hill Junior High School in Novato will be held at 6:30 p.m., June 10 at the school's football field, according to principal Frank Raney.

Fall president Dennis Kornegay and spring president Candice Matson will be the student speakers.

Supt. James G. Bunker will give the address and trustee Carolyn Crabtree will represent the board.

Petalumans Face Boost In Tax Rate

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last night presented a preliminary budget of $3,119,473 for the 1970-71 fiscal year and a recommendation that the tax rate be increased from $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.87.

Meyer said the general fund of $1,842,465 would be balanced with $130,000 of unappropriated reserves since the city's estimated revenue for the year is $1,172,465.

The city manager said the basic general fund tax rate of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation would remain the same, but that the debt service of 15 cents assessed this year must be raised to 37 cents.

The debt service increase is necessary because of bond issues approved by the voters for fire and police station enlargements, and street improvements, he said. At the time of the bond election, the tax rate hike had been estimated at 19 cents.

The budget allows for eight additional firefighters to man the new fire station approved in the bond issue as well as five additional uniformed police officers, two additional police vehicles and three clerical personnel.

Meyer's budget made no recommendations on salary increases, but included $87,454 without specific recommendations. He said that requests made for wage adjustments and fringe benefits far exceed that amount.

He said that salary recommendations will be made during budget hearings. The first in the series of hearings was scheduled for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

By department, the preliminary budget recommendations (with this year's budget in parentheses) are: City clerk, $16,193 (16,373); finance, $58,905 (57,462); City Atty., $20,748 ($20,878); City Mgr. $33,893 ($33,415); planning, $39,860 ($38,271); City council, $5,048 ($5,049); retirement, insurance, $234,566 ($230,307); police, $324,111 ($313,867); fire, $286,836 ($285,025).

Ambulance, $19,207 ($17,793); animal control, $14,369 ($14,129); inspection, $37,611 ($36,293); engineering, $92,613 ($91,435); weed abatement, $12,701 ($12,574); street department, $175,835 ($174,499); building maintenance, $32,018 (32,092); corporation shop, $14,257 ($14,407); parks and recreation, $107,727 ($105,552); Library, $79,266 ($75,900); swim pool building maintenance, $22,296 ($23,056); recreational and instructional swimming, $15,905 ($15,905); building abatement, $10,000 ($10,000).

Chemise

The chemise is every designer's darling this spring. It's everywhere—in more variations than anyone can count. Suggested for wearing with same: a filigreed tassel, plus a flippy multi-strand rope. Also: flirty drop earrings and a wristful of bright bangles. The ensemble of jewelry, suggested by Monet's fashion coordinators, gives that lively, multiple look that's in fashion now.

Good Cherries Are Glossy

With fresh cherries appearing in our markets now here are some important buying and storing tips to remember from the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Good cherries have glossy, plump-looking surfaces and fresh-looking stems.

Look for a very dark color your most important indication of good flavor and maturity in sweet cherries. Bing, Black Tartarian, Chapman, Early Burlat, Parkhill and Republican varieties should range from deep maroon or mahogany red to black for the richest flavor. Lambert cherries should be dark red and Royal Anns should be amber to yellow with a red blush.

Avoid overmature cherries indicated by shrivelling, dried stems and a generally dull appearance. Decay is fairly common at times with sweet cherries, but because of the normal dark color, decayed areas are often inconspicuous. Soft leaking flesh, brown discoloration, and mold growth are indications of decay.

PEACE, VOTE RITES

The World War I Doughboy witnesses the end of a march from College of Marin to San Rafael's Courthouse Square sponsored by the Marin Peace Coalition. The march yesterday, along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to San Anselmo and Fourth Street in San Rafael marked both Memorial Day Saturday and election day today, a coalition spokesman said. A flag draped wooden coffin in front of the statue represented the group's desire to bury war as well as to memorialize those who've given their lives in all wars, the spokesman said. Several signs urged voters to "think before you vote" — an effort, the spokesman said, to stress that voters may be the difference between peace and war. (Indpendent-Journal photo.)

Boulevard's Completion Given Nod

The Rohnert Park City Council last night approved plans for the completion of Southwest Boulevard and said bids would be opened July 2.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the project was estimated to cost $293,000 and that if bids are acceptable, a contract could be awarded at the July 6 council meeting.

The project includes a new grade crossing at the railroad tracks, a two-lane street from Burton avenue to the tracks and four lanes from the tracks eastward on Southwest Boulevard.

Callinan said the city's share of the cost was estimated at $78,000. The road project to link the two major residential sections of the city had been delayed because the state Public Utilities Commission would not approve the crossing at the tracks.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

DEER MEADOW — Approved the general development plan for Deer Meadow Village, a development of townhouse apartments and single family homes north of Santa Alicia Drive.

ANNEXATION — Reacted favorably to the inquiry of land investor's research to annex 250 acres immediately north of Sonoma State College for future construction of student housing.

ASSEMBLY — Approved a motion opposing Assembly Bill 908 which would impose an excise tax on governmental agencies which operate electrical utilities.

Density Plays Key Role In Housing Developments

Developers of housing projects batted .500 last night as the Mill Valley City Council approved one development and sent another back to the drawing board.

Approved was a plan for 120 garden cottages to be built in the Upper Alto Bowl by Cal-Fong Realty Co.

Postponed for 90 days, to allow William E. Cullen time to resubmit his plans, was a proposal for 128 units of housing on the city's Warner Ridge.

The main topic of discussion during the public hearing which totaled three hours was the same in both cases — density.

Norman T. Gilroy, architect for the Alto Bowl project, argued that even though he was asking an increase in density from three to 4.3 dwelling units per acre, this would not necessarily mean that more people would live in the project.

"It's only through a technicality that we have to apply for a density increase," he said. "Density is the number of dwelling units on the land, but this is like saying that a motel, which houses people, is the same as a beach cottage, which also houses people."

Gilroy said less people would live in his 120 cottages than would live in the 83 houses which could be built on the property under an already approved subdivision map.

But Mrs. Rodman, of 189 Oakdale Avenue, said that the increased density meant more flooding problems in areas downstream from the proposed project.

Her fear of flooding was echoed by Ronald G. Christison, of 82 Meadow Road. "This area already is overdeveloped. I'm afraid the council will approve this new development without giving residents adequate flood control," he said.

But Gilroy said that Cal-Fong had agreed not to build on the site until planned blood control improvements have been started in the area.

Seeking assurance that his house won't be flooded by runoff from the development, Jon K. Nicholas, of 37 Meadow Drive, asked the council to require Cal-Fong to post a performance bond to protect homeowners.

This proposal was called "unrealistic" by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala. "We might have rain for 40 days and 40 nights, he said. "That wouldn't be the developer's fault, but it would cause flooding."

Also discussed was the problem that would arise from traffic generated by the project.

"It would be extremely shortsighted of the council to send 450 additional cars a day through the intersection of Tower Drive and East Blithedale Avenue," said Sarah Ruffner, of 25 Lomita Drive. "They would run the risk of getting clobbered each time."

Councilman Edward J. Boesenecker agreed. "If we send them down Tower we send them down suicide alley," he said.

An alternate route, Gilroy suggested, would be to channel the traffic down Ashford Avenue to East Blithedale.

Returning to the question of density, Councilman Robert H. Andresen said he would like to see "changes toward a lighter density. But I think cluster development is inevitable."

Councilman Jerope C. Hauke then moved to instruct City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare a resolution approving the density increase. Mayor George E. Wickham seconded.

It carried, 4 to 1, with Andresen dissenting. "I think we're going in a dangerous direction on the density. This type of development is incompatible with Mill Valley."

The density question also figured prominently in the council's decision to continue for 90 days Cullen's request for an increase from a density of 1.5 to four.

Cullen said his goals in proposing the 128 units of clustered housing on the southeastern tip of Warner Ridge were to "preserve the character of Mill Valley and provide middle income housing."

He said that property surrounding his 32-acre site was zoned for greater densities than that which he proposed.

But Kent Selms, a property owner in Mill Valley, said that "adjacent areas with higher densities have no bearing. If it was a mistake to approve these densities, then why repeat them?"

Apparently agreeing, Boesenecker moved to deny the density increase. Sensing, as he called it, "the impending doom of my project," Cullen asked that the council continue the hearing to allow him time to resubmit his plans.

Hauke moved to continue, Andresen seconded and it passed unanimously.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

BOTHIN — Continued to July 6 consideration of a development at Camino Alto and Miller Avenue proposed by Bothin Real Estate Co.

CUTOFF — Announced its intention to vacate the Blithedale cutoff, which runs from East Blithedale to Camino Alto.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to June 15 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Bail Sought For Huey P. Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bail has been asked for imprisoned Black Panther co-founder Huey P. Newton, whose manslaughter conviction has been overturned.

Newton, 28, has been in custody since Oakland policeman John Frey was shot to death with his own service revolver after he stopped a car Newton was driving on Oct. 28, 1967.

The California Court of Appeal overturned Newton's voluntary manslaughter conviction on Friday, holding that the jury was not instructed properly on Newton's claim that he was unconscious from a bullet wound in the abdomen at the time Frey was shot and a fellow officer was wounded.

Charles Garry, chief defense council for the Black Panther party, filed the application for bail Monday.

Tool Box Stolen

Petaluma police reported yesterday that a tool box containing $294 in tools was taken Sunday from a truck parked at the home of Corwin W. Swadley, 1440 Lauren Drive.

Cherry Valley Residents Seek Street Improvements

Complaining they have streets like "cowpaths," residents of the Cherry Valley section of Petaluma last night asked the city council to establish an assessment district for road improvements.

Byron Fauss, president of the Cherry Valley School Parent-Teachers Association, told the council that children walking to school have no sidewalks in most areas and that a dangerous situation exists.

"The street condition there is absolutely terrible," Fauss said, pointing to a map of the Cherry Valley area. He said his committee in the school association had attempted to contact every property owner in the district and had received 190 responses.

He said that only six of those were against an assessment district, but said not all had reached an opinion.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said that $14,000 for an engineering study of the area has tentatively been included in the 1970-71 preliminary budget.

The council questioned whether the study should be undertaken since 60 per cent of the property owners must agree before an assessment district can be formed.

The council asked City Eng. David A. Young to report on the necessary study and to make a recommendation at the June 15 meeting.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

PLAN — Approved modifications to the general plan that include realignment of Stony Point Road and extension of Industrial Avenue.

RIVER — Heard that a council committee will meet June 11 at 7:30 p.m. with residents of the Linda Del Mar subdivision, whose homes are being threatened by the Petaluma River.

PLANNING — Approved a resolution enlarging the planning commission from five to eight members so that a three man board of zoning adjustments can be formed. The board will meet the first and third Tuesdays of every month at 3 p.m. in the city hall.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 51 acres off South McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to single family residential.

MAP — Approved the final map for the Meadowlark Meadow subdivision off South McDowell Boulevard at Crinella Drive. It includes 90 lots on 17 acres.

ANNEX — Listed no objections to annexation of 28 acres on North McDowell Boulevard that will be considered by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday at 3 p.m.

CONTRIBUTION — Agreed to send $50 to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea for legal expenses in challenging Assembly Bill 325 on the disclosure of assets by public officials.

APPOINTMENT — Reappointed Robert Koenitzer to the planning commission.

Prime Minister Is Egg Target

LONDON (AP) — A heckler got Prime Minister Harold Wilson right between the eyes with an egg at a political rally.

The egg was thrown during a Monday night meeting in suburban Harrow, where Wilson was appealing for votes for his Labor party in the June 18 national election.

Wilson calmly brushed the egg drippings away and walked off to a nearby party headquarters.

Hill School Sets Graduation

Graduation for 272 students from Hill Junior High School in Novato will be held at 6:30 p.m., June 10 at the school's football field, according to principal Frank Raney.

Fall president Dennis Kornegay and spring president Candice Matson will be the student speakers.

Supt. James G. Bunker will give the address and trustee Carolyn Crabtree will represent the board.

Petalumans Face Boost In Tax Rate

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last night presented a preliminary budget of $3,119,473 for the 1970-71 fiscal year and a recommendation that the tax rate be increased from $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.87.

Meyer said the general fund of $1,842,465 would be balanced with $130,000 of unappropriated reserves since the city's estimated revenue for the year is $1,172,465.

The city manager said the basic general fund tax rate of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation would remain the same, but that the debt service of 15 cents assessed this year must be raised to 37 cents.

The debt service increase is necessary because of bond issues approved by the voters for fire and police station enlargements, and street improvements, he said. At the time of the bond election, the tax rate hike had been estimated at 19 cents.

The budget allows for eight additional firefighters to man the new fire station approved in the bond issue as well as five additional uniformed police officers, two additional police vehicles and three clerical personnel.

Meyer's budget made no recommendations on salary increases, but included $87,454 without specific recommendations. He said that requests made for wage adjustments and fringe benefits far exceed that amount.

He said that salary recommendations will be made during budget hearings. The first in the series of hearings was scheduled for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

By department, the preliminary budget recommendations (with this year's budget in parentheses) are: City clerk, $16,193 (16,373); finance, $58,905 (57,462); City Atty., $20,748 ($20,878); City Mgr. $33,893 ($33,415); planning, $39,860 ($38,271); City council, $5,048 ($5,049); retirement, insurance, $234,566 ($230,307); police, $324,111 ($313,867); fire, $286,836 ($285,025).

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A six-foot, 100-pound baby girl giraffe is the newest addition to the San Francisco Zoo.

The yet nanamed giraffe is the newborn of Blondie, who was born 15 years ago in East Africa and has been a zoo resident since 1961.

The new baby is Blondie's third offspring. It increases the zoo's giraffe herd to eight.

Veterans Home Workers Needed

Volunteers are needed to work at the Veterans Home at Yountville on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced .

Information may be obtained at Red Cross headquarters, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

State Pledges Widening Funds

The California Highway Commission has pledged to contribute half the funds for a $550,000 widening project on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard as part of a program of state assistance for the improvement of city and county highways in urban areas.

The state Department of Public Works announced that the state will provide $275,000 to widen Drake to four lanes in a half-mile stretch between Laruel Grove Avenue and Maple Avenue in Kentfield.

The plan calls for a four-lane road separated by an 18-foot divider, the department said.

In This Action, The Bid That 'Wasn't' Is Important

If you're looking for a noteworthy play in today's hand, you'll be disappointed. Declarer played it cautiously to protect himself against a bad break that didn't really exist, but the real point of the hand is in the bidding. And even in the bidding, the lesson comes from a bid that wasn't made.

AN ALMOST

Today's hand, played near the end of the finals in the annual contest for the Vanderbilt Cup about 10 weeks ago, almost decided a national championship. Fatigue may have had something to do with it.

South didn't have much trouble at four spades. West cashed the king of clubs and then shifted to the ten of diamonds. The finesse lost to the king of diamonds, and back came the jack to dummy's ace.

Declarer took the ace of spades, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a club in dummy and led a spade to the king. Then he led the ten of hearts, guarding against a singleton honor or the singleton nine in the East hand.

West could get only one heart trick, and South scored 620 points for his vulnerable game. (It would have been 820 at rubber bridge, but in tournament play all vulnerable games are worth just 500 points.)

SHOULD SACRIFICE

West should have sacrificed by bidding five clubs instead of allowing South to play the hand at four spades. North's repeated takeout double surely located the A-J of hearts, so that West could not seriously hope for more than one heart trick. East's jump to our clubs promised at least five clubs and denied any real defensive strength. West could expect only two defensive tricks in his own hand and at most one trick from his partner's hand.

DID SACRIFICE

When the hand was played at the other table of the match, West did sacrifice at five clubs. He lost one spade, one heart and one diamond, and was down one for a loss of only 100 points. The sacrifice saved 520 points.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club, your partner doubles (for takeout), and the next player bids one space.

You hold:
♠-K J 9 6 4
♥- 10 8 4 2
♦-7 2
♣- 8 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Double.

The spade bid is probably a psychic, and your penalty double should expose the situation to your partner. Do not allow a smart alec to steal your best trump suit.

Rec Director Due Discussion

A discussion of whether to hire a full-time recreation director will be before the Farifax Park and Recreation Commission when it meets Friday at 7 p.m. in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda will be a request from the Fairfax School District for funds to maintain the city's only baseball field.

The 1970-71 budget will also be discussed.

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 2 1970 19

PEACE, VOTE RITES

The World War I Doughboy witnesses the end of a march from College of Marin to San Rafael's Courthouse Square sponsored by the Marin Peace Coalition. The march yesterday, along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to San Anselmo and Fourth Street in San Rafael marked both Memorial Day Saturday and election day today, a coalition spokesman said. A flag draped wooden coffin in front of the statue represented the group's desire to bury war as well as to memorialize those who've given their lives in all wars, the spokesman said. Several signs urged voters to "think before you vote" — an effort, the spokesman said, to stress that voters may be the difference between peace and war. (Indpendent-Journal photo.)

They were booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

The two were arrested near Fourth and B streets in San Rafael about 1 a.m. today in connection with the beating of Leonel Rostrian, 25, of 6 Bank Street, San Anselmo.

Rostrian was treated at Marin General Hospital for a fractured nose.

San Rafael police had no motive for the beating but said that Rostrian apparently knew his assailants.

Boulevard's Completion Given Nod

The Rohnert Park City Council last night approved plans for the completion of Southwest Boulevard and said bids would be opened July 2.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the project was estimated to cost $293,000 and that if bids are acceptable, a contract could be awarded at the July 6 council meeting.

The project includes a new grade crossing at the railroad tracks, a two-lane street from Burton avenue to the tracks and four lanes from the tracks eastward on Southwest Boulevard.

Callinan said the city's share of the cost was estimated at $78,000. The road project to link the two major residential sections of the city had been delayed because the state Public Utilities Commission would not approve the crossing at the tracks.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

DEER MEADOW — Approved the general development plan for Deer Meadow Village, a development of townhouse apartments and single family homes north of Santa Alicia Drive.

ANNEXATION — Reacted favorably to the inquiry of land investor's research to annex 250 acres immediately north of Sonoma State College for future construction of student housing.

WATER — Agreed to remove churches from the metered water rates and place them on a flat monthly charge of $4 or $5 depending on meter size.

HEARING — Scheduled a public hearing for July 20 on plans to annex 441 acres of land south of East Cotati Avenue as requested by developer Paul Golis.

PIGEONS — Heard that complaints had been raised about large numbers of pigeons being raised in the city and asked Callinan to prepare standards to be considered at a public hearing.

CREDIT — Heard Callinan report that it would not be feasible to allow credit cards to be used for memberships at the city swimming pools.

ASSEMBLY — Approved a motion opposing Assembly Bill 908 which would impose an excise tax on governmental agencies which operate electrical utilities.

BRIDGEWAY'S PARKING BAN TO BE AIRED

Sandbagging of a two-block portion of Bridgeway in downtown Sausalito, designed to eliminate parking in that area, will be discussed by the Sausalito City Council today at 8 p.m. in Central School, Caledonia and Litho streets. The meeting will be held in the school since city hall is being used for vote counting.

Angry merchants who say the city's parking ban on Bridgeway, between Princess and Anchor streets, is ruining their businesses, will protest the city's action.

The council also will hold a public hearing on proposed increases in business license and apartment fees and consider a resolution initiating annexation to the city of the old American Distillery Co. property, planned site of a 431-unit apartment complex.

Hours Change For X-Ray Services

Marin County Public Health Department's X-ray services will be closed mornings this month but will remain open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Wednesday when the hours will extend to 6:30 p.m., the department has reported.

The service, which is used to diagnose tuberculosis, will probably not be continued after June since it has not been included in the county administrator's proposed 1970-71 budget, the department reported.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) —A psychiatrist who went to jail rather than disclose confidential information about a former patient has purged himself of a contempt citation.

Novato Youths Face Burglary Hearings

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for June 29 for Carl Ove Smith, 20, and Patrick Milton Slingher, 22, both of Novato, who are accused of burglarizing a residential garage in Novato last Thursday.

Smith was told to return to court June 15 for a report on whether his case is acceptable to juvenile court.

Tentative Approval To Budget Of $4,000

The Alto Sanitary District board last night gave tentative approval to a $4,000 budget for 1970-71, calling for reduction in the tax rate from 15 cents to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Director Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the district anticipates $1,000 in revenue from connection and inspection fees and interest on its reserves, and about $900 from the 5-cent tax rate.

The rest of the $4,000 budget will be made up from the $16,000 reserve fund, he said.

"The district has been accumulating funds for almost three years in anticipation of large expenses," he said. "But now we find we don't need to spend the money. So we're cutting the tax rate."

A public hearing on the budget was set for the district's next regular meeting July 6 at 8 p.m. at the Alto Fire Station, 27 Shell Road.

Directors also discussed, but took no action, on replacing Heynen, who resigned recently. They asked persons interested in filling Heynen's unexpired term to apply for the position.

White House Says B52s May Hit Cambodia In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has raised the possibility B52 bombers might continue to be used in Cambodia after June 30 if such missions are felt necessary to protect American troops in South Vietnam.

But, officials have ruled out any tactical air support for the South Vietnamese in Cambodia after that deadline for the withdrawal of American troops.

This word came as President Nixon worked on a Cambodian progress report to be carried on three nationwide television networks and Mutual radio Wednesday at 6 p.m. PDT.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters in San Clemente, Calif., Monday all U.S. troops, as well as logistical and air support for the South Vietnamese would be withdrawn from Cambodia June 30 as President Nixon had said earlier.

But Ziegler emphasized that "U.S. air action would be in relation to the security of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam" and he did not rule out the use of the strategic bombers in this role.

It was not known whether President Nixon would get into the question of air support or protective bombing in the Wednesday speech.

White House aides have said the 15-minute address will relate to accomplishments in the month-old Cambodian campaign and will not produce any dramatic announcements or new decisions.

Nixon returned Monday night from a four-day Memorial Day holiday in California, working on his Cambodian speech aboard Air Force One on the cross-country trip.

He planned to put in more time on it today after morning welcoming ceremonies and a meeting with visiting Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera.

The speech also comes within a few hours of when the Senate takes its first important test vote on proposals to curb Nixon's powers to use U.S. troops in Indochina.

Senate Democrats and Republicans predict, however, Nixon's talk will not cut into the expected support for the Cooper-Church amendment to bar funds for Cambodian military operations after June 30.

As the President worked on his speech, a new move was started in the House, led by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, to limit military spending in Southeast Asia by attaching a curb on Nixon's proposals to increase the debt limit from the present $377 to $395 billion.

Several previous House efforts to restrict Nixon's moves in Indochina have failed.

The White House views on U.S. air activities in Cambodia came from Ziegler during a briefing with reporters in San Clemente that was at times confusing and drew sharp questioning, some of which the President's press secretary termed "belligerent."

He said, "We are reserving comment on what actions the United States will take on air support following June 30. We have said any action would be in relation to security of American forces in South Vietnam."

Ziegler said tactical air support for the South Vietnamese would end June 30. The B52s are considered strategic weapons and Ziegler did not deny he had left open the possibility they might be used in Cambodia after June 30.

He seemed to be echoing what top Pentagon officials have been saying recently: That after June 30 the South Vietnamese air force is expected to provide the close support needed for its troops in any future Cambodian activities. And that U.S. air power used in Cambodia after July 1 probably will center on bombing enemy supply routes and concentrations as has been done on the Ho Chi Minh Trail that runs through Laos.

Cosmonauts Doing Well, Russ Report

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two cosmonauts whirled around earth today in the Soviet Union's first manned space flight in eight months. Western space experts said the mission was probably an experiment to gain medical knowledge for the construction of permanent space platforms.

The two-man crew reported everything was going smoothly in the flight which was unofficially dedicated to visiting U. S. astronaut Neil Armstrong, first man on the moon. He watched the films of the blastoff of the Soyuz 9 craft Monday night.

WEEK IN ORBIT?

Western space experts said Soviet scientists have shown great interest recently in new applications of space medicine, and they predicted the crew of veteran cosmonaut Col. Andrian Nikolayev, 40, and Vitaly Sevastianov, a 35-year-old space rookie, will spend a week or more in orbit. In Osaka, Japan, Soviet space engineer Alexander Nazraov told fairgoers at Expo 70 he expected the flight to last about 10 days. And in Bochum, Germany, Heing Kaminski, director of the Bochum Space Research Institute, said data from Soyuz 9 indicates a second spacecraft may be launched.

A group of U. S. space medicine experts recently visited the Soviet Union where they held wide-ranging discussions on such problems as weightlessness and radiation in earth orbit. Some new applications on space medicine growing out of those talks may be used in the Soyuz 9 flight.

PLATFORM STUDIES

The conquest of space medical problems is necessary before either the United States or the Soviet Union can successfully orbit large, permanent space platforms. Both nations have plans for such orbital laboratories. The United States plans to launch its first such station, Skylab, in late 1972.

Soviet sources said Armstrong watched films of the Soyuz 9 blastoff in the apartment of a cosmonaut, Maj. Gen. Georgy Beregovoi, during a party that lasted until 3 a. m. in honor of Armstrong's trip to the moon.

Armstrong's first inkling there would be a space shot came when Beregovoi turned on the television set shortly before the launch was shown and told him, "This is especially in honor of our trip here."

Armstrong was said to have replied: "It is one of the best gifts you can give me."

Soyuz 9 was launched at 10:09 p. m. Monday in an unusual night shot from the Central Asia Soviet space center at Baikonur.

Alabama, California Races In Primary Ballot Spotlight

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alabama voters returned a nationally significant verdict Tuesday on George C. Wallace, California Democrats nominated a man to challenge Gov. Ronald Reagan, and the lineups were chosen for four Senate contests on the biggest primary election day of the political season.

Five states selected nominees for governor, seven for members of Congress.

And the envy of every campaigner, it seemed, was Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, a Democrat with no challenger in his own party, and no prospect of Republican opposition in the Nov. 3 general election.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had two rivals in the Montana primary, but neither was rated a real threat to his campaign for a fourth term.

The high stakes contest was the runoff for the Democratic nomination to be governor of Alabama.

The race cast Wallace in an unfamiliar role as he campaigned to come from second place and oust Gov. Albert Brewer.

Despite some rain, the early voter turnout in Alabama was reported extremely heavy. There was no way to determine at once whether this reflected Wallace's appeal to white voters to turn back what he called a threat from the Negro "bloc vote".

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey was favored to win Democratic renomination over Frank J. Guarino Jr., a state senator. The likely Republican entry: Nelson Gross, once the state party chairman.

In New Mexico, it was Sen. Joseph M. Montoya against Richard Edwards of Albuquerque for the Democratic nomination, with the incumbent expected to win.

Gov. David F. Cargo battled Anderson Carter, a conservative who ran a close Senate race four years ago, for the GOP Senate nomination.

Republican Sen. George Murphy was seeking renomination in California, opposed by Norton Simon, an industrialist and political novice.

The Democratic senatorial contest there was between two liberal House members. John V. Tunney and George Brown Jr.

State Assemblyman Jess Unruh was heavily favored in the polls to defeat Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and win the Democratic nomination to run against Reagan.

Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa, a Republican, was unopposed for renomination; Republican Gov. Frank Farrar of South Dakota was expected to withstand a primary challenge, and a field of six Republicans and three Democrats was battling for gubernatorial nominations in New Mexico.

In Alabama, the primary victor was assured of a four-year term as governor, since Republicans already have indicated they will not field a November candidate.

Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote margin over Wallace in the first-round primary, a month ago, but lacked a majority in a seven-way race. Not since 1914 has the man who ran second managed to reverse that outcome and win a runoff.

Wallace needed to shatter that precedent to retain a base for renewal in 1972 of the third-party presidential campaign he waged two years ago.

In the waning days of the campaign, he turned to the issue which brought him to power originally: race. Wallace said the bloc vote of Negroes accounted for Brewer's primary showing.

"If the black bloc vote wins this election, it will have control of this state for the next 50 years," he said.

Brewer said that was a scare effort.

Ways Pointed Out To Curb Delinquency

More vocational training opportunities and juvenile officers who are able to win the confidence of young people were suggested today as possible weapons in combatting delinquency.

The ideas were presented by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission at a joint meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at Civic Center.

Gary T. Giacomini, chairman of the commission, explained that problems and possible solutions are just beginning to emerge from a countywide survey of juvenile delinquency. The survey is being conducted by the 11 commissioners who devote about one full day each week to interviewing educators, police officers and other officials dealing with youth.

Nothing is conclusive as yet because the survey is still in midstream, said Giacomini. He said the survey is only the first step in developing a coordinated plan for delinquency prevention.

Rev. James Upshaw of Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda said he found that many delinquents feel they do not get enough attention and are not successful in day-to-day activities.

"There is a need for some vocational training somewhere," said Commissioner Jack Heard. "Something like auto shop or sewing."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out that the county superintendent of schools is trying to develop just this type of vocational training program this year.

Giacomini noted that in some schools, he found that students relate to the juvenile officer as a person, and when that officer leaves, the whole system tends to break down.

Supervisor Michael Wornum wanted to know if city recreation programs do any good.

"They'd rather go to Mount Tam or to private homes," said Giacomini. He added that youngsters tend to destroy organized recreational facilities rather than use them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested that the commission also look into the method of disciplining students. "In many schools, the ultimate weapon is suspension from school. That's like the rabbit who told the fox, 'Whatever you do, don't throw me in the briar patch.' And the fox proceeded to throw him in the briar patch."

Commissioner Guy Bachelis declared that Youth Coordinator Gwen M. Monroe is the one who is providing coordination and backup, and she is needed by the commission. Bruce has recommended that the youth coordinator be deleted in the new budget.

In This Action, The Bid That 'Wasn't' Is Important

If you're looking for a noteworthy play in today's hand, you'll be disappointed. Declarer played it cautiously to protect himself against a bad break that didn't really exist, but the real point of the hand is in the bidding. And even in the bidding, the lesson comes from a bid that wasn't made.

AN ALMOST

Today's hand, played near the end of the finals in the annual contest for the Vanderbilt Cup about 10 weeks ago, almost decided a national championship. Fatigue may have had something to do with it.

South didn't have much trouble at four spades. West cashed the king of clubs and then shifted to the ten of diamonds. The finesse lost to the king of diamonds, and back came the jack to dummy's ace.

Declarer took the ace of spades, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a club in dummy and led a spade to the king. Then he led the ten of hearts, guarding against a singleton honor or the singleton nine in the East hand.

West could get only one heart trick, and South scored 620 points for his vulnerable game. (It would have been 820 at rubber bridge, but in tournament play all vulnerable games are worth just 500 points.)

SHOULD SACRIFICE

West should have sacrificed by bidding five clubs instead of allowing South to play the hand at four spades. North's repeated takeout double surely located the A-J of hearts, so that West could not seriously hope for more than one heart trick. East's jump to our clubs promised at least five clubs and denied any real defensive strength. West could expect only two defensive tricks in his own hand and at most one trick from his partner's hand.

DID SACRIFICE

When the hand was played at the other table of the match, West did sacrifice at five clubs. He lost one spade, one heart and one diamond, and was down one for a loss of only 100 points. The sacrifice saved 520 points.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club, your partner doubles (for takeout), and the next player bids one space.

You hold:
♠-K J 9 6 4
♥- 10 8 4 2
♦-7 2
♣- 8 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Double.

The spade bid is probably a psychic, and your penalty double should expose the situation to your partner. Do not allow a smart alec to steal your best trump suit.

Rec Director Due Discussion

A discussion of whether to hire a full-time recreation director will be before the Farifax Park and Recreation Commission when it meets Friday at 7 p.m. in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda will be a request from the Fairfax School District for funds to maintain the city's only baseball field.

The 1970-71 budget will also be discussed.

Baby Giraffe New Addition

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A six-foot, 100-pound baby girl giraffe is the newest addition to the San Francisco Zoo.

The yet nanamed giraffe is the newborn of Blondie, who was born 15 years ago in East Africa and has been a zoo resident since 1961.

The new baby is Blondie's third offspring. It increases the zoo's giraffe herd to eight.

Veterans Home Workers Needed

Volunteers are needed to work at the Veterans Home at Yountville on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced .

Men, women and teen-agers are needed to write letters for patients, take them shopping or just spend time with them, the chapter said. Transportation will be provided by the chapter.

Information may be obtained at Red Cross headquarters, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

State Pledges Widening Funds

The California Highway Commission has pledged to contribute half the funds for a $550,000 widening project on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard as part of a program of state assistance for the improvement of city and county highways in urban areas.

The state Department of Public Works announced that the state will provide $275,000 to widen Drake to four lanes in a half-mile stretch between Laruel Grove Avenue and Maple Avenue in Kentfield.

The plan calls for a four-lane road separated by an 18-foot divider, the department said.

Story Of Fighting Editor, And Question On Its Ending

Here is the sad story of an editor-publisher who insisted on printing the news. It appeared in the March-April issue of FOI Digest, published by the Freedom of Information Center at University of Missouri's school of journalism:

HICKMAN, KY., is a small, southern-style town overlooking the Mississippi River in far western Kentucky. During the last presidential election, a majority of residents voted for George Wallace. For the past 16 years, Ro Gardner has been the controversial editor of the town's only paper, the Hickman Courier.

In October, a race problem began at the local high school. Gardner immediately brought the issue of race relations in Hickman and Fulton County onto the front page of his tabloid. And he kept it there.

Issue after issue carried the racial situation and its latest developments on page one. The 64-year-old Mississippi native who has a master's degree in journalism wrote harsh editorial criticism of the school's administration:

"CALLOUS IGNORANCE and indifference to the rights of every citizen in a community — and a persistent outmoded notion of racial superiority — produces a Cairo." (His reference was to Cairo, Ill., an Illionois city north of Hickman which has experienced a long period of racial turmoil.)

A number of the townspeople believed Gardner distorted the racially tinged disciplinary problems at Fulton County High School. They said he was responsible for the controversy's publicity all over Kentucky and its entry into federal court.

THIS WAS THE REASON, Gardner charged, that an economic boycott of his paper was begun by the city's merchants, who were pressured by customers not to advertise in the Courier. His advertising dropped from 65 per cent of his usual 18-page newspaper to 46 per cent. Gardner said at the time he was fighting for his economic life.

Gardner had built a reputation in Hickman as a fighter. During his years, he had fought the local courts for what he called a brand of "backwoods justice" and the refusal by a county judge to allow his paper access to public records. His lawsuit over the records controversy was won in cooperation with the Kentucky Press Association.

When the boycott became more and more evident, Gardner said: "This can't happen to me. When I was told that customers had demanded that merchants not advertise with me, it scared me."

But he refused to back down. "If I'm to retain my integrity as a newsman, I should print this news (on the racial situation) . . . This is the only way I know to run a newspaper."

Apparently the boycott won, however. On March 28, Ro Gardner announced the sale of his paper to another owner of weekly papers in the area. There was no room left, Gardner said, for him in Hickman.

(End of story.)

WE WONDER: Do the merchants in Hickman, Ky., and the customers who pressured them to withdraw their advertising, imagine they will have a better town without a newspaper that dares to print unpleasant news?

Musical Spring

We have not had such a spring in our little corner of Marin in 20 years. Birdsong is everywhere and most any hour of the day. The robins, in particular, are outdoing themselves with lovely melodies.

We do not know why, but we suspect it is at least partially due to the decreased use of hard insecticides. Perhaps this is the end of the relatively silent springs.

If our idea is well-founded, this musical spring should be dedicated to the memory of the late Rachel Carson, who first brought the danger of hard pesticides to the public's attention.

Motel Being Forced On Tam Valley

There is a matter before the deputy zoning administrator, Mr. (Ralph D.) Cairns, at the present that I believe every resident of Tamalpais Valley and other residential areas should know about.

A 92-unit motel has been proposed for Shoreline Highway, from Pinehill Road to Sunset Way, and from the hearing I attended Monday it appeared Mr. Cairns was only concerned with the massive size and some technical problems regarding the proposed building. There seemed to be no question as to whether a motel was to be built. . .

We have been homeowners here for 11 years and have seen much irresponsible building going on in our valley. . .I have a feeling that if this business does not prove financially solvent this enormous structure will be added to our "irresponsible building" collection. Another eyesore for beautiful Tam Valley!. . .

I hope Mr. Cairns and his staff are not going to foist their opinion of what is right for our valley, on us, as we have to live with this grossly commercial enterprise — not they. . .

Questionable Calls In Baseball Game

The Novato-Redwood baseball game that was played on May 22 was apparently reported by a Redwood follower. Just to set the record straight, this is how we, as Novato fans, saw the game.

There were several questionable calls, as is usually the case in a baseball game. However, the "close ones" in the Novato-Redwood game made a difference of possibly four runs for Novato. Conceding the call at first in which two runs for Novato were nullified when the runner was called out after a footrace with the Redwood first baseman, and the questionable tag of the last hitter in the game leaves the spectacular "catch" by the Redwood outfielder in the top of the seventh. The catch would more properly be called a dropped fly ball, since the fielder did not have control of the ball from the time it hit his glove till it dropped to the ground. He made a valiant try but just didn't make the catch. Whey the fly got to the fielder, the base umpire signalled the runners to go and the plate umpire held up his arm signalling an out. The runners ended up on second and third. Since the umpires did not agree on the call, the Redwood coach came out on the field and arbitrated the question, resulting in both Novato runners being called out. This call became very important when the next Novato hitter got a triple which would have scored both runners. The triple, incidentally, was never credited to the hitter in the report of the game. Redwood had the championship tied up. Nothing could change that, but one wonders how many questionable calls it took.

Students Have Obligation To Study

Last week I observed with dismay hundreds of students at a local high school loafing near the school area during school hours, trying to deluge motorists with pamphlets, and creating a nuisance in the area. Some even swarmed into offices asking for signatures and interrupted people at work.

Do these young people not realize that their first duty to their parents and the community is to study? The taxpayer has a large investment in all our schools and colleges. We support these institutions for one purpose only — and that is to be used by students who want to study. Anyone who has other ideas can leave and dig ditches or pursue whatever he pleases but should not take up a valuable opening in school.

We taxpayers are tired of paying for students who don't want to learn! Can't we request that these elements be expelled?

We parents and taxpayers are just as concerned about events around us, but that certainly is never an excuse not to fulfill our obligations and duties . . .

Let these young people write to our congressmen, just as we are doing. I am sure that their voice will be heard if they act like responsible citizens.

No Longer Right To Protect Property?

We have come a long way — I am referring to the May 20 article in the Independent-Journal about Mr. (Don Luis) Ceballas' so called booby trap. In the years gone by if you stole a man's horse you were hung until dead after some times a very speedy trial. Today, the radio and TV announcers ask you to take the key from your car so an "honest boy" won't steal the car and go joy riding.

Now it looks like you can't protect what is yours even if it is inside a building. Maybe the new word is out, what is yours is not yours unless you can hide it from the "honest boy".

Someone reported that Mr. Ceballas should have used a camera instead of a starting pistol. What good is apicture if the district attorney won't file charges? My business was robbed over a year ago, three people made positive identification and this information was turned over to the district attorney and that is the last we have heard of it . . .

We Have Need For Cats In Marin

Congratulations to the reader who spoke out recently in defense of cats.

We don't have to go back to the middle ages and the bubonic plague, however, to realize how much we need these companionable little creatures.

Right here in Marin, and in its more prestigious sections, there are plenty of mice, rats, and other field rodents. (My elderly cat, who is not the hunter he used to be, has no trouble making a kill when the mood strikes him.)

With trash collections only once a week, every house and every yard in Marin is a potential home for rodents. A cat — any cat — will make sure the vermin keep their distance.

Cats are just what the owner makes them. You can train them to respect your caged birds. You can train them to keep away from the baby's crib . . .

Com on! Let's have cats, not rats, in Marin. Any cat owner will help you find and train one of those soft bundles of affection we call kittens. May your house be safe from rodents!

Mobile Home Tax Bill Sparks Argument As To Its Effect

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, has asked for a hearing on his bill, AB 1765, to change the taxation system on mobile homes. The hearing is set before the assembly revenue and taxation committee for Friday at 1:45 p.m.

As the hearing approaches, a controversy rages as to whether taxation as motor vehicles or personal property taxation is more advantageous for the mobile home owner.

Assemblyman Chappie has accused Dennis Kavanagh, lobbyist for the Golden State Mobile Home Owners League, of "putting out false and misleading information on the measure," claiming that taxes will rise on mobile homes, particularly for senior citizens, if Chappie's bill passes and is signed by the governor.

UNFORTUANTELY, no one seems to know for certain. The mobile home association is doing much research on the question of how to tax mobile homes, and has not as yet come up with answers as to whether the personal property tax proposed by Assemblyman Chappie, or the in lieu tax collected by the Department of Motor Vehicles, is the method most advantageous to the mobile home owner.

The Chappie proposal, so he says, would result in a senior citizen living in a $3,000 mobile home paying no tax at all after the $750 home owners exemption was applied .

Then he calls attention to the fact that if the governor's tax program passes, the exemption would be increased to $1,000, so a senior citizen owning a $4,000 mobile home would pay no tax at all.

The only trouble with Chappie's reasoning is that not many citizens, senior or otherwise, live in $3,000 mobile homes these days. The price is more like $13,000.

THE CHAPPIE bill turns the matter of fixing taxes on mobile homes over to 58 different assessors in California, instead of having the assessments on a standard basis as they are under the present system, contained in the motor vehicle code.

The vehicle code provides for depreciation of the mobile home down to 15 per cent of value after 18 years, during which the owner pays taxes on a declining basis.

It would appear reasonable to provide for further studies to determine the exactness of tax returns and who those returns are coming from before passing legislation.

Ghost Of Smoot-Hawley Act Comes To Life In Congress

WASHINGTON — The latest Nixonite to join the war dance against the media charged that a cabal exists in New York deciding each day what the chorus of gloom in to be. H.R. Haldeman, who has always seemed to be quite with it, must surely be joking.

But even as a joke this is curious logic, suggesting that if only everybody looked the other way the bad news would simply disappear. By this logic the rising casualties in Vietnam, the roller-coaster stock market, growing unemployment and rising prices should all be ignored. The media owes it to the man in the White House to smile, smile, smile. As the economy worsens, the attacks sound more and more like the incantations of a medicine man exorcising evil by his magic.

Haldeman, Spiro Agnew & Co. may not know it but the time when this kind of magic might have worked is long past. If a recession is not to slide into a depression, bold and positive measures are essential. Worse is to come unless the White House shows greater determination to face the economic facts of life.

A SIGNIFICANT sign is the growing demand in Congress for tariff barriers to keep out foreign goods. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the Ways and Means Committee is pushing a bill with 138 House sponsors setting quotas for imports on textiles and shoes. Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., has a measure for "orderly marketing" which would impose quotas on all imports when they reach a certain level.

This is exactly what happened in 1930 as unemployment rose following the crash of 1929. The Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, opposed by virtually every economist of repute in the country, was passed to keep out foreign imports and save American jobs. Instead it brought reprisals from all trading nations and contributed greatly to the world-wide depression with all its dire consequences.

THE APPROACH of the Nixon administration to free trade is characteristic. The president himself and most of his cabinet uttered all the right words. We learned from the bitter experience of the 1930s, Secry. of State William R. Rogers said in his testimony before the Mills committee, that protectionism was self-defeating and helped to bring on the collapse of international ordy. Secy. of Agriculture Clifford Hardin gave figures showing 730,000 farms jobs dependent on exports. Secy. of Labor George P. Schultz estimated that 2,700,000 jobs in industry rest on exports.

But the committee listened more sympathetically to the cabinet member who seemed to understand the need to put on the brakes. Secy. of Commerce Maurice Stans talked about the "dramatic" increase in textile imports. As the committee knew full well, Stans had tried in vain to persuade Japan and other exporters to apply "voluntary" textile quotas.

They were well aware, too, that Stans was Nixon's fund raiser in 1968. Next to oil, it was widely reported, the textile industry, notably in the Carolinas, was the most generous contributor. Here is a little recognized angle of the southern strategy that put Mr. Nixon in the White House.

THE TRIMPH at the Miami Beach convention owed a lot to Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. For one thing he helped to nip the Ronald Reagan diversion before it really got going. As a reward his office was privileged to announce that textile quotas would be high on the Nixon agenda once he was president.

Contrary to the impression of the growing protectianist bloc in Congress, Stans may be a lonely dissenter. He may be merely mouthing appeasement for the hurt feelings of southerners who thought they were voting for protection when they voted the Republican ticket in '68.

To disabuse them of the belief that Stans is really the voice of the administration will take a stand by the President himself. He will have to repudiate his secretary of commerce who was so helpful in putting him where he is today.

EVEN WITH the best will in the world, the tide of protectionism is so strong that it may prevail. Free traders were shocked when the lobbyist for the AFL-CIO, Andrew Biemiller, reversed the federation's long-time position and came out for the Mills Bill and for the Burke across-the-board measure. He told the committee that foreign imports had cost 700,000 jobs in 1968-69.

If protection would work, the temptation would be strong to cut off. Japan and the underdeveloped nations exporting textiles — about 4.2 per cent in dollar value and 8.5 per cent in bulk of American production — into this country. But the lesson of 1930 is abundantly clear. The inevitable result is to worsen the economic situation all around.

U.S.—Japan Pact Renewal Without Riots Forecast

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI) — Police expect Japan's radical students to allow the military treaty with United States to renew in June without the fire and bloodshed that marked the pact's birth.

The treaty is opposed by Japan's Communists, Socialists, political Buddhists, student revolutionaries and most organized labor unions.

But Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Conservatives, who rule with a commanding majority in the diet (parliament), say they will permit the 1960 treaty to renew automatically on June 23. That is the first date since the pact was signed on which Japan can give notice of withdrawal from U.S. military protection.

POLICE REPORT that as many as 50,000 students may mobilize on the streets of Tokyo, the world's most populous city with 11.4 million residents, to denounce the treaty under which the United States maintains air and naval strike forces in Japan.

But police doubt the radicals will mount the terror tactics which turned Tokyo into near-anarchy when the treaty was signed 10 years ago.

"We expect that the rallies and demonstrations staged by the students in June will be mostly peaceful," a Tokyo police official said. "We don't expect the students to arm themselves with staves, rocks and pipes as in the past. Oh, there will be some scattered flare-ups of violence, but nothing we can't handle."

THE 1960 STREET violence all but halted the processes of government, forced Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi (elder brother of the present prime minister) to resign, and caused then President Eisenhower to cancel a state visit to Japan a few days before his scheduled arrival.

But the mood of Japan's students has changed in 10 years.

Revolutionary youngsters fought a two-day pitched battle against riot police on the grounds of Tokyo University last year and masterminded aviation's most spectacular hijacking this year (the 83½-hour piracy of a passenger plane to North Korea). But for the most part the students are calm.

Japanese National Police officials say they arrested 15,000 students and young workers in demonstrations last year against the security treaty and Sato's Conservative, farm-backed rule.

But the arrest rate has fallen nearly 70 per cent this year, police report. Arrests for demonstration violence totaled only 1,600 throughout the nation during the first four months of 1970, figures show.

Novato Youths Face Burglary Hearings

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for June 29 for Carl Ove Smith, 20, and Patrick Milton Slingher, 22, both of Novato, who are accused of burglarizing a residential garage in Novato last Thursday.

Smith was told to return to court June 15 for a report on whether his case is acceptable to juvenile court.

Tentative Approval To Budget Of $4,000

The Alto Sanitary District board last night gave tentative approval to a $4,000 budget for 1970-71, calling for reduction in the tax rate from 15 cents to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Director Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the district anticipates $1,000 in revenue from connection and inspection fees and interest on its reserves, and about $900 from the 5-cent tax rate.

The rest of the $4,000 budget will be made up from the $16,000 reserve fund, he said.

"The district has been accumulating funds for almost three years in anticipation of large expenses," he said. "But now we find we don't need to spend the money. So we're cutting the tax rate."

A public hearing on the budget was set for the district's next regular meeting July 6 at 8 p.m. at the Alto Fire Station, 27 Shell Road.

Directors also discussed, but took no action, on replacing Heynen, who resigned recently. They asked persons interested in filling Heynen's unexpired term to apply for the position.

White House Says B52s May Hit Cambodia In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has raised the possibility B52 bombers might continue to be used in Cambodia after June 30 if such missions are felt necessary to protect American troops in South Vietnam.

But, officials have ruled out any tactical air support for the South Vietnamese in Cambodia after that deadline for the withdrawal of American troops.

This word came as President Nixon worked on a Cambodian progress report to be carried on three nationwide television networks and Mutual radio Wednesday at 6 p.m. PDT.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters in San Clemente, Calif., Monday all U.S. troops, as well as logistical and air support for the South Vietnamese would be withdrawn from Cambodia June 30 as President Nixon had said earlier.

But Ziegler emphasized that "U.S. air action would be in relation to the security of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam" and he did not rule out the use of the strategic bombers in this role.

It was not known whether President Nixon would get into the question of air support or protective bombing in the Wednesday speech.

White House aides have said the 15-minute address will relate to accomplishments in the month-old Cambodian campaign and will not produce any dramatic announcements or new decisions.

Nixon returned Monday night from a four-day Memorial Day holiday in California, working on his Cambodian speech aboard Air Force One on the cross-country trip.

He planned to put in more time on it today after morning welcoming ceremonies and a meeting with visiting Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera.

The speech also comes within a few hours of when the Senate takes its first important test vote on proposals to curb Nixon's powers to use U.S. troops in Indochina.

Senate Democrats and Republicans predict, however, Nixon's talk will not cut into the expected support for the Cooper-Church amendment to bar funds for Cambodian military operations after June 30.

As the President worked on his speech, a new move was started in the House, led by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, to limit military spending in Southeast Asia by attaching a curb on Nixon's proposals to increase the debt limit from the present $377 to $395 billion.

Several previous House efforts to restrict Nixon's moves in Indochina have failed.

The White House views on U.S. air activities in Cambodia came from Ziegler during a briefing with reporters in San Clemente that was at times confusing and drew sharp questioning, some of which the President's press secretary termed "belligerent."

He said, "We are reserving comment on what actions the United States will take on air support following June 30. We have said any action would be in relation to security of American forces in South Vietnam."

Ziegler said tactical air support for the South Vietnamese would end June 30. The B52s are considered strategic weapons and Ziegler did not deny he had left open the possibility they might be used in Cambodia after June 30.

He seemed to be echoing what top Pentagon officials have been saying recently: That after June 30 the South Vietnamese air force is expected to provide the close support needed for its troops in any future Cambodian activities. And that U.S. air power used in Cambodia after July 1 probably will center on bombing enemy supply routes and concentrations as has been done on the Ho Chi Minh Trail that runs through Laos.

Cosmonauts Doing Well, Russ Report

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two cosmonauts whirled around earth today in the Soviet Union's first manned space flight in eight months. Western space experts said the mission was probably an experiment to gain medical knowledge for the construction of permanent space platforms.

The two-man crew reported everything was going smoothly in the flight which was unofficially dedicated to visiting U. S. astronaut Neil Armstrong, first man on the moon. He watched the films of the blastoff of the Soyuz 9 craft Monday night.

WEEK IN ORBIT?

Western space experts said Soviet scientists have shown great interest recently in new applications of space medicine, and they predicted the crew of veteran cosmonaut Col. Andrian Nikolayev, 40, and Vitaly Sevastianov, a 35-year-old space rookie, will spend a week or more in orbit. In Osaka, Japan, Soviet space engineer Alexander Nazraov told fairgoers at Expo 70 he expected the flight to last about 10 days. And in Bochum, Germany, Heing Kaminski, director of the Bochum Space Research Institute, said data from Soyuz 9 indicates a second spacecraft may be launched.

A group of U. S. space medicine experts recently visited the Soviet Union where they held wide-ranging discussions on such problems as weightlessness and radiation in earth orbit. Some new applications on space medicine growing out of those talks may be used in the Soyuz 9 flight.

PLATFORM STUDIES

The conquest of space medical problems is necessary before either the United States or the Soviet Union can successfully orbit large, permanent space platforms. Both nations have plans for such orbital laboratories. The United States plans to launch its first such station, Skylab, in late 1972.

Soviet sources said Armstrong watched films of the Soyuz 9 blastoff in the apartment of a cosmonaut, Maj. Gen. Georgy Beregovoi, during a party that lasted until 3 a. m. in honor of Armstrong's trip to the moon.

Armstrong's first inkling there would be a space shot came when Beregovoi turned on the television set shortly before the launch was shown and told him, "This is especially in honor of our trip here."

Armstrong was said to have replied: "It is one of the best gifts you can give me."

Soyuz 9 was launched at 10:09 p. m. Monday in an unusual night shot from the Central Asia Soviet space center at Baikonur.

Alabama, California Races In Primary Ballot Spotlight

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alabama voters returned a nationally significant verdict Tuesday on George C. Wallace, California Democrats nominated a man to challenge Gov. Ronald Reagan, and the lineups were chosen for four Senate contests on the biggest primary election day of the political season.

Five states selected nominees for governor, seven for members of Congress.

And the envy of every campaigner, it seemed, was Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, a Democrat with no challenger in his own party, and no prospect of Republican opposition in the Nov. 3 general election.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had two rivals in the Montana primary, but neither was rated a real threat to his campaign for a fourth term.

The high stakes contest was the runoff for the Democratic nomination to be governor of Alabama.

The race cast Wallace in an unfamiliar role as he campaigned to come from second place and oust Gov. Albert Brewer.

Despite some rain, the early voter turnout in Alabama was reported extremely heavy. There was no way to determine at once whether this reflected Wallace's appeal to white voters to turn back what he called a threat from the Negro "bloc vote".

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey was favored to win Democratic renomination over Frank J. Guarino Jr., a state senator. The likely Republican entry: Nelson Gross, once the state party chairman.

In New Mexico, it was Sen. Joseph M. Montoya against Richard Edwards of Albuquerque for the Democratic nomination, with the incumbent expected to win.

Gov. David F. Cargo battled Anderson Carter, a conservative who ran a close Senate race four years ago, for the GOP Senate nomination.

Republican Sen. George Murphy was seeking renomination in California, opposed by Norton Simon, an industrialist and political novice.

The Democratic senatorial contest there was between two liberal House members. John V. Tunney and George Brown Jr.

State Assemblyman Jess Unruh was heavily favored in the polls to defeat Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and win the Democratic nomination to run against Reagan.

Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa, a Republican, was unopposed for renomination; Republican Gov. Frank Farrar of South Dakota was expected to withstand a primary challenge, and a field of six Republicans and three Democrats was battling for gubernatorial nominations in New Mexico.

In Alabama, the primary victor was assured of a four-year term as governor, since Republicans already have indicated they will not field a November candidate.

Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote margin over Wallace in the first-round primary, a month ago, but lacked a majority in a seven-way race. Not since 1914 has the man who ran second managed to reverse that outcome and win a runoff.

Wallace needed to shatter that precedent to retain a base for renewal in 1972 of the third-party presidential campaign he waged two years ago.

In the waning days of the campaign, he turned to the issue which brought him to power originally: race. Wallace said the bloc vote of Negroes accounted for Brewer's primary showing.

"If the black bloc vote wins this election, it will have control of this state for the next 50 years," he said.

Brewer said that was a scare effort.

Ways Pointed Out To Curb Delinquency

More vocational training opportunities and juvenile officers who are able to win the confidence of young people were suggested today as possible weapons in combatting delinquency.

The ideas were presented by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission at a joint meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at Civic Center.

Gary T. Giacomini, chairman of the commission, explained that problems and possible solutions are just beginning to emerge from a countywide survey of juvenile delinquency. The survey is being conducted by the 11 commissioners who devote about one full day each week to interviewing educators, police officers and other officials dealing with youth.

Nothing is conclusive as yet because the survey is still in midstream, said Giacomini. He said the survey is only the first step in developing a coordinated plan for delinquency prevention.

Rev. James Upshaw of Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda said he found that many delinquents feel they do not get enough attention and are not successful in day-to-day activities.

"There is a need for some vocational training somewhere," said Commissioner Jack Heard. "Something like auto shop or sewing."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out that the county superintendent of schools is trying to develop just this type of vocational training program this year.

Giacomini noted that in some schools, he found that students relate to the juvenile officer as a person, and when that officer leaves, the whole system tends to break down.

Supervisor Michael Wornum wanted to know if city recreation programs do any good.

"They'd rather go to Mount Tam or to private homes," said Giacomini. He added that youngsters tend to destroy organized recreational facilities rather than use them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested that the commission also look into the method of disciplining students. "In many schools, the ultimate weapon is suspension from school. That's like the rabbit who told the fox, 'Whatever you do, don't throw me in the briar patch' And the fox proceeded to throw him in the briar patch."

Commissioner Guy Bachelis declared that Youth Coordinator Gwen M. Monroe is the one who is providing coordination and backup, and she is needed by the commission. Bruce has recommended that the youth coordinator be deleted in the new budget.

Don't Let Paint-Up Time Be Fire Hazard Time Also

Every weekend throughout Marin County can be heard the sound of power mowers as lawns get their weekly mowing.

Every day the sound of mini bikes can be heard all over the county.

It is the time of year when the house gets painted or some rooms in the house get a touch-up with paint.

All this means that most of these items — the gasoline for the power mowers and mini bikes, the paint and paint thinners — are stored in the garage.

Much too often we cover stories where the fumes from gasoline being poured into something have crept across the floor and reached the pilot light of the hot water heater or furnace. The result is a garage fire.

Novato's Assistant Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer for years has described most garages as potential fire traps. He gave us a good idea to eliminate this, so we will pass it along.

Most people have patios. Most men are handy enough carpenters to build a bench for the patio. Instead of a normal bench, it should have a hollow seat, similar to a chest. The top of this should be hinged.

In that chest, all gasoline, paints and paint thinner should be stored. Then if it accidentally catches on fire, the fire is in a bench in the patio, and not in the garage where it can do much more damage.

FISH ARE BEING killed in the waters of Marin and southern Sonoma counties. The cause is one which is partially man-made. The fish are dying from lack of oxygen in the water, according to G. B. Talbot, director of the Tiburon Marine Laboratory.

A few years ago when detergents would not break down in the water, there was an outcry against them. Now they do.

However, the water is charged with phosphates and other nutrients from the broken down detergents which feed plants. Algae grow on this and at certain times of day, absorb the oxygen from the water so that the fish cannot live, Talbot said.

Upper Richardson Bay, the lagoons at Bel Marin Keys and Bahia and the Petaluma River have such high algae content that fish die for lack of oxygen.

TALBOT SAID that one of the simplest and cheapest solutions to this is to put the waste water into a pond where the algae eat the nutrients out of the water. It then can be discharged into the bay safely, or into recreational ponds, which he recommends.

As a by-product, the sanitary district skims the algae out of the pond and sells it for cattle feed. Talbot claims that it is very good cattle food.

"The water can be reused after it goes through an algae pond, but the public is not quite ready to reuse water," he said.

He cited several cities in southern California that use the algae ponds and then pump the water into lakes for fishing, boating and swimming.

Here is an authority on the subject saying something which we have said in several past columns. It is senseless to spend millions of dollars chemically purifying water to throw it away. There are too many uses for it.

178 Eighth Graders To Receive Diplomas

One hundred seventy-eight eighth graders will be graduated from Adaline E. Kent School in the Kentfield School District in ceremonies at 8 p.m. June 10 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

Five students will have roles in the ceremoney. William Lutge will give the flag salute; Cecile Ojeda the welcoming speech; Kristen Gregoriev a speech on the past; Kevin Lesko a speech on the future, and Evelyn Newell will read the class roll.

Principal Arcima F. Taylor Jr. will present the class for the presentation of diplomas by Supt. Anthony G. Bacich and trustees Gloria Riccardi and Lawrence Goldberg.

The school orchestra, directed by Dale Alstrom, will play the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the recessional, Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" and Bizet's prelude from L'Arlesienne Suite.

Applicants Are Needed

Applications are being accepted by the Marin Municipal Water District board of appointment to the board's division 2 seat.

The seat was made vacant with the death of director William C. Herup May 14. Herup had held the seat since being appointed in 1942.

Division 2 includes all of San Rafael, south of Puerto Suello Hill.

Applications will be accepted through June 30, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said today. He said the board would interview applicants on that day and probably make the appointment at its July 8 meeting.

The term is through 1972.

Judge Appoints New Manson Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson got a new lawyer yesterday after the attorney promised the judge he would be ready to begin trial in the Sharon Tate murder case on schedule June 15.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older approved the substitution of attorney I. A. Kanarek in place of Ronald Hughes, a young bearded lawyer who had never tried a case.

Disappearance Of Market Wizard -The Sorry Case Of Simpkins

WASHINGTON—You used to meet them everywhere — at cocktail parties, dinners, the beach club and college reunions.

Although they came in all shapes and forms, they had one thing in common. They were the people who had invested in Xerox when it was $9 a share, Litton Industries when it was $10, and Gulf and Western when it was $14. They used to tell you how they had first heard about Texas Instruments when it was selling for a song, how they had gotten into Ling Temco Vought through a fraternity brother; how they had bought Penn Central, Computer Data, Fairchild Camera against the advice of their brokers.

They weren't unfriendly people. They always had time to chat with you and tell you how well they were doing in the market. They implied that they had a sixth sense about investing in Wall Street and a talent for these matters that you, the average person, would never understand.

Without intending to do it, they made you feel completely inadequate as a breadwinner, and a sucker for holding onto a salaried job.

BUT IN THE LAST few months something has happened to these people. For one thing, you hardly see them any more and when you do they're very quiet. Their clothes have gotten seedy; the bounce has gone from their walk, and when they hold a drink their hands shake a lot.

I ran into one the other day on the plane. His name was Simpkin. The last time we flew up to New York, a few years ago, Simpkin was dropping names like Planet Oil, MGM and Boeing Aircraft.

This time I hardly recognized him when I sat down. His hair was completely white, his eyes were bloodshot, and he had a tic in his right cheek.

"HOW ARE THINGS going?" I asked pleasantly.

"This seat is taken," he snarled.

"It's me, Simpkin. You know, from the Washington Athletic Club. Remember when we had that nice talk about American Nursing Home merging with Rorshach Matches? Whatever happened to that?"

"If you say one more word to me, I'll hit you in the mouth," he said.

"Good heavens, Simpkin, you're overwrought. Are you still in the market?"

He raised his fist, but the stewardess came by and asked him to fasten his safety belt. Simpkin wiped his brow. "I'm sorry," he said, "but National General is down to 2½."

"Oh'," I said. "I didn't know. Were you big in National General?"

"Not as big as I was in Commonwealth United and Chrysler."

"I DON'T FOLLOW the market," I said. "But I understand there have been some reverses. Would this be a good time to buy anything?"

"As soon as the 'Fasten Your Belt' sign goes off," Simpkin said, "I'm going to kill you."

"Grab hold of yourself, man," I cried. "After all, money isn't everything." "Do you know how much I was once worth on paper!" Simpkin said.

"A lot, I'm sure."

"Would you believe $750,000? still asking for margin."

"You don't look it." I replied.

"YOU SOB," Simpkin yelled, "you probably had your money in a savings and loan bank all this time."

"As a matter of fact I did. And you know something, Simpkin? When I opened the account, they gave my wife a 36-piece set of Pyroware dishes."

Simpkin cried all the rest of the way to New York.

I WHISTLED. "I would have never known it."

"Do you know what I'm worth no paper now?"

"I won't guess."

"I owe $50,000, and they're

27 Visit Air Force Facilities

Twenty-seven Marin men, including four mayors, visited Air Force facilities in Arizona and Florida last week on an orientation trip to explain the operation of the reorganized Aerospace Defense Command.

The tour was sponsored by Hamilton Air Force Base's First Fighter Wing. The group of Marin civic leaders, said Lt. Col. Everett C. Brown, wing director of information, included city and county officials and businessmen. Mayors on the trip were C. Paul Bettini of San Rafael, Frederick S. Allen of Ross, Edwin J. Drechsel of Belvedere and Frank J. Egger of Fairfax.

The group, which paid for its own meals and motel accommodations, went Monday to Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, where is was briefed on defense command operation and toured the combat control center.

On Tuesday, the group flew to Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., where it toured aerospace tracking facilities, saw interceptors now in service and watched a drone aircraft tracked and attacked.

The Marin junketers were dinner guests Tuesday of the military affairs committee of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce.

The group flew to Florida by C121 Constellation and returned aboard a C54, both four-engine propeller transports.

Rock Slope Work Slated

Bresnan-Delacio Inc. of San Rafael has been awarded a contract to build about 700 feet of rock slope protection on the San Rafael side of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings has announced.

The firm was low bidder on the project at $31,628.

Construction is expected to begin shortly and be completed by mid-July.

Story Of Fighting Editor, And Question On Its Ending

Here is the sad story of an editor-publisher who insisted on printing the news. It appeared in the March-April issue of FOI Digest, published by the Freedom of Information Center at University of Missouri's school of journalism:

HICKMAN, KY., is a small, southern-style town overlooking the Mississippi River in far western Kentucky. During the last presidential election, a majority of residents voted for George Wallace. For the past 16 years, Ro Gardner has been the controversial editor of the town's only paper, the Hickman Courier.

In October, a race problem began at the local high school. Gardner immediately brought the issue of race relations in Hickman and Fulton County onto the front page of his tabloid. And he kept it there.

Issue after issue carried the racial situation and its latest developments on page one. The 64-year-old Mississippi native who has a master's degree in journalism wrote harsh editorial criticism of the school's administration:

"CALLOUS IGNORANCE and indifference to the rights of every citizen in a community — and a persistent outmoded notion of racial superiority — produces a Cairo." (His reference was to Cairo, Ill., an Illionois city north of Hickman which has experienced a long period of racial turmoil.)

A number of the townspeople believed Gardner distorted the racially tinged disciplinary problems at Fulton County High School. They said he was responsible for the controversy's publicity all over Kentucky and its entry into federal court.

THIS WAS THE REASON, Gardner charged, that an economic boycott of his paper was begun by the city's merchants, who were pressured by customers not to advertise in the Courier. His advertising dropped from 65 per cent of his usual 18-page newspaper to 46 per cent. Gardner said at the time he was fighting for his economic life.

Gardner had built a reputation in Hickman as a fighter. During his years, he had fought the local courts for what he called a brand of "backwoods justice" and the refusal by a county judge to allow his paper access to public records. His lawsuit over the records controversy was won in cooperation with the Kentucky Press Association.

When the boycott became more and more evident, Gardner said: "This can't happen to me. When I was told that customers had demanded that merchants not advertise with me, it scared me."

But he refused to back down. "If I'm to retain my integrity as a newsman, I should print this news (on the racial situation) . . . This is the only way I know to run a newspaper."

Apparently the boycott won, however. On March 28, Ro Gardner announced the sale of his paper to another owner of weekly papers in the area. There was no room left, Gardner said, for him in Hickman.

(End of story.)

WE WONDER: Do the merchants in Hickman, Ky., and the customers who pressured them to withdraw their advertising, imagine they will have a better town without a newspaper that dares to print unpleasant news?

Musical Spring

We have not had such a spring in our little corner of Marin in 20 years. Birdsong is everywhere and most any hour of the day. The robins, in particular, are outdoing themselves with lovely melodies.

We do not know why, but we suspect it is at least partially due to the decreased use of hard insecticides. Perhaps this is the end of the relatively silent springs.

If our idea is well-founded, this musical spring should be dedicated to the memory of the late Rachel Carson, who first brought the danger of hard pesticides to the public's attention.

Mobile Home Tax Bill Sparks Argument As To Its Effect

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, has asked for a hearing on his bill, AB 1765, to change the taxation system on mobile homes. The hearing is set before the assembly revenue and taxation committee for Friday at 1:45 p.m.

As the hearing approaches, a controversy rages as to whether taxation as motor vehicles or personal property taxation is more advantageous for the mobile home owner.

Assemblyman Chappie has accused Dennis Kavanagh, lobbyist for the Golden State Mobile Home Owners League, of "putting out false and misleading information on the measure," claiming that taxes will rise on mobile homes, particularly for senior citizens, if Chappie's bill passes and is signed by the governor.

UNFORTUANTELY, no one seems to know for certain. The mobile home association is doing much research on the question of how to tax mobile homes, and has not as yet come up with answers as to whether the personal property tax proposed by Assemblyman Chappie, or the in lieu tax collected by the Department of Motor Vehicles, is the method most advantageous to the mobile home owner.

The Chappie proposal, so he says, would result in a senior citizen living in a $3,000 mobile home paying no tax at all after the $750 home owners exemption was applied .

Then he calls attention to the fact that if the governor's tax program passes, the exemption would be increased to $1,000, so a senior citizen owning a $4,000 mobile home would pay no tax at all.

The only trouble with Chappie's reasoning is that not many citizens, senior or otherwise, live in $3,000 mobile homes these days. The price is more like $13,000.

THE CHAPPIE bill turns the matter of fixing taxes on mobile homes over to 58 different assessors in California, instead of having the assessments on a standard basis as they are under the present system, contained in the motor vehicle code.

The vehicle code provides for depreciation of the mobile home down to 15 per cent of value after 18 years, during which the owner pays taxes on a declining basis.

It would appear reasonable to provide for further studies to determine the exactness of tax returns and who those returns are coming from before passing legislation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Motel Being Forced On Tam Valley

There is a matter before the deputy zoning administrator, Mr. (Ralph D.) Cairns, at the present that I believe every resident of Tamalpais Valley and other residential areas should know about.

A 92-unit motel has been proposed for Shoreline Highway, from Pinehill Road to Sunset Way, and from the hearing I attended Monday it appeared Mr. Cairns was only concerned with the massive size and some technical problems regarding the proposed building. There seemed to be no question as to whether a motel was to be built. . .

We have been homeowners here for 11 years and have seen much irresponsible building going on in our valley. . .I have a feeling that if this business does not prove financially solvent this enormous structure will be added to our "irresponsible building" collection. Another eyesore for beautiful Tam Valley!. . .

I hope Mr. Cairns and his staff are not going to foist their opinion of what is right for our valley, on us, as we have to live with this grossly commercial enterprise — not they. . .

Questionable Calls In Baseball Game

The Novato-Redwood baseball game that was played on May 22 was apparently reported by a Redwood follower. Just to set the record straight, this is how we, as Novato fans, saw the game.

There were several questionable calls, as is usually the case in a baseball game. However, the "close ones" in the Novato-Redwood game made a difference of possibly four runs for Novato. Conceding the call at first in which two runs for Novato were nullified when the runner was called out after a footrace with the Redwood first baseman, and the questionable tag of the last hitter in the game leaves the spectacular "catch" by the Redwood outfielder in the top of the seventh. The catch would more properly be called a dropped fly ball, since the fielder did not have control of the ball from the time it hit his glove till it dropped to the ground. He made a valiant try but just didn't make the catch. Whey the fly got to the fielder, the base umpire signalled the runners to go and the plate umpire held up his arm signalling an out. The runners ended up on second and third. Since the umpires did not agree on the call, the Redwood coach came out on the field and arbitrated the question, resulting in both Novato runners being called out. This call became very important when the next Novato hitter got a triple which would have scored both runners. The triple, incidentally, was never credited to the hitter in the report of the game. Redwood had the championship tied up. Nothing could change that, but one wonders how many questionable calls it took.

Students Have Obligation To Study

Last week I observed with dismay hundreds of students at a local high school loafing near the school area during school hours, trying to deluge motorists with pamphlets, and creating a nuisance in the area. Some even swarmed into offices asking for signatures and interrupted people at work.

Do these young people not realize that their first duty to their parents and the community is to study? The taxpayer has a large investment in all our schools and colleges. We support these institutions for one purpose only — and that is to be used by students who want to study. Anyone who has other ideas can leave and dig ditches or pursue whatever he pleases but should not take up a valuable opening in school.

We taxpayers are tired of paying for students who don't want to learn! Can't we request that these elements be expelled?

We parents and taxpayers are just as concerned about events around us, but that certainly is never an excuse not to fulfill our obligations and duties . . .

Let these young people write to our congressmen, just as we are doing. I am sure that their voice will be heard if they act like responsible citizens.

No Longer Right To Protect Property?

We have come a long way — I am referring to the May 20 article in the Independent-Journal about Mr. (Don Luis) Ceballas' so called booby trap. In the years gone by if you stole a man's horse you were hung until dead after some times a very speedy trial. Today, the radio and TV announcers ask you to take the key from your car so an "honest boy" won't steal the car and go joy riding.

Now it looks like you can't protect what is yours even if it is inside a building. Maybe the new word is out, what is yours is not yours unless you can hide it from the "honest boy".

Someone reported that Mr. Ceballas should have used a camera instead of a starting pistol. What good is apicture if the district attorney won't file charges? My business was robbed over a year ago, three people made positive identification and this information was turned over to the district attorney and that is the last we have heard of it . . .

We Have Need For Cats In Marin

Congratulations to the reader who spoke out recently in defense of cats.

We don't have to go back to the middle ages and the bubonic plague, however, to realize how much we need these companionable little creatures.

Right here in Marin, and in its more prestigious sections, there are plenty of mice, rats, and other field rodents. (My elderly cat, who is not the hunter he used to be, has no trouble making a kill when the mood strikes him.)

With trash collections only once a week, every house and every yard in Marin is a potential home for rodents. A cat — any cat — will make sure the vermin keep their distance.

Cats are just what the owner makes them. You can train them to respect your caged birds. You can train them to keep away from the baby's crib . . .

Com on! Let's have cats, not rats, in Marin. Any cat owner will help you find and train one of those soft bundles of affection we call kittens. May your house be safe from rodents!

Ghost Of Smoot-Hawley Act Comes To Life In Congress

WASHINGTON — The latest Nixonite to join the war dance against the media charged that a cabal exists in New York deciding each day what the chorus of gloom in to be. H.R. Haldeman, who has always seemed to be quite with it, must surely be joking.

But even as a joke this is curious logic, suggesting that if only everybody looked the other way the bad news would simply disappear. By this logic the rising casualties in Vietnam, the roller-coaster stock market, growing unemployment and rising prices should all be ignored. The media owes it to the man in the White House to smile, smile, smile. As the economy worsens, the attacks sound more and more like the incantations of a medicine man exorcising evil by his magic.

Haldeman, Spiro Agnew & Co. may not know it but the time when this kind of magic might have worked is long past. If a recession is not to slide into a depression, bold and positive measures are essential. Worse is to come unless the White House shows greater determination to face the economic facts of life.

A SIGNIFICANT sign is the growing demand in Congress for tariff barriers to keep out foreign goods. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the Ways and Means Committee is pushing a bill with 138 House sponsors setting quotas for imports on textiles and shoes. Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., has a measure for "orderly marketing" which would impose quotas on all imports when they reach a certain level.

This is exactly what happened in 1930 as unemployment rose following the crash of 1929. The Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, opposed by virtually every economist of repute in the country, was passed to keep out foreign imports and save American jobs. Instead it brought reprisals from all trading nations and contributed greatly to the world-wide depression with all its dire consequences.

THE APPROACH of the Nixon administration to free trade is characteristic. The president himself and most of his cabinet uttered all the right words. We learned from the bitter experience of the 1930s, Secry. of State William R. Rogers said in his testimony before the Mills committee, that protectionism was self-defeating and helped to bring on the collapse of international ordy. Secy. of Agriculture Clifford Hardin gave figures showing 730,000 farms jobs dependent on exports. Secy. of Labor George P. Schultz estimated that 2,700,000 jobs in industry rest on exports.

But the committee listened more sympathetically to the cabinet member who seemed to understand the need to put on the brakes. Secy. of Commerce Maurice Stans talked about the "dramatic" increase in textile imports. As the committee knew full well, Stans had tried in vain to persuade Japan and other exporters to apply "voluntary" textile quotas.

They were well aware, too, that Stans was Nixon's fund raiser in 1968. Next to oil, it was widely reported, the textile industry, notably in the Carolinas, was the most generous contributor. Here is a little recognized angle of the southern strategy that put Mr. Nixon in the White House.

THE TRIMPH at the Miami Beach convention owed a lot to Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. For one thing he helped to nip the Ronald Reagan diversion before it really got going. As a reward his office was privileged to announce that textile quotas would be high on the Nixon agenda once he was president.

Contrary to the impression of the growing protectianist bloc in Congress, Stans may be a lonely dissenter. He may be merely mouthing appeasement for the hurt feelings of southerners who thought they were voting for protection when they voted the Republican ticket in '68.

To disabuse them of the belief that Stans is really the voice of the administration will take a stand by the President himself. He will have to repudiate his secretary of commerce who was so helpful in putting him where he is today.

EVEN WITH the best will in the world, the tide of protectionism is so strong that it may prevail. Free traders were shocked when the lobbyist for the AFL-CIO, Andrew Biemiller, reversed the federation's long-time position and came out for the Mills Bill and for the Burke across-the-board measure. He told the committee that foreign imports had cost 700,000 jobs in 1968-69.

If protection would work, the temptation would be strong to cut off. Japan and the underdeveloped nations exporting textiles — about 4.2 per cent in dollar value and 8.5 per cent in bulk of American production — into this country. But the lesson of 1930 is abundantly clear. The inevitable result is to worsen the economic situation all around.

U.S.—Japan Pact Renewal Without Riots Forecast

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI) — Police expect Japan's radical students to allow the military treaty with United States to renew in June without the fire and bloodshed that marked the pact's birth.

The treaty is opposed by Japan's Communists, Socialists, political Buddhists, student revolutionaries and most organized labor unions.

But Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Conservatives, who rule with a commanding majority in the diet (parliament), say they will permit the 1960 treaty to renew automatically on June 23. That is the first date since the pact was signed on which Japan can give notice of withdrawal from U.S. military protection.

POLICE REPORT that as many as 50,000 students may mobilize on the streets of Tokyo, the world's most populous city with 11.4 million residents, to denounce the treaty under which the United States maintains air and naval strike forces in Japan.

But police doubt the radicals will mount the terror tactics which turned Tokyo into near-anarchy when the treaty was signed 10 years ago.

"We expect that the rallies and demonstrations staged by the students in June will be mostly peaceful," a Tokyo police official said. "We don't expect the students to arm themselves with staves, rocks and pipes as in the past. Oh, there will be some scattered flare-ups of violence, but nothing we can't handle."

THE 1960 STREET violence all but halted the processes of government, forced Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi (elder brother of the present prime minister) to resign, and caused then President Eisenhower to cancel a state visit to Japan a few days before his scheduled arrival.

But the mood of Japan's students has changed in 10 years.

Revolutionary youngsters fought a two-day pitched battle against riot police on the grounds of Tokyo University last year and masterminded aviation's most spectacular hijacking this year (the 83½-hour piracy of a passenger plane to North Korea). But for the most part the students are calm.

Japanese National Police officials say they arrested 15,000 students and young workers in demonstrations last year against the security treaty and Sato's Conservative, farm-backed rule.

But the arrest rate has fallen nearly 70 per cent this year, police report. Arrests for demonstration violence totaled only 1,600 throughout the nation during the first four months of 1970, figures show.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Don't Let Paint-Up Time Be Fire Hazard Time Also

Every weekend throughout Marin County can be heard the sound of power mowers as lawns get their weekly mowing.

Every day the sound of mini bikes can be heard all over the county.

It is the time of year when the house gets painted or some rooms in the house get a touch-up with paint.

All this means that most of these items — the gasoline for the power mowers and mini bikes, the paint and paint thinners — are stored in the garage.

Much too often we cover stories where the fumes from gasoline being poured into something have crept across the floor and reached the pilot light of the hot water heater or furnace. The result is a garage fire.

Novato's Assistant Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer for years has described most garages as potential fire traps. He gave us a good idea to eliminate this, so we will pass it along.

Most people have patios. Most men are handy enough carpenters to build a bench for the patio. Instead of a normal bench, it should have a hollow seat, similar to a chest. The top of this should be hinged.

In that chest, all gasoline, paints and paint thinner should be stored. Then if it accidentally catches on fire, the fire is in a bench in the patio, and not in the garage where it can do much more damage.

FISH ARE BEING killed in the waters of Marin and southern Sonoma counties. The cause is one which is partially man-made. The fish are dying from lack of oxygen in the water, according to G. B. Talbot, director of the Tiburon Marine Laboratory.

A few years ago when detergents would not break down in the water, there was an outcry against them. Now they do.

However, the water is charged with phosphates and other nutrients from the broken down detergents which feed plants. Algae grow on this and at certain times of day, absorb the oxygen from the water so that the fish cannot live, Talbot said.

Upper Richardson Bay, the lagoons at Bel Marin Keys and Bahia and the Petaluma River have such high algae content that fish die for lack of oxygen.

TALBOT SAID that one of the simplest and cheapest solutions to this is to put the waste water into a pond where the algae eat the nutrients out of the water. It then can be discharged into the bay safely, or into recreational ponds, which he recommends.

As a by-product, the sanitary district skims the algae out of the pond and sells it for cattle feed. Talbot claims that it is very good cattle food.

"The water can be reused after it goes through an algae pond, but the public is not quite ready to reuse water," he said.

He cited several cities in southern California that use the algae ponds and then pump the water into lakes for fishing, boating and swimming.

Here is an authority on the subject saying something which we have said in several past columns. It is senseless to spend millions of dollars chemically purifying water to throw it away. There are too many uses for it.

Disappearance Of Market Wizard -The Sorry Case Of Simpkins

WASHINGTON—You used to meet them everywhere — at cocktail parties, dinners, the beach club and college reunions.

Although they came in all shapes and forms, they had one thing in common. They were the people who had invested in Xerox when it was $9 a share, Litton Industries when it was $10, and Gulf and Western when it was $14. They used to tell you how they had first heard about Texas Instruments when it was selling for a song, how they had gotten into Ling Temco Vought through a fraternity brother; how they had bought Penn Central, Computer Data, Fairchild Camera against the advice of their brokers.

They weren't unfriendly people. They always had time to chat with you and tell you how well they were doing in the market. They implied that they had a sixth sense about investing in Wall Street and a talent for these matters that you, the average person, would never understand.

Without intending to do it, they made you feel completely inadequate as a breadwinner, and a sucker for holding onto a salaried job.

BUT IN THE LAST few months something has happened to these people. For one thing, you hardly see them any more and when you do they're very quiet. Their clothes have gotten seedy; the bounce has gone from their walk, and when they hold a drink their hands shake a lot.

I ran into one the other day on the plane. His name was Simpkin. The last time we flew up to New York, a few years ago, Simpkin was dropping names like Planet Oil, MGM and Boeing Aircraft.

This time I hardly recognized him when I sat down. His hair was completely white, his eyes were bloodshot, and he had a tic in his right cheek.

"HOW ARE THINGS going?" I asked pleasantly.

"This seat is taken," he snarled.

"It's me, Simpkin. You know, from the Washington Athletic Club. Remember when we had that nice talk about American Nursing Home merging with Rorshach Matches? Whatever happened to that?"

"If you say one more word to me, I'll hit you in the mouth," he said.

"Good heavens, Simpkin, you're overwrought. Are you still in the market?"

He raised his fist, but the stewardess came by and asked him to fasten his safety belt. Simpkin wiped his brow. "I'm sorry," he said, "but National General is down to 2½."

"Oh'," I said. "I didn't know. Were you big in National General?"

"Not as big as I was in Commonwealth United and Chrysler."

"I DON'T FOLLOW the market," I said. "But I understand there have been some reverses. Would this be a good time to buy anything?"

"As soon as the 'Fasten Your Belt' sign goes off," Simpkin said, "I'm going to kill you."

"Grab hold of yourself, man," I cried. "After all, money isn't everything." "Do you know how much I was once worth on paper!" Simpkin said.

"A lot, I'm sure."

"Would you believe $750,000?

I WHISTLED. "I would have never known it."

"Do you know what I'm worth no paper now?"

"I won't guess."

"I owe $50,000, and they're still asking for margin."

"You don't look it." I replied.

"YOU SOB," Simpkin yelled, "you probably had your money in a savings and loan bank all this time."

"As a matter of fact I did. And you know something, Simpkin? When I opened the account, they gave my wife a 36-piece set of Pyroware dishes."

Simpkin cried all the rest of the way to New York.

27 Visit Air Force Facilities

Twenty-seven Marin men, including four mayors, visited Air Force facilities in Arizona and Florida last week on an orientation trip to explain the operation of the reorganized Aerospace Defense Command.

The tour was sponsored by Hamilton Air Force Base's First Fighter Wing. The group of Marin civic leaders, said Lt. Col. Everett C. Brown, wing director of information, included city and county officials and businessmen. Mayors on the trip were C. Paul Bettini of San Rafael, Frederick S. Allen of Ross, Edwin J. Drechsel of Belvedere and Frank J. Egger of Fairfax.

The group, which paid for its own meals and motel accommodations, went Monday to Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, where is was briefed on defense command operation and toured the combat control center.

On Tuesday, the group flew to Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., where it toured aerospace tracking facilities, saw interceptors now in service and watched a drone aircraft tracked and attacked.

The Marin junketers were dinner guests Tuesday of the military affairs committee of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce.

The group flew to Florida by C121 Constellation and returned aboard a C54, both four-engine propeller transports.

Rock Slope Work Slated

Bresnan-Delacio Inc. of San Rafael has been awarded a contract to build about 700 feet of rock slope protection on the San Rafael side of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings has announced.

The firm was low bidder on the project at $31,628.

Construction is expected to begin shortly and be completed by mid-July.

178 Eighth Graders To Receive Diplomas

One hundred seventy-eight eighth graders will be graduated from Adaline E. Kent School in the Kentfield School District in ceremonies at 8 p.m. June 10 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

Five students will have roles in the ceremoney. William Lutge will give the flag salute; Cecile Ojeda the welcoming speech; Kristen Gregoriev a speech on the past; Kevin Lesko a speech on the future, and Evelyn Newell will read the class roll.

Principal Arcima F. Taylor Jr. will present the class for the presentation of diplomas by Supt. Anthony G. Bacich and trustees Gloria Riccardi and Lawrence Goldberg.

The school orchestra, directed by Dale Alstrom, will play the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the recessional, Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" and Bizet's prelude from L'Arlesienne Suite.

Applicants Are Needed

Applications are being accepted by the Marin Municipal Water District board of appointment to the board's division 2 seat.

The seat was made vacant with the death of director William C. Herup May 14. Herup had held the seat since being appointed in 1942.

Division 2 includes all of San Rafael, south of Puerto Suello Hill.

Applications will be accepted through June 30, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said today. He said the board would interview applicants on that day and probably make the appointment at its July 8 meeting.

The term is through 1972.

Judge Appoints New Manson Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson got a new lawyer yesterday after the attorney promised the judge he would be ready to begin trial in the Sharon Tate murder case on schedule June 15.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older approved the substitution of attorney I. A. Kanarek in place of Ronald Hughes, a young bearded lawyer who had never tried a case.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Listeriosis A Serious Disease For Both Animals And Humans

Listeriosis is an infectious disease of animals and man. During 1968, 105 cases were reported in the United States; 45 more than reported in 1967. Twenty-four died of the disease, a high mortality considering how little we hear about the condition.

Illinois had the greatest increase — the number jumped from 3 to 14.

THE CAUSATIVE BACTERIA are found in many animals, such as rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, mice, rats, and domestic and wild animals, and birds. Man develops the disease following inhalation, ingestion, or direct contact with contaminated feed or animal products. This is the main reason why listeriosis is more common in rural areas.

Debilitatated individuals with little resistance are more susceptible. This includes pregnant women and persons with cancer.

ONCE INSIDE THE BODY, the microbes invade a variety of organs. Those settling in the nervous system produce a serious meningitis or encephalitis. Headache, fever, muscle aching, nausea, vomiting, stiff neck, and convulsions ensue.

The death rate from this form of listeriosis is high.

Others develop symptoms that mimic infectious mononucleosis with sore throat, fever, and enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, armpits, and groin. Still others develop bumps (granulomas) on skin usually as a result of direct contact with infected animals. Pregnant women who get the disease often have miscarriages.

LISTERIOSIS MAY resemble influenza, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and several other bacterial infections. Special blood tests are necessary to confirm the diagnosis. Now and then it is possible to isolate the causative germs from lesions on the skin, or in the throat, or other body openings.

Oddly, the microbes are difficult to distinguish from diphtheroid bacilli.

Listeriosis responds to a variety of sulfonamides and antibiotics, such as penicillin.

PREVENTION IS theoretically possible by avoiding diseased animals, their meat, or secretions.

BEDROOM GREENERY

R. D. writes: Do plants in the bedroom harm a person? I do not remove them when I go to sleep.

REPLY

There is no harm in having flowers in the room because they will not rob you of oxygen. Many people put them in another room at night because they sleep with the window open and the air may be too cold for plants.

CANNED JUICES

G. F. writes: Does canned grapefruit juice contain as much vitamin C as the fresh product?

REPLY

Yes. In fact, the vitamin C content in canned juices is likely to be more uniform because of the rigid control standards observed by the manufacturers.

CIRRHOSIS NOT MALIGNANT

S. R. writes: Is cirrhosis of the liver a form of cancer?

REPLY

No Cirrhosis is a condition in which the licer cells are destroyed and replaced by scar tissue. The two diseases, however, may coexist. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cirrhosis of the liver.

HUNGER PANGS

N. L. writes: Is a rolling noise in the stomach a sign of cancer?

REPLY

No. A more likely origin of the racket is lack of food.

Mannerly Bank Bandit Nabbed?

NEW YORK (AP) — A Tunisian immigrant employed as a bartender has been arrested less than an hour after "Dashing Dan"—the well-mannered bank robber—pulled his 20th job in three months.

FBI agents and city detectives, acting Monday on tips that resulted from recent newspaper pictures and articles on the bandit, had gone to Queens seeking to question Raphael Pavia, 44.

Pavia was arrested as he stepped from a taxi at 2:05 p.m. near his apartment. Police said he had $1,910 in his possession, the exact amount taken from a Manhattan bank 45 minutes earlier.

Dashing Dan was so named by the FBI because of the politeness and speed with which he moved from bank to bank when a teller turned him down. Hidden cameras had snapped his photograph from various angles in the 20 banks.

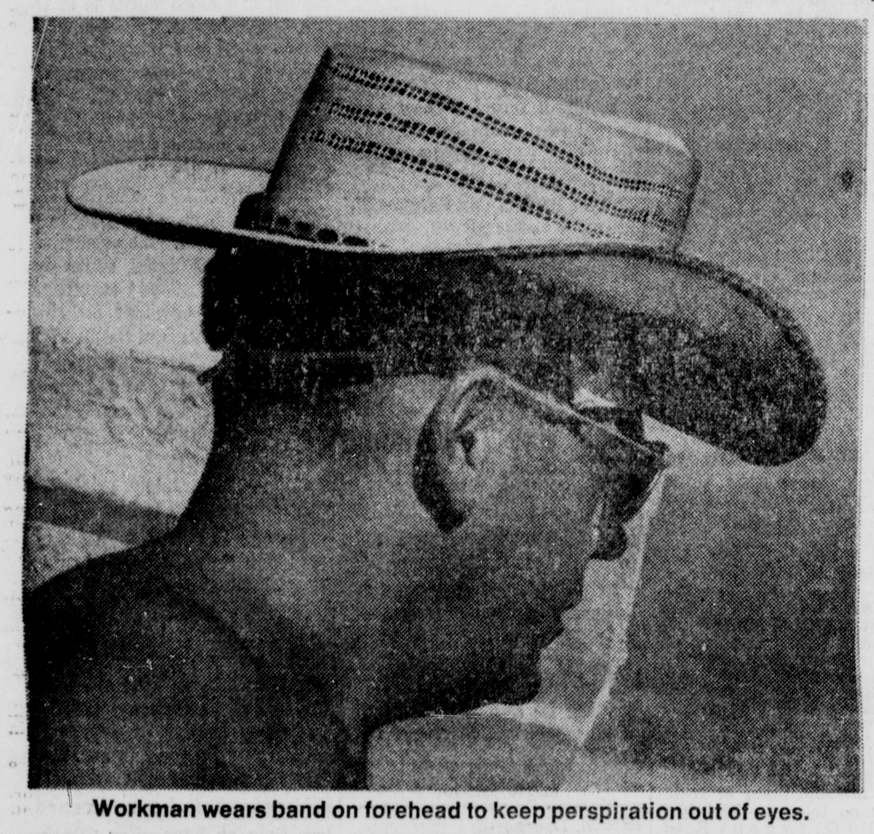
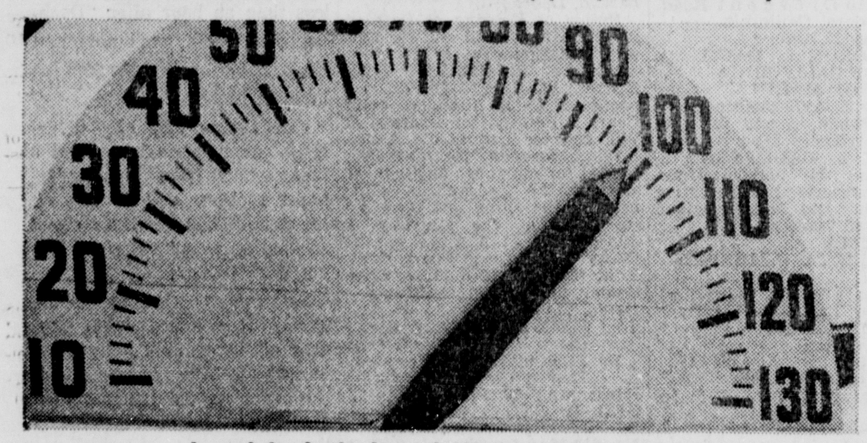
HOT SPOT

Sun comes up over Plaster City, bringing another hot day to California's Imperial Valley.



Workman wears band on forehead to keep perspiration out of eyes.



A cool day in the Imperial Valley, only 98 degrees.

In California's Imperial Valley, where temperatures go over 100 degrees in every month from May to October, the crops and cattle flourish while residents work on ways to beat the heat.

The valley's eternal sunshine and abundant water combine to make it one of the most important crop producing areas of the country.

But the everlasting heatwave does pose problems for those hardy residents who harvest the crops and tend to the valley's business.

Highest official temperature recorded was a 119 degrees but oldtimers are quick to declare that the weather bureau readings are taken under conditions which do not reflect the true heat.

Temperatures as high as 128 degrees have been reported and thermometers have space for readings as high as 130 degrees.

Faced with up to 57 days a year when the temperature goes over 110 degrees and up to 121 days of over 100 degrees, valley residents have learned to adapt.

The pace of work slows. Laborers drink as much as three gallons of water per day and take salt tablets to offset loss from evaporation.

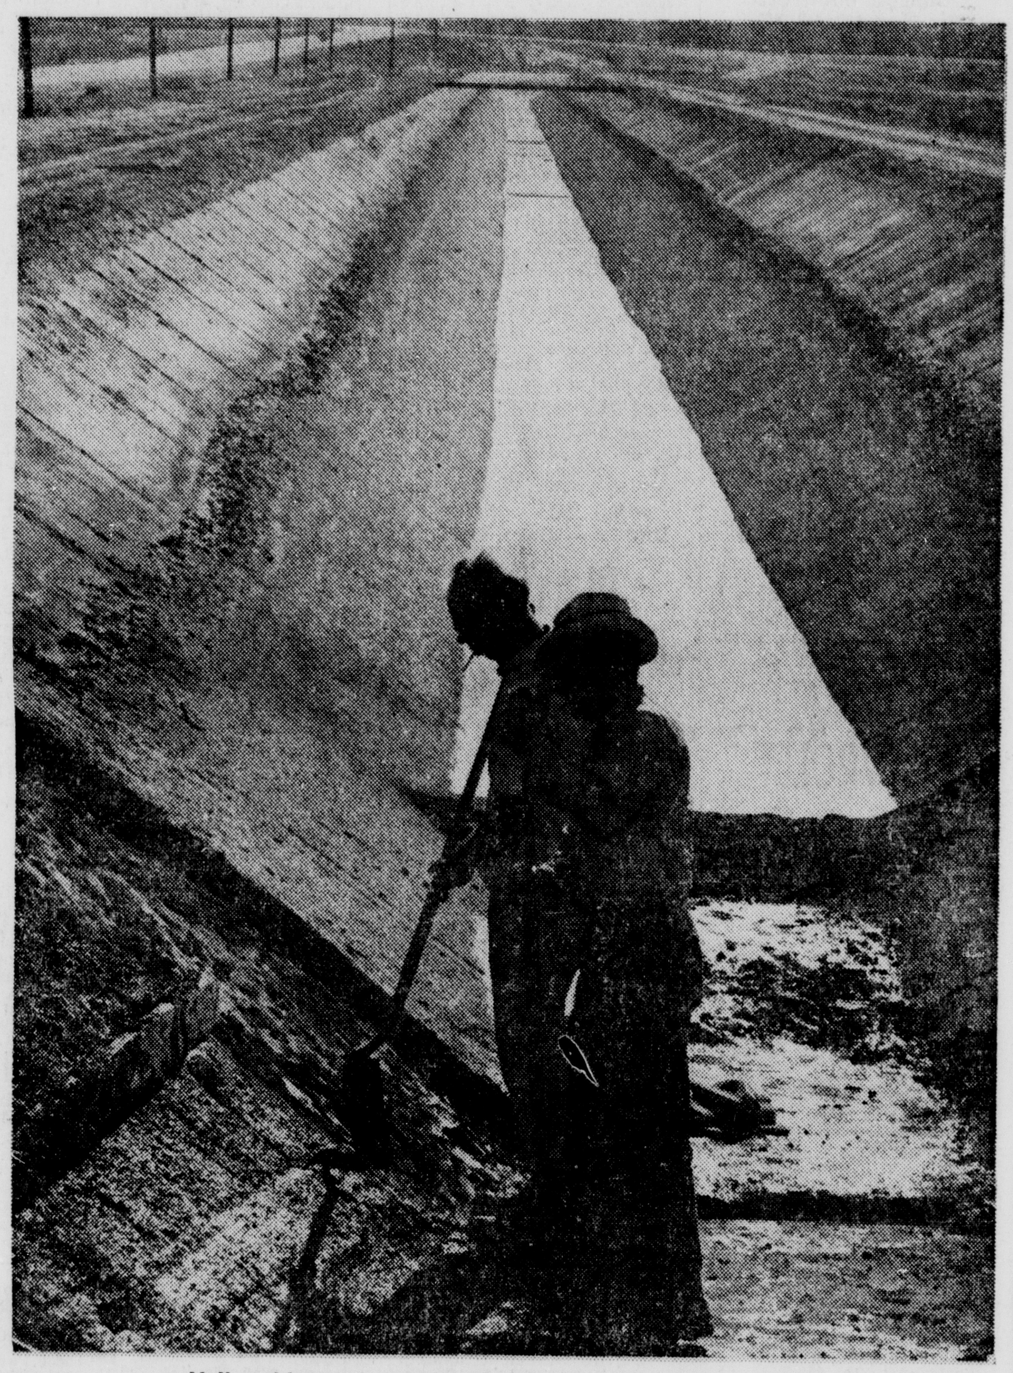
Sidewalks in valley towns are covered by arcades to shield shoppers from the sun.

With the development of air conditioning, year-round living has become bearable for residents of this natural heat trap.

El Centro, the largest community in the area, calls itself the "most completely air conditioned town in the nation."

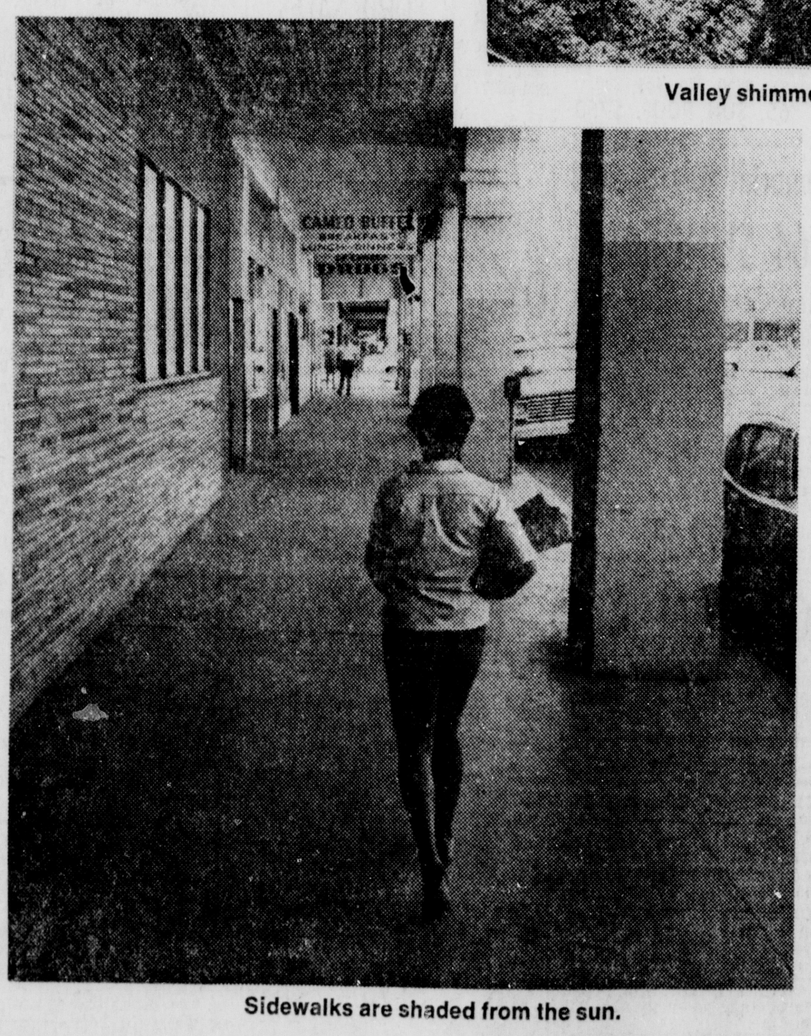
Even the word "air conditioned" isn't potent enough for use in the heat of the Imperial Valley.

Instead, they call it "refrigeration."



Valley shimmers under heat as workers repair irrigation canal.

All motels in the Valley are refrigerated.



Sidewalks are shaded from the sun.

A parasol is a handy way to beat the heat.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Listeriosis A Serious Disease For Both Animals And Humans

Listeriosis is an infectious disease of animals and man. During 1968, 105 cases were reported in the United States; 45 more than reported in 1967. Twenty-four died of the disease, a high mortality considering how little we hear about the condition.

Illinois had the greatest increase — the number jumped from 3 to 14.

THE CAUSATIVE BACTERIA are found in many animals, such as rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, mice, rats, and domestic and wild animals, and birds. Man develops the disease following inhalation, ingestion, or direct contact with contaminated feed or animal products. This is the main reason why listeriosis is more common in rural areas.

Debilitatated individuals with little resistance are more susceptible. This includes pregnant women and persons with cancer.

ONCE INSIDE THE BODY, the microbes invade a variety of organs. Those settling in the nervous system produce a serious meningitis or encephalitis. Headache, fever, muscle aching, nausea, vomiting, stiff neck, and convulsions ensue.

The death rate from this form of listeriosis is high.

Others develop symptoms that mimic infectious mononucleosis with sore throat, fever, and enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, armpits, and groin. Still others develop bumps (granulomas) on skin usually as a result of direct contact with infected animals. Pregnant women who get the disease often have miscarriages.

LISTERIOSIS MAY resemble influenza, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and several other bacterial infections. Special blood tests are necessary to confirm the diagnosis. Now and then it is possible to isolate the causative germs from lesions on the skin, or in the throat, or other body openings.

Oddly, the microbes are difficult to distinguish from diphtheroid bacilli.

Listeriosis responds to a variety of sulfonamides and antibiotics, such as penicillin.

PREVENTION IS theoretically possible by avoiding diseased animals, their meat, or secretions.

BEDROOM GREENERY

R. D. writes: Do plants in the bedroom harm a person? I do not remove them when I go to sleep.

REPLY

There is no harm in having flowers in the room because they will not rob you of oxygen. Many people put them in another room at night because they sleep with the window open and the air may be too cold for plants.

CANNED JUICES

G. F. writes: Does canned grapefruit juice contain as much vitamin C as the fresh product?

REPLY

Yes. In fact, the vitamin C content in canned juices is likely to be more uniform because of the rigid control standards observed by the manufacturers.

CIRRHOSIS NOT MALIGNANT

S. R. writes: Is cirrhosis of the liver a form of cancer?

REPLY

No Cirrhosis is a condition in which the licer cells are destroyed and replaced by scar tissue. The two diseases, however, may coexist. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cirrhosis of the liver.

HUNGER PANGS

N. L. writes: Is a rolling noise in the stomach a sign of cancer?

REPLY

No. A more likely origin of the racket is lack of food.

Mannerly Bank Bandit Nabbed?

NEW YORK (AP) — A Tunisian immigrant employed as a bartender has been arrested less than an hour after "Dashing Dan"—the well-mannered bank robber—pulled his 20th job in three months.

FBI agents and city detectives, acting Monday on tips that resulted from recent newspaper pictures and articles on the bandit, had gone to Queens seeking to question Raphael Pavia, 44.

Pavia was arrested as he stepped from a taxi at 2:05 p.m. near his apartment. Police said he had $1,910 in his possession, the exact amount taken from a Manhattan bank 45 minutes earlier.

Dashing Dan was so named by the FBI because of the politeness and speed with which he moved from bank to bank when a teller turned him down. Hidden cameras had snapped his photograph from various angles in the 20 banks.

McNears Beach Park Lot To Accommodate 200 Cars

McNear's Beach near Peacock Gap, which will open to the public in two weeks, will accommodate 200 cars, about double the capacity of Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon.

"We plan to open the beach on June 15," said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department. "Everything might not be 100 per cent complete, but you'll have to forgive our dust."

Hours will be from about 9 a.m. to sunset. "The number of hours we can stay open will depend on the number of personnel we'll be allowed in the budget," said Joske.

Admission price will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 18. No dogs will be allowed in the park.

Facilities include a swimming pool, two tennis courts, picnic facilities and a rocky beach for wading or sunbathing.

A temporary parking area has been marked off for 200 cars, which means a crowd of between 600 and 800, plus those who walk or ride bicycles to the county park.

A fence has been erected around the pool, and tree trimming is about 80 per cent complete.

Extra Time On Drug Violation

A 21-year-old Novato youth who failed to show up last fall for sentencing on a narcotics violation got an extra three months in jail yesterday when he was finally sentenced.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court ordered Bradford Eugene Bishop to spend the next nine months in jail. It had earlier been recommended that he receive a six-month term for selling methedrine to a drug agent in February 1969.

The judge also placed Bishop on probation for two years and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs.

Large Lots To Be Studied

A meeting for preserving large lots in West Novato will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the multi-purpose room at Hill Junior High School, sponsored by the West Novato Associates, according to its president Jack O. Burgi.

Rowland J. Darnell of the Marin County Planning Department will explain the county's position in wanting to zone the West Novato area into half-acre and one-acre lots, Burgi said.

"We want to preserve our country atmosphere and 'horsey' quiet way of life," Burgi said.

Appeal Slated On Housing Authority Plan

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday ordered an appeal filed in hope of getting a tabulation on today's vote on the establishment of a county housing authority.

The supervisors will appeal the ruling of Sonoma Superior Court Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. that forbade the counting of votes on the measure after a suit was filed by Larry Martinez.

Martinez contended it was not a proper subject for a referendum. The vote, if the appeal succeeds, will be advisory in nature and guide the supervisors in making a decision on the housing authority question.

County Counsel Richard Ramsey said he would begin appeal proceedings immediately and that a vote count could be made at a later date.

Supervisors ordered the measure put on the ballot in March when unable to make a decision on the merits of the federally financed housing plan. Each supervisor has, however, endorsed the ballot measure.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

POPULATION — Heard County Administrator David L. Nichols report that preliminary population estimates put the county total at 210,200 as of March 1. In the last count in April 1969, the estimate was 202,400.

Kosygin Given Moon Mementos

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin met U.S. astronaut Neil Armstrong today and was given on behalf of President Nixon a fragment of the moon brought back by the American space hero.

Kosygin also was presented a small Soviet flag carried on the moon voyage by Armstrong's Apollo 11 spaceship last July.

The Soviet premier, apparently deeply touched, expressed great admiration for Armstrong and the U.S. space achievement.

Nixon Welcomes Top Venezuelan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, welcoming President Rafael Caldera of Venezuela to the White House, said today their 12-year-old personal friendship should "contribute to good understanding."

Speaking at a formal arrival ceremony on the south lawn, Nixon said he and Caldera had been personal friends since meetings in 1958 and 1959.

This association, he declared, should contribute to understanding and to the solution of any problems between the two countries which he added were "very few."

The two presidents conferred after the arrival ceremony in Nixon's oval office.

The Venezuelan president and Mrs. Caldera will be in the United States until Friday.

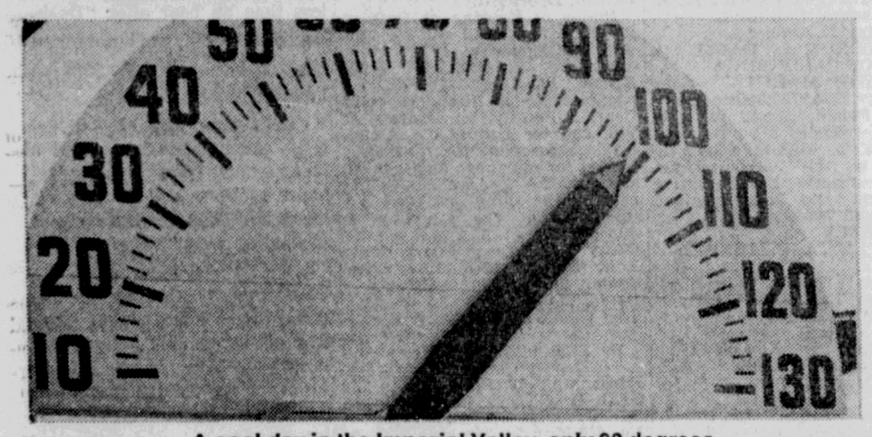
HOT SPOT

Sun comes up over Plaster City, bringing another hot day to California's Imperial Valley.

Workman wears band on forehead to keep perspiration out of eyes.



A cool day in the Imperial Valley, only 98 degrees.

In California's Imperial Valley, where temperatures go over 100 degrees in every month from May to October, the crops and cattle flourish while residents work on ways to beat the heat.

The valley's eternal sunshine and abundant water combine to make it one of the most important crop producing areas of the country.

But the everlasting heatwave does pose problems for those hardy residents who harvest the crops and tend to the valley's business.

Highest official temperature recorded was a 119 degrees but oldtimers are quick to declare that the weather bureau readings are taken under conditions which do not reflect the true heat.

Temperatures as high as 128 degrees have been reported and thermometers have space for readings as high as 130 degrees.

Faced with up to 57 days a year when the temperature goes over 110 degrees and up to 121 days of over 100 degrees, valley residents have learned to adapt.

The pace of work slows. Laborers drink as much as three gallons of water per day and take salt tablets to offset loss from evaporation.

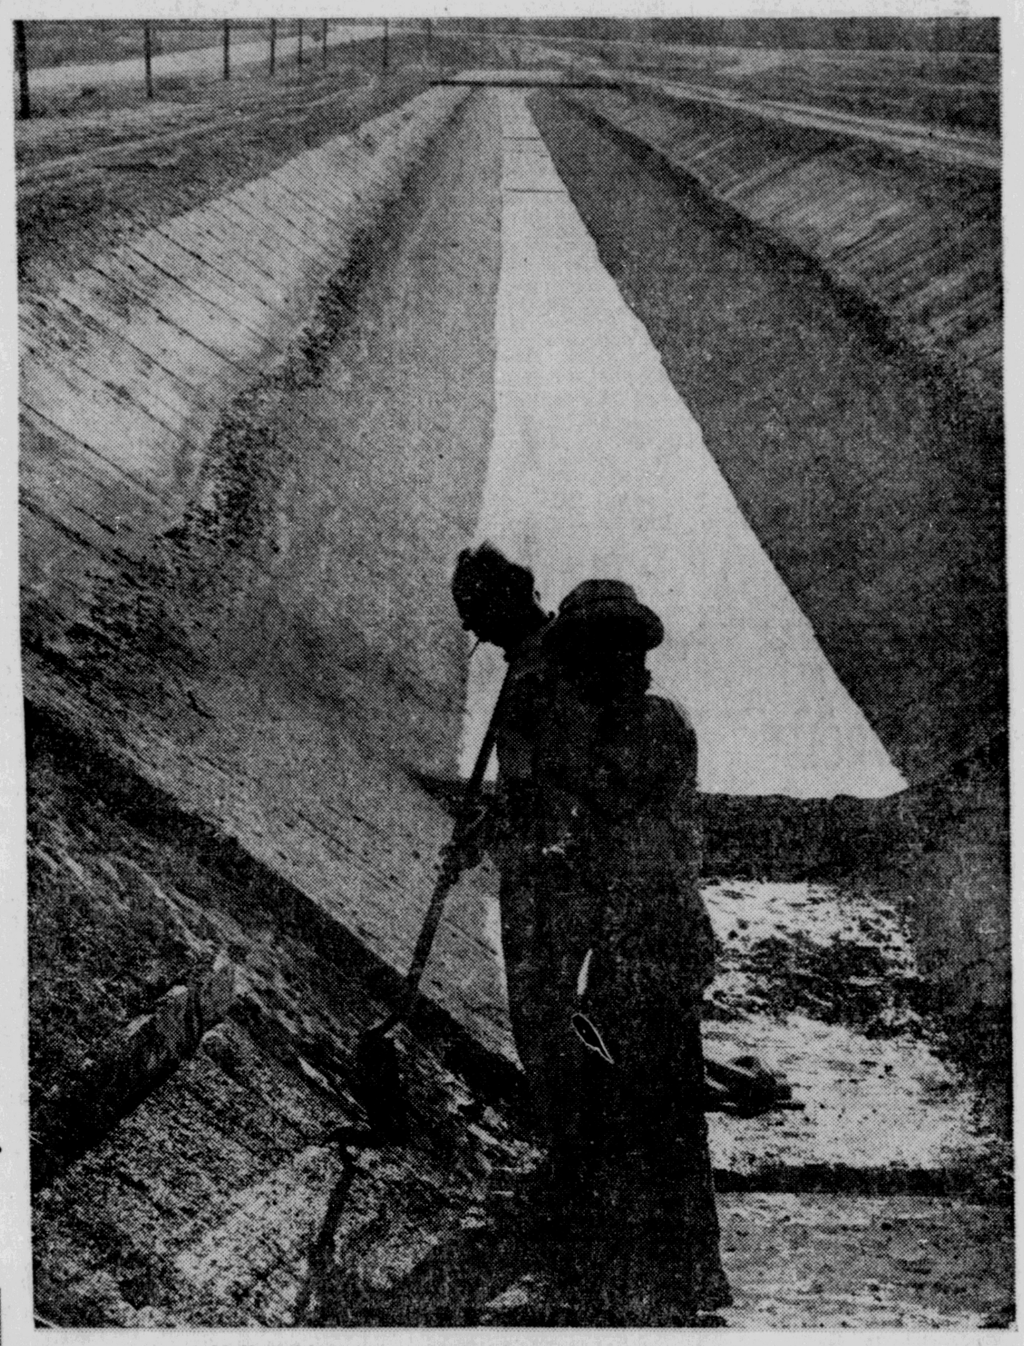
Sidewalks in valley towns are covered by arcades to shield shoppers from the sun.

With the development of air conditioning, year-round living has become bearable for residents of this natural heat trap.

El Centro, the largest community in the area, calls itself the "most completely air conditioned town in the nation."

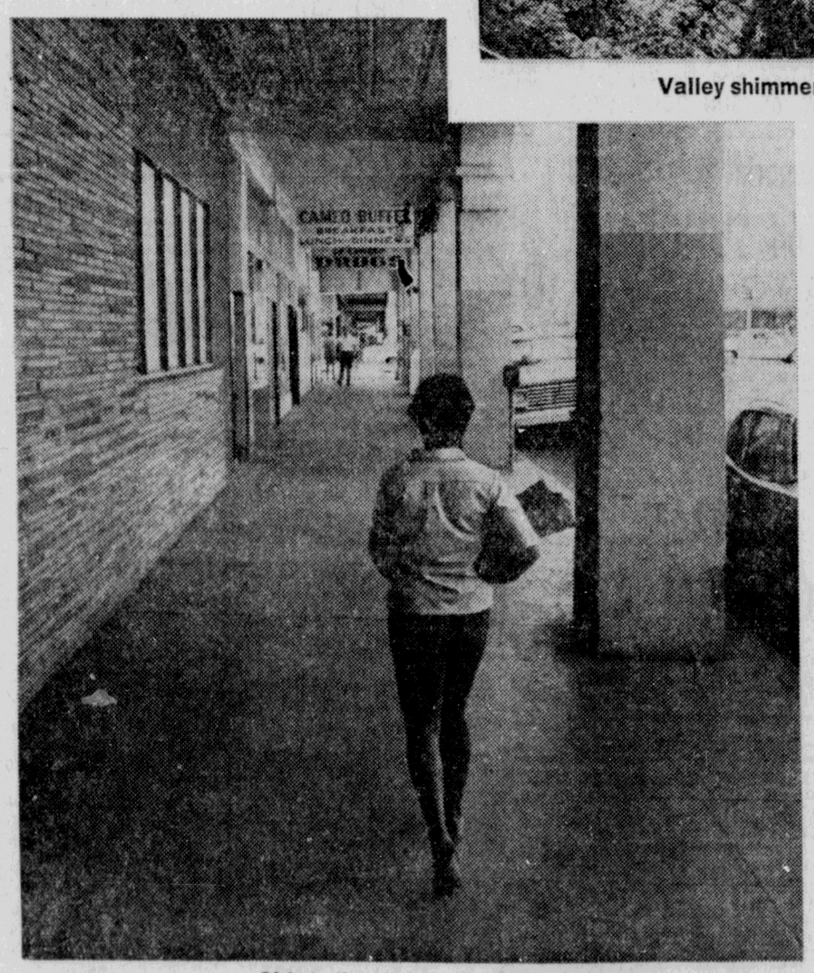
Even the word "air conditioned" isn't potent enough for use in the heat of the Imperial Valley.

Instead, they call it "refrigeration."



Valley shimmers under heat as workers repair irrigation canal.

All motels in the Valley are refrigerated.



Sidewalks are shaded from the sun.

A parasol is a handy way to beat the heat.

18 Applicants For Health Center Job

Eighteen candidates have applied for the post of director of the Marin Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Donald P. Wilson, the present director, is among them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the two personnel directors of Marin County and of Marin General Hospital will review the applications to eliminate any lacking the qualifications in experience and education.

SCREENING COMMITTEE

A nine-man screening committee will meet next week to review qualified candidates and pare the number to about eight. These semifinalists will get oral interviews before the same committee.

After the oral interviews, the committee will try to reduce the number to three. The Marin General Hospital board of directors and the Marin County board of supervisors will appoint one of the three.

Members of the screening committee are Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, and Dr. Bradford Simmons, chief of staff at Marin General Hospital, both representing the hospital; Dr. Seymour Boorstein, appointed by the Marin Psychiatric Association; Bruce and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, director of community mental health services, representing the county; and four members of the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board — Jack Williams, Martha Valliant, George Monardo, and Dr. Richard W. Brunstetter.

PROGRAM NOMINATED

The job of director of the community mental health center pays between $25,000 and $30,000. The present director, Dr. Wilson, draws $27,000 per year.

The mental health program developed under Dr. Wilson has been nominated by the State Department of Mental Hygine for one of three top national awards to be presented by the American Psychiatric Association for "psychiatric programs considered most deserving of recognition by the achievement awards board."

Additions To Vote Roundup

In yesterday's Independent-Journal roundup of today's election, the Bolinas-Stinson School District board election and the Sausalito School board recall election were omitted.

Charles Hancock and Lyman Robinson are competing for one seat on the Bolinas-Stinson board.

The Sausalito ballot calls for a vote on recall of Martha Freebairn-Smith,who has resigned, and David E. Freedheim.

Delta Christ has filed for Martha Freebairn-Smith's seat, and will be elected if the recall succeeds and she receives at least one vote. If the recall fails, the seat must be filled in at a special election.

Brian V. Beard and Jerry L. Whitcomb are competing for the seat of Freedheim in the event he is recalled.

Traffic Up On Richmond Span

The division said total toll traffic for the period was 6,243,262 and total gross revenue was $5,200,607.

The thief got $712 in cash and a $400 cashier's check, according to the restaurant's manager, Dennis E. Woods.

McNears Beach Park Lot To Accommodate 200 Cars

McNear's Beach near Peacock Gap, which will open to the public in two weeks, will accommodate 200 cars, about double the capacity of Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon.

"We plan to open the beach on June 15," said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department. "Everything might not be 100 per cent complete, but you'll have to forgive our dust."

Hours will be from about 9 a.m. to sunset. "The number of hours we can stay open will depend on the number of personnel we'll be allowed in the budget," said Joske.

Admission price will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 18. No dogs will be allowed in the park.

Facilities include a swimming pool, two tennis courts, picnic facilities and a rocky beach for wading or sunbathing.

A temporary parking area has been marked off for 200 cars, which means a crowd of between 600 and 800, plus those who walk or ride bicycles to the county park.

A fence has been erected around the pool, and tree trimming is about 80 per cent complete.

Extra Time On Drug Violation

A 21-year-old Novato youth who failed to show up last fall for sentencing on a narcotics violation got an extra three months in jail yesterday when he was finally sentenced.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court ordered Bradford Eugene Bishop to spend the next nine months in jail. It had earlier been recommended that he receive a six-month term for selling methedrine to a drug agent in February 1969.

The judge also placed Bishop on probation for two years and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs.

Large Lots To Be Studied

A meeting for preserving large lots in West Novato will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the multi-purpose room at Hill Junior High School, sponsored by the West Novato Associates, according to its president Jack O. Burgi.

Rowland J. Darnell of the Marin County Planning Department will explain the county's position in wanting to zone the West Novato area into half-acre and one-acre lots, Burgi said.

"We want to preserve our country atmosphere and 'horsey' quiet way of life," Burgi said.

Appeal Slated On Housing Authority Plan

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday ordered an appeal filed in hope of getting a tabulation on today's vote on the establishment of a county housing authority.

The supervisors will appeal the ruling of Sonoma Superior Court Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. that forbade the counting of votes on the measure after a suit was filed by Larry Martinez.

Martinez contended it was not a proper subject for a referendum. The vote, if the appeal succeeds, will be advisory in nature and guide the supervisors in making a decision on the housing authority question.

County Counsel Richard Ramsey said he would begin appeal proceedings immediately and that a vote count could be made at a later date.

Supervisors ordered the measure put on the ballot in March when unable to make a decision on the merits of the federally financed housing plan. Each supervisor has, however, endorsed the ballot measure.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

POPULATION — Heard County Administrator David L. Nichols report that preliminary population estimates put the county total at 210,200 as of March 1. In the last count in April 1969, the estimate was 202,400.

COTATI — Received a request from the Cotati City Council for authorization to build a city hall on property adjacent to the Cotati Veterans Memorial building. The land has been deeded to the city for only park use.

BLOOMFIELD — Approved plans for the widening and improvement of Bloomfield Road between Cunningham Road and Highway 116 and said construction bids would be opened June 30 at 3 p.m.

Kosygin Given Moon Mementos

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin met U.S. astronaut Neil Armstrong today and was given on behalf of President Nixon a fragment of the moon brought back by the American space hero.

Kosygin also was presented a small Soviet flag carried on the moon voyage by Armstrong's Apollo 11 spaceship last July.

The Soviet premier, apparently deeply touched, expressed great admiration for Armstrong and the U.S. space achievement.

Decision Due On Angela Davis Status

SAN DIEGO (AP) — University of California regents will try to reach a decision concerning Angela Davis at their meeting Monday in San Francisco but won't announce it until they meet again June 18-19, Dewitt A. Higgs, chairman of the regents, said Monday.

The board of regents have taken the decision on the rehiring of Miss Davis, a Communist who is a philosophy professor at UCLA, away from UC President Charles Hitch and UCLA Chancellor Charles Young.

Nixon Welcomes Top Venezuelan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, welcoming President Rafael Caldera of Venezuela to the White House, said today their 12-year-old personal friendship should "contribute to good understanding."

Speaking at a formal arrival ceremony on the south lawn, Nixon said he and Caldera had been personal friends since meetings in 1958 and 1959.

This association, he declared, should contribute to understanding and to the solution of any problems between the two countries which he added were "very few."

The two presidents conferred after the arrival ceremony in Nixon's oval office.

The Venezuelan president and Mrs. Caldera will be in the United States until Friday.

Novato Cyclist's Injuries Minor

A 43-year-old Novato man was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises at Marin General Hospital yesterday following a motorcycle accident on Highway 101, south of Tiburon Boulevard.

The California Highway Patrol said John D. Parnham Jr., of 99 Vivian Court, fell off his motorcycle as he was pulling off the freeway after having a flat tire at 11:45 a.m.

McNeil And Game Of 49er Roulette

The trade of wide receiver Clifton Anthony McNeil by the San Francisco 49ers to the New York Giants over the weekend was not much of a surprise because McNeil insisted on playing that dangerous game called "49er Roulette."

The way you play it is to have a good season, hold out for higher pay, then see where you wind up. Other 49ers have played the same game and have suddenly changed their mailing address.

Why, it's as if I should compose a good column, shock the boss out of his tennies by asking for a few extra cookies in my lunch pail, and suddenly find myself on the next train to the Tuscaloosa Times as society editor.

Actually, I wonder just how much McNeil's holdout had to do with his shipment to New York. I'm inclined to believe that he had served his purpose with a team wealthy in receivers and was as expendable as a tick in a clock shop.

Fast Start After Reaching S.F.

A former benchwarmer with the Cleveland Browns, Clif came to the Niners as an unknown in 1968 and immediately set the National Football League afire by leading in pass receptions and winning All-Pro.

It took defenses all season to get a "book" on McNeil. He was devastating on the long and down and out patterns, but. . .

After his 1969 holdout, he joined the team late and coaches explained his benching by saying his timing was off. True, but when he did play McNeil was going against stacked defenses. Opposition heavily defensed his down and out patterns because they had learned one flaw: McNeal is not effective down the middle in heavy traffic where the going gets pretty physical.

As more than a few 49ers told me last season, "McNeil hears footsteps and feels pain."

Time Will Reveal The Answer

It will be interesting to follow McNeil's career as a Giant to see if he really was a victim of 49er Roulette or, like many of the players say, gun shy. If he does hear footsteps and feel pain, he won't last long in New York either. Defenses don't forget.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, a two-game "49er Florida Fun Trip" to Tampa and Miami Aug. 14-22 is being arranged for fans by Bulanti Travel of Redwood City and Delta Air Lines. It will include games against the Browns in Tampa Aug. 15 and Dolphins in Miami Aug. 22 plus a four-day cruise to Nassau.

AND SPEAKING of tours, Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, who has led Giants Boosters to Phoenix, Japan, New York and Montreal already this season, is now busily preparing for a June 19-20-21 weekend in San Diego and the Boosters' third annual trip to the Houston Astrodome July 9-12.

Rocky Headed For Basin League

FORMER SAN RAFAEL High football and baseball captain Rocky Shone, who just completed a season catching for the Cal varsity, leaves tomorrow for the Dakotas where he will play in the Basin League, reportedly one of the top semi-pro baseball circuits in the country. Rocky has been busy in recent weeks, punching doorbells in behalf of his dad Ray Shone's campaign for state senator.

LATEST WORD from Columbus, Ga. (I have correspondents everywhere)is that Novato's John Dolinsek, who was batting a strong .320 not long ago for the Columbus Astros, has slumped to .285 in the Southern Association.

And from Kinston, N. C. of the Carolina League comes word that Larkspur's Ken Johnson has lifted his batting mark to the .220 area, still anemic but better than his earlier performances.

Different Views, But Both Are Winners

By DAVID EINSTEIN

It is often of interest and seldom of value to compare how different schools did in all sports.

In the first place no award is given to the school whose teams win the most events. Second, relative values are hard to attach to sports. Track, for instance, has many more participants and half fewer meets than golf, but in the final tally of all sports, golf will count twice as much as track.

For what it is worth, however, here is how Marin County Athletic League teams fared in all spring sports combined, rated according to number of wins. Tamalpais 51, Redwood 49, Terra Linda and San Rafael 36, Novato 30, Drake 19, San Marin 17, Marin Catholic 13.

There are explanations for the poor showings by San Marin and Marin Catholic. They are respectively the youngest and smallest schools in the league.

The other teams that invite comparison are Tam and Redwood. Natural rivals since Redwood was founded in 1958, the schools have lately become focal points for diverse viewpoints concerning the responsibilities and rights of students in the academic community.

And it was inevitable that conflicts of opinion about such things as the desirable and legal length of students' hair would spill onto the athletic field.

Redwood took the conservative line — grooming policies ought to be departmental and in line with traditional limits.

Tam adopted a laissez faire policy and even went so far as to supply shaggy-haired athletes with school-colored head bands.

From both schools came conflicting pronouncements on the issue. Said Redwood athletic director Bob Troppmann, "I think this the beginning of the end of all athletics."

Tam Coach Bruce Grant took the opposite view, saying that when hair rules were relaxed, team morale went up.

All right, now let's look at the facts.

Fact: Tam and Redwood finished one, — two among all MCAL teams in total wins for spring sports.

Fact: Their records were almost identical. Tam had 51 wins and 12 losses. Redwood won 49, lost 13.

Fact: Each school had one undefeated team — for Redwood, tennis, for Tam, golf.

Fact: In no spring sport did either school finish lower than fourth place.

This is very enlightening evidence. For such comparisons transcend the effects of individual coaching policies on team performances.

It goes without saying that a winning team is one which has high morale, team discipline and respect of the players for each other and for their coach.

On that basis, which school would you pick as being more likely to have winning teams? Tam, whose athletes wear head band? Or Redwood, where hair doesn't fall below the collar?

Answer — Both.

Marin's All-Stars Named

Teams have been chosen for the first North-South Marin County Athletic League All-Star baseball game, scheduled for the night of June 18 at Albert Park in San Rafael.

Bruce McLaren Killed In Crash

Engine Explodes During Run

GOODWOOD, England (AP) — Bruce McLaren, one of the world's top auto racing drivers, was killed today when his car crashed traveling at 180 miles an hour and exploded.

The New Zealand Grand Prix driver hit a bank in a trial run at this famous track.

DISINTEGRATED

Police said the 32-year-old McLaren was killed on the stretch of the Goodwood track known as the Lavant Straight.

A police spokesman said: "The engine of the racing car, on test, is believed to have blown up while being driven at high speed. The vehicle hit a bank and disintegrated. "The driver was dead on arrival at Chichester hospital."

McLaren was testing one of his own high-powered sports cars which he hoped to race later in the season in the Can-Am series. He won that series last year along with his first team—mate Denny Hulme, another New Zealander.

10 YEARS

Although he never made the top in Grand Prix racing, McLaren was a leading contender in formula one events for the past 10 years.

He finished third in the world championship last year behind Jackie Stewart of Scotland and Jackie Ickx of Belgium.

McLaren has specialized in sports car racing and was an acknowledged expert in racing car construction, having followed Jack Brabham, Australia's triple world champion, into the business of building his own cars around proven racing car engines.

BALL FOUR

Bouton Not Sorry About His Book

NEW YOR K(AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton says he has no immediate plans to write another book . . . but isn't sorry about the one he's already written, the controversial Ball Four.

"I'm glad I wrote the book," the Houston right-hander said Monday after emerging from a two-hour meeting with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn reprimanded Bouton, in what amounted to a verbal slap on the wrist, with this statement to newsmen:

"I advised Mr. Bouton of my displeasure with these writings and have warned him against future writings of this character. Under all the circumstances, I have concluded that no other action was necessary."

Bouton's book, co-authored with Leonard Shecter, editor of Look Magazine, concerned his playing days with the New York Yankees. He made personal disclosures of many players, including superstar Mickey Mantle.

The book has not yet been released, although excerpts of it have appeared in Look.

When he first appeared before newsmen Monday, Bouton said, "no comment," but then opened up.

"I have no plans to write any more books," he said, but added he was "absolutely not" sorry about writing Ball Four.

Wouldn't the publicity help sales?

"That would be nice," he retorted.

Bouton was accompanied at the meeting by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association and Dick Miller, an association lawyer.

While they huddled, youngsters demonstrated outside with signs reading, "Kuhn Stop Repression And Harassment," "Jim Bouton Must Not Be Repressed," and "No Punishment For Exposing The Truth."

Bouton said he thought the demonstration was "terrific."

Bouton, who was to rejoin his team for a game tonight at the Astrodome, said he didn't expect any disciplinary action from club officials.

NO NAME YET

Two Marin County Swim Clubs Merge

And then there was one.

In this day of mergers and consolidations, age group swimming is no exception.

Marin County's two largest swim clubs have merged into one, and as yet the new Club hasn't a name. The merger, announced yesterday, came about last Wednesday when parents of swimmers in Marin and San Rafael swim clubs took separate votes.

VOTING

It was unanimous in the Marin Swim Club vote held at Redwood High School in Larkspur but not so in the San Rafael Swim Club vote held at San Rafael High. The ayes nudged the nays by a slim margin of three votes, 16-13. There were about 35 votes in the Marin S. C. balloting.

The swimmers, parents, and coaches were expected to come up with a name for the new club in the next week or so.

The new club has about 175 age-group competitive swimmers in it and about 75 novices who don't yet compete in Amateur Athletic Union events, for a total membership of about 250. There had been about 115 competitive swimmers in the larger Marin Swim Club before the merger, and about 60 in the San Rafael club. There were 62 families in the Marin Swim Club and 44 in the San Rafael S. C.

Head coach of the new set-up will be Don Swartz, who has been head coach of the San Rafael Swim Club. Marin's head coach, Galen Hopkins had to retire because of a bad back a few months ago, and Mrs. Ann Curtis Cuneo has been filling in on an interim basis. Assistant coaches for the team will be Dick Wader, Tom Zunino and Dennis Ahearn.

"We'll be a lot tougher now," said Swartz, "But it would be a little too ambitious to say that we will be beating such clubs as Santa Clara or Arden Hills."

STRONGER

"Financially, with a larger club we'll be able to do more," said Swartz, "and it will be a stronger team."

San Rafael Swim Club has been in existence since 1960, while the Marin Swim Club was a by-product of a merger a few years ago of the Marin Pirates and Ann Curtis Swim Club.

The newly merged team will be holding workouts at San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood high schools and also will be using College of Marin's pool on occasions.

Recreation Softball

Cal's Steak House routed Mike's Bar and Grill 16-8 and Round Table Pizza outslugged the Native Sons 14-8 last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

Van Gerbig Gets Back The Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seals Ltd., original owner of the Oakland Seals, has regained control of the National Hockey League team by a judge's order.

Superior Court Judge Robert Schnacke said Monday that Trans - National Communications Inc., which owns the Boston Celtics, defaulted on terms of its agreement to buy the three-year-old hockey club from Seals Ltd. last year.

He adjourned a week-old trial over the club's ownership until June 9, when Seals Ltd., headed by Barry Van Gerbig, will propose selling the club for $3.4 million to Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics.

Schnacke said he will consider whether the sale is "conducted in a commercially reasonable manner."

He said he will weigh any other offers before Finley's offer deadline of June 30.

Football Signups

Signups for the Redwood Junior Giants team in the Marin County Pop Warner Football Conference will be held Saturday of this week, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Redwood High School gymnasium in Larkspur. The program is for boys 10-13 years of age. Registration fee is $20 per family and one parent must accompany each boy to the signups.

18 Applicants For Health Center Job

Eighteen candidates have applied for the post of director of the Marin Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Donald P. Wilson, the present director, is among them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the two personnel directors of Marin County and of Marin General Hospital will review the applications to eliminate any lacking the qualifications in experience and education.

SCREENING COMMITTEE

A nine-man screening committee will meet next week to review qualified candidates and pare the number to about eight. These semifinalists will get oral interviews before the same committee.

After the oral interviews, the committee will try to reduce the number to three. The Marin General Hospital board of directors and the Marin County board of supervisors will appoint one of the three.

Members of the screening committee are Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, and Dr. Bradford Simmons, chief of staff at Marin General Hospital, both representing the hospital; Dr. Seymour Boorstein, appointed by the Marin Psychiatric Association; Bruce and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, director of community mental health services, representing the county; and four members of the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board — Jack Williams, Martha Valliant, George Monardo, and Dr. Richard W. Brunstetter.

PROGRAM NOMINATED

The job of director of the community mental health center pays between $25,000 and $30,000. The present director, Dr. Wilson, draws $27,000 per year.

The mental health program developed under Dr. Wilson has been nominated by the State Department of Mental Hygine for one of three top national awards to be presented by the American Psychiatric Association for "psychiatric programs considered most deserving of recognition by the achievement awards board."

Additions To Vote Roundup

In yesterday's Independent-Journal roundup of today's election, the Bolinas-Stinson School District board election and the Sausalito School board recall election were omitted.

Charles Hancock and Lyman Robinson are competing for one seat on the Bolinas-Stinson board.

The Sausalito ballot calls for a vote on recall of Martha Freebairn-Smith,who has resigned, and David E. Freedheim.

Delta Christ has filed for Martha Freebairn-Smith's seat, and will be elected if the recall succeeds and she receives at least one vote. If the recall fails, the seat must be filled in at a special election.

Brian V. Beard and Jerry L. Whitcomb are competing for the seat of Freedheim in the event he is recalled.

FISH AND GAME

New Hunting Regulations; Two Bucks In Early Season

By AL GIDDINGS

The California Fish and Game Commission has adopted the new hunting regulations for 1970-71. The new tag regulation requires that a deer taken in a one deer district must be tagged with both the "A" and "B" tags to prevent a hunter who takes a buck in the early season from taking a buck in the inland late season areas.

Marin hunters who do all their hunting in Marin or in the early season counties may take two bucks as uusual.

The date set for the early coastal season is from Aug. 1 to Sept. 13. In Humboldt and Del Norte counties the season will be from Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, limit two bucks.

In southern California and the west Sierra slope the season will be from Sept. 26 to Nov. 8, one buck, forked horn or better.

The northern season includes the former eastern Sierra season and the northwest season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck forked horn or better. The northeastern season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck three pointer or better.

Archery season in Marin was set for July 11 to July 26.

Bear season: Sept. 26 to Jan. 3; one bear limit.

Mountain Lions: Open all year, animal must be tagged; no limit.

Pheasants: Nov. 21 to Dec. 20, limit 2 birds per day opening weekend and 10 per season with 4 males per day after opening weekend.

Quail: Oct. 31, Jan 31 generally statewide with a limit of 10 per day. (Check hunting abstract which should be released by the end of June.)

Chukar: Oct. 31 to Jan. 31; 6 per day.

Sage Grouse: Sept. 5, 6, and 7 in Modoc, Lassen, Mono and Inyo counties; limit 2 birds per season.

Tree Squirrel: Aug. 1 to Jan 31 in Lake, Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties; the limit will be 4 per day; the central and northern counties will be open Sept. 26 to Jan. 31.

Rabbits: July 4 to Jan. 31 for brush, cottontail and pigmy rabbits including varying hares; limit 5 per day; no closed season or limit on jack rabbits; licenses are required.

I TOOK a quick trip to Webber Lake in Sierra County, planning to stop for a day over at Davis Lake in Plumas County also. You wouldn't believe it! They were turning cars away from both areas. Some estimates placed the number of cars at Davis Lake at 5,000.

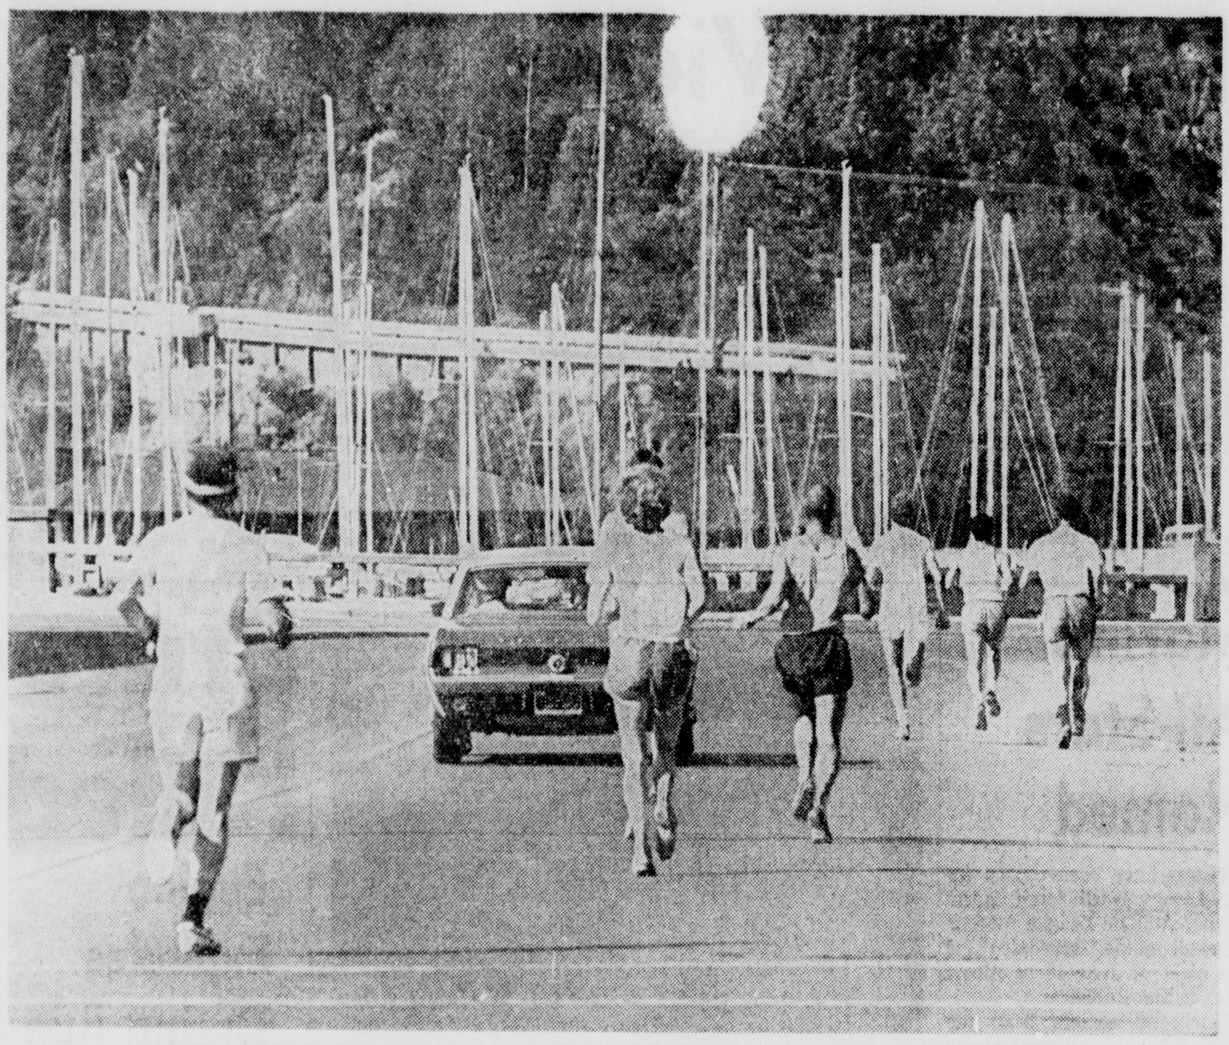
At Webber, we got in a couple of days fishing, but it was slow. My wife, Mary, and I caught four 15-inch trout.

One place they didn't turn us away, though, was over at Reno. Their motto is, "There's always room for one more." I saw a fellow win $5,000 on a one-armed bandit at Harold's Club. He played a $5 token, and hit the three faces which pays 1,000 to one.

I THINK we would have been better off to have stayed home. The salmon fishing has been pretty hot out of Sausalito, with most anglers taking limits Saturday, according to reports.

RODEO LAGOON, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs are due to be stocked this week, and the striped bass are due to start hitting at the Richmond Bridge, the Brothers Islands and around the Golden Gate Bridge areas.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week are low tide days, starting about 5:30 Wednesday. Excellent tides for abalones and poke poleing for eels and clams.



TRAFFIC JAM ON THE WATERFRONT

Ignoring the softer modes of transportation — yacht and auto — these hardy harriers gallop along the harbor in Tiburon on a 26 mile, 385-yard run from Tiburon to San Francisco. More than 400 of them did it last Saturday in the first Golden Gate Marathon Run. For Skip Houk of Reno, it indeed was a memorial day for he won the race in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 50 seconds. Richard Delgado of Woodacre, a math teacher at San Rafael High, was second in 2:35.40.

Feeney: Allow Player His Freedom At 55

NEW YORK (AP) — The presidents of the National and American leagues were expected to take the stand today in the controversial Curt Flood baseball suit.

Chub Feeney, the National League president, was the only witness in day-long proceedings Monday. American League President Joe Cronin and Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, waited in the wings.

Feeney, who continues his testimony today, agreed Monday "it would be fair" to relax some rules of baseball's reserve clause. He said he would favor a change in the reserve clause, letting a player become a free agent at the age of 55.

SLAVERY

Flood's suit against baseball and the major league owners is directed at the reserve clause, charging it is a form of slavery which binds a player to a team for life without individual recourse.

Flood, an all-star outfielder for the Cardinals for many years, brought his suit after he was swapped to the Philadelphia Phillies during the off-season.

Cross-examined by one of Flood's lawyers, Jay Topkis, Feeney was first asked if he would favor a change in the rules that made a man a free agent—a change the owners have steadfastly refused to grant.

"Yes," he retorted.

"How about 55 years of age," Topkis asked, trying to get something on the record.

"That would be fair," Feeney said.

NECESSARY

But Feeney also reiterated the stand of owners—that the reserve clause should not be abolished because it was necessary to baseball.

Feeney said farm clubs "would be the first to go under" if the clause was eliminated because wealthy teams would have all the advantages in the more costly competition that would follow.

Describing his dealings with players as a general manager, Feeney said, "Contract negotiations are very real. The club needs the player as much as the player needs the club."

Good Shooter

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Lee Bierbaum, never had seen a professional hockey game before, much less held a hockey stick in his hands, won $100 by poking the puck 120 feet into a small hole in a board over the nets. This was a between-periods feature of a Denver Spurs game in the Western Hockey League.

Miss Walsh Scores Easy Tennis Victory In England

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, tuning up for the Wimbledon later this month, yesterday scored an easy 6-0, 6-0 victory in the opening round of the North of England Tennis Championships at Manchester, England.

The Associated Press did not carry the name of the 18-year-old San Rafael girl's victim, mentioning only that she along with fellow Californians Kristy Pigeon of Danville and Pam Teegarden of Cheviot Hills scored triumphs over little known British girls. Denise Carter of Los Altos, the story added, was eliminated.

Other U. S. women winning yesterday were second seeded Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego and Peggy Michel of Pacific Palisades.

In the men's division, early winners were Tom Gorman of Seattle, Roy Barth of San Diego and Steve Fiske of Santa Barbara.

District Attorney Probes Death Of Terry Sawchuk

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Dist. Atty. William Cahn says his office is investigating the death of New York Ranger goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, 40, one of the National Hockey League's stars for two decades, died Sunday after being hospitalized for a month following a mysterious injury.

Cahn said Monday he and his staff were studying autopsy reports, which showed the immediate cause of death to be a blood clot in the lungs.

Sawchuk died in a New York hospital after undergoing surgery Saturday. He was transferred there from a Long Island hospital where he had undergone two other operations.

He told authorities he was injured while "roughhousing" on the lawn of the Long Island home he shared with Ron Stewart, a Ranger teammate. The two had returned to the home at 3 a.m. on April 29 after drinking at a nearby tavern.

Stewart, at his Ontario home, could not be reached for comment.

"You can bet that we will be questioning Stewart," said detectiv Matthew Bonora of the Nassau County Homicide Squad.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Rain Doesn't Hurt Dodgers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The skies over Chicago and Don Sutton's career record against the Cubs weren't the very best recommendations for Los Angeles to start Monday's ball game. But Los Angeles went ahead anyway and, like most things have lately, everything turned out well for the Dodgers.

Sutton, who had lost 13 of 14 career decisions against the Cubs, waited out an hour and seven minute rain delay at the start for another shot. Then, after the Dodgers rallied for three runs in the sixth inning, Sutton sweated out another hour and 32 minutes of rain before the game was called and the Dodgers won 5-4.

PIRATES WIN

In Monday's only other game, Pittsburgh trimmed San Diego 5-1.

San Francisco's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain and all the other major league clubs had the day off.

Billy Grabarkewicz ripped a two-run homer in the sixth, climaxing the Dodgers' comeback rally against loser Bill Hands, 7-3. Hands had held the Dodgers hitless after being tagged for three straight hits and two runs at the very start of the game.

Then, with LA trailing 4-2 and the skies looking ominous, Willie Davis opened the sixth with a triple. Wes Parker doubled him home and Grabarkewicz followed with his fifth homer of the season and second in as many days.

THEN RAIN

Sutton, 7-5, retired the Cubs in the bottom half of the sixth and then the rain washed out the remainder of the game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers and moved them into second place in the National League's Western Division.

Dock Ellis, 4-4, scattered six hits and scored two runs himself, helping Pittsburgh whip San Diego.

Matty Alou and Willie Stargell each cracked a pair of doubles for the Pirates and Ellis' leadoff single started a two-run rally in the third inning.

Dave Hill No. 9 On Money List

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill, last year's runner-up, climbed into the Top 10 money list Monday of the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Hill, winner of the coveted Vardon Trophy in 1969, captured the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open title over the weekend to collect $30,000 and go from 23rd on the money list to ninth with a total of $67,580.

Lee Trevino held his money lead with $108,119 earned this year. Gary Player was second with $83.078, Dick Lotz third with $75,951, Billy Casper fourth with $69,483 and Miller Barber fifth with $68,919.

Rounding out the top 10 were Bob Lunn, with $68,299; Frank Beard, $68,245; Homero Blancas, $67,711; Hill, $67,580 and Jack Nielkaus, $66,283.

Luis Tiant Goes On Disabled List

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Luis Tiant, pitching ace for the Minnesota Twins, has been placed on the disabled list "for a minimum of 21 days" because of a fractured shoulder blade, the Twins announced Monday.

The Twins said Tiant, whose season record is 6-0, incurred the injury while pitching against the Milwaukee Brewers last Thursday. It was first thought the injury was merely a pulled muscle.

Minnesota opens a three-game series in Boston Tuesday night.

Athletics Vs. Baltimore

OAKLAND (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles come on strong here tonight to open a three-game series with the Oakland A's.

The Orioles lead the American League's East Division with a 33-15 record while the A's are third in the West at 25-23.

Chuck Dobson, 5-4, will face Oriole hurler Jim Palmer, 6-2.

Baltimore will be without star centerfielder Paul Blair, who underwent surgery to repair multiple fractures of the nose and eye socket Monday night after being hit by a pitch by California Angels pitcher Ken Tatum at Anaheim Sunday.

John Odom, who pitched his best game of the season last Friday against the Cleveland Indians, is slated to pitch against the Orioles Wednesday.

McNeil And Game Of 49er Roulette

The trade of wide receiver Clifton Anthony McNeil by the San Francisco 49ers to the New York Giants over the weekend was not much of a surprise because McNeil insisted on playing that dangerous game called "49er Roulette."

The way you play it is to have a good season, hold out for higher pay, then see where you wind up. Other 49ers have played the same game and have suddenly changed their mailing address.

Why, it's as if I should compose a good column, shock the boss out of his tennies by asking for a few extra cookies in my lunch pail, and suddenly find myself on the next train to the Tuscaloosa Times as society editor.

Actually, I wonder just how much McNeil's holdout had to do with his shipment to New York. I'm inclined to believe that he had served his purpose with a team wealthy in receivers and was as expendable as a tick in a clock shop.

Fast Start After Reaching S.F.

A former benchwarmer with the Cleveland Browns, Clif came to the Niners as an unknown in 1968 and immediately set the National Football League afire by leading in pass receptions and winning All-Pro.

It took defenses all season to get a "book" on McNeil. He was devastating on the long and down and out patterns, but. . .

After his 1969 holdout, he joined the team late and coaches explained his benching by saying his timing was off. True, but when he did play McNeil was going against stacked defenses. Opposition heavily defensed his down and out patterns because they had learned one flaw: McNeal is not effective down the middle in heavy traffic where the going gets pretty physical.

As more than a few 49ers told me last season, "McNeil hears footsteps and feels pain."

Time Will Reveal The Answer

It will be interesting to follow McNeil's career as a Giant to see if he really was a victim of 49er Roulette or, like many of the players say, gun shy. If he does hear footsteps and feel pain, he won't last long in New York either. Defenses don't forget.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, a two-game "49er Florida Fun Trip" to Tampa and Miami Aug. 14-22 is being arranged for fans by Bulanti Travel of Redwood City and Delta Air Lines. It will include games against the Browns in Tampa Aug. 15 and Dolphins in Miami Aug. 22 plus a four-day cruise to Nassau.

AND SPEAKING of tours, Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, who has led Giants Boosters to Phoenix, Japan, New York and Montreal already this season, is now busily preparing for a June 19-20-21 weekend in San Diego and the Boosters' third annual trip to the Houston Astrodome July 9-12.

Rocky Headed For Basin League

FORMER SAN RAFAEL High football and baseball captain Rocky Shone, who just completed a season catching for the Cal varsity, leaves tomorrow for the Dakotas where he will play in the Basin League, reportedly one of the top semi-pro baseball circuits in the country. Rocky has been busy in recent weeks, punching doorbells in behalf of his dad Ray Shone's campaign for state senator.

LATEST WORD from Columbus, Ga. (I have correspondents everywhere)is that Novato's John Dolinsek, who was batting a strong .320 not long ago for the Columbus Astros, has slumped to .285 in the Southern Association.

And from Kinston, N. C. of the Carolina League comes word that Larkspur's Ken Johnson has lifted his batting mark to the .220 area, still anemic but better than his earlier performances.

Different Views, But Both Are Winners

By DAVID EINSTEIN

It is often of interest and seldom of value to compare how different schools did in all sports.

In the first place no award is given to the school whose teams win the most events. Second, relative values are hard to attach to sports. Track, for instance, has many more participants and half fewer meets than golf, but in the final tally of all sports, golf will count twice as much as track.

For what it is worth, however, here is how Marin County Athletic League teams fared in all spring sports combined, rated according to number of wins. Tamalpais 51, Redwood 49, Terra Linda and San Rafael 36, Novato 30, Drake 19, San Marin 17, Marin Catholic 13.

There are explanations for the poor showings by San Marin and Marin Catholic. They are respectively the youngest and smallest schools in the league.

The other teams that invite comparison are Tam and Redwood. Natural rivals since Redwood was founded in 1958, the schools have lately become focal points for diverse viewpoints concerning the responsibilities and rights of students in the academic community.

And it was inevitable that conflicts of opinion about such things as the desirable and legal length of students' hair would spill onto the athletic field.

Redwood took the conservative line — grooming policies ought to be departmental and in line with traditional limits.

Tam adopted a laissez faire policy and even went so far as to supply shaggy-haired athletes with school-colored head bands.

From both schools came conflicting pronouncements on the issue. Said Redwood athletic director Bob Troppmann, "I think this the beginning of the end of all athletics."

Tam Coach Bruce Grant took the opposite view, saying that when hair rules were relaxed, team morale went up.

All right, now let's look at the facts.

Fact: Tam and Redwood finished one, — two among all MCAL teams in total wins for spring sports.

Fact: Their records were almost identical. Tam had 51 wins and 12 losses. Redwood won 49, lost 13.

Fact: Each school had one undefeated team — for Redwood, tennis, for Tam, golf.

Fact: In no spring sport did either school finish lower than fourth place.

This is very enlightening evidence. For such comparisons transcend the effects of individual coaching policies on team performances.

It goes without saying that a winning team is one which has high morale, team discipline and respect of the players for each other and for their coach.

On that basis, which school would you pick as being more likely to have winning teams? Tam, whose athletes wear head band? Or Redwood, where hair doesn't fall below the collar?

Answer — Both.

Marin's All-Stars Named

Teams have been chosen for the first North-South Marin County Athletic League All-Star baseball game, scheduled for the night of June 18 at Albert Park in San Rafael.

Thirty-two seniors from the eight MCAL high school teams were selected to two teams, which will represent northern and southern Marin. The North, to be coached by San Marin's Mike Quinn, will be composed of players from San Marin, Novato, San Rafael and Terra Linda. Players from Redwood, Tamalpais, Drake and Marin Catholic will comprise the South squad, to be coached by Redwood's Al Endriss.

Proceeds from the game, which is being sponsored by the San Rafael Knights of Columbus, will go to establish a scholarship fund for worthy Marin County students.

The teams:

NORTH — Shortstop Larry Brazda, pitcher Bruce DeAmbra and outfielder Chuck Raznikov of San Rafael; Second baseman Kim Kirwin and outfielder Archie Speak of Novato; Catcher Rick Payne, pitcher Dave Stone, outfielder Dewey Forry, second baseman Mike Dito and shortstop Bob Daniele of Terra Linda; Second baseman Chuck Jacobson, third baseman Ken Gnoss, outfielder - pitcher Steve Francis, first baseman Bruce Hoberg, pitcher Dennis Bueler and outfielder Wade Gomes of San Marin.

SOUTH — Third baseman Bob Sutherland and pitcher Glenn Pfaff of Drake; Second baseman Mike Parnow and catcher Rick Fox of Marin Catholic; Shortstop Jim McCammon, pitcher Bill Secor, second baseman Jan Brink and third baseman Paul Kime of Tamalpais; outfielders Jerry Piro, John Boro and Frank Pomilia, second baseman Pete Cooney, shortstop Charlie Flynn, third baseman Joe Caito, first baseman Tom Wickert and pitcher Roger Smith of Redwood.

Bruce McLaren Killed In Crash

Engine Explodes During Run

GOODWOOD, England (AP) — Bruce McLaren, one of the world's top auto racing drivers, was killed today when his car crashed traveling at 180 miles an hour and exploded.

The New Zealand Grand Prix driver hit a bank in a trial run at this famous track.

DISINTEGRATED

Police said the 32-year-old McLaren was killed on the stretch of the Goodwood track known as the Lavant Straight.

A police spokesman said: "The engine of the racing car, on test, is believed to have blown up while being driven at high speed. The vehicle hit a bank and disintegrated. "The driver was dead on arrival at Chichester hospital."

McLaren was testing one of his own high-powered sports cars which he hoped to race later in the season in the Can-Am series. He won that series last year along with his first team—mate Denny Hulme, another New Zealander.

10 YEARS

Although he never made the top in Grand Prix racing, McLaren was a leading contender in formula one events for the past 10 years.

He finished third in the world championship last year behind Jackie Stewart of Scotland and Jackie Ickx of Belgium.

McLaren has specialized in sports car racing and was an acknowledged expert in racing car construction, having followed Jack Brabham, Australia's triple world champion, into the business of building his own cars around proven racing car engines.

BALL FOUR

Bouton Not Sorry About His Book

NEW YOR K(AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton says he has no immediate plans to write another book . . . but isn't sorry about the one he's already written, the controversial Ball Four.

"I'm glad I wrote the book," the Houston right-hander said Monday after emerging from a two-hour meeting with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn reprimanded Bouton, in what amounted to a verbal slap on the wrist, with this statement to newsmen:

"I advised Mr. Bouton of my displeasure with these writings and have warned him against future writings of this character. Under all the circumstances, I have concluded that no other action was necessary."

Bouton's book, co-authored with Leonard Shecter, editor of Look Magazine, concerned his playing days with the New York Yankees. He made personal disclosures of many players, including superstar Mickey Mantle.

The book has not yet been released, although excerpts of it have appeared in Look.

When he first appeared before newsmen Monday, Bouton said, "no comment," but then opened up.

"I have no plans to write any more books," he said, but added he was "absolutely not" sorry about writing Ball Four.

Wouldn't the publicity help sales?

"That would be nice," he retorted.

Bouton was accompanied at the meeting by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association and Dick Miller, an association lawyer.

While they huddled, youngsters demonstrated outside with signs reading, "Kuhn Stop Repression And Harassment," "Jim Bouton Must Not Be Repressed," and "No Punishment For Exposing The Truth."

Bouton said he thought the demonstration was "terrific."

Bouton, who was to rejoin his team for a game tonight at the Astrodome, said he didn't expect any disciplinary action from club officials.

Two Marin County Swim Clubs Merge

And then there was one.

In this day of mergers and consolidations, age group swimming is no exception.

Marin County's two largest swim clubs have merged into one, and as yet the new Club hasn't a name. The merger, announced yesterday, came about last Wednesday when parents of swimmers in Marin and San Rafael swim clubs took separate votes.

VOTING

It was unanimous in the Marin Swim Club vote held at Redwood High School in Larkspur but not so in the San Rafael Swim Club vote held at San Rafael High. The ayes nudged the nays by a slim margin of three votes, 16-13. There were about 35 votes in the Marin S. C. balloting.

The swimmers, parents, and coaches were expected to come up with a name for the new club in the next week or so.

The new club has about 175 age-group competitive swimmers in it and about 75 novices who don't yet compete in Amateur Athletic Union events, for a total membership of about 250. There had been about 115 competitive swimmers in the larger Marin Swim Club before the merger, and about 60 in the San Rafael club. There were 62 families in the Marin Swim Club and 44 in the San Rafael S. C.

Head coach of the new set-up will be Don Swartz, who has been head coach of the San Rafael Swim Club. Marin's head coach, Galen Hopkins had to retire because of a bad back a few months ago, and Mrs. Ann Curtis Cuneo has been filling in on an interim basis. Assistant coaches for the team will be Dick Wader, Tom Zunino and Dennis Ahearn.

"We'll be a lot tougher now," said Swartz, "But it would be a little too ambitious to say that we will be beating such clubs as Santa Clara or Arden Hills."

STRONGER

"Financially, with a larger club we'll be able to do more," said Swartz, "and it will be a stronger team."

San Rafael Swim Club has been in existence since 1960, while the Marin Swim Club was a by-product of a merger a few years ago of the Marin Pirates and Ann Curtis Swim Club.

The newly merged team will be holding workouts at San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood high schools and also will be using College of Marin's pool on occasions.

Van Gerbig Gets Back The Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seals Ltd., original owner of the Oakland Seals, has regained control of the National Hockey League team by a judge's order.

Superior Court Judge Robert Schnacke said Monday that Trans - National Communications Inc., which owns the Boston Celtics, defaulted on terms of its agreement to buy the three-year-old hockey club from Seals Ltd. last year.

He adjourned a week-old trial over the club's ownership until June 9, when Seals Ltd., headed by Barry Van Gerbig, will propose selling the club for $3.4 million to Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics.

Schnacke said he will consider whether the sale is "conducted in a commercially reasonable manner."

He said he will weigh any other offers before Finley's offer deadline of June 30.

Scotch vs. Canadian vs. 7 Crown.

Scotch makes a great drink.
So does Canadian.
So does 7 Crown.
We just want to remind you that more people prefer the taste of Seagram's 7 Crown.
Which is why more people buy it than the top Scotch and the top Canadian combined.

Ceremony Is Tomorrow For Complex

First phase of the project, a development of United Real Estate Corp., San Francisco, is a professional office building on three acres. An additional seven acres for the shopping center and another eight acres for apartments will be developed later.

Completion for the professional building and parking for 136 automobiles is expected in September.

Rosenberg Firm Buys San Jose Service Company

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries announced acquisition of the Harry M. Barnes Co., a major air conditioning and heating maintenance firm of San Jose.

The Barnes organization will become an ABMI subsidiary — Commercial Air Conditioning Co. of San Jose — and will service industrial and commercial accounts in heavily industrialized Santa Clara County.

Theodore T. Rosenberg of San Rafael, A B M I board chairman, said discussions to purchase the Barnes Co. were initiated when it became apparent Commercial Air's growing number of clients in Central California would soon sake it impractical to continue service from existing facilities in Berkeley and Fresno.

Commercial Air Conditioning is the largest organization of its kind in the western U.S. with operations centers in Seattle, Sacramento, Berkeley, San Jose, Fresno and Los Angeles.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Culligan Expected To Make A Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own 40 shares of Culligan, purchased at 24. Should I buy more shares at current levels for long-term growth? — J.M.

A. Culligan is the largest manufacturer of household water conditioning equipment. Household products account for close to 70 per cent of total volume. As a result of steadily improving foreign operations, larger volume and selective price increases, Culligan's sales for the first half of 1970, ended Jan. 31, advanced 12 per cent year-to-year. However, earnings per share fell to 41 cents from 62 cents in the like 1969 period, reflecting lower domestic residential sales and higher operating costs. Losses at Culligan's Industrial Systems division amounted to approximately 7 cents per share.

The company's major research efforts are in the field of reverse osmosis technology, a promising method of purifying brackish water. CUL recently introduced a nonphosphate soap for use in soft or softened water — one solution to the problem of phosphate-caused water pollution. Purchase of shares is justified for long-term growth.

Q. I am looking for a no-load fund which invests in tax-exempt issues. — S.W.

Q. I would appreciate some information on the Nuveen tax-exempt bond fund. — E.H.

A. John Nuveen & Co. and Municipal Investment Trust are two tax-free bond funds which the first reader may wish to consider. Neither are no-load funds; sponsors charge a 4.5 per cent purchase fee.

Shares are redeemable any time at net asset value and sponsors maintain a market for the shares at slightly higher than net asset value. This facilitates selling, an advatnage which may justify for the small investor the 4.5 per cent sales charge.

Yields on the last 'series 25" of Nuveen and Municipal Series U were 6.5 per cent and 6.4 per cent respectively. While these are believed to be sold out, other series of these bonds are being readied which may carry slightly changed yields due to varying bond market trends. Write to: John Nuveen & Co., 209 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 60604. For Municipal Trust shares contact a NYSE member firm.

FISH AND GAME

New Hunting Regulations; Two Bucks In Early Season

By AL GIDDINGS

The California Fish and Game Commission has adopted the new hunting regulations for 1970-71. The new tag regulation requires that a deer taken in a one deer district must be tagged with both the "A" and "B" tags to prevent a hunter who takes a buck in the early season from taking a buck in the inland late season areas.

Marin hunters who do all their hunting in Marin or in the early season counties may take two bucks as uusual.

The date set for the early coastal season is from Aug. 1 to Sept. 13. In Humboldt and Del Norte counties the season will be from Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, limit two bucks.

In southern California and the west Sierra slope the season will be from Sept. 26 to Nov. 8, one buck, forked horn or better.

The northern season includes the former eastern Sierra season and the northwest season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck forked horn or better. The northeastern season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck three pointer or better.

Archery season in Marin was set for July 11 to July 26.

Bear season: Sept. 26 to Jan. 3; one bear limit.

Mountain Lions: Open all year, animal must be tagged; no limit.

Pheasants: Nov. 21 to Dec. 20, limit 2 birds per day opening weekend and 10 per season with 4 males per day after opening weekend.

Quail: Oct. 31, Jan 31 generally statewide with a limit of 10 per day. (Check hunting abstract which should be released by the end of June.)

Chukar: Oct. 31 to Jan. 31; 6 per day.

Sage Grouse: Sept. 5, 6, and 7 in Modoc, Lassen, Mono and Inyo counties; limit 2 birds per season.

Tree Squirrel: Aug. 1 to Jan 31 in Lake, Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties; the limit will be 4 per day; the central and northern counties will be open Sept. 26 to Jan. 31.

Rabbits: July 4 to Jan. 31 for brush, cottontail and pigmy rabbits including varying hares; limit 5 per day; no closed season or limit on jack rabbits; licenses are required.

I TOOK a quick trip to Webber Lake in Sierra County, planning to stop for a day over at Davis Lake in Plumas County also. You wouldn't believe it! They were turning cars away from both areas. Some estimates placed the number of cars at Davis Lake at 5,000.

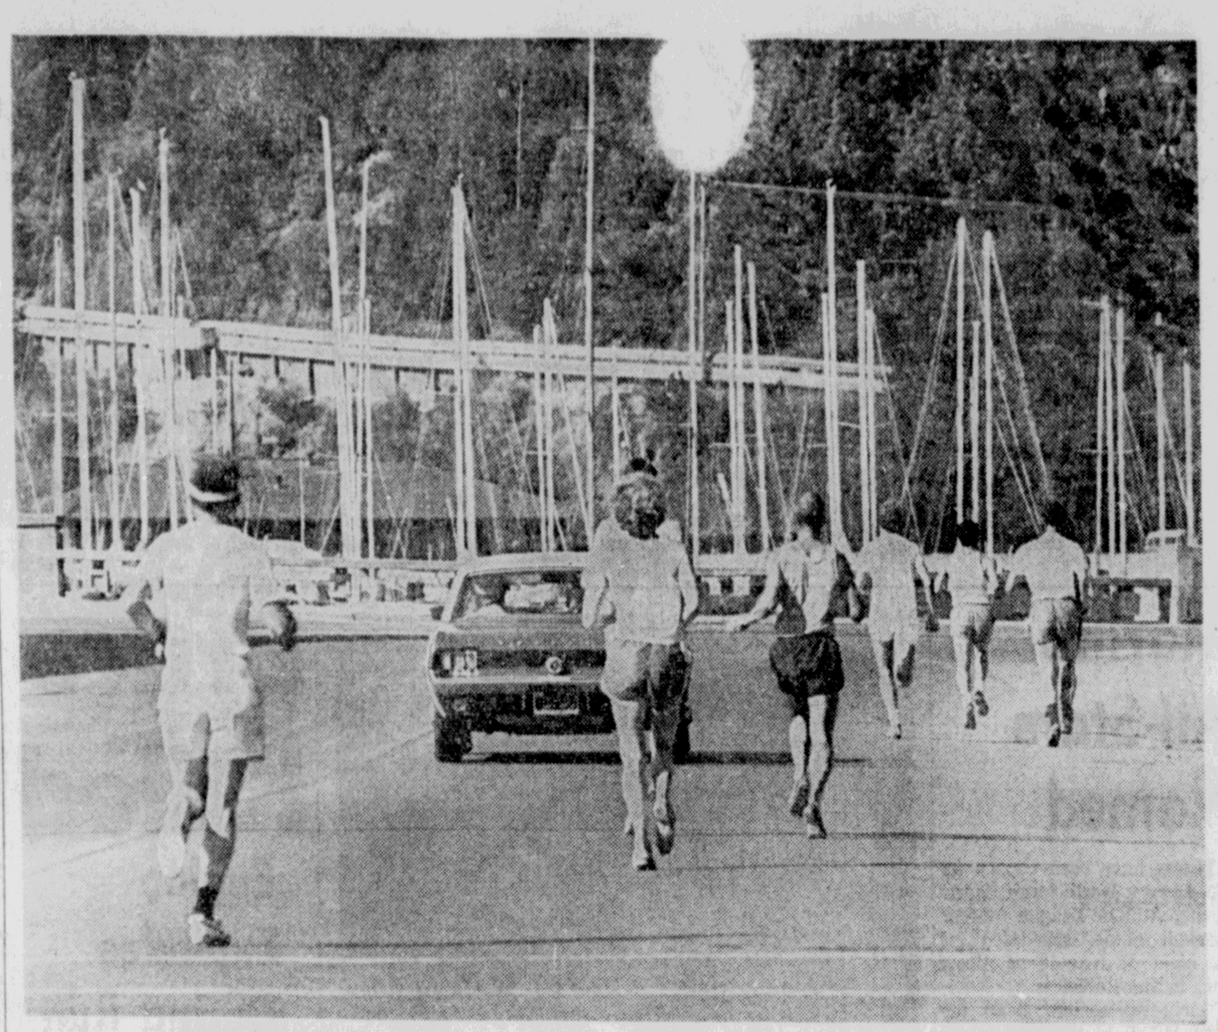
At Webber, we got in a couple of days fishing, but it was slow. My wife, Mary, and I caught four 15-inch trout.

One place they didn't turn us away, though, was over at Reno. Their motto is, "There's always room for one more." I saw a fellow win $5,000 on a one-armed bandit at Harold's Club. He played a $5 token, and hit the three faces which pays 1,000 to one.

I THINK we would have been better off to have stayed home. The salmon fishing has been pretty hot out of Sausalito, with most anglers taking limits Saturday, according to reports.

RODEO LAGOON, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs are due to be stocked this week, and the striped bass are due to start hitting at the Richmond Bridge, the Brothers Islands and around the Golden Gate Bridge areas.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week are low tide days, starting about 5:30 Wednesday. Excellent tides for abalones and poke poleing for eels and clams.



TRAFFIC JAM ON THE WATERFRONT

Ignoring the softer modes of transportation — yacht and auto — these hardy harriers gallop along the harbor in Tiburon on a 26 mile, 385-yard run from Tiburon to San Francisco. More than 400 of them did it last Saturday in the first Golden Gate Marathon Run. For Skip Houk of Reno, it indeed was a memorial day for he won the race in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 50 seconds. Richard Delgado of Woodacre, a math teacher at San Rafael High, was second in 2:35.40.

Feeney: Allow Player His Freedom At 55

NEW YORK (AP) — The presidents of the National and American leagues were expected to take the stand today in the controversial Curt Flood baseball suit.

Chub Feeney, the National League president, was the only witness in day-long proceedings Monday. American League President Joe Cronin and Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, waited in the wings.

Feeney, who continues his testimony today, agreed Monday "it would be fair" to relax some rules of baseball's reserve clause. He said he would favor a change in the reserve clause, letting a player become a free agent at the age of 55.

SLAVERY

Flood's suit against baseball and the major league owners is directed at the reserve clause, charging it is a form of slavery which binds a player to a team for life without individual recourse.

Flood, an all-star outfielder for the Cardinals for many years, brought his suit after he was swapped to the Philadelphia Phillies during the off-season.

Cross-examined by one of Flood's lawyers, Jay Topkis, Feeney was first asked if he would favor a change in the rules that made a man a free agent—a change the owners have steadfastly refused to grant.

"Yes," he retorted.

"How about 55 years of age," Topkis asked, trying to get something on the record.

"That would be fair," Feeney said.

NECESSARY

But Feeney also reiterated the stand of owners—that the reserve clause should not be abolished because it was necessary to baseball.

Feeney said farm clubs "would be the first to go under" if the clause was eliminated because wealthy teams would have all the advantages in the more costly competition that would follow.

Describing his dealings with players as a general manager, Feeney said, "Contract negotiations are very real. The club needs the player as much as the player needs the club."

District Attorney Probes Death Of Terry Sawchuk

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Dist. Atty. William Cahn says his office is investigating the death of New York Ranger goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, 40, one of the National Hockey League's stars for two decades, died Sunday after being hospitalized for a month following a mysterious injury.

Cahn said Monday he and his staff were studying autopsy reports, which showed the immediate cause of death to be a blood clot in the lungs.

Sawchuk died in a New York hospital after undergoing surgery Saturday. He was transferred there from a Long Island hospital where he had undergone two other operations.

He told authorities he was injured while "roughhousing" on the lawn of the Long Island home he shared with Ron Stewart, a Ranger teammate. The two had returned to the home at 3 a.m. on April 29 after drinking at a nearby tavern.

Stewart, at his Ontario home, could not be reached for comment.

"You can bet that we will be questioning Stewart," said detectiv Matthew Bonora of the Nassau County Homicide Squad.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Rain Doesn't Hurt Dodgers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The skies over Chicago and Don Sutton's career record against the Cubs weren't the very best recommendations for Los Angeles to start Monday's ball game. But Los Angeles went ahead anyway and, like most things have lately, everything turned out well for the Dodgers.

Sutton, who had lost 13 of 14 career decisions against the Cubs, waited out an hour and seven minute rain delay at the start for another shot. Then, after the Dodgers rallied for three runs in the sixth inning, Sutton sweated out another hour and 32 minutes of rain before the game was called and the Dodgers won 5-4.

PIRATES WIN

In Monday's only other game, Pittsburgh trimmed San Diego 5-1.

San Francisco's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain and all the other major league clubs had the day off.

Billy Grabarkewicz ripped a two-run homer in the sixth, climaxing the Dodgers' comeback rally against loser Bill Hands, 7-3. Hands had held the Dodgers hitless after being tagged for three straight hits and two runs at the very start of the game.

Then, with LA trailing 4-2 and the skies looking ominous, Willie Davis opened the sixth with a triple. Wes Parker doubled him home and Grabarkewicz followed with his fifth homer of the season and second in as many days.

THEN RAIN

Sutton, 7-5, retired the Cubs in the bottom half of the sixth and then the rain washed out the remainder of the game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers and moved them into second place in the National League's Western Division.

Dock Ellis, 4-4, scattered six hits and scored two runs himself, helping Pittsburgh whip San Diego.

Matty Alou and Willie Stargell each cracked a pair of doubles for the Pirates and Ellis' leadoff single started a two-run rally in the third inning.

Dave Hill No. 9 On Money List

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill, last year's runner-up, climbed into the Top 10 money list Monday of the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Hill, winner of the coveted Vardon Trophy in 1969, captured the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open title over the weekend to collect $30,000 and go from 23rd on the money list to ninth with a total of $67,580.

Lee Trevino held his money lead with $108,119 earned this year. Gary Player was second with $83.078, Dick Lotz third with $75,951, Billy Casper fourth with $69,483 and Miller Barber fifth with $68,919.

Rounding out the top 10 were Bob Lunn, with $68,299; Frank Beard, $68,245; Homero Blancas, $67,711; Hill, $67,580 and Jack Niclkaus, $66,283.

Luis Tiant Goes On Disabled List

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Luis Tiant, pitching ace for the Minnesota Twins, has been placed on the disabled list "for a minimum of 21 days" because of a fractured shoulder blade, the Twins announced Monday.

The Twins said Tiant, whose season record is 6-0, incurred the injury while pitching against the Milwaukee Brewers last Thursday. It was first thought the injury was merely a pulled muscle.

Minnesota opens a three-game series in Boston Tuesday night.

Athletics Vs. Baltimore

OAKLAND (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles come on strong here tonight to open a three-game series with the Oakland A's.

The Orioles lead the American League's East Division with a 33-15 record while the A's are third in the West at 25-23.

Chuck Dobson, 5-4, will face Oriole hurler Jim Palmer, 6-2.

Baltimore will be without star centerfielder Paul Blair, who underwent surgery to repair miltiple fractures of the nose and eye socket Monday night after being hit by a pitch by California Angels pitcher Ken Tatum at Anaheim Sunday.

John Odom, who pitched his best game of the season last Friday against the Cleveland Indians, is slated to pitch against the Orioles Wednesday.

A Wet Derby Back In '28

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 1928 Kentucky Derby drew 196 nominations and 22 starters.

Jockeys were told by the late Bill Hamilton to swing their mounts wide around the first turn near the seven-eighths pole.

Winner of the race was Reigh Count, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz.

Ceremony Is Tomorrow For Complex

Groundbreaking for San Marin Square, a new shopping and professional complex at San Marin and San Andreas drives, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

First phase of the project, a development of United Real Estate Corp., San Francisco, is a professional office building on three acres. An additional seven acres for the shopping center and another eight acres for apartments will be developed later.

Completion for the professional building and parking for 136 automobiles is expected in September.

Rosenberg Firm Buys San Jose Service Company

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries announced acquisition of the Harry M. Barnes Co., a major air conditioning and heating maintenance firm of San Jose.

The Barnes organization will become an ABMI subsidiary — Commercial Air Conditioning Co. of San Jose — and will service industrial and commercial accounts in heavily industrialized Santa Clara County.

Theodore T. Rosenberg of San Rafael, A B M I board chairman, said discussions to purchase the Barnes Co. were initiated when it became apparent Commercial Air's growing number of clients in Central California would soon sake it impractical to continue service from existing facilities in Berkeley and Fresno.

Commercial Air Conditioning is the largest organization of its kind in the western U.S. with operations centers in Seattle, Sacramento, Berkeley, San Jose, Fresno and Los Angeles.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Culligan Expected To Make A Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own 40 shares of Culligan, purchased at 24. Should I buy more shares at current levels for long-term growth? — J.M.

A. Culligan is the largest manufacturer of household water conditioning equipment. Household products account for close to 70 per cent of total volume. As a result of steadily improving foreign operations, larger volume and selective price increases, Culligan's sales for the first half of 1970, ended Jan. 31, advanced 12 per cent year-to-year. However, earnings per share fell to 41 cents from 62 cents in the like 1969 period, reflecting lower domestic residential sales and higher operating costs. Losses at Culligan's Industrial Systems division amounted to approximately 7 cents per share.

The company's major research efforts are in the field of reverse osmosis technology, a promising method of purifying brackish water. CUL recently introduced a nonphosphate soap for use in soft or softened water — one solution to the problem of phosphate-caused water pollution. Purchase of shares is justified for long-term growth.

Q. I am looking for a no-load fund which invests in tax-exempt issues. — S.W.

Q. I would appreciate some information on the Nuveen tax-exempt bond fund. — E.H.

A. John Nuveen & Co. and Municipal Investment Trust are two tax-free bond funds which the first reader may wish to consider. Neither are no-load funds; sponsors charge a 4.5 per cent purchase fee.

Shares are redeemable any time at net asset value and sponsors maintain a market for the shares at slightly higher than net asset value. This facilitates selling, an advatnage which may justify for the small investor the 4.5 per cent sales charge.

Yields on the last 'series 25" of Nuveen and Municipal Series U were 6.5 per cent and 6.4 per cent respectively. While these are believed to be sold out, other series of these bonds are being readied which may carry slightly changed yields due to varying bond market trends. Write to: John Nuveen & Co., 209 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 60604. For Municipal Trust shares contact a NYSE member firm.

Flames Level Alcatraz Landmarks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A fire which burned most of the night on Indian-occupied Alcatraz Island today destroyed the lighthouse, warden's home and infirmary of the former federal penitentiary.

The wooden lighthouse and hospital buildings were burned to the ground, while only two brick walls of the abandoned warden's home remained standing when the fire burned out.

Diesel oil stored near the base of the lighthouse continued to send black clouds above the fog-shrouded island after dawn.

The 150 Indians living on the island refused offers of evacuation and fire-fighting aid from the Coast Guard, but were unable to fight the blaze themselves because of a lack of water.

The federal government, which plans to make Alcatraz into a national recreation area, removed its water barge last week and the occupants have been bringing in water supplies in bottles and jugs.

The blaze apparently was set. John Trudell, a Sioux who lives on the island with his family, said the blaze broke out about 10:30 p.m. Monday — about an hour after the Indians ended a meeting and retired for the night.

He said one of the occupants of the north side of the island heard a motor boat leaving shortly before the blaze was spotted. However, he said no one was seen because of the fog.

The blaze was visible from San Francisco, about a mile from the island across the bay.

None of the burned buildings was occupied by the Indians. The warden's home and infirmary were considered health hazards because of faulty plumbing, while the lighthouse was kept locked by the Coast Guard which used it until last week when electricity to the island was cut off.

Most of the Indians live on the south end of the island in apartments and houses which formerly housed prison guards. They are on a lower level and several hundred feet from the fire and were not endangered by the flames.

POLLS OPEN UNTIL 8 P.M.

Early Marin, South Sonoma Turnout Spotty

Voting in today's state and local elections was off to a fairly brisk start in most of Marin this morning, but a slower pace was reported in Southern Sonoma and the Novato area.

Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. Radio station KTIM-FM will broadcast election results from Marin Civic Center starting at 8 p.m., with first returns expected at about 9 p.m.

Precincts in Central Marin reported up to 24 per cent votes cast by 11 a.m., with most precincts sampled nearing the 20 per cent mark. Several precincts reported voters queuing up.

In southern Sonoma, 32 of 185 registered voters had cast ballots at Petaluma City Hall. Two precincts voting at Valley Vista School, Petaluma, reported 18 of 185 voting and 22 of 140 voting. At the Petaluma school administration building, 24 of 178 had voted.

In Marin, precinct workers at the J.J. Nicholson residence, Kentfield, reported 75 of approximately 300 registered had voted, a 25 per cent pace. At Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur, 125 of approximately 520 registered, or 24 per cent, had voted by 11 a.m.

Other reports were 54 of 400 at Sleepy Hollow School, 78 of 400 at Brookside School in San Anselmo, and 54 of 298 at the James Krahl residence in San Anselmo.

Slides Blocking Aid; Fears Of 30,000 Peruvian Quake Deaths

LIMA (UPI)—Landslides and floods blocked rescue efforts to reach devastated cities today in northern Peru, where the government estimated the death toll in Sunday's earthquake at 1,000. More aftershocks jolted Lima.

The government said it was impossible to give a firm count of casualties because many of the hardest hit areas were inaccessible due to destroyed highways and air strips. (See picture, page 21.)

A spokesman for the National Information Office said Monday night the government believed there were about 1,000 dead and 5,000 seriously injured. It was Peru's worst earthquake disaster of the century.

The government discounted reports that as many as 30,000 could have died, calling them "completely false."

Two women Peace Crops volunteers were reported killed in the Andean city of Huaraz and two Catholic nuns from the United States were said to have died in the fishing village of Chimbote.

Huaraz, a city of 80,000 nestled in a semicircle of towering mountains 180 miles northeast of Lima, could not be reached Monday but ham radio reports said 90 per cent of the houses were destroyed.

Chimbote, 260 miles north of Lima, was accessible by water and President Juan Velasco Alvarado went there for a first-hand look aboard a navy boat. He took doctors and nurses and brought back 200 seriously injured persons.

Residents poked through the rubble of thousands of homes in Chimbote looking for their belongings. The quake opened deep cracks in the Pan American Highway near the city.

In the heavily damaged village of Casma, Consuelo Perez de Lopez gave birth to twins Monday in the garden outside the hospital. Travelers stranded because the Pan American Highway was blocked helped her.

Four young tourists from Canada, Switzerland and Chile pitched in to help the people of Casma. "We can't leave Casma," said Michael Cabellero, 20, of Santiago, Chile. "The people here need our help."

Many of Casma's 10,000 inhabitants stood as if dazed in the streets, looking at the demolished homes and buildings.

"As soon as the shaking began we went out and formed groups in the middle of the road," said one resident of Casma. "We were choking with the dust of the falling houses and could not see the sunlight."

A priest operating a radio in Chimbote said Sister Gabriella of Pittsburgh and Sister Edith Mary, no known address, were killed in the quake. Both were from the San Jose order.

Robert Persico, a Peace Corps volunteer from Huaraz, said two volunteers were thought to have died when their house collapsed.

The director of the Peace Corps in Peru, Ed Baca of Lima, identified the two missing volunteers as Marie Clutterbuck, 22, of Cambelisport, Wis., and Gail Gross, 23, of Freemansburg, Pa.

U.S. Leaders Set Indochina Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A high level task force of senators, congressmen, governors and White House officials will leave Wednesday for a week-long fact-finding trip to Southeast Asia, it was disclosed today.

The itinerary for the group is not yet firm, but the group is expected to visit Cambodia, South Vietnam and possibly Thailand.

A spokesman in the office of Herbert G. Klein, President Nixon's communications director, described the trip as a fact-finding tour "to determine what's going on."

Walton Claims Firing Illegal, Makes Public Board's Charges

Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School, yesterday charged that his firing by the Sausalito School District was illegal and, for the first time, made public the board's charges against him.

In a petition filed in Marin Superior Court, Walton said that a "notice of intention to dismiss" served on him on May 15 was the type of notification required for permanent employees. Since he is still on probation, he claimed that he should have been notified no later than March 15 as required by the Education Code.

A hearing has been set for 9 a.m. on June 11 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson on Walton's request for an injunction preventing his dismissal.

Attached to the suit was a list of charges filed against Walton on May 15 by the board of trustees, which accuses the principal of such actions as calling parents names like "white racist bitch" and "liar."

The board said that Walton showed "evident unfitness for service" and that he had persistently violated or refused to obey reasonable directives and regulations prescribed by the board and Dist. Supt. Philip Schneider.

In addition to insulting parents of pupils, the board said Walton also "harrassed and intimidated teachers" by "making insulting personal comments, writing derogatory memos and encouraging adverse comments from students."

Walton, according to the board, also made derogatory remarks about the board of trustees and Schneider in the press and on the radio and made "threats that he would take over the district unless his wishes were followed."

He also organized and/or encouraged pressure groups, the board charged, attempting to influence decisions of the board and he manipulated students to gain support for his position.

Finally, he was accused of organizing teachers and other staff members to stage a "sick-out" and of encouraging students to boycott the school.

Walton, first black principal of King School, was dismissed

END OF SURTAX

Pay Envelopes To Grow A Little Fatter July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pay envelopes grow a little fatter next month when the income tax surcharge, imposed in Lyndon B. Johnson's last year as president to help pay for the Vietnam war, becomes history.

The tax, originally 10 per cent, was cut in half last January and dies altogether July 1, the day the government's new fiscal year begins. It passing will cost $4.5 billion in federal revenue.

But strapped as the Nixon administration is for cash, with budget deficits predicted for the old and the new fiscal years, the surtax's death may help provide something needed even more: Consumer buying to help end the near-recession before the November congressional elections.

As a result primarily of the surtax's political unpopularity, the Nixon administration is sticking currently to its plan to let it fade away.

But Nixon has pledged to ask Congress for new taxes next January if conditions don't improve. He already has requested a new tax on gasoline containing lead.

He is content for now to let a small deficit—estimated by his planners at $1.8 billion for the year beginning in July—stand, mainly because his analysts say it is caused by a drop in corporate income taxes brought on by the business doldrums.

Nixon was pledged to end the surtax when he took office, but the need for money caused him to ask Congress for a full rate extension.

The cutback to 5 per cent was a compromise made possible by new money gained from eliminating a tax credit for businesses buying new production equipment.

End the surtax won't mean much to the average taxpayer —an extra 70 cents a week for four-member families with $5,000 yearly incomes, $1.70 if income is $10,000—but taken together it will be a substantial

PLENTY OF ROOM AT THE TOP

British plumber Donald Williams, 36, stands at the summit of the 26,500-foot Annapurna in the Himalayas. The photo, taken last Wednesday by Dongal Haston, 38, director of a Swiss climbing club who accompanied Williams to the summit, was released yesterday in London by members of the expedition. However, the climb was marred by the death of one of the climbers, Ian Clough, on Saturday in an ice fall, as he was on his way down. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Lonon)

Magazine Sales Cleanup Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government has told a number of magazine publishers there will be court action if magazine salesmen don't quit "deceptive" sales gimmicks.

Fourteen publishers and magazine agencies—including the publishers of such magazines as Life, Look, Time and Sports Illustrated—were named by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Monday as targets of proposed official complaints.

If the companies don't agree within 10 days to negotiate cease and desist terms proposed by the FTC, the cases will go to trial.

Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., who has waged an 18-month campaign against deceptive magazine sales, hailed the FTC action as encompassing "every major area of consumer trickery" he had urged the commission to consider.

The FTC complaints charged that magazine salesmen misled their prospects and often lured them into signing expensive subscription contracts that cost far more than the salesmen claimed. The FTC also accused the companies of harassing subscribers who fall behind in payments or try to cancel subscriptions.

One of those named in the proposed complaint, Time Inc., said it has made "every effort" to get organizations soliciting for its publications to use fair sales practices. Spokesmen for the other publishers named said the action was unjustified.

Hearst Corp. said since the adoption of the industry code it had received only 10 complaints and these were promptly resolved.

The proposed FTC consent order—under which the companies would agree to quit certain practices without actually admitting to them—would require as well various consumer protection devices in the future.

Chief among them would be a "cooling-off period" of three days in which a new subscriber could cancel his magazine contract without penalty. Salesmen would be required to stress this feature.

The FTC action came less than a week after a unique self-policing arrangement in the industry, approved by the government three years ago, expired.

Collegians' Reactions Mixed On Reagan Talk

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has received mixed reviews after an hour-long session with a new crop of campus leaders.

Reagan met for an hour Monday with some 33 campus officers — most of them newly elected — in what one student described as "a get acquainted meeting." Reagan has held similar meetings with student leaders in recent months in an effort to provide a channel of communication between him and the students.

Several of the students said they hoped future meetings would be longer and David Thiermann of UC Santa Cruz criticized Reagan for taking up too much of the time talking.

"Reagan has access to the media," Thiermann complained. "We knew already what he thinks. We came here to tell him how we feel."

Thiermann said Reagan allotted only an hour to the meeting and made introductory remarks that lasted 25 minutes. Thiermann said the session was "disappointing."

But a San Francisco State College representative said Thiermann was speaking only for himself, not for the group.

"I think he was expecting something from Reagan—that's why he was disappointed," he added.

Bill Jones of Fresno State College said he thought details of the session should not be discussed with newsmen so that future meetings with the governor might be more candid and fruitful.

But he agreed with Thiermann's complaint that the meeting had been too short. "I would hope the next time would be a longer meeting," said Jones.

Thiermann said the students asked Reagan specific questions about the Angela Davis case and about increased state aid for underprivileged students.

Miss Davis is an assistant philosophy professor at UCLA who has acknowledged being a Communist Party member.

Thiermann said Reagan "skirted" both issues and left the meeting without giving adequate explanation of his position.

The students also asked Reagam to give stronger backing to Prop. 1, said Thiermann, but were told the governor had already given the ballot measure a strong endorsement.

Journalism enrollment in the nation's colleges increased 19 per cent in 1969, says the Newspaper Fund, Inc.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Composer Recovering

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet composer-conductor Dmitry Shostakovich is recovering in Siberia from an ailment that so desiabled his legs he could barely step to a stage, Tass said today.

The Soviet news agency mentioned the 64-year-old composer's ailment in a report about his comments on the coming Tchaikovsky music competition in Moscow. It said he has improved greatly under the treatment of orthopedist Gavril Ilizarov in the town of Kurgan, western Siberia.

Space Box Score

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As of April 30, 1970, mankind had flung 1,859 objects into space that are still there and another 2,537 that had "decayed" in orbit and faded from the view of trackers. Total: 4,396. This space box score was published in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's "satellite situation report" prepared by NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center. It dates from Russia's launch of Sputnik I in October 1957.

Ex-Beret Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Army Capt. Robert F. Marasco says that if the Green Beret case had gone to trial the U.S. government and the CIA would have been embarrassed and that "incompetency" would have been exposed in the command in Saigon.

Marasco and seven other Green Berets were charged with the murder of Thai Khac Chuyen, a South Vietnamese national reputed to be a triple agent in the case, but the charges were later dropped.

Marasco, who resigned his commission last year, declined to say whether he took part in the killing of Chuyen.

He said in a taped interview to be shown tonight on NBC-TV that the greatest danger posed by Chuyen was his knowledge that Green Beret intelligence operations in a section of Cambodia were run independently by Americans and that the agent might have informed the South Vietnamese of this.

Plea To Kidnapers

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Antonio Cardinal Caggiano, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Buenos Aires, pleaded Monday night for the kidnapers of former President Pedro Aramburu to contact him with terms for the release of the 67-year-old retired general.

The commander in chief of the army, Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, told garrison commanders throughout the country to keep calm and avoid retaliatory action against followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron. He said the army must "set an example" in preserving "the well-being and integrity of the republic."

GI Facing Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — An 18-year-old private is awaiting court-martial for attempted murder in the wake of alleged Ku Klux Klan activities at a U.S. Army post in West Germany, the New York Daily News reported today.

The report followed a demand Monday by Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., for a congressional investigation of an alleged 47-man KKK klavern.

The Army said Monday that it had investigated but found no evidence that a klavern existed at the post, the headquarters of the 14th Armored Cavalry at Fulda, near the East German border.

The News, however, said that Pvt. Carlos R. Hernandez Rodriguez of New York "is awaiting trial in Germany on charges growing out of a knife fight with an alleged KKK member who belonged to his unit."

Ky Sets Official Visit To Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will make an official visit to Cambodia this week at the invitation of the Lon Nol government, his office said today.

A spokesman for the vice president said details of the trip were incomplete, but that he will fly to Phnom Penh "Thursday or Friday and remain for a few days."

Alioto Names Bridges To Port Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto has announced the appointment of labor leader Harry Bridges to a four-year term on the Port Authority.

He also announced Monday he is reappointing business executive Cyril Magnin to another term on the five-man group.

Bridges, 68, will replace business executive Dan London. Alioto said London soon would be apointed to another commission, but that the port group needed a maritime labor representative.

Voters in San Francisco last year authorized city control of the board, and the appointment of Bridges was Alioto's first.

Bridges' appointment was further proof that the old hatreds between the city's business community and the one-time fiery labor leader have melted.

The Australian-born Bridges jumped ship in San Francisco in 1920 and quickly rose to prominence as a radical waterfront union spokesman.

He provided labor generalship in the 1934 strike, which paralyzed West Coast shipping.

Starting in 1938, the government began its long but unsuccessful effort to have Bridges deported for alleged Communist leanings.

He finally won his battle when the U.S. Supreme Court in 1945 said although Bridges had welcomed Communist support during strikes, it did not make him a Communist.

Mideast Raids Bring Deaths, Counterclaims

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli military command said one of its army patrols killed two Syrian soldiers early today near Rafid, in the occupied Golan Heights. The Israelis suffered no casualties, a spokesman said.

A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus claimed Syrian soldiers made three forays into the Golan Heights during the night, "killing or wounding 15 Israeli soldiers." The Syrians admitted two of their soldiers were missing.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli jets swept across the Suez Canal for a 90-minute raid today, and a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said all aircraft returned safely.

Israel and Jordan each delivered letters to the U.N. Security Council blaming the other for the attacks Monday which left one schoolchild dead on each side and a number of others wounded. Neither country requested a council meeting, however.

In Cairo, the Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported the guerrillas' Palestinian National Council agreed Monday night on "a plan for national unity" among guerrilla organizations. The agency said the plan calls for the formation of a central committee to guide guerrilla activities.

There was no immediate word on the attitude of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine General Command, the Marxist splinter group which has claimed responsibility for attacks on Israeli airliners and the May 22 rocket attack on an Israeli schoolbus that killed eight schoolchildren and four adults.

The maverick guerrilla group, attending the council meetings as an observer, said it would make its position known Wednesday.

Woman Senator Compares McCarthyism, Peril Now

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twenty years ago, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith stood up in the Senate to become one of the first of its members to denounce McCarthyism. She spoke again Monday, on the anniversary of that famous speech, to tell the nation it faces a new era of repression.

Dressed in a bright red suit, a rose pinned to her lapel, the Maine Republican said the repression could come in reaction to the "antidemocratic arrogance and nihilism from the political extreme left."

"...An overwhelming majority of Americans believe that trespass is trespass—whether on the campus or off; violence is violence—whether on the campus or off; arson is arson—whether on the campus or off; killing is killing—whether on the campus or off," she said. Extremists, she said, are forcing Americans to make a "narrow choice between anarchy and repression. And make no mistake about it, if that choice has to be made, the American people, even if with reluctance and misgivings, will choose repression."

It was 20 years to the day that Mrs. Smith made her "declaration of conscience" against the tactics of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis. She was one of the first Senate members to decry McCarthy's campaign to purge the government of people he said were Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Twenty years ago she said it was the "anti-intellectuals who were most guilty of know-nothing attitudes."

Monday she said "too many of the militant intellectuals are equally as guilty if 'hear nothing' attitudes or refusing to listen while demanding better communication."

Window Is Smashed

A $120 window was smashed and a $20 bill taken from a desk at Francisco Yacht Sales, 557 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, between 6:15 and 7 p.m. Sunday, police reported today.

CHP Reveals Truck Theft Ring Details

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Highway Patrol has released information on a transcontinental truck theft ring believed responsible for stealing 50 tractor-trailers valued at more than $1 million.

Federal indictments, the patrol said Monday, allowed release of the information, which implicated three California men, brothers Jerry Leland Weller and Rolland Eugene Weller, both of San Leandro, and the son of one of the men, John Joseph Weller.

CHP officials said nearly a year of investigation went into cracking the ring's operations, which specialized in dismantling late model trucks for sale in other parts of the country. New York and California were the terminals of the operation.

Jerry and Rolland Weller now are under indictment by a federal grand jury in New York. Jerry and John Weller also face charges of receiving stolen property in connection with an Oakland burglary.

CHP spokesmen said the ring specialized in late model, high-value trucks and rigs. A total of 18 trucks was involved in the federal indictment with an average value of $17,000.

Only two trucks were recovered.

Patrol investigators said the probe ranged through half-a-dozen California cities with investigators from San Francisco, Sacramento, Redding and Fresno taking part in the operation.

A total of 11 residents of eastern states was named in the New York indictments, in addition to the California trio.

Materials Stolen From Building Site

Construction materials, valued at $173, were taken Sunday or yesterday morning from the site of a new theater being built at the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael police reported today.

The materials were owned by Mayta and Jensen Construction Co., police said.

Tiburon Asks Aid In Bike Trail Suit

Tiburon Mayor Denis T. Rice paid an impromptu call on the Belvedere City Council last night to ask cooperation in a scheme to take over a railroad right-of-way for a bicycle path.

Rice, who had no specific recommendation, said he wanted "to see what, if any, interest, there might be on the part of Belvedere in contributing financially."

The council authorized Councilman Thomas S. Price to meet with Rice and Tiburon staff this month.

Price termed the bike path a "one chance in a lifetime opportunity" that would put Belvedere in a better bargaining position against the State Highway system's encroachment and a possible rapid transit system along the old railroad path.

Mayor Rice said the condemnation trial on the land begins Sept. 14 with a verdict near the end of the year and said it was time to move on planning financing.

He said Belvedere might not have to pay anything or might become co-owners depending on the value of the land determined by the jury.

Belvedere Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel said the problem, like the drainage problem, concerned both cities and should be dealt with jointly.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

ZONING — Tabled for final approval until the July 6 meeting a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance that would cover a duplex area overlooked by the present wording.

GARBAGE HOURS — Directed the city manager to look into the cost differential that might be caused by later morning garbage collection after a complaint by Neil Penry of 563 San Rafael Avenue that garbage trucks rumbled outside his home about 5:15 a.m. twice weekly.

DRAINAGE — Heard a report from Councilman Alan Steinau on the Belvedere-Tiburon Joint Drainage Committee and approved sharing with Tiburon the cost of hiring a stenographer for meetings of that body. Steinau said there will be a public hearing on the final drainage proposal June 18 and that the cost to each city will be about $5,000.

DENIAL — Upheld a planning commission decision denying a variance to J. J. Bacciocco of 48 Peninsula Road to construct a fence three feet onto city property.

TRANSIT — Tabled for the third straight month a request by Marin County Transit Systems Inc. for financial help until Tiburon considers the matter.

ROCK WALLS — Instructed the city engineer, Albert H. Siemer, to report back next meeting on the crumbling rock walls on Bay View Avenue at Beach Road, and asked the city attorney, Robert F. MacKay, to look into the legal ramifications of the walls.

LIGHTS — Approved installation of two street lights in the West Shore Road area at a cost of $500. One would be at the foot of the grade and the other towards the top.

UNDERGROUNDING — Authorized Mayor Drechsel to execute a contract with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph for undergrounding at a cost of $820, or $379 less than expected.

DISCLOSURE — Contributed $200 to Carmel, Monterey County, to help defray legal expenses incurred in its successful challenge of the state Disclosure of Assets Act.

WATER QUALITY — Heard a report by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli on the May 28 meeting of the State Regional Water Quality Control Board on banning sewage discharge into Richardson Bay. Belvedere discharges into the bay.

BUDGET — Tabled until the next meeting discussion of the preliminary budget to give the finance committee a chance to study it.

SURPLUS GEAR — Authorized the sale of surplus items including a tank truck for water spraying and an oil tank truck.

DOGS — Referred back to McKay an ordinance draft regulating the number of dogs permissable at one residence for more study of the numbers involved.

DEBRIS BOX — Continued to the next meeting discussion of an ordinance draft regulating debris boxes to give McKay more time to study the problem.

APPOINTMENTS — Heard Mayor Drechsel appoint Leslie Graham and Cabell Gwathme to the planning commission for four-year terms; Michael Lasky to the parks and recreation commission for two years; John R. Moore as fire commissioner and L. T. Mersereau as fire chief.

POLICE — Commended policeman Duffy Midyett for singlehandedly corraling three burglary suspects.

ASSESSOR — Instructed the city manager to arrange a meeting for the public with county assessor Bert W. Broemmel to discuss an increase in the assessed rate for the city.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the next meeting July 6 at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

Pianist Pennario To Play June 21

Pianist Leonard Pennario will open the Marin Music Chest summer series at 3 p.m. June 21 in Forest Meadows at Dominican College, San Rafael.

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal failed to give the date of his performance.

Concert-Dance Is Planned By Stage Band

The Novato High School Stage Band will present a concert—dance from 8 to 11 p.m., Saturday at the girl's gymnasium at Novato High School.

The concert is aimed at giving students, teachers and parents a variety of music for either listening or dancing, according to director Gordon C. Moore. Refreshments will be served in a cabaret setting.

Members of the stage band are Gregory Gillen, Kevin Curtin, James Rose, alto saxophone; Gary Conklin and Leonard Long, tenor saxophone; Jospeh Schroedel and Dale Anderson and John Crozier, trumpet; Jan Tschache and Robert De Bau, piano; Steven Burgess, bass; Paul Curtis and William Burgess, guitar; and Dennis Edwards, Edward Barry and Michael Prichard, drums.

Bids Asked On Surplus Supplies

Rubber and aluminum scrap and fired brass rifle shells will be sold in sealed bid sale at 1 p.m., June 16 by the Defense Surplus Sales Office at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Metal office desks and steel drums will be sold in sealed bid sale at 10 a.m., June 23 by the same office.

Belvedere Ecology Committee To Eye Recycling Of Waste Material

The Belvedere City Council — urged on by Councilman Thomas S. Price — decided last night to form an "ecology Committee" before the July 6 meeting.

While discussing the problem of recycling waste materials, Price said, "I'd like to see Belvedere take the initiative on this thing."

He said cities are looking to the state and federal government to save the environment.

"Let's start at home. Let's do a bang-up job here in Belvedere," Price said.

Price's exhortation was in response to a report by City Mgr. William L. Cavalli on separate collection of some garbage. Mill Valley Refuse Service, the collector, said it has no outlet for material collected and would have to use a different kind of truck, according to Cavalli. The city manager said the garbage collector would not initiate separate collection unless the city requires it.

"It seems to me that recycling is the direction we should go," Councilman Alan Steinau said. He recommended the city set up collection boxes and encourage people to turn in materials for recycling.

Pieter Myers, at the meeting to get a (zoning) variance, piped up, "I have reams of information on the problem (recycling) and facets of it. It's great to hear your concern on this, and, in fact, your initiative."

Initiative was then tempered as Prince recommended continuing the recycling issue until the committee is formed. "I didn't mean to spring this on you cold," Price said.

Resuscitation Course Is Set

Courses in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation will be offered June 16 and 18 from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building in San Rafael by the Marin County Heart Association.

The association has explained that the technique is used concurrently with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to circulate oxygenated blood through the body of a drowning victim by compressing the non-beating heart between the breastbone and spine.

Further information may be obtained from the heart association.

More Minority Hiring Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has told federal construction contractors in the Washington area to hire 3,500 more minority-group workers by 1974.

The "Washington Plan" is the nation's second such enforced quota plan. The first was the "Philadelphia Plan" handed down last year. Chicago and Pittsburgh worked out voluntary plans.

The Washington Plan covers federal construction contracts of $500,000 or more and sets quotas of minority workers ranging from 25 to 43 per cent among 11 skilled trades.

Quentin Circus Slated June 12

The circus, with all the trimmings, will be at San Quentin Prison June 12.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today the Rudy Bros. Circus will perform at 1 p.m. on the prison's new athletic field.

A half holiday will be declared for the inmates, Park said.

In addition to the animal acts and bareback riders, he said, concession stands will be selling hot dogs, cotton candy, and all the other items identified with the circus.

CAR AND TREE KNOCKED OVER

A San Rafael police officer looks over a leased 1970 Maverick which was struck by another car and knocked into a tree on Lincoln Avenue, north of Wilson Court, San Rafael. The Maverick, which was parked on Lincoln, was struck by a car driven by Arturo Lopez Martinez, 28, of 258 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, at 4:10 a.m. today. Occupancy Plan For Housing To Be Discussed

A revised occupancy policy for public housing units in Marin County will be considered for adoption by the Marin County Housing Authority board tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Northgate Senior Housing Project, 5 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafel.

According to Donald O. Stutsman, executive director, the new policy includes a provision which limits the amount of rent a tenant can pay to 25 per cent of the tenant's income. He said the limitation will apply unless such a rent reduction results in a decrease in welfare payments to an individual or family.

A meeting of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency which will hear a discussion of the Marin City housing redevelopment project by housing and urban development official, will follow the housing authority meeting at 1:30 p.m.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Protection For A Wage Earner

Harassment of a debtor may cause him to lose his job and he may go into bankruptcy.

Financial advisers, proraters, or private consultants sometimes help such a debtor to stem his creditor's demands. Even so, any private plan which allows the wage earner to work out his debts can fail if just one of his creditors refuses to accept a plan to delay payment.

But a wage-earner can ask a federal court for a "chapter XIII" proceeding instead of bankruptcy, and gain time to finance his debts. He can keep his job and his creditors cannot attach his wages.

Meantime, the court can work out a plan to allow him up to three years to pay off his debts, sometimes longer

Once the debtor seeks a Chapter XIII proceeding, the court keeps creditors from trying to collect under state or federal law. It stops repossessions of furniture, autos, or items bought on time. It suspends lawsuits in process, and keeps creditors from filing new suits.

The law limits interest payments to 10 per cent on those debts where security is posted. If the debtor borrowed without security, then the court holds up interest completely.

Creditors gain also. They are likely to collect more during the three years than if the debtor went through bankruptcy. The court forbids the debtor to run up certain future debts, for instance, for more than $100 without court approval.

Some debtors fail anyhow, and must go through bankruptcy. The court then dismisses most of his debts, but not debts such as taxes, alimony, child support, or debts incurred through fraud.

Even the bankrupt can still keep a modest family home, tools, a small savings account, his insurance, household furnishings, and a few such things.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

SURTAX

economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher Social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal pay.

The Social Security laws already have provided a minor bonanza for some higher-income taxpayers, and more will be affected as the year wears on.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 per cent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year. People making about $17,800 reach the limit this week, and those making $15,000 pay through July.

Anyone who makes $7,800 or less pays all year.

Luxury Yacht Is Missing From Marin Harbor

A sleek luxury yacht belonging to a San Francisco night club owner has been stolen from a San Rafael Yacht Harbor, Sheriff's officers said today.

Inspector Bowen Bridges said that the boat, a 42-foot cabin cruiser with twin engines, was noticed missing yesterday from its berth at Lowrie's Yacht harbor

A check with the wife of owner Joseph Finocchio showed that no one had been given permission to take out the yacht, valued at $60,000 and named "Lady Eve."

The office manager at the yacht harbor, Ellen Sheehi, told Inspector Bridges that the keys to the boat were in the office.

Officials were searching waterways today as far away as Stockton and Half Moon bay since the boat has a range of 300 nautical miles if the opertaor knows how to use auxiliary gas tanks, Bridges said.

Hitchhiker Held After Pot Found

A 17-year-old boy from Belleveiw, Wash., has been booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale after 45 packages of pot were found in his back pack.

A sheriff's deputy said that he stopped Gary Michael Crandall Saturday when he was hitchhiking on Highway 101 near the Marin City off-ramp.

Since he was unable to reach the boy's parents by telephone the deputy took the youth to Juvenile Hall where the suspected pot was found.

Jury Trial Is Set Next Month

Joseph Raymond (Smokey) Lester, 26, Washington state prison escapee who was captured in San Rafael May 20, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of being a felon who carried a concealed weapon.

Ferry Link On Peninsula Not Favored

At an informal meeting today, Belvedere city councilmen and the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce decided to ask the directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District not to make Tiburon a ferry terminal and parking area for commuters.

Dr. George Sugaman, president of the chamber, said the group, which included Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel and Allen Steinau, met for breakfast to formulate the recommendation.

The group suggested using the uninhabited marshland area of Corte Madera for the ferry terminal, Sugarman said.

Also discussed was the coordination of efforts by owners of the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way in downtown Tiburon, Sugarman said.

The group asked the four property owners to seek developers or purchasers of the combined land so that it may attract clean, noise-free and ecologically sound enterprises.

Majority Backs Student Forums

Special programs at Tamalpais High School District's three campuses — prompted by President Nixon's decision last monh to send U.S. troops into Cambodia — were attacked by a few and supported by many last night before the district's trustees.

Principals of Redwood, Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools gave trustees a brief rundown on programs at their schools and each said that although they wished they had had more time to prepare the programs they felt the special activities were valid educational experiences for the students.

Each of the principals — Raymond J. Bell of Tamalpais, Donald Krebs of Redwood and Harold Allison of Sir Francis Drake High School — praised the board's policy which allows principals the flexibility to alter regular curriculum when deemed necessary. Each told the board that following the Cambodia invasion student tension made regular classroom study almost impossible.

Several parents had written critical letters concerning Redwood High School's day-long convocation, which saw classes suspended for a day while students were allowed to hear speakers from Bay Area universities speak in the gymnasium. It was these written criticisms which prompted the board to hold last night's hearing.

Krebs told the board that he estimated about all but 600 of the school's 2400 students attended the convocation.

"In all professional honesty, it was a valid education experience," he said. "There are some things I would do differently, but all in all, I feel it was a good program."

"I feel it helped show the students that the system could meet their needs. I don't have any regrets about it," he added.

Two parents last night objected to convocation.

Paul O'Neal told trustees that Krebs had ". . fed the board a lot of sop."

O'Neal charged that the majority of the school's students didn't attend the convocation but just left school instead.

"I think my children got robbed of a day's education," he told the board.

Another parent, Russell Woods, charged that the four college instructors who spoke at the convocation ". . didn't present a balanced program" and were slanted to an antiwar theme.

Following the brief objections to the programs, about 10 other parents and teachers paraded before the board and praised Krebs' handling of the situation as well as the convocation.

One parent, Vaughn Marker, said he was at first disturbed when he heard about the convocation but changed his mind after attending.

"I started off being somewhat antagonistic, but after attending the convocation, I now feel it was a good, sound educational exercise."

Each of the speakers who supported Kreb's program was greeted by loud applause from the majority of about 125 persons in attendance.

Several teachers spoke in favor of the program including Pat Newton who said the school was ". .fortunate to have a principal like Mr. Krebs."

She credit Krebs with keeping student violence at a minimum by responding quickly to their demands for some sort of special program and yet kept it a valid educational experience.

Two board members, David D. Ring and Frank L. Miller, indicated they were concerned that no provision was made for students who wanted to attend classes during the convocation but both indicated they were not critical of Kreb's actions.

Tam High Trustee Resigns

Gloria W. Melbostad, a Tamalpais High School District trustee for the last six years, resigned last night saying that her duties as a College of Marin teacher ". . takes every ounce of energy I have."

The board accepted Mrs. Melbostad's resignation — which is effective July 1 — unanimously.

"I am sorry to leave the district in the midst of such demanding and exciting times as these," she said, "The turbulence and questioning in our society will undoubtedly continue to be reflected in our schools. I am sure, however, that the community will find a new representative from the Tamalpais High School attendance area who will see these problems as new challenges and bring a fresh viewpoint to the board."

Mrs. Melbostad was appointed to the board Nov. 2, 1964 to fill the unexpired term of Dr. J.M. Stubblebine. She was elected to a four-year term in 1966 and reelected in 1969 to another four-year term.

She lives in Mill Valley with her husband, Richard, and three sons.

The board made no indication when it would consider a successor to Mrs. Melbostad.

Pleads Guilty To Weed Possession

Kenneth Stanley Ross III, 22, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge that he possessed marijuana on Oct. 11. Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing for July 27.

Ross was arrested by Novato police who stopped him for not having a taillight on his truck. Police said he was carrying three pot cigarettes.

Students To Have Access To Trustees

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night unanimously granted recognition to a districtwide student advisory committee, marking the first time the board has approved a student committee which will have direct access to the trustees.

The committee, to be composed of students from each of the district's three high schools, will have a permanent spot on the board's agenda and will report directly to the trustees. In the past, student requests of the board have been routed through administrative channals.

Bylaws for the new committee call for four representatives from each school, with the representatives being appointed by the school's student body president.

The committee will begin functioning with the opening of the 1970-71 school year in September.

The committee was formed to make proposals to the board on issues affecting the students of the district and to facilitate student involvement in district affairs.

Ever Have Barnacles In The Water Line?

NEWPORT, Ore. (UPI)— You'll probably never find your water lines jamed shut by barnacles. But that's one of the problems the Marine Science Center here has to contend with.

To fight it, the center uses two separate pipelines to keep water moving freely from nearby Yaquina Bay through the center. Each line is used for a maximum of three weeks, then shut down while the other line is used. By running fresh water through the unused line the barnacle growth is inhibited.

Shoreline Park Joint Planning Effort Voted

Joint planning of a 50-acre park along Corte Madera's shoreline should be undertaken by town and county planners, the Corte Madera Town Council agreed last night.

Council approval of the study followed receipt of a letter from Pierre W. Joske, director of Marin County Parks and Recreation Department, who said the county agency is interested in beginning land acquisition on the shores of Corte Madera Bay.

Joske requested information be presented to the county parks and recreation commission on Corte Madera West Shore Plan which includes a proposal for a 50-acre parksite.

But the suggestion of a joint agreement for park construction with the county brought some dissent from both residents and a council member.

Councilman Byron D. White said he would like to see complete park plans before he agreed to enter into any agreement with the county.

"We have to tie down the location because as it's written now this means the Heerdt property," he said referring to the original plan which includes property the town council would like to see used for a ferry terminal.

Claiming the county and city were speaking of a regional park, Gary G. Grant of Corte Madera said "The question is whether you are going to create another Paradise Park with twice the cars as the number of parking spaces and people coming in from San Francisco and Petaluma."

"I'm in favor of a county-city park," Councilman Robert P. Simmons countered, "as long as we dictate what will go into it and how."

Simmons added that all the county had done was offer the city $100,000 a year for land acquisition and that the city should talk with the county before rejecting its participation in the park.

Council Harold B. Wagstaff said he agreed, adding that he would consider it unfortunate if the property were someday to be used as an industrial site or as another bedroom community.

"But the embyronic idea of a ferry terminal will entail a lot of long-range planning and this must be considered with the park plans," he continued.

Agreeing that the plan should be left flexible, the council approved the town manager's recommendations which included the concept of such a park, joint city-county action requesting the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to lift its Bay Plan park priority from lands to be considered by the county and city planners, and joint studies on financing, acquisition, development, maintenance and operation of the proposed park.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

PARKING — Set July 6 for a hearing on proposed planning commission parking space standards which would leave the length and width of off-street parking spaces to the discretion of the town engineer.

PARK USE — Delayed until June 15 discussion on proposed rules and regulations governing the use of town parks and facilities from the park and recreation commission.

LEGAL FEES — Approved 4 to 1, Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff against, paying the town's attorney, John E. Lynch, his fees incurred during the Corte Madera vs. Northern Pacific Railroad suit; total amount paid, $9,540.

BUILDING PERMITS — Denied 4 to 1, Councilman Byron D. White against, a petition from six Mariner Cove Unit No. 5 residents that building permits for multi-story dwelling be frozen until further study into zoning ordinances could be made.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to June 10 for a budget hearing.

Computer Arson Delays Grading

grades will be mailed to Fresno State College students about a month late this year because the school's computer was destroyed by firebombs.

Computer center manager Woodrow Shumate said Monday a machine exactly like the one destroyed May 19 will be installed June 16.

The new Control Data Corp. 3150 was expected to have grades out to FSC's 13,000 students by July 15.

Prior to the firebombing, the school planned to mail grades June 19.

Driver Is Treated For Cut Forehead

Harold Francis Hale Jr., 45, of 20 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow, was treated for a cut forehead at Marin General Hospital about 9:40 p.m. Saturday, the hospital reported yesterday.

Fairfax police said Hale drove his car into a parked car in front of 275 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Motorcycle Gang Fatally Beats Youth

GUERNEVILLE (AP) — A young man has died of a brutal beating and bullwhipping he suffered while on a Memorial Day weekend outing with his girl friend.

The victim, Buddy Joel Byrum, 23, of South San Francisco, never regained consciousness, the Sonoma County sheriff's office said, but two witnesses have volunteered information about the group of motorcyclists who attacked him last Saturday.

One witness, the young man's 20-year-old girl friend, said Byrum was beaten after he protested against one of the motorcyclists shooting a pistol toward a group of people at Rolands Beach in the Russian River resort area. Her identity was not disclosed.

Another witness saw the attack and notified the sheriff's office, but when deputies arrived Byrum was kept hidden under a blanket and the girl friend was threatened if she spoke.

It was not until nine hours later that deputies found Byrum — after another complaint had been received about careless shooting.

Sheriff's Sgt. Edward Wilkinson said Byrum "was literally kicked to death" by seven or eight cyclists from a crowd of 15 or 16 men and women bike riders.

Investigators said Byrum was punched, kicked in the head and beaten severely with a bullwhip.

Two members of the group were booked for investigation of possessing dangerous drugs and being under the influence of drugs.

They were identified as William Cabral, 19, Oakland, and Martha Stewart, 20, Alameda.

Church Leader In Unity Plea

DENVER (AP) — With a plea for unity from its president, the big Southern Baptist Convention today began its annual working sessions, facing issues that threatened to explode into conflict.

Under fire were the denomination's social-action agency, and recent publications offering modern critical analysis of some passages of the Bible.

There also was a call for accepting inter-racial marriage, an unusual note in the Southern-based denomination whose 11.5 million members spread throughout the nation make it the largest Protestant body in the United States.

Corte Madera Council Balks At Taking Indochina Stand

Corte Madera Town Council last night added its name to a growing list of Marin governments which have refused to act upon student requests for support of legislation aimed at curtailing American involvement in Indochina.

The council tabled the student requests after a lengthy discussion which saw it agree with some members of the audience who declared the council had been elected to decide local, not national issues.

Brian Gaddy, a College of Marin student and member of the Marin Peace Coalition, told the councilmen they "not only have the right, but the responsibility to speak on national issues" according to Supreme Court opinions.

Gaddy was appealing for support of California's Assembly Bill 1670 that would bar California servicemen from fighting in an undeclared war and U.S. Senate Bill 609 which would limit military expenditures in Southeast Asia to the amount needed to bring American troops home.

But the student's request was drowned in a storm of response from some residents who claimed they "would take a backseat to no one in opposition to the war," but at the same time could not agree with any council action which would presume to "speak for the whole town."

"I don't think any of you were elected on this issue," Gary G. Grant of 248 Golden Hind Passage told the council.

"I have no objection to you, personally, sending in a resolution in opposition, but I would object if you did for the town," he continued.

"This war is costing us $2.5 million an hour," Gaddy countered. "Many of the problems you are having within the city is because of lack of funds. Funds the federal government is using on this war."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst told other members of the council he had canvassed 62 homes throughout Corte Madera seeking a general consensus on the war issue.

"Everyone wants peace," the mayor said, "but everyone expresses a different means of achieving it."

Colthurst added that he couldn't presume to know how to solve the problem, but added we thought student activity in Washington, D.C. was showing results in the Senate.

Councilman Robert P. Simmons pointed out that AB-1674 was a duplicate of legislation signed into law by Massachusetts.

"I don't see any need for our legislature to supply a test case for the Supreme Court,' 'he continued, since there already was one.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville said he agreed with those in the audience who said they had not elected him to decide national policy.

"I feel very strongly that this type of effort is detrimental to the long range goals of our country," he said.

Councilmen Byron D. White and Harold B. Wagstaff said they agreed with statements of their fellow council members with White adding he could not vote on the issue without first hearing from the people.

The council agreed and tabled the request.

Senior Appraiser Status For Pair

Eugene J. Naber and James Dal Bon, members of the Marin County Assessor's staff, have been designated senior appraisers in the National Society of Governmental Appraisers.

The senior appraiser designation is granted by the society after an appraisal examination, submission of an appraisal report on a single family residence and at least one-year membership in the society.

Van, Pickup Trucks Hit By Burglars

A van and two pickup trucks owned by Tele-View Systems Inc. were burglarized during the weekend at the company's parking lot at 143 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported today.

A battery, radio, full gas can, and a set of pole-climbing spurs, valued at a total of $88 were taken, police said.

Backwoods Boom Peril To Ecology?

GRASS VALLEY (AP) — The building boom in the backwoods is threatening the environment sought by buyers of lots in bucolic subdivisions, says a state Fish and Game Department biologist.

Badly designed roads, inadequate sewage and careless grading are causing erosion that is ravaging deer grazing areas, says Eric Gerstung, assistant fishery biologist at this Mother Lode town 60 miles northeast of Sacramento.

"The very features that attract people to buy lots in a mountain subdivision, such as natural beauty, fresh air, clean water and uncrowded conditions, may be largely destroyed in the subdivision process if higher standards are not required," says Gerstung.

Big business is involved, he says, pointing out that Nevada County Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner reports a total of $50 million in subdivisions has been approved in this one small county alone.

But Gerstung says the problem is general and spreading throughout the mountainous part of California, all through the Sierra foothills, over on the east slope, and even in coastal Humboldt County.

He estimated that 37 per cent of the stream mileage in Nevada County, or 160 miles, already have been damaged by silting, damaging stream banks, or pollution.

Gerstung conducted his survey first by plane, then on the ground as he drove in to take water samples, and check his own observations with local game wardens.

He conducted his study for his own department, with a view to providing information helpful to planning commissions throughout the state.

Board Supports Budget Takeover

The Marin County Board of Education decided by a split vote last night to seek full control of its own budget.

Voting to take over the budget function from the county board of supervisors were school board members Arnold T. Dolcini, Jr., Marilyn Crowell, Patrick W. Pollock, and Glen E. Robinson. Opposed were Lee C. Richardson, Jr. and James A. Carroll. Board member James A. Swenson did not attend the meeting at Audubon Canyon Ranch.

The action culminates nearly two years of effort by the board to win what it calls "Fiscal responsibility." Their resolution is scheduled to be presented to the supervisors today for a first reading. Action by the supervisors is expected next week.

Basically, the measure, if approved by the supervisors, will require that the board of supervisors set a tax rate sufficient to cover any budget presented by the board of education. At present, county schools budgets financed by local taxes are subject to reduction by the supervisors.

"I'm glad that the board has accepted this responsibility," said County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis. "This, again, is a step in the right direction. You're becoming more operational instead of (being) a servicing unit."

This transfer of control from the supervisors to the board of education reportedly was first suggested to Hollis several weeks ago by the county administrator's office.

"We don't look on it as crumbs of responsibility," said Pollock, referring to a statement he made at a previous meeting. "I think it's a very serious responsibility. . . the board accepts the responsibility if the Board of Supervisors wants to give it to us."

The resolution, if adopted by the supervisors, also provides that county employees assigned to the office of the school superintendent shall be classified as county school employees July 1, 1970, and be paid by the county schools office.

Hollis said he expected a slight rise in the present tax rate, which he put at 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation, to meet these new salaries.

In other school board action, administrative services director Robert E. Spain reported that the teachers' salary committee had proposed a 7 per cent salary schedule increase for the coming school year. He suggested that the board discuss the matter in closed session and then instruct him in future negotiations with the teachers' salary committee.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FACILITIES FOR DEAF — Heard a proposal by Ed Brennan, director of special services, to consider leasing four classrooms from the Reed Union School District at $7,200 per year for hearing handicapped classes instead of building a separate school for the deaf at an estimated cost of $200,000.

TEMPORARY CERTIFICATES — Approved seven applications for temporary certificates.

LIFE DIPLOMAS — Approved 31 applications for life diplomas.

GIFTS — Accepted portable television set and miniature playhouse home.

INSTURCTIONAL MATERIALS — Approved films and other instructional materials.

LIBRARY PROJECT — Approved resolution to prepare listing of library materials for special education and private schools to receive federal funds.

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION — Approved a contract to provide vocational rehabilitation services to mentally retarded and physically handicapped students in Marin County until June 1973.

BASIC COURSE — Approved use of "Basic Course of Study," a booklet which sets up minimal curriculum requirements for the county's schools.

SPECIAL DIPLOMAS — Approved approximately 115 special education diplomas to be awarded this year.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. July 6, in the administration building at San Quentin.

Turbine Trouble In Jumbo Jets

SEATTLE (AP) — A Boeing spokesman says a flaw has developed in some of the new engines being supplied for the company's 747 jumbo jet airliners.

The Pratt & Whitney JT9D engines recently installed in a dozen or so of the 44 jumbo jets the firm has delivered to airlines are subject to turbine blade failure, the spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said "A loosening of lockbolts holding a side plate on the turbine section of the engine" caused the problem.

The loose bolts cause vibration "which can result in turbine blade failure," the spokesman explained.

Use Permit For Nursery Denied

Mary Moppet's child care nursery for 65 children should not be allowed at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue in northwest Novato, the deputy zoning administrator decided yesterday.

Ralph D. Cairns denied the use permit, holding it would be detrimental to the neighborhood because of resulting noise and traffic congestion. The Novato Planning Commission also recommended denial of the use permit.

The 20,000 square foot property is owned by Adolph Schwindt of 1758 Indian Valley Road.

New Theory: Pair Slain At Home

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco couple, whose bodies were found Saturday night in the Devil's Slide area of San Mateo County, were killed at the dead man's home, San Francisco police said yesterday.

The bodies of Edelmiro Huertas, 63, and Carmen Acenzio, 36, were found at the brink of the 600-foot cliff 25 miles south of San Francisco.

Police said the bodies were identified by Jaime Sandoval, 40, who said he shared the couple's San Francisco home.

Sandoval was convicted in 1957 in Marin of a morals offense with a 15-year-old boy, and served two months in jail. He was a Hamilton Air Force Base airman and a San Rafael hospital orderly at the time.

Sandoval had lived in Huertas's home since being released from San Quentin years ago. He said that Miss Acenzio had moved into the house recently, police reported.

A .22-caliber bullet was found in a bedroom door jamb of the house, police said yesterday.

"We are satisfied the man and woman were killed at Huertas's house, and that Huertas's car was used to carry the bodies to Devil's Slide," said Inspector William Armstrong.

He said bloodstains were found in the garage and on Huertas's car.

Discussion Set On 'Due Process'

A proposed revision of "due process" procedure for students charged with violating College of Marin rules will be considered when the Marin Junior College District board meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in Room 96 of Olney Hall.

The revisions followed drawn-out discipline hearings for students who disrupted a board meeting last fall.

The board also will consider a five-year plan for vocational education and proposed additional security and night lighting for the campus.

Special Meeting

The Tiburon City Council will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall to discuss informally with the public new goals and objectives of the council.

$115,000 Is Agreed For Kappas Tidelots

The Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District has agreed to pay $115,000 to George Kappas for two tidelots in Richardson Bay and leasehold interest in three other tidelots.

An agreement for purchase of 6.25 acres and leasehold interest in 10.3 acres was to come before the Marin County Board of Supervisors this afternoon for approval.

Funds for the acquisition will come from money accumulated by the Richardson Bay Flood Control Zone.

The underwater lots are located at the end of Kappas' pier at Waldo Point and stretch along the east side of Railroad Avenue.

Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest said the property is needed for dredging of Saucelito Canal.

More than 7,000 varieties of apples have been grown and named including hundreds in the United States alone.

Restaurant's New Design Approved

A Burger Chef restaurant may be built on the corner of Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue, the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee decided last night.

Chairman Dartmond Cherk said the restaurant was redesigned after the committee turned down an earlier plan on April 20. The committee at the time stated that the corner in question was particularly important since it is the entrance to Mill Valley.

The committee also approved with modifications a sign for a Hertz car rental agency at a shell service station at 480 Miller Avenue, Cherk said.

SUSPECTED ENEMY POSITIONS — Two U.S. troopers fire their M-60 machine guns into the thick undergrowth at suspected enemy positions just inside the Cambodian border, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Elite Units Of Saigon Are Trapped

SAIGON (UPI)—Charging behind mortar barrages, North Vietnamese infantrymen broke into a newly-established camp of South Vietnam's best infantry division in the jungle highlands today and inflicted the heaviest government losses in South Vietnam for six months.

Two American and one Australian adviser were also wounded in the attacks which military sources said killed 40 South Vietnamese troops, wounded 67 and left 17 missiog.

The North Vietnamese force, estimated at battalion strength, left 81 of their dead in and around the camp, military sources said.

An estimated 700 men of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, which is taking over the defenses of the north from departing U. S. Marines, were spending their first night in an artillery base three miles from the border of Laos and 24 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating North and South Vietnam.

The Communist troops broke through the camp perimeter in a first assault shortly before 5 a. m. The defenders beat them off with the help of air strikes and artillery salvos, but the Communists again attacked the base three hours after daylight.

South Vietnamese reinforcements were rushed to the region.

Reports this morning from Phnom Penh, capital of neighboring Cambodia, said Pathet Lao troops from Laos have joined the North Vietnamese in Cambodia in attempting to consolidate a supply line between Laos and base camps north of Phnom Penh. The guerrillas captured a town 65 miles north of the capital Monday.

A burglar who entered between 9 p.m. Sunday and 7:15 a.m. yesterday stole $35 in currency from a Richfield service station at 1118 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur police reported today. The money was taken from a locked cabinet.

Laycock, principal at Hamilton, was moved to Loma Verde School and Joseph T. Mouille, principal at Loma Verde, was transferred to Marion.

Board president Marett B. Boissevain and Deputy Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello gave no explanation for the changes, which leave Moeller's position as business manager, vacant.

The Novato Unified School District Board Also:

Fence Permit Wins Support

A Kentfield resident got a legal leg up yesterday on his request to build fences on his property line to the edge of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project to keep passersby from peering into his patio.

The Ross Valley Flood Control Advisory board visited the project to hear the complaint of Allan Larkins Sr., of 19 Stadium Way, that people walking and riding along the flood channel access path destroyed his privacy.

The board told the staff to prepare an encroachment permit which would let Larkins string fences to halt the traffic, reported county flood control engineer Charles E. Murphy. The permit will go to the county board of supervisors for action. The fence would have gates to let flood district employees pass.

26 Will Receive Their Diplomas

Twenty-six eighth grade girls will receive diplomas from San Domenico lower school tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Alumnae Hall at the Sleepy Hollow campus.

Rev. Martin McCormick of the Dominican Fathers of Kentfield will award diplomas and give a speech.

The seventh and eighth grade choir and the eighth grade handbell choir will perform "California" and Psalm 150.

Multiethnic Program Is Being Urged

A full-time multiethnic coordinator should be hired and a program for instruction of multiethnics established in all schools in the Novato Unified School District.

These were the main points of a report last night by the district board's multiethnic studies committee, given by chairman Raleigh Floyd.

The district should have a multiethnic resource person at each school and the district should build up a library of materials on the subject, Floyd reported.

The committee, which has studied the programs of other districts since it was formed last October, recommended materials compiled by the Hayward and Millbrae Schools.

The committee suggested a two-week workshop this summer to acquaint teachers and librarians with the material.

No mention was made of a salary for a full-time multiethnic studies coordinator, but the report suggested $1,500 for inservice training; $2,500 for books and materals, and $2,850 for the workshop.

The board accepted the report and promised to take action on the program when the district could afford it.

$315 In Boating Equipment Stolen

Boating euipment worth $315 was taken between May 5 and 26 from a 23-foot sailboat belonging to Grace C. Beals, 343 Jean Street, Mill Valley, according to Sausalito police.

Police said an outboard motor, stern light, life jackets, binoculars and AM/FM radio were stolen from the craft while it was parked in the Marinship Yacht Harbor.

Luncheon Program Is Hit By Panel

After eight months of study, the North Marin Food Service Study Committee had some harsh things to say about the school lunch program in the Novato Unified School District, even suggesting its discontinuance.

A report, presented last night by Mrs. Richard Price, chairman of the committee, said that the district should serve only hot luncheons and that the menus be improved.

If the district can afford such a hot-lunch program, food should be eliminated entirely in elementary schools, but in junior and senior high schools, vending machines might be permitted to provide snacks.

LAST OCTOBER

The Committee was named last October by the North Marin Parent-Teacher Association council.

It visited all schools in the district, plus other unified school districts with lunch programs.

The citizens committee criticized the menu, citing too much carbohydrate and a lack of green vegetables and fresh fruit. It urged use of subsidy food available through the federal government.

The committee urged not only "improvement in quality but . . .increased quantity."

DISTRICT POLICY

In event the district should discontinue the elementary lunch program, the vending machine contract for junior and senior high schools should be put out to bid and managed by the district.

The committee recommended that movable equipment in the kitchens be taken to the district warehouse for storage in case the district returned to a school lunch program. Current food supplies should be inventoried and sold.

The committee recommended that some provision be made for needy children in the district who required lunches, but did not make any specific recommendation on how this could be done.

The district has a $12,000 deficit in the school lunch program.

The board accepted the report, but took no action.

Bids Rejected For Modular Classrooms

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday rejected all bids for modular classroom buildings at the Penngrove School, and called for new bids.

Meeting in special session, the board heard that two of the three bids were acceptable, but that payment plans did not conform with the district budget.

Low bids had been received from Compass Structures, $198,718 and Speedspace Corp. at $222,150. The district had allotted $45,000 per year as payment for the buildings to replace the older section on the Penngrove School which was abandoned as unsafe.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said bids would be received again on June 16 and that the five classrooms and administration center should still be completed by Sept. 1.

He said a special baord meeting may be called on June 17 to award the contract.

Scrap Copper, Brass Taken From Shop

Scrap copper and brass weighing more than 300 pounds — including $350 in copper fittings — and $80 in tools were taken Friday from Lido Plumbing in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

San Rafael police said the burglars kicked in a back door and apparently removed the plunder in a truck.

A $100 movie camera belonging to James A. Egide, 4 Mount Tenaya Court, was reported stolen Friday from a car at the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant.

The Colonial Motel manager complained to police that a portable television valued at $150 left with the occupants of a room Thursday.

Other thefts reported yesterday included a guitar and case valued at $120, a flute and a stereo tape deck removed from the music room at San Rafael High School between Friday and Sunday; liquor, jewelry and a piggy bank taken from the 39 Wallace Way home of John Adams Thursday or Friday; and a $150 guitar belonging to Hope A. Willis of San Francisco taken from Forest Meadows on Saturday.

Barney R. P. Saunders, a student at San Rafael Military Academy told police his combination record-tape player worth $275 was taken from his room on Saturday.

Time Given On School Burglary

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday sent Paul Brent Caldwell, 22, of Novato, to jail for nine months for burglarizing the Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley on Nov. 27.

He also placed Caldwell on probation for nine months and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs after hearing from a probation officer that Caldwell had gone on a spree of shooting methedrine recently.

Caldwell and another Novato man, Dennis Leslie Yates, 23, had earlier admitted burgling the school. Police said they found both men in school when they answered an alarm. Yates was sentenced to a year in jail earlier.

Arts Division Deadline Near

Entries for the arts and crafts division of the Sonoma-Marin Fair close Thursday at 5 p.m.

Entry forms and information can be received at the fairgrounds office in Petaluma. The division, one of the few that is open to adults, includes painting, sculpture and photography.

Only persons from Marin and Sonoma counties may exhibit at the fair, June 25-28.

Two Cases Of Vandalism Probed

Two cases of vandalism during the weekend were reported yesterday by San Rafael police.

Stephen C. Chen of 10 Pine Hill Court told police someone shot a B-B pellet through a window at his home.

A plate glass window was stoned and a lemon tree picked clean at the home of Gordon C. Jones, 23 Dellwood Court, police said. Damage was estimated at $75.

Corte Madera Police Start 'Ride' Program

All persons 14 or older can ride along with Corte Madera police in a new "ride along" program started by the department to acquaint people with field operations of police.

Tours for young people will be from 7 to 11 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays and noon to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Adults can ride with officers in patrol cars from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays.

Chief David L. McIntosh said that citizens who see field activities will have a better understanding of law enforcement duties and responsibilities. Sgt. Rodney J. Sheran will direct the program.

The observers will not be taken on dangerous assignments. If a dangerous assignment is received, police will drop off the observer before proceeding, and call police headquarters to arrange transportation back to the station.

Young people and adults must sign forms relieving the department of responsibility before riding on patrol. They also will tour the police station for a briefing on department procedures.

New Association Selects Officers

The newly-formed Black Canyon Neighborhood Association, which encompasses Mountain View venue and its off streets and Grand Avenue to Linden Lane in San Rafael, has elected officers.

The officers are: Richard F. Sadler of 28 Dominican Drive, president; Jay C. Crotty of 13 Dominican Drive and Walter Smith of 327 Mountain View Avenue, vice presidents; and Bettie B. Cooper of 27 Brandcliff Court, secretary-treasurer.

Curious Man Arrested Over Concealed Weapon

A 27-year-old San Rafael man arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing a concealed weapon and possessing a loaded firearm in a car in a public place was freed on $625 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

The San Rafael police said yesterday that John Elving of 1510 Lincoln Avenue was arrested at 12:20 a.m. after an officer responding to a complaint of a shotgun blast at Elving's home noted a gun protruding from Elving's pocket.

Elving was sitting in a car and drew attention to himself by asking the policeman what was happening, police said.

Elving told the officer he carried the gun because of a running feud between the Gypsy Jokers and Hell's Angels motorcycle gangs during which his life allegedly had been threatened.

A companion, Donald Lawson, 22, of San Francisco, was arrested on a San Francisco traffic warrant and made $41 bail at Marin County Jail.

Police did not link the two to the shotgun blast.

Auto Stolen

A 1960 Triumph TR3 roadster, California license No. LOP726, was reported stolen last Wednesday or Thursday from the home of owner Nan S. Ingalls, 109 West Street, Sausalito, police reported yesterday.

Bus Strike Tieing Up East Bay

OAKLAND (AP) — A walkout by more than 1,000 bus drivers is forcing more than 200,000 East Bay bus patrons to find alternative transportation.

The walkout followed the expiration at 12:00 a.m. Monday morning of the contract between the AC Transit Co., and the Amalgamated Transit Union, division 192. It caused clogged streets in downtown Oakland, low attendance in some schools and monumental traffic problems on the Oakland-San Francisco Bay Bridge to more than 20,000 morning transbay commuters.

San Francisco's Traffic Director I. Thomas Zaragoza estimated between 5,000 and 8,000 additional cars moved into the city from across the bay because of the strike.

The resulting traffic flow was slow but relatively smooth, Zaragoza said.

Later in the day, however, the highway patrol said evening traffic was "a little heavier than usual but moving very well."

AC buses average 200,000 passengers each day, half of the East Bay commuter load in the 11 cities they serve.

Oakland school officials reported higher than usual absenteeism at Skyline High School, half of whose students ride AC Transit buses on contract with the school district.

About 27,000 school children use the bus system daily.

At issue in the strike is a wage increase demand by the union's 1,400 drivers, mechanics and clerks.

An AC spokesman said that no formal negotiations had been scheduled as of Monday evening.

The union is demanding the drivers, now paid $4.14 an hour plus $3.87 in benefits, get 51 cents an hour more immediately plus new benefits. It sought similar raises for the 300 mechanics and clerks.

AC's last offer called for wage increases and other benefits totaling 76 cents an hour in a two-year package. It included a 26-cent wage increase immediately and 26 cents more next year, plus up to 10 cents in cost-of-living adjustments, 8 cents for health and welfare and 6 cents in other fringe benefits.

Resets Session

The Marin County Aviation Commission has postponed tonight's regular meeting to 8 p.m. June 9 at the Civic Center, because of today's primary election.

Nixon Writes To Hero's Brother

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has assured 10-year-old Gordon Danesie of Essex, Md., that his half-brother went to heaven after being killed in Vietnam.

The brother, S. Sgt. Richard J. Hill, was killed Dec. 9, 1969, at the age of 24. He had won 13 medals for heroism.

"You asked me if Rick is in heaven. I'm sure he is," the President wrote in reply to a letter from Danesie, forwarded to him by Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md.

"He is also in another important place—in your heart and spirit. Don't ever forget what he died for."

"Perhaps more important, Rick, in spirit, is with you and with all of us who love freedom as long as we are willing to take the risks and perhaps even make the sacrifices he made. His is the kind of heroism that never dies."

No Plans For Reviewing Of Hunt Leases

The Marin Municipal Water District, presently reviewing its lease of 162 acres of district land to the Meadow Club, has no plans for reviewing hunting leases on nearly 6,000 acres to two other private groups, William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said yesterday.

One of the candidates seeking a seat on the water district board urged last week that the leases with the Redwood Gun Club and a group called Big Trees Camp be cancelled.

The gun club leases 850 acres below Alpine Lake for $250 a year, and Big Trees leases two parcels totaling 5,000 acres in Lagunitas Canyon for $625 a year.

RENEGOTIATING

The district is renegotiating the Meadow Club lease by which the club pays $480 a year for the land it uses for its golf course. The 44-year-old lease came up for review in January.

The Big Trees lease runs until 1973 and the gun club's until February 1971 and these are strictly legal lease," Seeger said.

Both leases predate district ownership of the land, Paul Neese, district surveyor and property supervisor, said yesterday.

He also said that part of the rationale for the leases is the fire danger in the district's watershead area. Both leases require the clubs to provide fire patrol. The Redwood club keeps a man on its property during the hunting season, and Big Tree keeps a man the year round.

A FIRE TRUCK

Big Tree also keeps a truck on the property equipped with fire-fighting equipment, Seeger said.

Neese said Big Trees leased both pieces of property, and more, for $125 a year before the district took over the land in 1946.

The gun club subleased its land from Big Trees.

Bids on the properties were called for in 1948, Neese said, and the gun club got its land for $250 a year, and Big Trees Camp its land for the present $625.

In 1954, bids were again called for on the Redwood land, and the club's lease rose to $350.

Both leases also limit the membership of the groups as well as the number of people allowed on the land at any one time. Big Trees membership is limited to 12. The members and no more than two guests can be on the land at any one time. Redwood's membership is limited to eight, but only four and two guests can be on the land at any one time.

FOR DEER HUNTING

Seeger said the groups, both of which have several small buildings on the leased land, use the property for deer hunting.

In addition to the three property leases, the district also leases the old Tamalpais Railroad depot to a hikers group, called the West Point Club, for $500 a year.

The club, which took over the building in 1943 when the district was going to demolish it as a fire hazard, provides a caretaker at the building. Originally, the hikers' club paid no rent, but the $500 figure was added in 1957, Neese said.

Publisher A. L. Glasmann Dies

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Abraham Lincoln (Abe) Glasmann, a giant in Utah's communications industry and a prominent civic leader, died here Monday night. He was 77.

Glasmann, whose newspaper career reached into virtually every phase of the business, served as publisher of the Ogden Standard Examiner and its forerunner, the Ogden Standard, for nearly half a century.

His business interests ranged over a wide front and included radio, television, real estate and theater as well as the newspaper business.

Man Reports Theft Of '70 Motorcycle

A red and gold 1970 Triumph 650 Bonneville motorcycle has been stolen from Norman W. Holck of 2130 Redwood Highway, Larkspur police reported yesterday.

Holck told police he left the machine parked at Alexander Halcomb Avenues at 12:30 a.m. yesterday to visit a friend, and found it gone when he returned at 12:55. The machine had temporary license 0061379.

Council Seeks Policy On Annexation Moves

The San Rafael City Council last night called for a long-range policy on annexation of partly developed lands.

Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr. said more areas are likely to "want to come into the city," and there should be a policy established.

"There's more and more talk about Santa Venetia and it's development," he commented.

The annexation talk was spurred by proposed annexation of 1.43 acres owned by Allan Judson along Los Ranchitos Road, between the Catholic Social Services property and the Golden Hinde Senior Housing Project.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner reported the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission had authorized the annexation, but the city planning commission recommended against it until the property was brought up to city standards.

The proposed Judson annexation was referred to the public works department for study, and the long-range study to City Mgr. James H. McCown.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ANIMAL KEEPING — Adopted an ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in the city and setting procedures for keeping certain animals including horses in the city, and gave first approval to an ordinance which would permit the planning director to issue animal permits.

POLICE CHIEF — Approved a job description for police chief, which would be used if voters today approve having a chief appointed instead of elected. It requires 10 years of municipal law enforcement experience including at least three years in a supervisory capacity. Education at a recognized college or university with a major in police science could be substituted for up to four years of the required nonsupervisory experience.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL — Awarded Steiny and Co. of San Francisco, lowest of four bidders, a contract to construct a traffic signal system at Fourth and H Streets at a cost of $16,125, with Mayfair Markets to contribute $7,500 toward the project.

APARTMENT SIDING — Agreed that the siding at Picnic Valley Apartments, 237 Picnic Avenue, constructed in all wood in violation of plans, should be stucco on the lower portion and redwood on the upper portion. Councilman Fred E. Jensen absented himself during the discussion and vote because a partner in the development, Edmund T. Ghirardo, aided him during a past illness.

ACTUARIAL STUDY — Authorized a contract with the State Employees Retirement System for an actuarial study at a cost estimated at $300 to $350.

DEED TO LANE — Accepted from San Rafael City Schools title to Happy Lane, adjacent to Sun Valley School.

DEBRIS WALL — Approved plans for repair of a storm drain wall along Scenic Avenue near Fifth Avenue, under state emergency relief funds, 40 per cent, and called for bids to be opened July 6.

BCDC REGULATIONS — Authorized Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner to make recommendations to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission on its proposed procedures for regulating shoreline development. The regulations will be before the commission Thursday and cities will have an additional week to make comments, Hotchner explained.

CITY REPRESENTATIVE — At the request of Barry H. Bovee, 48 Lagoon Road, authorized the San Rafael International Billfish Team to represent the city in the 1970 Hawaiian International Billfish Tournament.

Councilman John A. Miskimen was absent.

Columbus Ship's Remains Found?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ocean explorer Fred Dickson Jr. says he believes he has found remains of Christopher Columbus' flagship Santa Maria on a reef off northern Haiti.

He said Monday a three-man team will begin excavation June 15 at a spot where he found some ship debris in 1967.

Dickson, of Palm Beach, Fla., found two iron rudder clamps, pottery shards, wood, a copper rod and washer, a silver nail and a brass nail.

Experts say all but the rod and washer could have been made in Columbus time. Sponsors of Dickson's project explain more than one wreck could be at the site.

Historians say the Santa Maria ran aground in the vicinity of Cape Haitian on Christmas Eve, 1492. Some say Columbus' men dismantled the ship for the wood.

Resignation Withdrawal Is Suggested

San Rafael City Council which received a verbal resignation from Councilman John A. Miskimen May 4 has asked him to reconsider and serve out his term ending April 1971.

Miskimen resigned effective yesterday, but Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the council hasn't received a written resignation and has asked Miskimen to reconsider.

Miskimen, away on a business trip, was absent last night, but the mayor reported Miskimen was considering the council's request.

Miskimen said in May he had reached the point where he couldn't devote the "time to the position."

Correct Time

The Larkspur City Council will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall, not tonight as erroneously reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal. The council will consider appointments to the planning and park and recreation commission, and discuss plans for the Independence Day fireworks display.

Mobile Home Rules To Be Prepared

San Rafael City Council last night authorized preparation of an ordinance to permit mobile home parks in residential areas under stringent requirements.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said, with strict limits, mobile homes parks, as now built,"can become good residential neighborhoods."

Councilmen felt that mobile home parks could meet the housing needs of city residents, and requirements could be tight.

"If of high quality, they could be quite appropriate to the housing needs we have today," said Councilman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini commented: "Housing is very difficult in our community and we must take care of the segment of the population that needs this kind of house. We should shoot for the top and make sufficient requirements to make them attractive."

At present, mobile homes and trailers are restricted to an area near B Street and Woodland Avenue.

Hotchner showed a series of color slides showing mobile home parks, good and bad, pointing out the desirable and undesirable features of each.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier asked about the tax return to a city from such parks, and Hotchner estimated it would be equal to the return from apartment units.

Mobile home parks have fewer children, private streets, private lighting and private recreation facilities, and generally create fewer demands for police services, Hotchner said.

Two Errors In Meeting Report

The Independent-Journal erred twice in its account of the last Larkspur Planning Commission meeting, secretary Barbara Bruton said yesterday.

A fence variance sought by Axel R. Meyer of 97 Madrone Avenue was continued to the June 9 meeting, not approved; and one reason given for denying a proposed outdoor sale by Disco Wonderworld was incorrect, she said.

The commission objected that the proposed sale followed the last one too closely, not that the proposed 5-day sale was too long.

Finding Freshest Foods On Grocery Shelf Takes Sleuth

By ESTELLE JACKSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ever wonder how fresh the food you buy really is? Ever suspect that the food you're eating may have been standing overly long on the grocery shelf?

The answer is probably marked right on your grocery packages.

Most perishable food products found in supermarkets are marked with a date — either the date of packaging or the date the item is to be withdrawn or "pulled" from the store counter or shelf.

The problem is that most of the dates are in code — and most of the codes are secret.

WHAT IS the significance of the numbers marked in purple or black on the undersides of boxes and cans?

In an effort to find the answer, I visited stores of several local supermarket chains. I found some help and encountered some resistance. But I did manage to crack quite a few codes.

A carton of potato salad, one of my first targets, was coded in a fairly common, but baffling, manner. The numbers on the underside of the container read 2081. The manager of the store told me to add the first and last numerals together to learn the month — the third month, March, The "08" represented the day of the month, he said.

Trouble was the date was March 11, an oversight the manager promptly corrected.

Meat codes I found difficult to decipher because they vary from chain to chain, from store to store within the same chain and even within the same store. For example, in one store, fresh meats were marked "23". The 2 stood for the man who wrapped the meat and the 3 represented the day of the week — Wednesday — the meat was wrapped.

FINDING THE codes on a milk carton can be a strain on the eyes, as they are usually embossed colorlessly on the lip of the wax container. Most milk is coded by pull date — "31" would indicate the carton will be withdrawn on the 31st. One brand codes by the bottling date. A letter represents the week and a number indicates the day. "B4" means the fourth day of the second full week of the month, for example.

Codes can contain more than dates. Some code also contain symbols representing cities, packing plants, vat number and even shift numbers. Processors say this must be done to identify specific batches for checking the validity of consumer complaints, as in cases where food products must be recalled.

Letter codes can really be perplexing. One technique is to employ a six-letter word, like NEWARK, in which no letters are repeated. Using NEWARK, an N could represent Monday, E Tuesday and so forth. Some manufacturers prefer a 10-letter code, using a word combination like NOURISH EAT. When they they reach the end of the 10-day cycle with a T, they can simply start all over again with an N. Easily understood codes, in which the packaging or expiration dates are written in plain English, fall into the category of "opening coding."

AND OPEN coding is what various consumer organizations want. It would be mandatory if a bill now before Congress is passed.

Rep. Leonard Farbstein (D-N.Y.) is the author of the bill, an amendment to the Fair Labeling and Packaging Act. The bill, which has 47 sponsors in Congress, includes provisions for open dating by uniformly using the product's "pull" or expiration date.

Preliminary results of surveys made for Farbstein's office by women investigators in the Washington area were disclosed by Ellis Levin, the congressman's legislative assistant.

"Everything sold is not stale, but a significant amount of food is older than the codes say it should be," said Levin. "We're finding this especially in milk, bread and meat. The greatest abuse is in low income areas. However, middle income area housewives are concerned, too, about paying a lot of money for stale food"

FOOD INDUSTRY spokesmen maintain that open coding would add to the cost of food and contend it is not necessary because the purpose of coding is to help stores rotate products. They say the codes are not the customers' business.

S. Frank Straus, executive vice president of the Virginia Food Dealers Association, says that coding would "create more problems than it solves.

"Housewives would buy things with the newest and freshest dates," he said. "The last merchandise in would be the first out. This would create a vast problem in that much merchandise would have to be destroyed and credited. Imagine what that would do to the price of food."

Proponents of open coding counter industry arguments by saying that open dating would not be an extra cost, since the industry is already coding food. They argue that open dating has existed for years in some European countries.

German Women Break Tradition Of 'Male Only' Judo Competitions

HAMBURG, GERMANY (GF) — West Germany's first female judo match took place recently in Hamburg, thus defying the "manly" traditions of the country's Judo League.

The German Judo League's rules permit women to practice the art of judo only in a standing position, for esthetic reasons, and excludes them from all competitions.

Mrs. Wiebke Miebach, who watches over the league's 1,500 female members, didn't think much of this and has decided to change things, and organized the all-girl contest in Hamburg.

The North German Womens' Championship Matches are not yet officially approved by the league's male members. But Mrs. Miebach doesn't really care. She believes her all-girl judo bouts will eventually convince those non-plussed male on-lookers in the background that women have the stuff it takes.

Why shouldn't she be right? She herself holds the Dan level of proficiency, conferred only twice to date in West Germany.

Her femare followers think she is and they are doing their best to prove it.

Cholesterol Classes Set For June

Diet management classes for individuals with elevated cholesterol levels have been announced for June by the Marin County Heart Association.

The diet management class will consist of two 1½ hour sessions to be held at the Heart Association office to help plan and prepare fat-controlled low cholesterol meals and afford specific diet consultation.

Classes will be limited to approximately 10 persons and will meet at various times during the week.

Free of charge, the following class schedule has been announced: Class I on Tuesdays, June 2 and 9 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.; Class II on Wednesdays, June 3 and 10 from 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Class III on Thursdays, June 4 and 11 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and Class IV on Saturdays, June 5 and June 13 from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Do You Tell Small Boy That His Father Doesn't Want Him?

DEAR HELEN:

Our mother and father are legally separated, and Dad doesn't come to visit. He blames our mother, but it is not all her fault. He has a girl friend and her children are near our ages, so maybe he doesn't need his own.

Well, we two girls are of teen-age, and can get along, but our little brother really needs a father. He doesn't have an uncle or grandfather, or any male to cheer him on at games or Scouts, and he has about given up.

Our boy friends try to help, but that isn't the same.

Helen, how do you explain to a little boy that his dad doesn't want him? It's been almost two years now since he's seen him. And how can we help our brother? — E. M.

DEAR E.:

Call Big Brothers of America. They're listed in your telephone book. When your little brother finds a substitute for his father, the hurt of losing him will gradually diminish.

Meanwhile, try not to show your bitterness. Try not to even feel bitter. It brings lasting scars.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16, have a slender build, not voluptuous, but not Twiggish, either. I wear stylish clothes, but never micro-mini.

Walking home from school, I encounter the most unbelievably immature men. Not boys, but middle-aged guys who leer, stare, whistle, snicker, and generally make fools of themselves as I pass by.

I appreciate attention from boys near my own age. They treat me as a person and a friend. But 40-year-olds attempting to demonstrate their masculine prowess — well, I pity them, and their wives.

Please pass the word on to these elderly lechers. We high school girls think they're juvenile. — NOT AMUSED

DEAR NOT:

Elderly lechers of the world: Grow up. Okay? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Talk about irony. Because he wanted to be identified with the peace movement, my boyfriend grew long hair and a big beard, like the other college men working for peace. It was a snaggy bunch on campus last week. Then, they showed up looking like junior executives — shaved, shorn, and in shoes, not sandals.

They'd been circulating petitions in favor of the amendment to end the war in Vietnam, and they discovered that you can talk to the Establishment better if you look like one of them. So they made the supreme sacrifice. The hair it took them a year to grow went on the cutting room floor.

Now I'm supposed to feel as badly about this loss as he does, but frankly I like him better trimmed. How do we girls work it so they don't grow back their hair and beards? —LOVE AND PEACE

DEAR L AND P:

Could be the new push for peace (through political efforts) will end more than one hairy problem. Your men may rediscover they're more comfortable sheared and shaved. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Good Cherries Are Glossy

With fresh cherries appearing in our markets now here are some important buying and storing tips to remember from the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Good cherries have glossy, plump-looking surfaces and fresh-looking stems.

Look for a very dark color your most important indication of good flavor and maturity in sweet cherries. Bing, Black Tartarian, Chapman, Early Burlat, Parkhill and Republican varieties should range from deep maroon or mahogany red to black for the richest flavor. Lambert cherries should be dark red and Royal Anns should be amber to yellow with a red blush.

Avoid overmature cherries indicated by shrivelling, dried stems and a generally dull appearance. Decay is fairly common at times with sweet cherries, but because of the normal dark color, decayed areas are often inconspicuous. Soft leaking flesh, brown discoloration, and mold growth are indications of decay.

Density Plays Key Role In Housing Developments

Developers of housing projects batted .500 last night as the Mill Valley City Council approved one development and sent another back to the drawing board.

Approved was a plan for 120 garden cottages to be built in the Upper Alto Bowl by Cal-Fong Realty Co.

Postponed for 90 days, to allow William E. Cullen time to resubmit his plans, was a proposal for 128 units of housing on the city's Warner Ridge.

The main topic of discussion during the public hearing which totaled three hours was the same in both cases — density.

Norman T. Gilroy, architect for the Alto Bowl project, argued that even though he was asking an increase in density from three to 4.3 dwelling units per acre, this would not necessarily mean that more people would live in the project.

"It's only through a technicality that we have to apply for a density increase," he said. "Density is the number of dwelling units on the land, but this is like saying that a motel, which houses people, is the same as a beach cottage, which also houses people."

Gilroy said less people would live in his 120 cottages than would live in the 83 houses which could be built on the property under an already approved subdivision map.

But Mrs. Rodman, of 189 Oakdale Avenue, said that the increased density meant more flooding problems in areas downstream from the proposed project.

Her fear of flooding was echoed by Ronald G. Christison, of 82 Meadow Road. "This area already is overdeveloped. I'm afraid the council will approve this new development without giving residents adequate flood control," he said.

But Gilroy said that Cal-Fong had agreed not to build on the site until planned blood control improvements have been started in the area.

Seeking assurance that his house won't be flooded by runoff from the development, Jon K. Nicholas, of 37 Meadow Drive, asked the council to require Cal-Fong to post a performance bond to protect homeowners.

This proposal was called "unrealistic" by City Engineer Stanley M. Bala. "We might have rain for 40 days and 40 nights, he said. "That wouldn't be the developer's fault, but it would cause flooding."

Also discussed was the problem that would arise from traffic generated by the project.

"It would be extremely shortsighted of the council to send 450 additional cars a day through the intersection of Tower Drive and East Blithedale Avenue," said Sarah Ruffner, of 25 Lomita Drive. "They would run the risk of getting clobbered each time."

Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker agreed. "If we send them down Tower we send them down suicide alley," he said.

An alternate route, Gilroy suggested, would be to channel the traffic down Ashford Avenue to East Blithedale.

Returning to the question of density, Councilman Robert H. Andresen said he would like to see "changes toward a lighter density. But I think cluster development is inevitable."

Councilman Jerope C. Hauke then moved to instruct City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare a resolution approving the density increase. Mayor George E. Wickham seconded.

It carried, 4 to 1, with Andresen dissenting. "I think we're going in a dangerous direction on the density. This type of development is incompatible with Mill Valley."

The density question also figured prominently in the council's decision to continue for 90 days Cullen's request for an increase from a density of 1.5 to four.

Cullen said his goals in proposing the 128 units of clustered housing on the southeastern tip of Warner Ridge were to "preserve the character of Mill Valley and provide middle income housing."

He said that property surrounding his 32-acre site was zoned for greater densities than that which he proposed.

But Kent Selms, a property owner in Mill Valley, said that "adjacent areas with higher densities have no bearing. If it was a mistake to approve these densities, then why repeat them?"

Apparently agreeing, Boessenecker moved to deny the density increase. Sensing, as he called it, "the impending doom of my project," Cullen asked that the council continue the hearing to allow him time to resubmit his plans.

Hauke moved to continue, Andresen seconded and it passed unanimously.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

BOTHIN — Continued to July 6 consideration of a development at Camino Alto and Miller Avenue proposed by Bothin Real Estate Co.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to June 15 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Bail Sought For Huey P. Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bail has been asked for imprisoned Black Panther co-founder Huey P. Newton, whose manslaughter conviction has been overturned.

Newton, 28, has been in custody since Oakland policeman John Frey was shot to death with his own service revolver after he stopped a car Newton was driving on Oct. 28, 1967.

The California Court of Appeal overturned Newton's voluntary manslaughter conviction on Friday, holding that the jury was not instructed properly on Newton's claim that he was unconscious from a bullet wound in the abdomen at the time Frey was shot and a fellow officer was wounded.

Charles Garry, chief defense council for the Black Panther party, filed the application for bail Monday.

Tool Box Stolen

Petaluma police reported yesterday that a tool box containing $294 in tools was taken Sunday from a truck parked at the home of Corwin W. Swadley, 1440 Lauren Drive.

Cherry Valley Residents Seek Street Improvements

Complaining they have streets like "cowpaths," residents of the Cherry Valley section of Petaluma last night asked the city council to establish an assessment district for road improvements.

Byron Fauss, president of the Cherry Valley School Parent-Teachers Association, told the council that children walking to school have no sidewalks in most areas and that a dangerous situation exists.

"The street condition there is absolutely terrible," Fauss said, pointing to a map of the Cherry Valley area. He said his committee in the school association had attempted to contact every property owner in the district and had received 190 responses.

He said that only six of those were against an assessment district, but said not all had reached an opinion.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said that $14,000 for an engineering study of the area has tentatively been included in the 1970-71 preliminary budget.

The council questioned whether the study should be undertaken since 60 per cent of the property owners must agree before an assessment district can be formed.

The council asked City Eng. David A. Young to report on the necessary study and to make a recommendation at the June 15 meeting.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

PLAN — Approved modifications to the general plan that include realignment of Stony Point Road and extension of Industrial Avenue.

RIVER — Heard that a council committee will meet June 11 at 7:30 p.m. with residents of the Linda Del Mar subdivision, whose homes are being threatened by the Petaluma River.

PLANNING — Approved a resolution enlarging the planning commission from five to eight members so that a three man board of zoning adjustments can be formed. The board will meet the first and third Tuesdays of every month at 3 p.m. in the city hall.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 51 acres off South McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to single family residential.

MAP — Approved the final map for the Meadowlark Meadow subdivision off South McDowell Boulevard at Crinella Drive. It includes 90 lots on 17 acres.

ANNEX — Listed no objections to annexation of 28 acres on North McDowell Boulevard that will be considered by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday at 3 p.m.

CONTRIBUTION — Agreed to send $50 to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea for legal expenses in challenging Assembly Bill 325 on the disclosure of assets by public officials.

APPOINTMENT — Reappointed Robert Koenitzer to the planning commission.

Prime Minister Is Egg Target

LONDON (AP) — A heckler got Prime Minister Harold Wilson right between the eyes with an egg at a political rally.

The egg was thrown during a Monday night meeting in suburban Harrow, where Wilson was appealing for votes for his Labor party in the June 18 national election.

Wilson calmly brushed the egg drippings away and walked off to a nearby party headquarters.

Hill School Sets Graduation

Graduation for 272 students from Hill Junior High School in Novato will be held at 6:30 p.m., June 10 at the school's football field, according to principal Frank Raney.

Fall president Dennis Kornegay and spring president Candice Matson will be the student speakers.

Supt. James G. Bunker will give the address and trustee Carolyn Crabtree will represent the board.

Petalumans Face Boost In Tax Rate

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last night presented a preliminary budget of $3,119,473 for the 1970-71 fiscal year and a recommendation that the tax rate be increased from $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.87.

Meyer said the general fund of $1,842,465 would be balanced with $130,000 of unappropriated reserves since the city's estimated revenue for the year is $1,172,465.

The city manager said the basic general fund tax rate of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation would remain the same, but that the debt service of 15 cents assessed this year must be raised to 37 cents.

The debt service increase is necessary because of bond issues approved by the voters for fire and police station enlargements, and street improvements, he said. At the time of the bond election, the tax rate hike had been estimated at 19 cents.

The budget allows for eight additional firefighters to man the new fire station approved in the bond issue as well as five additional uniformed police officers, two additional police vehicles and three clerical personnel.

Meyer's budget made no recommendations on salary increases, but included $87,454 without specific recommendations. He said that requests made for wage adjustments and fringe benefits far exceed that amount.

He said that salary recommendations will be made during budget hearings. The first in the series of hearings was scheduled for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

By department, the preliminary budget recommendations (with this year's budget in parentheses) are: City clerk, $16,193 (16,373); finance, $58,905 (57,462); City Atty., $20,748 ($20,878); City Mgr. $33,893 ($33,415); planning, $39,860 ($38,271); City council, $5,048 ($5,049); retirement, insurance, $234,566 ($230,307); police, $324,111 ($313,867); fire, $286,836 ($285,025).

Ambulance, $19,207 ($17,793); animal control, $14,369 ($14,129); inspection, $37,611 ($36,293); engineering, $92,613 ($91,435); weed abatement, $12,701 ($12,574); street department, $175,835 ($174,499); building maintenance, $32,018 (32,092); corporation shop, $14,257 ($14,407); parks and recreation, $107,727 ($105,552); Library, $79,266 ($75,900); swim pool building maintenance, $22,296 ($23,056); recreational and instructional swimming, $15,905 ($15,905); building abatement, $10,000 ($10,000).

PEACE, VOTE RITES

The World War I Doughboy witnesses the end of a march from College of Marin to San Rafael's Courthouse Square sponsored by the Marin Peace Coalition. The march yesterday, along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to San Anselmo and Fourth Street in San Rafael marked both Memorial Day Saturday and election day today, a coalition spokesman said. A flag draped wooden coffin in front of the statue represented the group's desire to bury war as well as to memorialize those who've given their lives in all wars, the spokesman said. Several signs urged voters to "think before you vote" — an effort, the spokesman said, to stress that voters may be the difference between peace and war. (Indpendent-Journal photo.)

Tiburon Bank, Motel Plans Given Nod

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night approved plans for an addition to Tiburon Lodge, 1651 Tiburon Boulevard, and a Bank of America branch to be located next to it, according to Commissioner Alvin R. Kuhn.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Rejected an appeal from Ted W. Steiger from an earlier planning commission rejection of a minor subdivision at 10 Saint Bernard Lane.

The 13th session of SALT was held at the Soviet Embassy. The talks, which began here April 16, were believed to be in their last month now. A recess is expected in late June or early July before they are resumed in Helsinki in the autumn.

Two Booked As Suspects In Beating Of Man

Two men were booked at Marin County Jail in connection with the beating of a San Anselmo man near Third and B streets in San Rafael today.

Freed on $1,000 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today were John William Rundle, 22, also known as William John Banderrae III, of no known address, and Herman Joseph Sanchez, 24, of 16 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, also known as Joseph Rivera. They were booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

The two were arrested near Fourth and B streets in San Rafael about 1 a.m. today in connection with the beating of Leonel Rostrian, 25, of 6 Bank Street, San Anselmo.

Rostrian was treated at Marin General Hospital for a fractured nose.

San Rafael police had no motive for the beating but said that Rostrian apparently knew his assailants.

Boulevard's Completion Given Nod

The Rohnert Park City Council last night approved plans for the completion of Southwest Boulevard and said bids would be opened July 2.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the project was estimated to cost $293,000 and that if bids are acceptable, a contract could be awarded at the July 6 council meeting.

The project includes a new grade crossing at the railroad tracks, a two-lane street from Burton avenue to the tracks and four lanes from the tracks eastward on Southwest Boulevard.

Callinan said the city's share of the cost was estimated at $78,000. The road project to link the two major residential sections of the city had been delayed because the state Public Utilities Commission would not approve the crossing at the tracks.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

DEER MEADOW — Approved the general development plan for Deer Meadow Village, a development of townhouse apartments and single family homes north of Santa Alicia Drive.

ANNEXATION — Reacted favorably to the inquiry of land investor's research to annex 250 acres immediately north of Sonoma State College for future construction of student housing.

UNDERGROUNDING — Agreed to establish a utility undergrounding district to remove overhead lines on Southwest Boulevard at Adrian Drive. Cost was estimated between $35,000 and $37,000.

WATER — Agreed to remove churches from the metered water rates and place them on a flat monthly charge of $4 or $5 depending on meter size.

HEARING — Scheduled a public hearing for July 20 on plans to annex 441 acres of land south of East Cotati Avenue as requested by developer Paul Golis.

PIGEONS — Heard that complaints had been raised about large numbers of pigeons being raised in the city and asked Callinan to prepare standards to be considered at a public hearing.

CREDIT — Heard Callinan report that it would not be feasible to allow credit cards to be used for memberships at the city swimming pools.

ASSEMBLY — Approved a motion opposing Assembly Bill 903 which would impose an excise tax on governmental agencies which operate electrical utilities.

BRIDGEWAY'S PARKING BAN TO BE AIRED

Sandbagging of a two-block portion of Bridgeway in downtown Sausalito, designed to eliminate parking in that area, will be discussed by the Sausalito City Council today at 8 p.m. in Central School, Caledonia and Litho streets. The meeting will be held in the school since city hall is being used for vote counting.

Angry merchants who say the city's parking ban on Bridgeway, between Princess and Anchor streets, is ruining their businesses, will protest the city's action.

The council also will hold a public hearing on proposed increases in business license and apartment fees and consider a resolution initiating annexation to the city of the old American Distillery Co. property, planned site of a 431-unit apartment complex.

Hours Change For X-Ray Services

Marin County Public Health Department's X-ray services will be closed mornings this month but will remain open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Wednesday when the hours will extend to 6:30 p.m., the department has reported.

The service, which is used to diagnose tuberculosis, will probably not be continued after June since it has not been included in the county administrator's proposed 1970-71 budget, the department reported.

Pyschiatrist Clears Himself

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) —A psychiatrist who went to jail rather than disclose confidential information about a former patient has purged himself of a contempt citation.

Dr. Joseph E. Lifschutz, 45, of Orinda, Calif., was jailed for three days last December for refusing to testify in a $175,000 damage suit filed by a former patient, Joseph Housek, a Burlingame, Calif. high school teacher.

State Pledges Widening Funds

The California Highway Commission has pledged to contribute half the funds for a $550,000 widening project on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard as part of a program of state assistance for the improvement of city and county highways in urban areas.

The state Department of Public Works announced that the state will provide $275,000 to widen Drake to four lanes in a half-mile stretch between Laruel Grove Avenue and Maple Avenue in Kentfield.

The plan calls for a four-lane road separated by an 18-foot divider, the department said.

In This Action, The Bid That 'Wasn't' Is Important

If you're looking for a noteworthy play in today's hand, you'll be disappointed. Declarer played it cautiously to protect himself against a bad break that didn't really exist, but the real point of the hand is in the bidding. And even in the bidding, the lesson comes from a bid that wasn't made.

AN ALMOST

Today's hand, played near the end of the finals in the annual contest for the Vanderbilt Cup about 10 weeks ago, almost decided a national championship. Fatigue may have had something to do with it.

South didn't have much trouble at four spades. West cashed the king of clubs and then shifted to the ten of diamonds. The finesse lost to the king of diamonds, and back came the jack to dummy's ace.

Declarer took the ace of spades, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a club in dummy and led a spade to the king. Then he led the ten of hearts, guarding against a singleton honor or the singleton nine in the East hand.

West could get only one heart trick, and South scored 620 points for his vulnerable game. (It would have been 820 at rubber bridge, but in tournament play all vulnerable games are worth just 500 points.)

SHOULD SACRIFICE

West should have sacrificed by bidding five clubs instead of allowing South to play the hand at four spades. North's repeated takeout double surely located the A-J of hearts, so that West could not seriously hope for more than one heart trick. East's jump to our clubs promised at least five clubs and denied any real defensive strength. West could expect only two defensive tricks in his own hand and at most one trick from his partner's hand.

DID SACRIFICE

When the hand was played at the other table of the match, West did sacrifice at five clubs. He lost one spade, one heart and one diamond, and was down one for a loss of only 100 points. The sacrifice saved 520 points.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club, your partner doubles (for takeout), and the next player bids one space.

You hold:
♠-K J 9 6 4
♥- 10 8 4 2
♦-7 2
♣- 8 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Double.

The spade bid is probably a psychic, and your penalty double should expose the situation to your partner. Do not allow a smart alec to steal your best trump suit.

Rec Director Due Discussion

A discussion of whether to hire a full-time recreation director will be before the Farifax Park and Recreation Commission when it meets Friday at 7 p.m. in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda will be a request from the Fairfax School District for funds to maintain the city's only baseball field.

The 1970-71 budget will also be discussed.

Novato Youths Face Burglary Hearings

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for June 29 for Carl Ove Smith, 20, and Patrick Milton Gingher, 22, both of Novato, who are accused of burglarizing a residential garage in Novato last Thursday.

Smith was told to return to court June 15 for a report on whether his case is acceptable to juvenile court.

Tentative Approval To Budget Of $4,000

The Alto Sanitary District board last night gave tentative approval to a $4,000 budget for 1970-71, calling for reduction in the tax rate from 15 cents to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Director Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the district anticipates $1,000 in revenue from connection and inspection fees and interest on its reserves, and about $900 from the 5-cent tax rate.

The rest of the $4,000 budget will be made up from the $16,000 reserve fund, he said.

"The district has been accumulating funds for almost three years in anticipation of large expenses," he said. "But now we find we don't need to spend the money. So we're cutting the tax rate."

A public hearing on the budget was set for the district's next regular meeting July 6 at 8 p.m. at the Alto Fire Station, 27 Shell Road.

Directors also discussed, but took no action, on replacing Heynen, who resigned recently. They asked persons interested in filling Heynen's unexpired term to apply for the position.

White House Says B52s May Hit Cambodia In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has raised the possibility B52 bombers might continue to be used in Cambodia after June 30 if such missions are felt necessary to protect American troops in South Vietnam.

But, officials have ruled out any tactical air support for the South Vietnamese in Cambodia after that deadline for the withdrawal of American troops.

This word came as President Nixon worked on a Cambodian progress report to be carried on three nationwide television networks and Mutual radio Wednesday at 6 p.m. PDT.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters in San Clemente, Calif., Monday all U.S. troops, as well as logistical and air support for the South Vietnamese would be withdrawn from Cambodia June 30 as President Nixon had said earlier.

But Ziegler emphasized that "U.S. air action would be in relation to the security of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam" and he did not rule out the use of the strategic bombers in this role.

It was not known whether President Nixon would get into the question of air support or protective bombing in the Wednesday speech.

White House aides have said the 15-minute address will relate to accomplishments in the month-old Cambodian campaign and will not produce any dramatic announcements or new decisions.

Nixon returned Monday night from a four-day Memorial Day holiday in California, working on his Cambodian speech aboard Air Force One on the cross-country trip.

He planned to put in more time on it today after morning welcoming ceremonies and a meeting with visiting Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera.

The speech also comes within a few hours of when the Senate takes its first important test vote on proposals to curb Nixon's powers to use U.S. troops in Indochina.

Senate Democrats and Republicans predict, however, Nixon's talk will not cut into the expected support for the Cooper-Church amendment to bar funds for Cambodian military operations after June 30.

As the President worked on his speech, a new move was started in the House, led by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, to limit military spending in Southeast Asia by attaching a curb on Nixon's proposals to increase the debt limit from the present $377 to $395 billion.

Several previous House efforts to restrict Nixon's moves in Indochina have failed.

The White House views on U.S. air activities in Cambodia came from Ziegler during a briefing with reporters in San Clemente that was at times confusing and drew sharp questioning, some of which the President's press secretary termed "belligerent."

He said, "We are reserving comment on what actions the United States will take on air support following June 30. We have said any action would be in relation to security of American forces in South Vietnam."

Ziegler said tactical air support for the South Vietnamese would end June 30. The B52s are considered strategic weapons and Ziegler did not deny he had left open the possibility they might be used in Cambodia after June 30.

He seemed to be echoing what top Pentagon officials have been saying recently: That after June 30 the South Vietnamese air force is expected to provide the close support needed for its troops in any future Cambodian activities. And that U.S. air power used in Cambodia after July 1 probably will center on bombing enemy supply routes and concentrations as has been done on the Ho Chi Minh Trail that runs through Laos.

Cosmonauts Doing Well, Russ Report

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two cosmonauts whirled around earth today in the Soviet Union's first manned space flight in eight months. Western space experts said the mission was probably an experiment to gain medical knowledge for the construction of permanent space platforms.

The two-man crew reported everything was going smoothly in the flight which was unofficially dedicated to visiting U. S. astronaut Neil Armstrong, first man on the moon. He watched the films of the blastoff of the Soyuz 9 craft Monday night.

WEEK IN ORBIT?

Western space experts said Soviet scientists have shown great interest recently in new applications of space medicine, and they predicted the crew of veteran cosmonaut Col. Andrian Nikolayev, 40, and Vitaly Sevastianov, a 35-year-old space rookie, will spend a week or more in orbit. In Osaka, Japan, Soviet space engineer Alexander Nazraov told fairgoers at Expo 70 he expected the flight to last about 10 days. And in Bochum, Germany, Heing Kaminski, director of the Bochum Space Research Institute, said data from Soyuz 9 indicates a second spacecraft may be launched.

A group of U. S. space medicine experts recently visited the Soviet Union where they held wide-ranging discussions on such problems as weightlessness and radiation in earth orbit. Some new applications on space medicine growing out of those talks may be used in the Soyuz 9 flight.

PLATFORM STUDIES

The conquest of space medical problems is necessary before either the United States or the Soviet Union can successfully orbit large, permanent space platforms. Both nations have plans for such orbital laboratories. The United States plans to launch its first such station, Skylab, in late 1972.

Soviet sources said Armstrong watched films of the Soyuz 9 blastoff in the apartment of a cosmonaut, Maj. Gen. Georgy Beregovoi, during a party that lasted until 3 a. m. in honor of Armstrong's trip to the moon.

Armstrong's first inkling there would be a space shot came when Beregovoi turned on the television set shortly before the launch was shown and told him, "This is especially in honor of our trip here."

Armstrong was said to have replied: "It is one of the best gifts you can give me."

Soyuz 9 was launched at 10:09 p. m. Monday in an unusual night shot from the Central Asia Soviet space center at Baikonur.

Alabama, California Races In Primary Ballot Spotlight

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alabama voters returned a nationally significant verdict Tuesday on George C. Wallace, California Democrats nominated a man to challenge Gov. Ronald Reagan, and the lineups were chosen for four Senate contests on the biggest primary election day of the political season.

Five states selected nominees for governor, seven for members of Congress.

And the envy of every campaigner, it seemed, was Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, a Democrat with no challenger in his own party, and no prospect of Republican opposition in the Nov. 3 general election.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had two rivals in the Montana primary, but neither was rated a real threat to his campaign for a fourth term.

The high stakes contest was the runoff for the Democratic nomination to be governor of Alabama.

The race cast Wallace in an unfamiliar role as he campaigned to come from second place and oust Gov. Albert Brewer.

Despite some rain, the early voter turnout in Alabama was reported extremely heavy. There was no way to determine at once whether this reflected Wallace's appeal to white voters to turn back what he called a threat from the Negro "bloc vote".

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey was favored to win Democratic renomination over Frank J. Guarino Jr., a state senator. The likely Republican entry: Nelson Gross, once the state party chairman.

In New Mexico, it was Sen. Joseph M. Montoya against Richard Edwards of Albuquerque for the Democratic nomination, with the incumbent expected to win.

Gov. David F. Cargo battled Anderson Carter, a conservative who ran a close Senate race four years ago, for the GOP Senate nomination.

Republican Sen. George Murphy was seeking renomination in California, opposed by Norton Simon, an industrialist and political novice.

The Democratic senatorial contest there was between two liberal House members. John V. Tunney and George Brown Jr.

State Assemblyman Jess Unruh was heavily favored in the polls to defeat Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and win the Democratic nomination to run against Reagan.

Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa, a Republican, was unopposed for renomination; Republican Gov. Frank Farrar of South Dakota was expected to withstand a primary challenge, and a field of six Republicans and three Democrats was battling for gubernatorial nominations in New Mexico.

In Alabama, the primary victor was assured of a four-year term as governor, since Republicans already have indicated they will not field a November candidate.

Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote margin over Wallace in the first-round primary, a month ago, but lacked a majority in a seven-way race. Not since 1914 has the man who ran second managed to reverse that outcome and win a runoff.

Wallace needed to shatter that precedent to retain a base for renewal in 1972 of the third-party presidential campaign he waged two years ago.

In the waning days of the campaign, he turned to the issue which brought him to power originally: race. Wallace said the bloc vote of Negroes accounted for Brewer's primary showing.

"If the black bloc vote wins this election, it will have control of this state for the next 50 years," he said.

Brewer said that was a scare effort.

Ways Pointed Out To Curb Delinquency

More vocational training opportunities and juvenile officers who are able to win the confidence of young people were suggested today as possible weapons in combatting delinquency.

The ideas were presented by the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission at a joint meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors at Civic Center.

Gary T. Giacomini, chairman of the commission, explained that problems and possible solutions are just beginning to emerge from a countywide survey of juvenile delinquency. The survey is being conducted by the 11 commissioners who devote about one full day each week to interviewing educators, police officers and other officials dealing with youth.

Nothing is conclusive as yet because the survey is still in midstream, said Giacomini. He said the survey is only the first step in developing a coordinated plan for delinquency prevention.

Rev. James Upshaw of Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda said he found that many delinquents feel they do not get enough attention and are not successful in day-to-day activities.

"There is a need for some vocational training somewhere," said Commissioner Jack Heard. "Something like auto shop or sewing."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out that the county superintendent of schools is trying to develop just this type of vocational training program this year.

Giacomini noted that in some schools, he found that students relate to the juvenile officer as a person, and when that officer leaves, the whole system tends to break down.

Supervisor Michael Wornum wanted to know if city recreation programs do any good.

"They'd rather go to Mount Tam or to private homes," said Giacomini. He added that youngsters tend to destroy organized recreational facilities rather than use them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested that the commission also look into the method of disciplining students. "In many schools, the ultimate weapon is suspension from school. That's like the rabbit who told the fox, 'Whatever you do, don't throw me in the briar patch.' And the fox proceeded to throw him in the briar patch."

Commissioner Guy Bachelis declared that Youth Coordinator Gwen M. Monroe is the one who is providing coordination and backup, and she is needed by the commission. Bruce has recommended that the youth coordinator be deleted in the new budget.

Story Of Fighting Editor, And Question On Its Ending

Here is the sad story of an editor-publisher who insisted on printing the news. It appeared in the March-April issue of FOI Digest, published by the Freedom of Information Center at University of Missouri's school of journalism:

HICKMAN, KY., is a small, southern-style town overlooking the Mississippi River in far western Kentucky. During the last presidential election, a majority of residents voted for George Wallace. For the past 16 years, Ro Gardner has been the controversial editor of the town's only paper, the Hickman Courier.

In October, a race problem began at the local high school. Gardner immediately brought the issue of race relations in Hickman and Fulton County onto the front page of his tabloid. And he kept it there.

Issue after issue carried the racial situation and its latest developments on page one. The 64-year-old Mississippi native who has a master's degree in journalism wrote harsh editorial criticism of the school's administration:

"CALLOUS IGNORANCE and indifference to the rights of every citizen in a community — and a persistent outmoded notion of racial superiority — produces a Cairo." (His reference was to Cairo, Ill., an Illionois city north of Hickman which has experienced a long period of racial turmoil.)

A number of the townspeople believed Gardner distorted the racially tinged disciplinary problems at Fulton County High School. They said he was responsible for the controversy's publicity all over Kentucky and its entry into federal court.

THIS WAS THE REASON, Gardner charged, that an economic boycott of his paper was begun by the city's merchants, who were pressured by customers not to advertise in the Courier. His advertising dropped from 65 per cent of his usual 18-page newspaper to 46 per cent. Gardner said at the time he was fighting for his economic life.

Gardner had built a reputation in Hickman as a fighter. During his years, he had fought the local courts for what he called a brand of "backwoods justice" and the refusal by a county judge to allow his paper access to public records. His lawsuit over the records controversy was won in cooperation with the Kentucky Press Association.

When the boycott became more and more evident, Gardner said: "This can't happen to me. When I was told that customers had demanded that merchants not advertise with me, it scared me."

But he refused to back down. "If I'm to retain my integrity as a newsman, I should print this news (on the racial situation) . . . This is the only way I know to run a newspaper."

Apparently the boycott won, however. On March 28, Ro Gardner announced the sale of his paper to another owner of weekly papers in the area. There was no room left, Gardner said, for him in Hickman.

(End of story.)

WE WONDER: Do the merchants in Hickman, Ky., and the customers who pressured them to withdraw their advertising, imagine they will have a better town without a newspaper that dares to print unpleasant news?

Musical Spring

We have not had such a spring in our little corner of Marin in 20 years. Birdsong is everywhere and most any hour of the day. The robins, in particular, are outdoing themselves with lovely melodies.

We do not know why, but we suspect it is at least partially due to the decreased use of hard insecticides. Perhaps this is the end of the relatively silent springs.

If our idea is well-founded, this musical spring should be dedicated to the memory of the late Rachel Carson, who first brought the danger of hard pesticides to the public's attention.

Motel Being Forced On Tam Valley

There is a matter before the deputy zoning administrator, Mr. (Ralph D.) Cairns, at the present that I believe every resident of Tamalpais Valley and other residential areas should know about.

A 92-unit motel has been proposed for Shoreline Highway, from Pinehill Road to Sunset Way, and from the hearing I attended Monday it appeared Mr. Cairns was only concerned with the massive size and some technical problems regarding the proposed building. There seemed to be no question as to whether a motel was to be built. . .

We have been homeowners here for 11 years and have seen much irresponsible building going on in our valley. . .I have a feeling that if this business does not prove financially solvent this enormous structure will be added to our "irresponsible building" collection. Another eyesore for beautiful Tam Valley!. . .

I hope Mr. Cairns and his staff are not going to foist their opinion of what is right for our valley, on us, as we have to live with this grossly commercial enterprise — not they. . .

Questionable Calls In Baseball Game

The Novato-Redwood baseball game that was played on May 22 was apparently reported by a Redwood follower. Just to set the record straight, this is how we, as Novato fans, saw the game.

There were several questionable calls, as is usually the case in a baseball game. However, the "close ones" in the Novato-Redwood game made a difference of possibly four runs for Novato. Conceding the call at first in which two runs for Novato were nullified when the runner was called out after a footrace with the Redwood first baseman, and the questionable tag of the last hitter in the game leaves the spectacular "catch" by the Redwood outfielder in the top of the seventh. The catch would more properly be called a dropped fly ball, since the fielder did not have control of the ball from the time it hit his glove till it dropped to the ground. He made a valiant try but just didn't make the catch. Whey the fly got to the fielder, the base umpire signalled the runners to go and the plate umpire held up his arm signalling an out. The runners ended up on second and third. Since the umpires did not agree on the call, the Redwood coach came out on the field and arbitrated the question, resulting in both Novato runners being called out. This call became very important when the next Novato hitter got a triple which would have scored both runners. The triple, incidentally, was never credited to the hitter in the report of the game. Redwood had the championship tied up. Nothing could change that, but one wonders how many questionable calls it took.

Students Have Obligation To Study

Last week I observed with dismay hundreds of students at a local high school loafing near the school area during school hours, trying to deluge motorists with pamphlets, and creating a nuisance in the area. Some even swarmed into offices asking for signatures and interrupted people at work.

Do these young people not realize that their first duty to their parents and the community is to study? The taxpayer has a large investment in all our schools and colleges. We support these institutions for one purpose only — and that is to be used by students who want to study. Anyone who has other ideas can leave and dig ditches or pursue whatever he pleases but should not take up a valuable opening in school.

We taxpayers are tired of paying for students who don't want to learn! Can't we request that these elements be expelled?

We parents and taxpayers are just as concerned about events around us, but that certainly is never an excuse not to fulfill our obligations and duties . . .

Let these young people write to our congressmen, just as we are doing. I am sure that their voice will be heard if they act like responsible citizens.

No Longer Right To Protect Property?

We have come a long way — I am referring to the May 20 article in the Independent-Journal about Mr. (Don Luis) Ceballas' so called booby trap. In the years gone by if you stole a man's horse you were hung until dead after some times a very speedy trial. Today, the radio and TV announcers ask you to take the key from your car so an "honest boy" won't steal the car and go joy riding.

Now it looks like you can't protect what is yours even if it is inside a building. Maybe the new word is out, what is yours is not yours unless you can hide it from the "honest boy".

Someone reported that Mr. Ceballas should have used a camera instead of a starting pistol. What good is apicture if the district attorney won't file charges? My business was robbed over a year ago, three people made positive identification and this information was turned over to the district attorney and that is the last we have heard of it . . .

We Have Need For Cats In Marin

Congratulations to the reader who spoke out recently in defense of cats.

We don't have to go back to the middle ages and the bubonic plague, however, to realize how much we need these companionable little creatures.

Right here in Marin, and in its more prestigious sections, there are plenty of mice, rats, and other field rodents. (My elderly cat, who is not the hunter he used to be, has no trouble making a kill when the mood strikes him.)

With trash collections only once a week, every house and every yard in Marin is a potential home for rodents. A cat — any cat — will make sure the vermin keep their distance.

Cats are just what the owner makes them. You can train them to respect your caged birds. You can train them to keep away from the baby's crib . . .

Com on! Let's have cats, not rats, in Marin. Any cat owner will help you find and train one of those soft bundles of affection we call kittens. May your house be safe from rodents!

Mobile Home Tax Bill Sparks Argument As To Its Effect

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Eugene Chappie, R-Cool, has asked for a hearing on his bill, AB 1765, to change the taxation system on mobile homes. The hearing is set before the assembly revenue and taxation committee for Friday at 1:45 p.m.

As the hearing approaches, a controversy rages as to whether taxation as motor vehicles or personal property taxation is more advantageous for the mobile home owner.

Assemblyman Chappie has accused Dennis Kavanagh, lobbyist for the Golden State Mobile Home Owners League, of "putting out false and misleading information on the measure," claiming that taxes will rise on mobile homes, particularly for senior citizens, if Chappie's bill passes and is signed by the governor.

UNFORTUANTELY, no one seems to know for certain. The mobile home association is doing much research on the question of how to tax mobile homes, and has not as yet come up with answers as to whether the personal property tax proposed by Assemblyman Chappie, or the in lieu tax collected by the Department of Motor Vehicles, is the method most advantageous to the mobile home owner.

The Chappie proposal, so he says, would result in a senior citizen living in a $3,000 mobile home paying no tax at all after the $750 home owners exemption was applied .

Then he calls attention to the fact that if the governor's tax program passes, the exemption would be increased to $1,000, so a senior citizen owning a $4,000 mobile home would pay no tax at all.

The only trouble with Chappie's reasoning is that not many citizens, senior or otherwise, live in $3,000 mobile homes these days. The price is more like $13,000.

THE CHAPPIE bill turns the matter of fixing taxes on mobile homes over to 58 different assessors in California, instead of having the assessments on a standard basis as they are under the present system, contained in the motor vehicle code.

The vehicle code provides for depreciation of the mobile home down to 15 per cent of value after 18 years, during which the owner pays taxes on a declining basis.

It would appear reasonable to provide for further studies to determine the exactness of tax returns and who those returns are coming from before passing legislation.

Ghost Of Smoot-Hawley Act Comes To Life In Congress

WASHINGTON — The latest Nixonite to join the war dance against the media charged that a cabal exists in New York deciding each day what the chorus of gloom in to be. H.R. Haldeman, who has always seemed to be quite with it, must surely be joking.

But even as a joke this is curious logic, suggesting that if only everybody looked the other way the bad news would simply disappear. By this logic the rising casualties in Vietnam, the roller-coaster stock market, growing unemployment and rising prices should all be ignored. The media owes it to the man in the White House to smile, smile, smile. As the economy worsens, the attacks sound more and more like the incantations of a medicine man exorcising evil by his magic.

Haldeman, Spiro Agnew & Co. may not know it but the time when this kind of magic might have worked is long past. If a recession is not to slide into a depression, bold and positive measures are essential. Worse is to come unless the White House shows greater determination to face the economic facts of life.

A SIGNIFICANT sign is the growing demand in Congress for tariff barriers to keep out foreign goods. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the Ways and Means Committee is pushing a bill with 138 House sponsors setting quotas for imports on textiles and shoes. Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., has a measure for "orderly marketing" which would impose quotas on all imports when they reach a certain level.

This is exactly what happened in 1930 as unemployment rose following the crash of 1929. The Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, opposed by virtually every economist of repute in the country, was passed to keep out foreign imports and save American jobs. Instead it brought reprisals from all trading nations and contributed greatly to the world-wide depression with all its dire consequences.

THE APPROACH of the Nixon administration to free trade is characteristic. The president himself and most of his cabinet uttered all the right words. We learned from the bitter experience of the 1930s, Secry. of State William R. Rogers said in his testimony before the Mills committee, that protectionism was self-defeating and helped to bring on the collapse of international ordy. Secy. of Agriculture Clifford Hardin gave figures showing 730,000 farms jobs dependent on exports. Secy. of Labor George P. Schultz estimated that 2,700,000 jobs in industry rest on exports.

But the committee listened more sympathetically to the cabinet member who seemed to understand the need to put on the brakes. Secy. of Commerce Maurice Stans talked about the "dramatic" increase in textile imports. As the committee knew full well, Stans had tried in vain to persuade Japan and other exporters to apply "voluntary" textile quotas.

They were well aware, too, that Stans was Nixon's fund raiser in 1968. Next to oil, it was widely reported, the textile industry, notably in the Carolinas, was the most generous contributor. Here is a little recognized angle of the southern strategy that put Mr. Nixon in the White House.

THE TRIMPH at the Miami Beach convention owed a lot to Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. For one thing he helped to nip the Ronald Reagan diversion before it really got going. As a reward his office was privileged to announce that textile quotas would be high on the Nixon agenda once he was president.

Contrary to the impression of the growing protectianist bloc in Congress, Stans may be a lonely dissenter. He may be merely mouthing appeasement for the hurt feelings of southerners who thought they were voting for protection when they voted the Republican ticket in '68.

To disabuse them of the belief that Stans is really the voice of the administration will take a stand by the President himself. He will have to repudiate his secretary of commerce who was so helpful in putting him where he is today.

EVEN WITH the best will in the world, the tide of protectionism is so strong that it may prevail. Free traders were shocked when the lobbyist for the AFL-CIO, Andrew Biemiller, reversed the federation's long-time position and came out for the Mills Bill and for the Burke across-the-board measure. He told the committee that foreign imports had cost 700,000 jobs in 1968-69.

If protection would work, the temptation would be strong to cut off. Japan and the underdeveloped nations exporting textiles — about 4.2 per cent in dollar value and 8.5 per cent in bulk of American production — into this country. But the lesson of 1930 is abundantly clear. The inevitable result is to worsen the economic situation all around.

U.S.–Japan Pact Renewal Without Riots Forecast

By ALBERT E. KAFF

TOKYO (UPI) — Police expect Japan's radical students to allow the military treaty with United States to renew in June without the fire and bloodshed that marked the pact's birth.

The treaty is opposed by Japan's Communists, Socialists, political Buddhists, student revolutionaries and most organized labor unions.

But Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's Conservatives, who rule with a commanding majority in the diet (parliament), say they will permit the 1960 treaty to renew automatically on June 23. That is the first date since the pact was signed on which Japan can give notice of withdrawal from U.S. military protection.

POLICE REPORT that as many as 50,000 students may mobilize on the streets of Tokyo, the world's most populous city with 11.4 million residents, to denounce the treaty under which the United States maintains air and naval strike forces in Japan.

But police doubt the radicals will mount the terror tactics which turned Tokyo into near-anarchy when the treaty was signed 10 years ago.

"We expect that the rallies and demonstrations staged by the students in June will be mostly peaceful," a Tokyo police official said. "We don't expect the students to arm themselves with staves, rocks and pipes as in the past. Oh, there will be some scattered flare-ups of violence, but nothing we can't handle."

THE 1960 STREET violence all but halted the processes of government, forced Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi (elder brother of the present prime minister) to resign, and caused then President Eisenhower to cancel a state visit to Japan a few days before his scheduled arrival.

But the mood of Japan's students has changed in 10 years.

Revolutionary youngsters fought a two-day pitched battle against riot police on the grounds of Tokyo University last year and masterminded aviation's most spectacular hijacking this year (the 83½-hour piracy of a passenger plane to North Korea). But for the most part the students are calm.

Japanese National Police officials say they arrested 15,000 students and young workers in demonstrations last year against the security treaty and Sato's Conservative, farm-backed rule.

But the arrest rate has fallen nearly 70 per cent this year, police report. Arrests for demonstration violence totaled only 1,600 throughout the nation during the first four months of 1970, figures show.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Don't Let Paint-Up Time Be Fire Hazard Time Also

Every weekend throughout Marin County can be heard the sound of power mowers as lawns get their weekly mowing.

Every day the sound of mini bikes can be heard all over the county.

It is the time of year when the house gets painted or some rooms in the house get a touch-up with paint.

All this means that most of these items — the gasoline for the power mowers and mini bikes, the paint and paint thinners — are stored in the garage.

Much too often we cover stories where the fumes from gasoline being poured into something have crept across the floor and reached the pilot light of the hot water heater or furnace. The result is a garage fire.

Novato's Assistant Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer for years has described most garages as potential fire traps. He gave us a good idea to eliminate this, so we will pass it along.

Most people have patios. Most men are handy enough carpenters to build a bench for the patio. Instead of a normal bench, it should have a hollow seat, similar to a chest. The top of this should be hinged.

In that chest, all gasoline, paints and paint thinner should be stored. Then if it accidentally catches on fire, the fire is in a bench in the patio, and not in the garage where it can do much more damage.

FISH ARE BEING killed in the waters of Marin and southern Sonoma counties. The cause is one which is partially man-made. The fish are dying from lack of oxygen in the water, according to G. B. Talbot, director of the Tiburon Marine Laboratory.

A few years ago when detergents would not break down in the water, there was an outcry against them. Now they do.

However, the water is charged with phosphates and other nutrients from the broken down detergents which feed plants. Algae grow on this and at certain times of day, absorb the oxygen from the water so that the fish cannot live, Talbot said.

Upper Richardson Bay, the lagoons at Bel Marin Keys and Bahia and the Petaluma River have such high algae content that fish die for lack of oxygen.

TALBOT SAID that one of the simplest and cheapest solutions to this is to put the waste water into a pond where the algae eat the nutrients out of the water. It then can be discharged into the bay safely, or into recreational ponds, which he recommends.

As a by-product, the sanitary district skims the algae out of the pond and sells it for cattle feed. Talbot claims that it is very good cattle food.

"The water can be reused after it goes through an algae pond, but the public is not quite ready to reuse water," he said.

He cited several cities in southern California that use the algae ponds and then pump the water into lakes for fishing, boating and swimming.

Here is an authority on the subject saying something which we have said in several past columns. It is senseless to spend millions of dollars chemically purifying water to throw it away. There are too many uses for it.

Disappearance Of Market Wizard —The Sorry Case Of Simpkins

WASHINGTON—You used to meet them everywhere — at cocktail parties, dinners, the beach club and college reunions.

Although they came in all shapes and forms, they had one thing in common. They were the people who had invested in Xerox when it was $9 a share, Litton Industries when it was $10, and Gulf and Western when it was $14. They used to tell you how they had first heard about Texas Instruments when it was selling for a song, how they had gotten into Ling Temco Vought through a fraternity brother; how they had bought Penn Central, Computer Data, Fairchild Camera against the advice of their brokers.

They weren't unfriendly people. They always had time to chat with you and tell you how well they were doing in the market. They implied that they had a sixth sense about investing in Wall Street and a talent for these matters that you, the average person, would never understand.

Without intending to do it, they made you feel completely inadequate as a breadwinner, and a sucker for holding onto a salaried job.

BUT IN THE LAST few months something has happened to these people. For one thing, you hardly see them any more and when you do they're very quiet. Their clothes have gotten seedy; the bounce has gone from their walk, and when they hold a drink their hands shake a lot.

I ran into one the other day on the plane. His name was Simpkin. The last time we flew up to New York, a few years ago, Simpkin was dropping names like Planet Oil, MGM and Boeing Aircraft.

This time I hardly recognized him when I sat down. His hair was completely white, his eyes were bloodshot, and he had a tic in his right cheek.

"HOW ARE THINGS going?" I asked pleasantly.

"This seat is taken," he snarled.

"It's me, Simpkin. You know, from the Washington Athletic Club. Remember when we had that nice talk about American Nursing Home merging with Rorshach Matches? Whatever happened to that?"

"If you say one more word to me, I'll hit you in the mouth," he said.

"Good heavens, Simpkin, you're overwrought. Are you still in the market?"

He raised his fist, but the stewardess came by and asked him to fasten his safety belt. Simpkin wiped his brow. "I'm sorry," he said, "but National General is down to 2½."

"Oh'," I said. "I didn't know. Were you big in National General?"

"Not as big as I was in Commonwealth United and Chrysler."

"I DON'T FOLLOW the market," I said. "But I understand there have been some reverses. Would this be a good time to buy anything?"

"As soon as the 'Fasten Your Belt' sign goes off," Simpkin said, "I'm going to kill you."

"Grab hold of yourself, man," I cried. "After all, money isn't everything." "Do you know how much I was once worth on paper!" Simpkin said.

"A lot, I'm sure."

"Would you believe $750,000?

I WHISTLED. "I would have never known it."

"Do you know what I'm worth no paper now?"

"I won't guess."

"I owe $50,000, and they're still asking for margin."

"You don't look it." I replied.

"YOU SOB," Simpkin yelled, "you probably had your money in a savings and loan bank all this time."

"As a matter of fact I did. And you know something, Simpkin? When I opened the account, they gave my wife a 36-piece set of Pyroware dishes."

Simpkin cried all the rest of the way to New York.

27 Visit Air Force Facilities

Twenty-seven Marin men, including four mayors, visited Air Force facilities in Arizona and Florida last week on an orientation trip to explain the operation of the reorganized Aerospace Defense Command.

The tour was sponsored by Hamilton Air Force Base's First Fighter Wing. The group of Marin civic leaders, said Lt. Col. Everett C. Brown, wing director of information, included city and county officials and businessmen. Mayors on the trip were C. Paul Bettini of San Rafael, Frederick S. Allen of Ross, Edwin J. Drechsel of Belvedere and Frank J. Egger of Fairfax.

The group, which paid for its own meals and motel accommodations, went Monday to Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, where is was briefed on defense command operation and toured the combat control center.

On Tuesday, the group flew to Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., where it toured aerospace tracking facilities, saw interceptors now in service and watched a drone aircraft tracked and attacked.

The Marin junketers were dinner guests Tuesday of the military affairs committee of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce.

The group flew to Florida by C121 Constellation and returned aboard a C54, both four-engine propeller transports.

Rock Slope Work Slated

Bresnan-Delacio Inc. of San Rafael has been awarded a contract to build about 700 feet of rock slope protection on the San Rafael side of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings has announced.

The firm was low bidder on the project at $31,628.

Construction is expected to begin shortly and be completed by mid-July.

178 Eighth Graders To Receive Diplomas

One hundred seventy-eight eighth graders will be graduated from Adaline E. Kent School in the Kentfield School District in ceremonies at 8 p.m. June 10 in the College of Marin gymnasium.

Five students will have roles in the ceremoney. William Lutge will give the flag salute; Cecile Ojeda the welcoming speech; Kristen Gregoriev a speech on the past; Kevin Lesko a speech on the future, and Evelyn Newell will read the class roll.

Principal Arcima F. Taylor Jr. will present the class for the presentation of diplomas by Supt. Anthony G. Bacich and trustees Gloria Riccardi and Lawrence Goldberg.

The school orchestra, directed by Dale Alstrom, will play the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the recessional, Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" and Bizet's prelude from L'Arlesienne Suite.

Applicants Are Needed

Applications are being accepted by the Marin Municipal Water District board of appointment to the board's division 2 seat.

The seat was made vacant with the death of director William C. Herup May 14. Herup had held the seat since being appointed in 1942.

Division 2 includes all of San Rafael, south of Puerto Suello Hill.

Applications will be accepted through June 30, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said today. He said the board would interview applicants on that day and probably make the appointment at its July 8 meeting.

The term is through 1972.

Judge Appoints New Manson Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson got a new lawyer yesterday after the attorney promised the judge he would be ready to begin trial in the Sharon Tate murder case on schedule June 15.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older approved the substitution of attorney I. A. Kanarek in place of Ronald Hughes, a young bearded lawyer who had never tried a case.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Listeriosis A Serious Disease For Both Animals And Humans

Listeriosis is an infectious disease of animals and man. During 1968, 105 cases were reported in the United States; 45 more than reported in 1967. Twenty-four died of the disease, a high mortality considering how little we hear about the condition.

Illinois had the greatest increase — the number jumped from 3 to 14.

THE CAUSATIVE BACTERIA are found in many animals, such as rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, mice, rats, and domestic and wild animals, and birds. Man develops the disease following inhalation, ingestion, or direct contact with contaminated feed or animal products. This is the main reason why listeriosis is more common in rural areas.

Debilitatated individuals with little resistance are more susceptible. This includes pregnant women and persons with cancer.

ONCE INSIDE THE BODY, the microbes invade a variety of organs. Those settling in the nervous system produce a serious meningitis or encephalitis. Headache, fever, muscle aching, nausea, vomiting, stiff neck, and convulsions ensue.

The death rate from this form of listeriosis is high.

Others develop symptoms that mimic infectious mononucleosis with sore throat, fever, and enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, armpits, and groin. Still others develop bumps (granulomas) on skin usually as a result of direct contact with infected animals. Pregnant women who get the disease often have miscarriages.

LISTERIOSIS MAY resemble influenza, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and several other bacterial infections. Special blood tests are necessary to confirm the diagnosis. Now and then it is possible to isolate the causative germs from lesions on the skin, or in the throat, or other body openings.

Oddly, the microbes are difficult to distinguish from diphtheroid bacilli.

Listeriosis responds to a variety of sulfonamides and antibiotics, such as penicillin.

PREVENTION IS theoretically possible by avoiding diseased animals, their meat, or secretions.

BEDROOM GREENERY

R. D. writes: Do plants in the bedroom harm a person? I do not remove them when I go to sleep.

REPLY

There is no harm in having flowers in the room because they will not rob you of oxygen. Many people put them in another room at night because they sleep with the window open and the air may be too cold for plants.

CANNED JUICES

G. F. writes: Does canned grapefruit juice contain as much vitamin C as the fresh product?

REPLY

Yes. In fact, the vitamin C content in canned juices is likely to be more uniform because of the rigid control standards observed by the manufacturers.

CIRRHOSIS NOT MALIGNANT

S. R. writes: Is cirrhosis of the liver a form of cancer?

REPLY

No Cirrhosis is a condition in which the licer cells are destroyed and replaced by scar tissue. The two diseases, however, may coexist. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on cirrhosis of the liver.

HUNGER PANGS

N. L. writes: Is a rolling noise in the stomach a sign of cancer?

REPLY

No. A more likely origin of the racket is lack of food.

Mannerly Bank Bandit Nabbed?

NEW YORK (AP) — A Tunisian immigrant employed as a bartender has been arrested less than an hour after "Dashing Dan"—the well-mannered bank robber—pulled his 20th job in three months.

FBI agents and city detectives, acting Monday on tips that resulted from recent newspaper pictures and articles on the bandit, had gone to Queens seeking to question Raphael Pavia, 44.

Pavia was arrested as he stepped from a taxi at 2:05 p.m. near his apartment. Police said he had $1,910 in his possession, the exact amount taken from a Manhattan bank 45 minutes earlier.

Dashing Dan was so named by the FBI because of the politeness and speed with which he moved from bank to bank when a teller turned him down. Hidden cameras had snapped his photograph from various angles in the 20 banks.

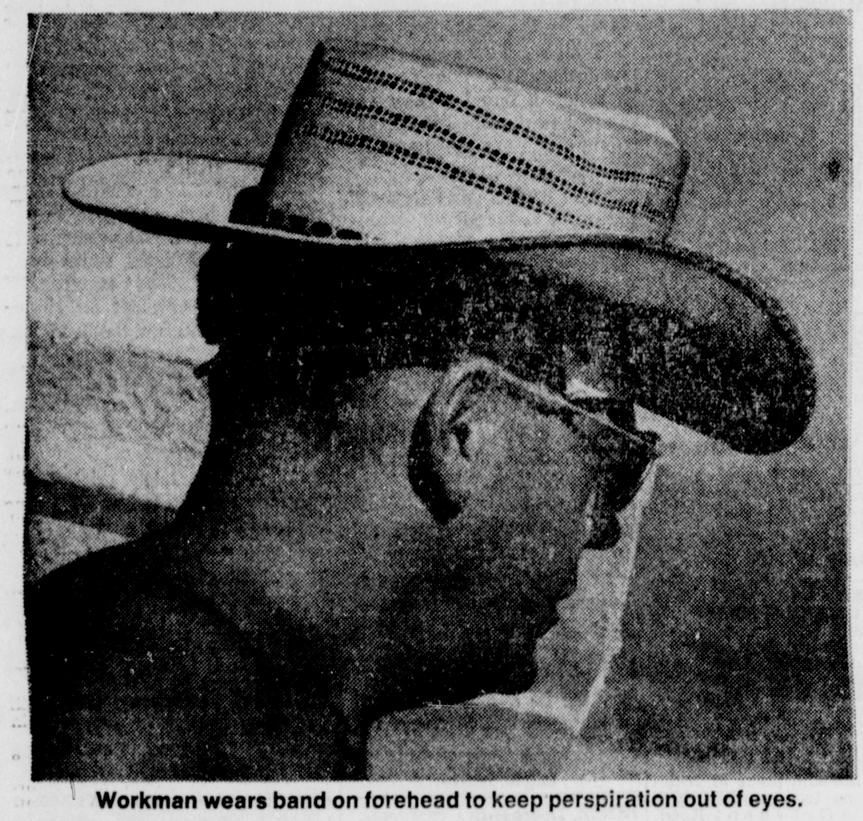
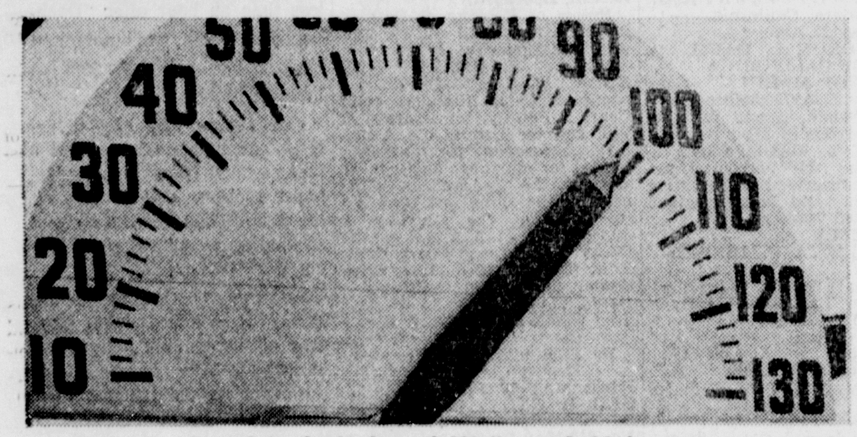
HOT SPOT

Sun comes up over Plaster City, bringing another hot day to California's Imperial Valley.



Workman wears band on forehead to keep perspiration out of eyes.



A cool day in the Imperial Valley, only 98 degrees.

In California's Imperial Valley, where temperatures go over 100 degrees in every month from May to October, the crops and cattle flourish while residents work on ways to beat the heat.

The valley's eternal sunshine and abundant water combine to make it one of the most important crop producing areas of the country.

But the everlasting heatwave does pose problems for those hardy residents who harvest the crops and tend to the valley's business.

Highest official temperature recorded was a 119 degrees but oldtimers are quick to declare that the weather bureau readings are taken under conditions which do not reflect the true heat.

Temperatures as high as 128 degrees have been reported and thermometers have space for readings as high as 130 degrees.

Faced with up to 57 days a year when the temperature goes over 110 degrees and up to 121 days of over 100 degrees, valley residents have learned to adapt.

The pace of work slows. Laborers drink as much as three gallons of water per day and take salt tablets to offset loss from evaporation.

Sidewalks in valley towns are covered by arcades to shield shoppers from the sun.

With the development of air conditioning, year-round living has become bearable for residents of this natural heat trap.

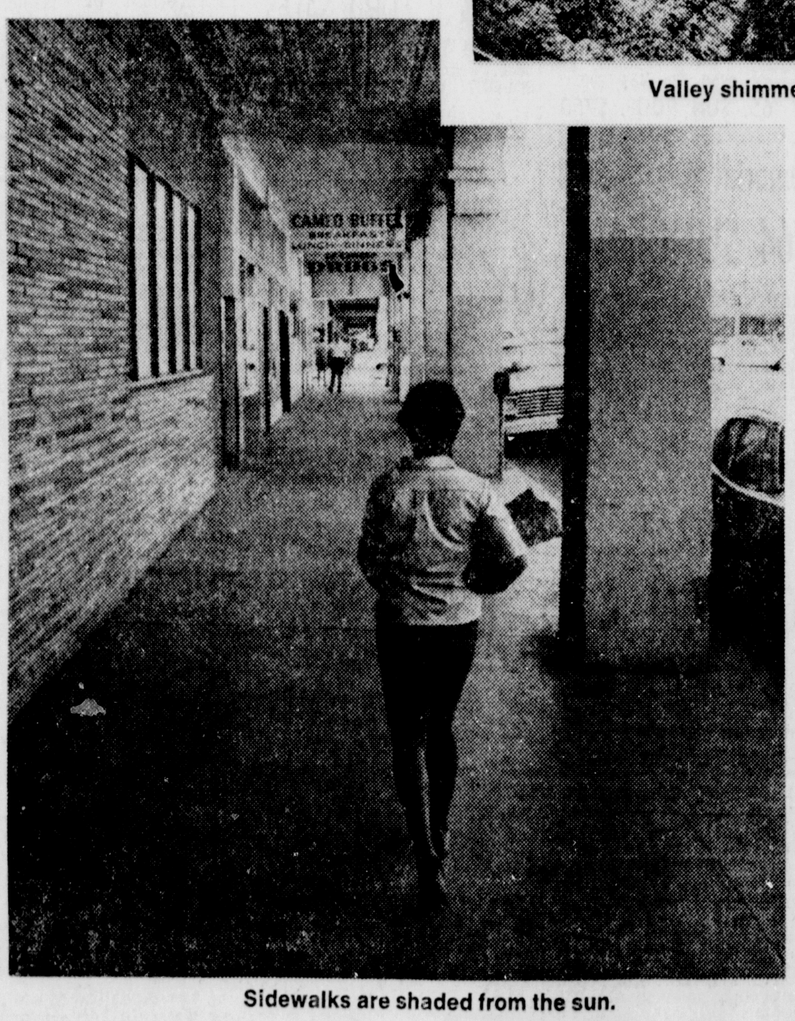
El Centro, the largest community in the area, calls itself the "most completely air conditioned town in the nation."

Even the word "air conditioned" isn't potent enough for use in the heat of the Imperial Valley.

Instead, they call it "refrigeration."

Valley shimmers under heat as workers repair irrigation canal.

All motels in the Valley are refrigerated.



Sidewalks are shaded from the sun.

A parasol is a handy way to beat the heat.

McNears Beach Park Lot To Accommodate 200 Cars

McNear's Beach near Peacock Gap, which will open to the public in two weeks, will accommodate 200 cars, about double the capacity of Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon.

"We plan to open the beach on June 15," said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department. "Everything might not be 100 per cent complete, but you'll have to forgive our dust."

Hours will be from about 9 a.m. to sunset. "The number of hours we can stay open will depend on the number of personnel we'll be allowed in the budget," said Joske.

Admission price will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 18. No dogs will be allowed in the park.

Facilities include a swimming pool, two tennis courts, picnic facilities and a rocky beach for wading or sunbathing.

A temporary parking area has been marked off for 200 cars, which means a crowd of between 600 and 800, plus those who walk or ride bicycles to the county park.

A fence has been erected around the pool, and tree trimming is about 80 per cent complete.

Extra Time On Drug Violation

A 21-year-old Novato youth who failed to show up last fall for sentencing on a narcotics violation got an extra three months in jail yesterday when he was finally sentenced.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court ordered Bradford Eugene Bishop to spend the next nine months in jail. It had earlier been recommended that he receive a six-month term for selling methedrine to a drug agent in February 1969.

The judge also placed Bishop on probation for two years and ordered him to submit to periodic testing to determine if he is using drugs.

Large Lots To Be Studied

A meeting for preserving large lots in West Novato will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the multi-purpose room at Hill Junior High School, sponsored by the West Novato Associates, according to its president Jack O. Burgi.

Rowland J. Darnell of the Marin County Planning Department will explain the county's position in wanting to zone the West Novato area into half-acre and one-acre lots, Burgi said.

"We want to preserve our country atmosphere and 'horsey' quiet way of life," Burgi said.

Appeal Sated On Housing Authority Plan

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday ordered an appeal filed in hope of getting a tabulation on today's vote on the establishment of a county housing authority.

The supervisors will appeal the ruling of Sonoma Superior Court Judge Joseph P. Murphy Jr. that forbade the counting of votes on the measure after a suit was filed by Larry Martinez.

Martinez contended it was not a proper subject for a referendum. The vote, if the appeal succeeds, will be advisory in nature and guide the supervisors in making a decision on the housing authority question.

County Counsel Richard Ramsey said he would begin appeal proceedings immediately and that a vote count could be made at a later date.

Supervisors ordered the measure put on the ballot in March when unable to make a decision on the merits of the federally financed housing plan. Each supervisor has, however, endorsed the ballot measure.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors also:

POPULATION — Heard County Administrator David L. Nichols report that preliminary population estimates put the county total at 210,200 as of March 1. In the last count in April 1969, the estimate was 202,400.

COTATI — Received a request from the Cotati City Council for authorization to build a city hall on property adjacent to the Cotati Veterans Memorial building. The land has been deeded to the city for only park use.

BLOOMFIELD — Approved plans for the widening and improvement of Bloomfield Road between Cunningham Road and Highway 116 and said construction bids would be opened June 30 at 3 p.m.

Kosygin Given Moon Mementos

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin met U.S. astronaut Neil Armstrong today and was given on behalf of President Nixon a fragment of the moon brought back by the American space hero.

Kosygin also was presented a small Soviet flag carried on the moon voyage by Armstrong's Apollo 11 spaceship last July.

The Soviet premier, apparently deeply touched, expressed great admiration for Armstrong and the U.S. space achievement.

Decision Due On Angela Davis Status

SAN DIEGO (AP) — University of California regents will try to reach a decision concerning Angela Davis at their meeting Monday in San Francisco but won't announce it until they meet again June 18-19, Dewitt A. Higgs, chairman of the regents, said Monday.

The board of regents have taken the decision on the rehiring of Miss Davis, a Communist who is a philosophy professor at UCLA, away from UC President Charles Hitch and UCLA Chancellor Charles Young.

Nixon Welcomes Top Venezuelan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, welcoming President Rafael Caldera of Venezuela to the White House, said today their 12-year-old personal friendship should "contribute to good understanding."

Speaking at a formal arrival ceremony on the south lawn, Nixon said he and Caldera had been personal friends since meetings in 1958 and 1959.

This association, he declared, should contribute to understanding and to the solution of any problems between the two countries which he added were "very few."

The two presidents conferred after the arrival ceremony in Nixon's oval office.

The Venezuelan president and Mrs. Caldera will be in the United States until Friday.

Novato Cyclist's Injuries Minor

A 43-year-old Novato man was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises at Marin General Hospital yesterday following a motorcycle accident on Highway 101, south of Tiburon Boulevard.

The California Highway Patrol said John D. Parnham Jr., of 99 Vivian Court, fell off his motorcycle as he was pulling off the freeway after having a flat tire at 11:45 a.m.

18 Applicants For Health Center Job

Eighteen candidates have applied for the post of director of the Marin Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Donald P. Wilson, the present director, is among them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the two personnel directors of Marin County and of Marin General Hospital will review the applications to eliminate any lacking the qualifications in experience and education.

SCREENING COMMITTEE

A nine-man screening committee will meet next week to review qualified candidates and pare the number to about eight. These semifinalists will get oral interviews before the same committee.

After the oral interviews, the committee will try to reduce the number to three. The Marin General Hospital board of directors and the Marin County board of supervisors will appoint one of the three.

Members of the screening committee are Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, and Dr. Bradford Simmons, chief of staff at Marin General Hospital, both representing the hospital; Dr. Seymour Boorstein, appointed by the Marin Psychiatric Association; Bruce and Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, director of community mental health services, representing the county; and four members of the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board — Jack Williams, Martha Valliant, George Monardo, and Dr. Richard W. Brunstetter.

PROGRAM NOMINATED

The job of director of the community mental health center pays between $25,000 and $30,000. The present director, Dr. Wilson, draws $27,000 per year.

The mental health program developed under Dr. Wilson has been nominated by the State Department of Mental Hygine for one of three top national awards to be presented by the American Psychiatric Association for "psychiatric programs considered most deserving of recognition by the achievement awards board."

Additions To Vote Roundup

In yesterday's Independent-Journal roundup of today's election, the Bolinas-Stinson School District board election and the Sausalito School board recall election were omitted.

Charles Hancock and Lyman Robinson are competing for one seat on the Bolinas-Stinson board.

The Sausalito ballot calls for a vote on recall of Martha Freebairn-Smith,who has resigned, and David E. Freedheim.

Delta Christ has filed for Martha Freebairn-Smith's seat, and will be elected if the recall succeeds and she receives at least one vote. If the recall fails, the seat must be filled in at a special election.

Brian V. Beard and Jerry L. Whitcomb are competing for the seat of Freedheim in the event he is recalled.

McNeil And Game Of 49er Roulette

The trade of wide receiver Clifton Anthony McNeil by the San Francisco 49ers to the New York Giants over the weekend was not much of a surprise because McNeil insisted on playing that dangerous game called "49er Roulette."

The way you play it is to have a good season, hold out for higher pay, then see where you wind up. Other 49ers have played the same game and have suddenly changed their mailing address.

Why, it's as if I should compose a good column, shock the boss out of his tennies by asking for a few extra cookies in my lunch pail, and suddenly find myself on the next train to the Tuscaloosa Times as society editor.

Actually, I wonder just how much McNeil's holdout had to do with his shipment to New York. I'm inclined to believe that he had served his purpose with a team wealthy in receivers and was as expendable as a tick in a clock shop.

Fast Start After Reaching S.F.

A former benchwarmer with the Cleveland Browns, Clif came to the Niners as an unknown in 1968 and immediately set the National Football League afire by leading in pass receptions and winning All-Pro.

It took defenses all season to get a "book" on McNeil. He was devastating on the long and down and out patterns, but. . .

After his 1969 holdout, he joined the team late and coaches explained his benching by saying his timing was off. True, but when he did play McNeil was going against stacked defenses. Opposition heavily defensed his down and out patterns because they had learned one flaw: McNeal is not effective down the middle in heavy traffic where the going gets pretty physical.

As more than a few 49ers told me last season, "McNeil hears footsteps and feels pain."

Time Will Reveal The Answer

It will be interesting to follow McNeil's career as a Giant to see if he really was a victim of 49er Roulette or, like many of the players say, gun shy. If he does hear footsteps and feel pain, he won't last long in New York either. Defenses don't forget.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, a two-game "49er Florida Fun Trip" to Tampa and Miami Aug. 14-22 is being arranged for fans by Bulanti Travel of Redwood City and Delta Air Lines. It will include games against the Browns in Tampa Aug. 15 and Dolphins in Miami Aug. 22 plus a four-day cruise to Nassau.

AND SPEAKING of tours, Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, who has led Giants Boosters to Phoenix, Japan, New York and Montreal already this season, is now busily preparing for a June 19-20-21 weekend in San Diego and the Boosters' third annual trip to the Houston Astrodome July 9-12.

Rocky Headed For Basin League

FORMER SAN RAFAEL High football and baseball captain Rocky Shone, who just completed a season catching for the Cal varsity, leaves tomorrow for the Dakotas where he will play in the Basin League, reportedly one of the top semi-pro baseball circuits in the country. Rocky has been busy in recent weeks, punching doorbells in behalf of his dad Ray Shone's campaign for state senator.

LATEST WORD from Columbus, Ga. (I have correspondents everywhere)is that Novato's John Dolinsek, who was batting a strong .320 not long ago for the Columbus Astros, has slumped to .285 in the Southern Association.

And from Kinston, N. C. of the Carolina League comes word that Larkspur's Ken Johnson has lifted his batting mark to the .220 area, still anemic but better than his earlier performances.

Different Views, But Both Are Winners

By DAVID EINSTEIN

It is often of interest and seldom of value to compare how different schools did in all sports.

In the first place no award is given to the school whose teams win the most events. Second, relative values are hard to attach to sports. Track, for instance, has many more participants and half fewer meets than golf, but in the final tally of all sports, golf will count twice as much as track.

For what it is worth, however, here is how Marin County Athletic League teams fared in all spring sports combined, rated according to number of wins. Tamalpais 51, Redwood 49, Terra Linda and San Rafael 36, Novato 30, Drake 19, San Marin 17, Marin Catholic 13.

There are explanations for the poor showings by San Marin and Marin Catholic. They are respectively the youngest and smallest schools in the league.

The other teams that invite comparison are Tam and Redwood. Natural rivals since Redwood was founded in 1958, the schools have lately become focal points for diverse viewpoints concerning the responsibilities and rights of students in the academic community.

And it was inevitable that conflicts of opinion about such things as the desirable and legal length of students' hair would spill onto the athletic field.

Redwood took the conservative line — grooming policies ought to be departmental and in line with traditional limits.

Tam adopted a laissez faire policy and even went so far as to supply shaggy-haired athletes with school-colored head bands.

From both schools came conflicting pronouncements on the issue. Said Redwood athletic director Bob Troppmann, "I think this the beginning of the end of all athletics."

Tam Coach Bruce Grant took the opposite view, saying that when hair rules were relaxed, team morale went up.

All right, now let's look at the facts.

Fact: Tam and Redwood finished one, — two among all MCAL teams in total wins for spring sports.

Fact: Their records were almost identical. Tam had 51 wins and 12 losses. Redwood won 49, lost 13.

Fact: Each school had one undefeated team — for Redwood, tennis, for Tam, golf.

Fact: In no spring sport did either school finish lower than fourth place.

This is very enlightening evidence. For such comparisons transcend the effects of individual coaching policies on team performances.

It goes without saying that a winning team is one which has high morale, team discipline and respect of the players for each other and for their coach.

On that basis, which school would you pick as being more likely to have winning teams? Tam, whose athletes wear head band? Or Redwood, where hair doesn't fall below the collar?

Answer — Both.

Marin's All-Stars Named

Teams have been chosen for the first North-South Marin County Athletic League All-Star baseball game, scheduled for the night of June 18 at Albert Park in San Rafael.

Thirty-two seniors from the eight MCAL high school teams were selected to two teams, which will represent northern and southern Marin. The North, to be coached by San Marin's Mike Quinn, will be composed of players from San Marin, Novato, San Rafael and Terra Linda. Players from Redwood, Tamalpais, Drake and Marin Catholic will comprise the South squad, to be coached by Redwood's Al Endriss.

Proceeds from the game, which is being sponsored by the San Rafael Knights of Columbus, will go to establish a scholarship fund for worthy Marin County students.

The teams:

NORTH — Shortstop Larry Brazda, pitcher Bruce DeAmbra and outfielder Chuck Raznikov of San Rafael; Second baseman Kim Kirwin and outfielder Archie Speak of Novato; Catcher Rick Payne, pitcher Dave Stone, outfielder Dewey Forry, second baseman Mike Dito and shortstop Bob Daniele of Terra Linda; Second baseman Chuck Jacobson, third baseman Ken Gnoss, outfielder - pitcher Steve Francis, first baseman Bruce Hoberg, pitcher Dennis Bueler and outfielder Wade Gomes of San Marin.

SOUTH — Third baseman Bob Sutherland and pitcher Glenn Pfaff of Drake; Second baseman Mike Parnow and catcher Rick Fox of Marin Catholic; Shortstop Jim McCammon, pitcher Bill Secor, second baseman Jan Brink and third baseman Paul Kime of Tamalpais; outfielders Jerry Piro, John Boro and Frank Pomilia, second baseman Pete Cooney, shortstop Charlie Flynn, third baseman Joe Caito, first baseman Tom Wickert and pitcher Roger Smith of Redwood.

Bruce McLaren Killed In Crash

Engine Explodes During Run

GOODWOOD, England (AP) — Bruce McLaren, one of the world's top auto racing drivers, was killed today when his car crashed traveling at 180 miles an hour and exploded.

The New Zealand Grand Prix driver hit a bank in a trial run at this famous track.

DISINTEGRATED

Police said the 32-year-old McLaren was killed on the stretch of the Goodwood track known as the Lavant Straight.

A police spokesman said: "The engine of the racing car, on test, is believed to have blown up while being driven at high speed. The vehicle hit a bank and disintegrated. "The driver was dead on arrival at Chichester hospital."

McLaren was testing one of his own high-powered sports cars which he hoped to race later in the season in the Can-Am series. He won that series last year along with his first team—mate Denny Hulme, another New Zealander.

10 YEARS

Although he never made the top in Grand Prix racing, McLaren was a leading contender in formula one events for the past 10 years.

He finished third in the world championship last year behind Jackie Stewart of Scotland and Jackie Ickx of Belgium.

McLaren has specialized in sports car racing and was an acknowledged expert in racing car construction, having followed Jack Brabham, Australia's triple world champion, into the business of building his own cars around proven racing car engines.

BALL FOUR

Bouton Not Sorry About His Book

NEW YOR K(AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton says he has no immediate plans to write another book . . . but isn't sorry about the one he's already written, the controversial Ball Four.

"I'm glad I wrote the book," the Houston right-hander said Monday after emerging from a two-hour meeting with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn reprimanded Bouton, in what amounted to a verbal slap on the wrist, with this statement to newsmen:

"I advised Mr. Bouton of my displeasure with these writings and have warned him against future writings of this character. Under all the circumstances, I have concluded that no other action was necessary."

Bouton's book, co-authored with Leonard Shecter, editor of Look Magazine, concerned his playing days with the New York Yankees. He made personal disclosures of many players, including superstar Mickey Mantle.

The book has not yet been released, although excerpts of it have appeared in Look.

When he first appeared before newsmen Monday, Bouton said, "no comment," but then opened up.

"I have no plans to write any more books," he said, but added he was "absolutely not" sorry about writing Ball Four.

Wouldn't the publicity help sales?

"That would be nice," he retorted.

Bouton was accompanied at the meeting by Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association and Dick Miller, an association lawyer.

While they huddled, youngsters demonstrated outside with signs reading, "Kuhn Stop Repression And Harassment," "Jim Bouton Must Not Be Repressed," and "No Punishment For Exposing The Truth."

Bouton said he thought the demonstration was "terrific."

Bouton, who was to rejoin his team for a game tonight at the Astrodome, said he didn't expect any disciplinary action from club officials.

NO NAME YET

Two Marin County Swim Clubs Merge

And then there was one.

In this day of mergers and consolidations, age group swimming is no exception.

Marin County's two largest swim clubs have merged into one, and as yet the new Club hasn't a name. The merger, announced yesterday, came about last Wednesday when parents of swimmers in Marin and San Rafael swim clubs took separate votes.

VOTING

It was unanimous in the Marin Swim Club vote held at Redwood High School in Larkspur but not so in the San Rafael Swim Club vote held at San Rafael High. The ayes nudged the nays by a slim margin of three votes, 16-13. There were about 35 votes in the Marin S. C. balloting.

The swimmers, parents, and coaches were expected to come up with a name for the new club in the next week or so.

The new club has about 175 age-group competitive swimmers in it and about 75 novices who don't yet compete in Amateur Athletic Union events, for a total membership of about 250. There had been about 115 competitive swimmers in the larger Marin Swim Club before the merger, and about 60 in the San Rafael club. There were 62 families in the Marin Swim Club and 44 in the San Rafael S. C.

Head coach of the new set-up will be Don Swartz, who has been head coach of the San Rafael Swim Club. Marin's head coach, Galen Hopkins had to retire because of a bad back a few months ago, and Mrs. Ann Curtis Cuneo has been filling in on an interim basis. Assistant coaches for the team will be Dick Wader, Tom Zunino and Dennis Ahearn.

"We'll be a lot tougher now," said Swartz, "But it would be a little too ambitious to say that we will be beating such clubs as Santa Clara or Arden Hills."

STRONGER

"Financially, with a larger club we'll be able to do more," said Swartz, "and it will be a stronger team."

San Rafael Swim Club has been in existence since 1960, while the Marin Swim Club was a by-product of a merger a few years ago of the Marin Pirates and Ann Curtis Swim Club.

The newly merged team will be holding workouts at San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood high schools and also will be using College of Marin's pool on occasions.

Recreation Softball

Cal's Steak House routed Mike's Bar and Grill 16-8 and Round Table Pizza outslugged the Native Sons 14-8 last night in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

Van Gerbig Gets Back The Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Seals Ltd., original owner of the Oakland Seals, has regained control of the National Hockey League team by a judge's order.

Superior Court Judge Robert Schnacke said Monday that Trans - National Communications Inc., which owns the Boston Celtics, defaulted on terms of its agreement to buy the three-year-old hockey club from Seals Ltd. last year.

He adjourned a week-old trial over the club's ownership until June 9, when Seals Ltd., headed by Barry Van Gerbig, will propose selling the club for $3.4 million to Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland Athletics.

Schnacke said he will consider whether the sale is "conducted in a commercially reasonable manner."

He said he will weigh any other offers before Finley's offer deadline of June 30.

Football Signups

Signups for the Redwood Junior Giants team in the Marin County Pop Warner Football Conference will be held Saturday of this week, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Redwood High School gymnasium in Larkspur. The program is for boys 10-13 years of age. Registration fee is $20 per family and one parent must accompany each boy to the signups.

New Hunting Regulations; Two Bucks In Early Season

By AL GIDDINGS

The California Fish and Game Commission has adopted the new hunting regulations for 1970-71. The new tag regulation requires that a deer taken in a one deer district must be tagged with both the "A" and "B" tags to prevent a hunter who takes a buck in the early season from taking a buck in the inland late season areas.

Marin hunters who do all their hunting in Marin or in the early season counties may take two bucks as uusual.

The date set for the early coastal season is from Aug. 1 to Sept. 13. In Humboldt and Del Norte counties the season will be from Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, limit two bucks.

In southern California and the west Sierra slope the season will be from Sept. 26 to Nov. 8, one buck, forked horn or better.

The northern season includes the former eastern Sierra season and the northwest season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck forked horn or better. The northeastern season, Sept. 26 to Oct. 25, one buck three pointer or better.

Archery season in Marin was set for July 11 to July 26.

Bear season: Sept. 26 to Jan. 3; one bear limit.

Mountain Lions: Open all year, animal must be tagged; no limit.

Pheasants: Nov. 21 to Dec. 20, limit 2 birds per day opening weekend and 10 per season with 4 males per day after opening weekend.

Quail: Oct. 31, Jan 31 generally statewide with a limit of 10 per day. (Check hunting abstract which should be released by the end of June.)

Chukar: Oct. 31 to Jan. 31; 6 per day.

Sage Grouse: Sept. 5, 6, and 7 in Modoc, Lassen, Mono and Inyo counties; limit 2 birds per season.

Tree Squirrel: Aug. 1 to Jan 31 in Lake, Marin, Napa and Sonoma counties; the limit will be 4 per day; the central and northern counties will be open Sept. 26 to Jan. 31.

Rabbits: July 4 to Jan. 31 for brush, cottontail and pigmy rabbits including varying hares; limit 5 per day; no closed season or limit on jack rabbits; licenses are required.

I TOOK a quick trip to Webber Lake in Sierra County, planning to stop for a day over at Davis Lake in Plumas County also. You wouldn't believe it! They were turning cars away from both areas. Some estimates placed the number of cars at Davis Lake at 5,000.

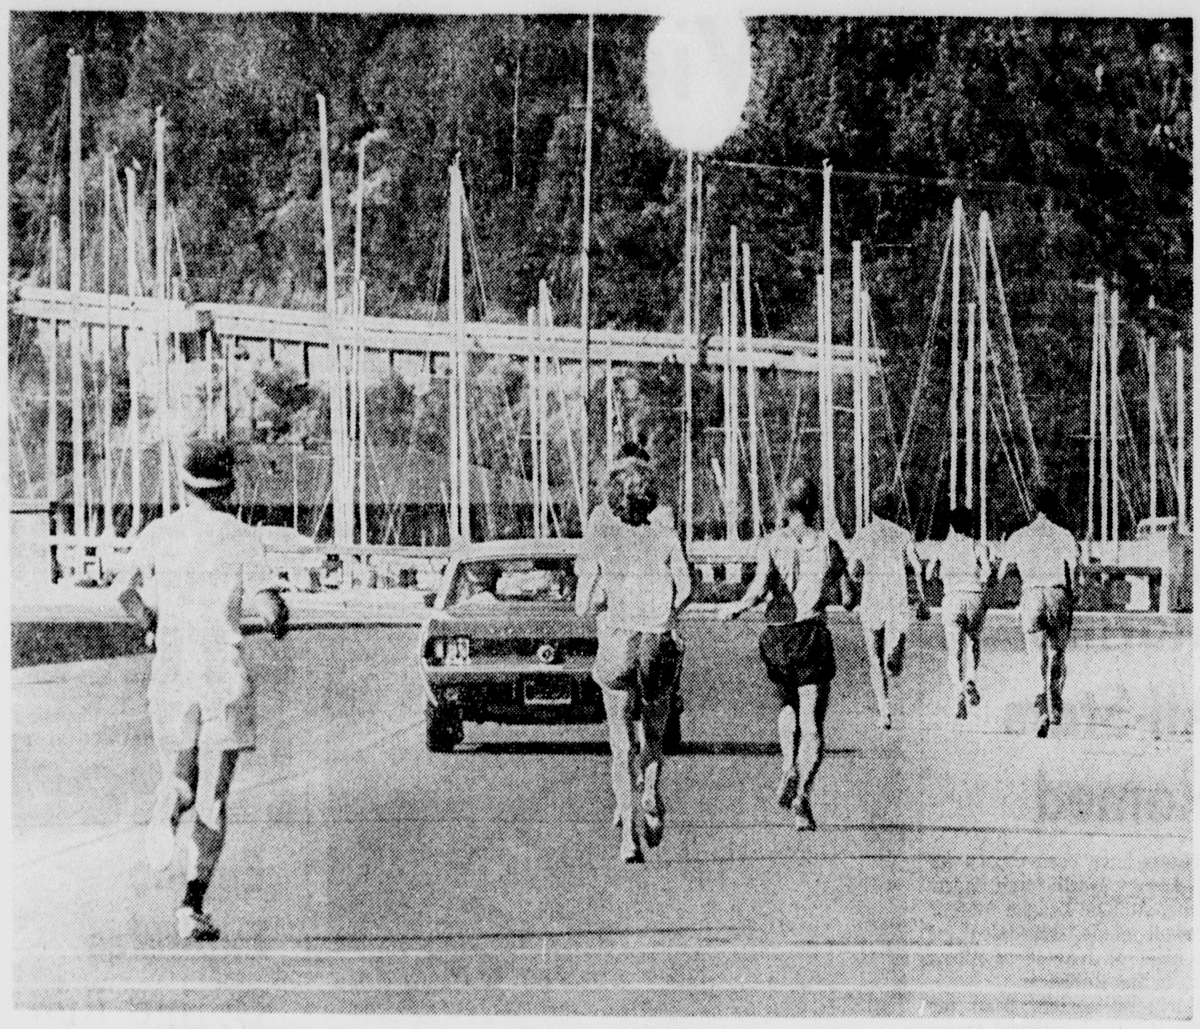
At Webber, we got in a couple of days fishing, but it was slow. My wife, Mary, and I caught four 15-inch trout.

One place they didn't turn us away, though, was over at Reno. Their motto is, "There's always room for one more." I saw a fellow win $5,000 on a one-armed bandit at Harold's Club. He played a $5 token, and hit the three faces which pays 1,000 to one.

I THINK we would have been better off to have stayed home. The salmon fishing has been pretty hot out of Sausalito, with most anglers taking limits Saturday, according to reports.

RODEO LAGOON, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs are due to be stocked this week, and the striped bass are due to start hitting at the Richmond Bridge, the Brothers Islands and around the Golden Gate Bridge areas.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week are low tide days, starting about 5:30 Wednesday. Excellent tides for abalones and poke poleing for eels and clams.



TRAFFIC JAM ON THE WATERFRONT

Ignoring the softer modes of transportation — yacht and auto — these hardy harriers gallop along the harbor in Tiburon on a 26 mile, 385-yard run from Tiburon to San Francisco. More than 400 of them did it last Saturday in the first Golden Gate Marathon Run. For Skip Houk of Reno, it indeed was a memorial day for he won the race in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 50 seconds. Richard Delgado of Woodacre, a math teacher at San Rafael High, was second in 2:35.40.

Feeney: Allow Player His Freedom At 55

NEW YORK (AP) — The presidents of the National and American leagues were expected to take the stand today in the controversial Curt Flood baseball suit.

Chub Feeney, the National League president, was the only witness in day-long proceedings Monday. American League President Joe Cronin and Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, waited in the wings.

Feeney, who continues his testimony today, agreed Monday "it would be fair" to relax some rules of baseball's reserve clause. He said he would favor a change in the reserve clause, letting a player become a free agent at the age of 55.

SLAVERY

Flood's suit against baseball and the major league owners is directed at the reserve clause, charging it is a form of slavery which binds a player to a team for life without individual recourse.

Flood, an all-star outfielder for the Cardinals for many years, brought his suit after he was swapped to the Philadelphia Phillies during the off-season.

Cross-examined by one of Flood's lawyers, Jay Topkis, Feeney was first asked if he would favor a change in the rules that made a man a free agent—a change the owners have steadfastly refused to grant.

"Yes," he retorted.

"How about 55 years of age," Topkis asked, trying to get something on the record.

"That would be fair," Feeney said.

NECESSARY

But Feeney also reiterated the stand of owners—that the reserve clause should not be abolished because it was necessary to baseball.

Feeney said farm clubs "would be the first to go under" if the clause was eliminated because wealthy teams would have all the advantages in the more costly competition that would follow.

Describing his dealings with players as a general manager, Feeney said, "Contract negotiations are very real. The club needs the player as much as the player needs the club."

Good Shooter

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Lee Bierbaum, never had seen a professional hockey game before, much less held a hockey stick in his hands, won $100 by poking the puck 120 feet into a small hole in a board over the nets. This was a between-periods feature of a Denver Spurs game in the Western Hockey League.

Miss Walsh Scores Easy Tennis Victory In England

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, tuning up for the Wimbledon later this month, yesterday scored an easy 6-0, 6-0 victory in the opening round of the North of England Tennis Championships at Manchester, England.

The Associated Press did not carry the name of the 18-year-old San Rafael girl's victim, mentioning only that she along with fellow Californians Kristy Pigeon of Danville and Pam Teegarden of Cheviot Hills scored triumphs over little known British girls. Denise Carter of Los Altos, the story added, was eliminated.

Other U. S. women winning yesterday were second seeded Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego and Peggy Michel of Pacific Palisades.

In the men's division, early winners were Tom Gorman of Seattle, Roy Barth of San Diego and Steve Fiske of Santa Barbara.

Giants, Cardinals Try Again Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Far from the chilly blasts of Candlestick Park, the San Francisco Giants tie into the St. Louis Cardinals here tonight in the teams' first encounter of the season.

Rained out in hot and humid St. Louis Monday, the Giants start Gaylord Perry, 7-5, against Cardinal Steve Carlton, 2-6.

Both teams occupy fourth place in their divisions of the National League. St. Louis is 21-24 on the season, San Francisco 24-26.

Monday's rained-out game will be made up as part of a twi-night doubleheader Aug. 14.

District Attorney Probes Death Of Terry Sawchuk

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Dist. Atty. William Cahn says his office is investigating the death of New York Ranger goaltender Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk, 40, one of the National Hockey League's stars for two decades, died Sunday after being hospitalized for a month following a mysterious injury.

Cahn said Monday he and his staff were studying autopsy reports, which showed the immediate cause of death to be a blood clot in the lungs.

Sawchuk died in a New York hospital after undergoing surgery Saturday. He was transferred there from a Long Island hospital where he had undergone two other operations.

He told authorities he was injured while "roughhousing" on the lawn of the Long Island home he shared with Ron Stewart, a Ranger teammate. The two had returned to the home at 3 a.m. on April 29 after drinking at a nearby tavern.

Stewart, at his Ontario home, could not be reached for comment.

"You can bet that we will be questioning Stewart," said detectiv Matthew Bonora of the Nassau County Homicide Squad.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Rain Doesn't Hurt Dodgers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The skies over Chicago and Don Sutton's career record against the Cubs weren't the very best recommendations for Los Angeles to start Monday's ball game. But Los Angeles went ahead anyway and, like most things have lately, everything turned out well for the Dodgers.

Sutton, who had lost 13 of 14 career decisions against the Cubs, waited out an hour and seven minute rain delay at the start for another shot. Then, after the Dodgers rallied for three runs in the sixth inning, Sutton sweated out another hour and 32 minutes of rain before the game was called and the Dodgers won 5-4.

PIRATES WIN

In Monday's only other game, Pittsburgh trimmed San Diego 5-1.

San Francisco's game at St. Louis was postponed by rain and all the other major league clubs had the day off.

Billy Grabarkewicz ripped a two-run homer in the sixth, climaxing the Dodgers' comeback rally against loser Bill Hands, 7-3. Hands had held the Dodgers hitless after being tagged for three straight hits and two runs at the very start of the game.

Then, with LA trailing 4-2 and the skies looking ominous, Willie Davis opened the sixth with a triple. Wes Parker doubled him home and Grabarkewicz followed with his fifth homer of the season and second in as many days.

THEN RAIN

Sutton, 7-5, retired the Cubs in the bottom half of the sixth and then the rain washed out the remainder of the game.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers and moved them into second place in the National League's Western Division.

Dock Ellis, 4-4, scattered six hits and scored two runs himself, helping Pittsburgh whip San Diego.

Matty Alou and Willie Stargell each cracked a pair of doubles for the Pirates and Ellis' leadoff single started a two-run rally in the third inning.

Luis Tiant Goes On Disabled List

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Luis Tiant, pitching ace for the Minnesota Twins, has been placed on the disabled list "for a minimum of 21 days" because of a fractured shoulder blade, the Twins announced Monday.

The Twins said Tiant, whose season record is 6-0, incurred the injury while pitching against the Milwaukee Brewers last Thursday. It was first thought the injury was merely a pulled muscle.

Minnesota opens a three-game series in Boston Tuesday night.

Athletics Vs. Baltimore

OAKLAND (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles come on strong here tonight to open a three-game series with the Oakland A's.

The Orioles lead the American League's East Division with a 33-15 record while the A's are third in the West at 25-23.

Chuck Dobson, 5-4, will face Oriole hurler Jim Palmer, 6-2.

Baltimore will be without star centerfielder Paul Blair, who underwent surgery to repair miltiple fractures of the nose and eye socket Monday night after being hit by a pitch by California Angels pitcher Ken Tatum at Anaheim Sunday.

John Odom, who pitched his best game of the season last Friday against the Cleveland Indians, is slated to pitch against the Orioles Wednesday.

A Wet Derby Back In '28

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 1928 Kentucky Derby drew 196 nominations and 22 starters.

Jockeys were told by the late Bill Hamilton to swing their mounts wide around the first turn near the seven-eighths pole.

A cloudburst hit the track before the race and left a small pond near the rail.

Winner of the race was Reigh Count, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz.

Rosenberg Firm Buys San Jose Service Company

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries announced acquisition of the Harry M. Barnes Co., a major air conditioning and heating maintenance firm of San Jose.

The Barnes organization will become an ABMI subsidiary — Commercial Air Conditioning Co. of San Jose — and will service industrial and commercial accounts in heavily industrialized Santa Clara County.

Theodore T. Rosenberg of San Rafael, A B M I board chairman, said discussions to purchase the Barnes Co. were initiated when it became apparent Commercial Air's growing number of clients in Central California would soon sake it impractical to continue service from existing facilities in Berkeley and Fresno.

Commercial Air Conditioning is the largest organization of its kind in the western U.S. with operations centers in Seattle, Sacramento, Berkeley, San Jose, Fresno and Los Angeles.

Culligan Expected To Make A Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own 40 shares of Culligan, purchased at 24. Should I buy more shares at current levels for long-term growth? — J.M.

A. Culligan is the largest manufacturer of household water conditioning equipment. Household products account for close to 70 per cent of total volume. As a result of steadily improving foreign operations, larger volume and selective price increases, Culligan's sales for the first half of 1970, ended Jan. 31, advanced 12 per cent year-to-year. However, earnings per share fell to 41 cents from 62 cents in the like 1969 period, reflecting lower domestic residential sales and higher operating costs. Losses at Culligan's Industrial Systems division amounted to approximately 7 cents per share.

The company's major research efforts are in the field of reverse osmosis technology, a promising method of purifying brackish water. CUL recently introduced a nonphosphate soap for use in soft or softened water — one solution to the problem of phosphate-caused water pollution. Purchase of shares is justified for long-term growth.

Q. I am looking for a no-load fund which invests in tax-exempt issues. — S.W.

Q. I would appreciate some information on the Nuveen tax-exempt bond fund. — E.H.

A. John Nuveen & Co. and Municipal Investment Trust are two tax-free bond funds which the first reader may wish to consider. Neither are no-load funds; sponsors charge a 4.5 per cent purchase fee.

Shares are redeemable any time at net asset value and sponsors maintain a market for the shares at slightly higher than net asset value. This facilitates selling, an advatnage which may justify for the small investor the 4.5 per cent sales charge.

Yields on the last 'series 25" of Nuveen and Municipal Series U were 6.5 per cent and 6.4 per cent respectively. While these are believed to be sold out, other series of these bonds are being readied which may carry slightly changed yields due to varying bond market trends. Write to: John Nuveen & Co., 209 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 60604. For Municipal Trust shares contact a NYSE member firm.

Shows Oil

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Louisiana Land & Exploration Co. said a well it is digging in partnership with Humble Oil & Refining Co., and others 30 miles north of Pensacola, Fla., has revealed a 90-foot zone of indicated oil saturation. The well has been drilled to 15,816 feet.

Cartridge Players

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tenna Corp. has begun marketing two stereo cartridge tape players with an automatic head cleaning device. This eliminates the somewhat tedious job of manually cleaning the tape head in automobile tape players.
